SANTIAGO SURROUNDED.

Pickets of the Two Armies Exchange Shots.

SHAFTER REPORTS THAT FIGHTING HAS BEGUN.

Americans and Cubans Have Formed a Circle About Santiago—Light Artillery is There—Heavy Guns to Come Soon—The Cubans Advance—All Quiet at Manila—Republic Declared at Cavite By Insurgent Leader Aquinaldo.

OUTPOSTS OPEN FIRE.

Santiago Surrounded by Americans and Cubans—Light Artillery at the Front.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Siboney, Cuba, via Playa del Este, by direct cable, July 1, 2:30 p. m—By 5 o'clock today, Santiago will be surrounded by the Americans and Cubans under Shafter. Practically all the army is now in sight of the city.

The outposts on both sides are so close that picket firing is going on continually, but no real fighting has yet started.

All the light artillery has been conveyed to the front, but the heavy guns are still on board the transports. The military road will probably be finished today, when the guns will be speedily brought to the front.

It is expected that the first fight will take place at Aquidores, where the Spaniards are strongly entrenched.

A BATTLE BEGUN.

Lawton's Division Has Begun Its Movement Toward Santiago.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 1, 12:54 p. m—The War Department has just received the following despatch from Cuba by direct cable:

"Camp Seville—Action now going on but the firing is only light and desultory. It was begun on the right near Caney by Lawton's division. He will move on the north-eastern part of the city of Santiago. Will keep you advised of our progress. 'Shafter."

CUBANS ADVANCE.

Garcia Wants to Attack at Once as the Cubans Short of Rations.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Sevilla, Cuba, June 30, via Kingston, Jamaica, July 1, 1:35 p. m.—Garcia's Cubans made a dash eastward this afternoon and penetrated nearer to Santiago than any other detachment of the invading army.

Garcia led the troops personally, starting from Caney and passing in plain view of the Spanish pickets.

Tonight they are encamped nearby, preparing for an attack as soon as permission is given. As the Cubans are rationed only for twenty-four hours, they argue that an early advance should be made.

MANZANILLO BOMBARDED.

Spanish Report Says That The American Warships Had to Retire.

Kingston, Jamaica, July 1, 12:30 p. m.—A Spanish report says that four American warships bombarded Manzanillo yesterday, badly damaging the batteries protecting that harbor.

The Spanish guns replied to the American bombardment and are reported as having compelled the Americans to withdraw with one ship disabled.

The Spanish gunboats in the harbor went to the assistance of the batteries and exchanged shots with the Americans until the fire of the latter ceased. It is believed that the Americans wished to take the city for a base.

ALL QUIET AT MANILA.

The Transports Had Not Arrived on June 27th, a Report Says.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Hong Kong, July 1, 11:14 p. m—A despatch boat has just arrived from Manila and reports that the American transports had not arrived there on June 27th

The Spaniards are hard at work adding to the defences of the city. There are in the harbor four British men of war and five Genman warships.

REPUBLIC PROCLAIMED.

It is Under the Protection of the United States, England and Japan.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

London, July 1, 12 m—Advices from Manila say that Aquinaldo, insurgent leader in fhe Phillippines, has proclaimed a Republic at Cavite under the protection of the United States England and Japan. The Americans are the chief guide, while the others are merely for recognizance and approval.

AN EXCITING RUNAWAY.

Wagon Caught in an Electric Light Pole and Horse Stopped.

A horse owned by John Becker, Jr., of Somerset street, caused an exciting runaway last evening at the corner of Greenbrook road and Somerset street. The animal was tied inside of a yard while the owner was gathering some cut grass. The horse became frightened and broke away, running at top speed for several blocks. Joseph Gavin attempted to stop the horse and he held on as long as possible, but was finally obliged to let go. The animal ran through Grove street from Greenbrook road and the wagon caught in an electric light pole near Herman Deike's bakery This brought the runaway steed to a standstill and he was caught at that point. The harness was badly damaged and the wagon was also wrecked.

EXPECTS TO GET TWO YEARS.

Doaney, the Sneak Thief, is Visited by His Wife.

Edward Doaney, the sneak thief arrested in the borough last Tuesday, and who is now confined in the Somerset county jail, has been identified as a celebrated crook by Detectives Murphy and Christie, of Newark. Doaney is wanted in that city on several charges of theft. His wife called at the jail last evening to see her husband and he told her she had better go home and sell everything that belonged to them, as he is sure that he will get at least two years. It is impossible to learn at present where Doaney's home is, as neither he nor his wife will tell.

Fell Into the Brook's Channel.

Thomas Clacey, of Orchard place, who has driven one of A. M. Griffen's trucks for many years, fell into the raceway in the rear of the store yesterday and cut his forehead quite badly. Clacey, who lost an arm several years ago, and who is therefore handicapped in his movements, was walking along the bank of the raceway. It is perfectly dry there, and at the bottom is a heap of stones. Clacey missed his footing and plunged head first on to the dry bed of the stream. He was helped out and sent home and is not working today.

LEE'S NAME LOOMS UP AMONG THE DEMOCRATS

Political Gossip About the Jersey Gubernatorial Battle.

DEMOCRATS ARE HOPEFUL.

ESSEX COUNTY THE PIVOTAL POINT OF THE CAMPAIGN.

Mr. Lee's Name is Not the Only One Mentioned in Connection With the Nomination—Mayor Seymour, of Newark, Ranks Strong—The Democrats' Poor Prospects in the Nxt Senate.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 1—The talk of ex-Supreme Court Clerk Benjamin F. Lee as the Democratic candidate for Governor continues, although it has been hinted that Mr. Lee is not favorably impressed with the idea of making a vigorous campaign, such as his experience in politics tells him he would have to make in order to strengthen his chances of being elected at the polls. Mr. Lee would go into a campaign with his thoughts directed toward victory, and no one knows better than himself the physical strain involved in making a political campaign. Whether he would feel physically equal to the requirements of such a campaign such as he would conduct would be a matter for himself to decide. It is known that he is not enamored of the idea of going into a vigorous campaign, and yet there may arise conditions under which he might feel constrained to sink his personal preferences and answer his party's call.

But Mr. Lee is not the only name mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination. Ex Speaker Bergen and Col. J. F. Wilson, of Somerset; ex Judge Garrettson, and Senator Daly, of Hudson; Mayor Seymour, of Newark; Prosecutor Crane, of Essex; Clarence T. Atkinson, of Burlington, and ex-Judge Carrow, of Camden, are counted among the those from whom a selection might be made if Mr. Lee is not named. Of course, some of them have better chances than others, and the name of Mayor Seymour is not infrequently mentioned with favor. One of the things that commends Mayor Seymour's name is the strength that he has twice demonstrated in carrying the city of Newark by over 3,000 plurality, and the fact that the Democrats, unless they should carry several normally Republican counties, would have to have Essex county in order to control the Legislature on joint ballot for United States Senator, to succeed James Smith, Jr.

The present Senate consists of 14 Republicans, counting acting Governor Voorhees, and seven Democrats; eight Republicans, including the acting Governor, and six Democrats hold over. For the Democrats to wrest the Senate from the Republicans it would be necessary to elect five Senators this fall—a feat which does not seem at all probable at this writing. Of the retiring Senators but one—Daly, of Hudson, is a Democrat. The retiring Republicans are Hoffman, Atlantic; Johnson, Bergen; Stokes, Cumberland; Skirm, Mercer, Vreeland, Morris, and Engle, Ocean. If the acting Governor is nominated for the Governorship he will undoubtedly resign from the Senate, to take effect when the new Governor is inaugurated, in order that the vacancy from Union county for the remaining year of his term as Senator might be filled by the election of someone else. This would not make any change, however, in the number of Democratic Senators that would have to be elected in order to make the Senate Democratic. If the Democrats should elect three Senators, which is probably a too liberal estimate, they would have but nine Senators out of 21, and would need 32 Assemblymen to control the joint meeting. Should they only succeed in carrying Hudson county for Senator, they would have only seven Senators, and would need 34 Assemblymen.

With a recognition of the fact that the Democrats will need from 32 to 34 Assemblymen to have a majority on joint ballot, the necessity of their securing the 11 Essex members is quite apparent. The practically sure Democratic Assemblymen are Hudson, 11; Hunterdon, 2; Middlesex, 3; Monmouth, 3; Sussex, 1; Warren, 2; total, 20. These, with the 11 Essex members, would leave the Democrats still one or two short, but there would be little doubt that a well-directed fight in some of the close or doubtful counties would result in securing these. It would be an almost impossible task, however, to secure in the doubtful or close counties these one or two and also enough to overbalance the loss of Essex county.

SERVED ON THE LAWN.

SUCCESSFUL FESTIVAL GIVEN BY METHODIST SOCIETIES.

Affair Held at the Home of Mrs. N. W. Pike—Proceeds for Benefit of Missions—Those Who Had Charge.

The lawn festival which was postponed from Tuesday was held yesterday afternoon and evening on the lawn of Mrs. N. W. Pike, 408 East Front street. The affair was given under the auspices of the Women's Home Missionary Society and the Young Ladies' Circle of the First Methodist church, and the proceeds, which were divided equally, went to swell their mission fund.

The lawn looked very pretty with a display of Chinese lanterns, flags and bunting, and when the lanterns were lighted at night the grounds wore a holiday appearace. Ice cream, cake, candy and fruit were for sale. Mrs. C. H. Rugg was chairman of the party, and the members of both the Woman's Society and the Young Ladies Circle assisted in waiting upon the tables and serving the customers.

Mrs. John Lewis was in charge of the cake table, assisted by Mrs. G. Q. Packer; Miss Lillie Chandler looked after the fruit and candy; Miss Mattie Hummer sold lemonade, and Mrs. I V. McVoy and Mrs. H. Templin the ice cream.

Tuesday afternoon the last meeting of the Home Missionary Society was held until the fourth Tuesday in September.

TRAGIC TALK WAS HEARD

NEIGHBORS CARRY A QUARREL INTO THE CITY COURT.

One Woman Says Another Prayed on Her Knees for the Curse of Heaven to Fall on the Former and Her Children.

Because Mrs. William Leitheusser, of East Second street, wrote a letter to the Board of Health, complaining about the fearful odor that arose from the cow stable and refuse heap of Mrs. Mary Kiederling, a neighbor, Mrs. Kiederling and her mother, Mrs. Carey, have made no end of trouble for the Leitheussers, which ended in Mrs. Leitheusser making a complaint against them before the City Judge. They were given a preliminary hearing this morning, and then the case was laid over until an investigation can be made.

Kiederling himself seemed to think that since he had been given permission by the Board of Health to keep cows, no one had a right to complain. This illusion the Judge soon dispelled.

Mrs. Cary declared that Mrs. Leitheusser's statement was "perjury in the first degree," and Kiederling said that he would see the end of this business if it cost him $500. Mrs. Leitheusser accused the other two women with calling her names and said that Mrs. Kiederling came, and kneeling down on the pavement in front of her, called down heaven's curse upon her and her children. Such a hubbub of women's voices, all talking at once, was seldom heard in the little court room.

FUNERAL OF MRS. LONG.

Last Sad Rites at the Bier of Mrs. Jacob Long.

The funeral of Mrs. Jacob Long was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her late residence, 52 Craig place. The funeral was a large one and was attended by friends and relatives from Washington, N. J., Phillipsburg, Asbury, Somerville, Brooklyn, Newark, Morristown and Martinsville. Interment was in Hillside.

Mrs. Long was a faithful member of the Methodist church at Mt. Horeb, but since her residence in this city, had been too ill to attach herself to any church. Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., a warm friend of the deceased, officiated at the service. Two beautiful solos, old hymns that the deceased loved, was effectively sung by Elmer E. Runyon.

The pall bearers were her four sons, William H. Long, of Somerville; J. S. B. Long, of Martinsville; Jacob Long, Jr., of Orange county, N. Y, and Monroe B. Long, M. D., of this city.

The Veteran Firemen Patriotic.

A regular meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association was held last night, and the sum of $12 was voted to celebrate Fourth of July. The money will be used to purchase powder and 48 rounds will be given during the day. Thomas McDonald will have charge of the shooting of the cannon, now in possession of the association. The other business was of a routine nature.

WHITENACK OUT, TOO.

DECLINES TO STAY IN THE POST-OFFICE NOW TO RETIRE LATER.

Understood That Postmaster Bird Told Him That Eventually he Would be Succeeded by a Republican.

John Whitenack, who for fourteen years has been employed in the Plainfield postoffice, resigned his position of deputy postmaster last evening when Postmaster Hetfield retired and turned over the office to the newly-appointed postmaster, E. H. Bird.

It was expected that Mr. Whitenack would remain at the office for the present at least, but he decided to retire. A new assistant has not yet been appointed, but Mr. Bird will probably appoint his assistant in a short time.

Mr. Bird is temporarily looking after the office of collector until a new man is appointed. This is due to the fact that the Council did not accept his resignation last evening. Many think the Council should have done so for Mr. Bird's bondsmen stand good for any discrepancies that might appear, and that is not at all likely. The bondsmen are not relieved until a resolution is passed to that effect by the Council.

It is understood that a few days ago Postmaster Bird told Mr. Whitenack that his place as deputy would be eventually filled by someone else, presumably a Republican. Mr. Whitenack is a stalwart Democrat. He decided not to remain in office under these conditions.

FOR SOLDIERS TO WEAR.

REVOLUTIONARY DAUGHTERS MAKE 600 CHOLERA BANDS.

Over $80 Worth of Flannel Used by Continental Chapter—The Bands Have Been Forwarded to Fortress Monroe.

In response to an urgent appeal from Washington to the Continental Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for "cholera bands" for the soldiers, a large box containing nearly 600 was forwarded today by express to Fortress Monroe to be shipped on the steamship Yale that is to sail next week direct to Santiago. Over $80 worth of flannel has been used in making these bands. One piece was made up and paid for by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. Mayor Fisk and H. M. Stockton kindly gave two pieces of flannel. Assurance has been given that it is the surgeon-general's desire that every soldier should be furnished with these bands, and the order to wear them will be enforced by the army surgeons.

Four thousand are to be sent on the same steamer by the ladies in Washington, and many more are needed.

CYCLISTS' GOOD TIME.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Entertained Forty-one at Their Building.

The Plainfield Y. M. C. A. boys had a chance to entertain the visiting wheelmen last night. They made a merry evening of it. They have been so well treated wherever they went that Physical Director Heywood decided to make last evening's event a well remembered one. The weather seemed to be with the boys, for a finer night no one would want, but for some unknown reason only forty-one out of town men responded to the roll call, although there was a goodly sprinkling of our own men.

Summit sent four, Orange nine, Somerville seven, Montclair two, Newark twelve and Rahway seven. They began to arrive at nine o'clock and were first treated to a bath in the swimming pool, then hurried up stairs to the large hall where they were entertained by Edward Martin's colored quartette, colored soloists, banjo, mandolin and guitar players. Gramophone selections, under the charge of Charles Hayes, and a piano solo by Fred MacDonald, were given.

Austin Hankinson wound up the programme with an exhibition of violin playing in almost every conceivable position, holding the bow between his knees, in his teeth, playing from behind his back, etc. Ice cold lemonade, grape juice, sandwiches and cake were served before the boys left.

Male Riders Rode Off in the Dark.

Mrs. C. A. Rogers, of Madison avenue, met with an accident Wednesday night while riding her wheel on Park avenue near Ninth street. It was just at dusk and three wheelmen came scorching down Park avenue without lights. One of them crashed into Mrs. Rogers' wheel, throwing her off. The wheelmen went on without disclosing their identity. Mrs. Rogers sustained severe injuries and is now confined to her home.

CAMEL-BACK DERAILED.

CENTRAL TRACKS AT FANWOOD BLOCKED FOR SEVERAL HOURS.

Switch Was Not Thrown Close Enough and the Ponderous Locomotive Left the Rails and Caused Much Trouble.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood July 1—The two eastbound tracks on the Jersey Central Railroad were blocked at this place last night for several hours as the result of the jumping of the track by one of the big "camel-back" locomotives.

Engine No. 350, engineer Albert Brayman, of Bayonne, was attached to a train of a hundred loaded coal cars bound from Penobscot, Pa., to Jersey City. The train was in charge of Conductor George Seip, of Bayonne.

At Fanwood the train was to take the siding and slowed down for that purpose. The switch was thrown over but not far enough, so when the ponderous engine passed over it it left the rails and started off on its own account. Before it could be stopped all of the wheels had left the track and the locomotive stood across the two eastbound tracks. This was at 6:30 o'clock.

The wrecking train from Elizabethport arrived at 8 o'clock and after two hours' labor succeeded in clearing the tracks. In the meantime all coal and freight traffic was delayed, while the passenger trains were switched over on the westbound tracks to pass the obstacle.

SHORTAGE OF STAMPS.

NEARLY EVERYBODY IS PERPLEXED ABOUT THEIR USE.

The Bank Officials are Surfeited With Questions from People Not Informed—What Collector Rutan, of Newark, Says.

All day people have been flocking to various places about town seeking information about war tax stamps. One of the first places sought is the First National Bank. Cashier F. S. Runyon and his assistants have been kept busy answering questions. People will ask if it is necessary to place stamps on notes given last month and due this month, and a hundred other similar questions. The banks have only a limited number of stamps, which for the present are the regular postage stamp with the letters "I R" stamped thereon. In a few days a new stamp will be furnished for the purpose.

The merchants about town, especially the druggists, have been to the banks looking for stamps, but have been unable to get them. The supply is limited. Cashier Runyon has been in conversation with Collector Rutan, of Newark, and the latter said that merchants will have to keep a strict account of articles they sell and in a few days he will come to Plainfield and set them right. The merchants will be obliged to swear to their accounts and upon that basis the Collector will take their report.

It will be an easy matter in a few days to secure any quantity of stamps, and then future trouble will be obviated. Stamps are obliged to be put on all checks, notes and papers given for exchange through the banks. In other lines of business the same rule is imperative.

A Press reporter interviewed Cashier Arnold, of the City National Bank, this afternoon and found him well prepared to take care of all the customers of the bank. Notices were sent out a week in advance giving the requirements of the new law. Mr. Arnold secured some of the stamps of the various denominations and was able to supply a number of the local druggists with the proprietary revenue stamps. He had also the documentary revenue stamps of different denominations. The stamps have a design of the battleship Maine on them. It was only by a great effort that Mr. Arnold was able to get them.

PICNICED BY THE MOONLIGHT.

The Seventh-day Baptist Young People Gathered on the Mountain

A moonlight picnic on the mountain side was enjoyed by twenty-five young people of the Seventh-day Baptist church last evening. The affair was gotten up by Miss Ida Spicer, of West Fifth street, in honor of her guest, Miss Watts, of Newark. A. J. Spicer conveyed the provisions to the scene of the picnic in his wagon, while the young women went early by the trolley to arrange the spread. They met at the "Lookout" just beyond the Mountain Park Inn. The young men followed later. A delightful supper was enjoyed, and then the remainder of the evening was spent very pleasantly on the mountain, the return being made in time to catch the last car. There were twenty-five in the party.

EAST SECOND STREET FIGHTS THE TROLLEY.

Residents Don't Want a Street Railway Invasion.

SAY STREET IS TOO NARROW.

A NUMBER OF PROPERTY OWNERS HEARD BY THE COUNCIL.

Street Railway Officials Say That It is the Only Route They Can Get—They Offer to Macadamize the Street from Curb to Curb—Consents to be Filed and Hearing Resumed Tuesday.

The chief topic of interest at the adjourned meeting of the City Council last evening was the proposed extension of the Plainfield Street Railway through East Second street. As was to be expected there were a great many of the property-owners on that street present as objectors to the extension. They were championed by their counsel, Lawyer W. A. Codington, who is a resident of the street. On a motion offered by Mr. Barrows the regular order of business was suspended and the extension was argued pro and con.

L. W. Serrell, for the Plainfield Street Railway Company, was the first speaker, and he stated that both Mr. Riker and Nevins, of the company, expected to be present, but were unavoidably detained. He then went on to state that sometime ago an effort was made to locate a trolley line on East Second street, but the owners along that street objected, and an effort was then made to go up East Front street This scheme failed and then the trolley people directed their efforts to East Second street again. A majority of the consents of the owners were obtained as required by law, and the company would therefore like to have a franchise to locate a trolley on that street.

Mr. Codington, for the objectors, asked Mr. Serrell if the consents had been filed. Mr. Serrell replied in the negative. Mr. Codington then presented a remonstrance signed by nearly all of the property owners on the street between Watchung avenue and Richmond street. The petition cited a number of objections to the trolley, among which were that the trolley would depreciate the value of property, the street is too narrow and would impede the progress of the fire department when called to fires. J. B. Howard presented a remonstrance against the location of the trolley on Richmond street, between Fifth and Second streets, but when Mr. Barrows informed him that the company had not secured the consents for that street the remonstrance was withdrawn.

Remarks against the trolley being located on East Second street were then made by U. B. Crane, George Griffin, A. E. Bushnell, W. A. Woodruff and Thomas Hughes. Each one cited the objections set forth in the remonstance and argued against the trolley very strongly. The chief objection seemed to be that the street is too narrow and that it would ruin the thoroughfare.

Mr. Serrell presented a number of facts in connection with the narrow streets used in New York and Philadelphia where trolley tracks are laid and no trouble is now experienced. In reply to this Mr. Codington stated that Plainfield is a small city, while the places mentioned are big cities and the streets mentioned are in the business part of the cities.

At this time Mr. Serrell presented a petition from nearly all of the leading merchants of the city asking that a trolley be located on East Second street, and they set forth the advantages to be derived in trade from the suburban districts.

In reply to this Mr. Codington stated that he was informed that not one of the merchants whose names appeared on the petition lived on East Second street or owned property there and they don't care how much it damages the street.

Mr. Serrell stated that the trolley has to come in somewhere, and that it was thought advisable to use Second street, but as an extra inducement it had agreed to macadamize the street from curb to curb. He stated further that a majority of the signatures have been obtained and that H. C. VanEmburgh's report on the same was in his possession.

At this time Mr. Barrows took the floor and made a few remarks. He stated that if he had his way personally he would not favor a single trolley in Plainfield. He thought that every commuter was opposed to it, as it ruins the streets for driving, but, continuing, he said, the merchants want the trolley, and the status of the peti-

THE FIGHT AT SEVILLA

Gen. Wheeler's Official Report of the Engagement.

HOW THE DAY WAS WON

His Orders to Gen. Young After an Examination of the Spanish Position. Warm Commendation of the Gallantry of Officers and Men. Spanish Losses Believed to Be Heavy. Results of the Engagement.

Camp Juragua, June 29. via Kingston, July 1.—General Wheeler's official report to Major General Shafter of what has been called the fight of La Quasina, and is now known as the battle of Siboney, is as follows:

In Camp Juragua, June 29.

To the Adjutant General of the Fifth Army Corps:

Sir: I have the honor to report that in obedience to the instructions of the major general commanding, given me in person on June 28, I proceeded to Siboney (Juraguacita). The enemy had evacuated the place at daylight that morning, taking a course towards Sevilla. A body of about one thousand Cubans had followed and engaged the enemy's rear guard, about nine of whom were wounded.

I rode to the front and found the enemy had halted and established themselves at a point about three miles from Siboney. At night the Cubans returned to the vicinity of the town. At eight o'clock that evening the Twenty-third, General Young, reached Siboney with eight troops of Colonel Wood's regiment, A, B, D, E, F, G, K and L, 500 strong, and Troops A, B, C and K of the First cavalry, in all 244 men, and Troops A, B, E and I of the Tenth cavalry, in all 220 men, making the total force 904 men, which included nearly all of my command, which had marched from Baiquiri, 11 miles.

With the assistance of General Castillo, a rough map of the country was prepared and the position of the enemy was fully explained, and I determined to make an attack at daylight on the 24th. Colonel Wood's regiment was sent by General Young, accompanied by two of his staff officers, Lieutenants Tyree R. Rivers and W. R. Smedburg, Jr., to approach the enemy on the left hand or more westerly road, while General Young, myself and about fifty(?) troops of the First and Tenth cavalry, with three Hotchkiss mountain guns, approached the enemy on the regular Sevilla road.

General Young and myself examined the position of the enemy, the lines were deployed and I directed him to open fire with the Hotchkiss guns. The enemy replied and the firing immediately became general. Col. Wood had deployed his right, nearly reaching the left of the regulars.

For an hour the fight was very warm the enemy being very lavish in expenditure of ammunition, most of their firing being by volleys. Finally the enemy gave way and retreated rapidly. We followed them over the line, keeping close upon them; but our men, being physically exhausted by both their exertions and the great heat, were incapable of maintaining the pursuit.

I cannot speak too highly of the gallant and excellent conduct of the officers and men throughout my command and Gen. Young deserves special commendation for his cool, deliberate and skilfull management.

I also especially noticed his acting adjutant general, Lieutenant A. L. Mills, who, under General Young's direction, was at various parts of the line, acting with energy and cool courage.

The imperative necessity of disembarking with promptitude had impelled me to leave most of my staff to hasten this important matter, and unfortunately I only had with me Major W. D. Beach and Mr. Mestro, an acting volunteer aide, both of whom, during the engagement, creditably and bravely performed their duties. I am especially indebted to Major Beach for his cool judgment.

Colonel Wood's regiment was on the extreme left of the line and too far distant for me to be a personal witness of the individual conduct of the officers and men, but the magnificent bravery shown by the regiment under the lead of Colonel Wood testifies to his courage and skill and the energy and determination of his officers, which has been marked from the moment he reported to me at Tampa, Fla., and I have abundant evidence of his brave and good conduct on the field, and I recommend him for the consideration of the government. I must rely upon his report to do justice to his officers and men, but I desire personally to add that all I have said regarding Colonel Wood applies equally to Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt.

I was immediately with the troops of the First and Tenth regular cavalry, dismounted, and I personally noticed their brave and good conduct, which will be specially mentioned by General Young.

I personally noticed the good conduct of Capt. W. H. Beck, Robert P. Wainwright and Jacob G. Galbraith, Major James M. Bell, Capt. Thomas T. Knox, and Lieut. George E. Brown. The last three were wounded. Major Bell, as he lay on the ground with a broken leg, said: "I only regret I can't go on with you further."

Capt. Knok, though severely wounded, continued as long as possible to exercise his command, and insisted to me that he was not much hurt; and Lieut. Bryam also made light of his wound to me and continued upon the line until he fainted. I recommend these officers for the favorable consideration of the government.

The engagement inspirited our troops and must have had a bad effect upon the spirits of the Spanish soldiers. It also gave our army the beautiful and well watered country in which we have established our encampments. It has also given us a full view of Santiago and the surrounding country and has enabled us to reconnoitre close up to the fortifications of that place.

Very respectfully,

JOSEPH WHEELER,

Major Gen. U. S. V., Commanding.

MADRID HEARS OF A FIGHT

No News at Washington Though a Direct Wire Runs to the Headquarters on the Field

Madrid, June 30.—Midnight.—A rumor is in circulation here to-night, although unconfirmed, that there has been a great battle at Santiago de Cuba, resulting in favor of the Spaniards.

As General Shafter's headquarters at the front is connected by telegraph with the government station at Playa del Este, over which lines a message may be sent from the army of invasion to Washington in half an hour, the Madrid rumor does not seem to be probable, even so far as it tells of an engagement. Washington has not heard of it, and if there has been a fight the fact that Madrid does not call the result an utter repulse of the American troops would indicate a victory for the American arms.

It is just possible that in the engagement, if one has occurred, our telegraph lines may have been cut; and if this were the case it would take several hours for the news to be sent to the cable station, if there were opportunity for doing this.

Still it must be remembered that Gen. Shafter has given official notice of his intention to attack Santiago before the arrival of reinforcements.

Siboney Beach, Gen. Shafter's Headquarters, Province of Santiago de Cuba, June 30.—Colonel Allen succeeded last night in connecting this point by cable with Guantanamo. This dispatch is sent from the beach, almost immediately in front of the headquarters of Gen. Shafter. Ordinary press messages cannot be accepted before Saturday or Sunday next. All is quiet here this morning.

Playa del Este, Guantanamo Bay, June 30.—Intercepted dispatches from Admiral Cervera show a critical state of affairs at Santiago. Both food and ammunition are reported to be getting short and ammunition soon will be exhausted. For days the fleet has been unable to draw a shot from the batteries off the harbor entrance, even though going close in shore.

The cruiser New Orleans has started for Key West.

The French cable, cut some time ago near Guantanamo by the United States auxiliary cruiser St. Louis, has been repaired by the cable boat Adria. To-day a connection was established between General Shafter's headquarters at Baiquiri and Guantanamo, the line being used for government business so far.

GEN. SHAFTER'S PLAN.

Not to Await Reinforcements—Confident of Taking Santiago.

Washington, July 1.—The following is the text of a dispatch received by General Miles from General Shafter in response to a telegram of congratulation which General Miles sent on the 25th inst.:

Playa del Este, June 28, 4.34 p. m.

Major General Miles, Commanding Army, Washington:

Baiquiri, Cuba, June 26.—Thanks for congratulations. Affair was unimportant skirmish, in which Rough Riders participated. Nine sixty-four only engaged on our side. But it was very decisive in our favor, enemy retreating precipitately. Lack of cavalry only prevented their capture. Reports from Spanish sources from Santiago say we were beaten but persisted in fighting, and they were obliged to fall back. Deeply regret loss of so many brave men.

Expect to take the place as soon as I get ready to move. Reinforcements will not reach me. Horses stood the voyage well. Would like horses and (probably for) Third battalion of First cavalry and Wood's volunteers.

Health and spirits of command excellent. Began debarkation of command Wednesday. Last of troops and artillery landed to-day besides transferring from Ascerdores, fifty miles off, 3,000 troops of Garcia. All landed. I have something over 4,000 Cubans.

Hope to send you favorable reports soon. SHAFTER,

Major Gen. U. S. V., Commanding.

Other official dispatches from headquarters came to the war department. It was in the above, however, that General Shafter stated his expectation to take the city before reinforcements reached him. The other official dispatches gave the advance of Spanish troops from Manzanilo, 8,000 strong, and also expressed General Shafter's belief that he could take the city in forty-eight hours, but with considerable loss.

Millions of Stamps.

Washington, July 1.—The aggregate number of adhesive stamps for which collectors made requisition under the new revenue act approximates 400,000,000. Of this number 100,000,000 were printed and shipped before the close of business on the 29th inst., 130,000,000 was the aggregate sent out last night, or one-third of the supply for which requisition was made for a period of three months.

Assistant Secretary Howell has issued a circular of instructins to all collectors of customs fixing the rate of stamp tax to be required on all customs papers under the new revenue act. All customs bonds will require a fifty-cent stamp, all entries for consumption or for warehouse, 25 cents to $1, according to value of invoice. All other entries, except for transit to Canada, entries for immediate exportation by sea and entries under the immediate transportation act, 50 cents each.

Will Sail Next Week.

Washington, July 1.—At the navy department it is said that every effort is being made to hasten the preparations for the sailing of Commodore Watson's Eastern squadron, but it is denied that they will be able to sail, as rumored, on Monday.

One of the colliers is on the New England coast, while the Yankee, the Dixie and the Yosemite are at separate stations, and it will take some days to get them to the rendezvous after coaling.

It is likely however that the fleet will sail before the end of next week.

AT THE CITY'S GATES

Gen. Shafter Takes Command of the Troops in Person.

COILS SLOWLY TIGHTNING

Disposition of the American Forces at Santiago. Orders for Immediate Occupation Given Out Generals Garcia and Shafter Confer. Spaniards Are Falling Back Up to the City Where the Final Stand Will Be Made.

With the Army, in Front of Santiago, June 29, via Port Antonio, July 1.—General Shafter has reached the front and taken personal command of the American troops investing the city of Santiago. Almost immediately after his arrival he issued orders looking to the immediate occupation of Santiago, and personally saw that they were carried out. He reached General Wheeler's headquarters after a three hours' trip over a scorching trail which was very trying to the men and horses.

General Shafter left his headquarters on board the Seguranca at 8 o'clock, accompanied by Lieutenants Miley and McClennan and a large staff. Reaching the shore he mounted a large bay horse. The imposing figure of the bulky general on the back of the huge animal created a great impression upon the men, and attracted thousands of soldiers and Cubans to the beach to get a close view of him. General Shafter rode at once to General Garcia's headquarters for the purpose of having a conference with the Cuban leader, after which he started to join General Wheeler.

General Garcia was hotly impatient to march at once at the head of his men and cut off the advance of General Pando and his 8,000 troops, who are marching from Manzanillo to join the Spanish forces at Santiago. General Garcia was very insistent upon this idea, but General Shafter put an end to the matter by saying: "No; let them get into Santiago and then we will know where we have got them."

The Spaniards are falling back upon Santiago and it is believed that they will make a determined stand and a hot fight in defence of their position in the city. The opinion is generally shared by the American officers that if the Spaniards are forced to evacuate Santiago they will march northward to Nuevitas to join the Spanish column which has just landed there and later try to effect a junction with the troops under General Blanco at Havana. This seems to be the most natural move for them to make, and indeed their only resort in the event of defeat or the probability of their being routed.

Spanish deserters who have come into the American camp from Santiago, report that Admiral Cervera has everything in readiness to make a dash out of the harbor with his fleet, his object being to try to sink at least one of the ships of the American squadron, and, if need be, go down with his flags flying and bands playing.

This, perhaps, is not the Spanish admiral's exact programme, but if the information conveyed by the deserters is trustworthy, it clearly shows the state of desperation which the Spanish defenders of Santiago have reached.

The Cuban outposts nearest to the city have reached a picturesque old stone house three miles from Santiago. The port holes and turrets of the old building were a few days ago manned by 100 Spanish soldiers. Now the house is held by fifty Cubans. From this position the city of Santiago can be distinctly seen below.

Red Cross flags are flying in all parts of the town, which either mean the recognition of the Red Cross in the protection of the women and children, or that there is a great deal of sickness in the city. The latter, however, is untrue, as all of the deserters from Santiago report that the health of the troops and inhabitants of the city is excellent.

The cable line has been repaired to Siboney and a telegraph office will be opened at that place to-day.

Our Relations With Canada.

Washington, July 1.—An important conference was held late yesterday between leading members of the Senate and House appropriation committee and Secretary Day. It related to the provision inserted in the general deficiency bill by the House, and stricken out by the Senate, making provision for the American end of the joint commission between the United States and Great Britain to settle all questions of dispute between this country and Canada.

Saw the Manila Transports.

San Francisco, July 1.—The steamer Alameda, in from Australia, reports that on June 22 and 23 she sighted the second Manila expedition.

Forty-five miles this side of Honolulu she spoke the China, under full steam. The next day, when 137 miles from Honolulu, she signalled the Zealandia, Senator and Colon, all in a bunch, and soon afterwards the Belgic, also bound for Honolulu, was spoken.

Capt. Gridley's Funeral.

Vancouver, B. C., July 1.—Further details received of the funeral of Captain Charles V. Gridley, of the Olympia, at Yokohama, shows that it must have been very impressive.

A notable feature was the guard of honor, consisting of fifty Japanese sailors.

British and American flags were twined together everywhere.

The Spanish Spies.

Montreal, July 1.—The proceedings against Senor du Bosc and Lieutenant Carranza have been dismissed. The judge declared that there was not a particle of evidence to show that the Spaniards intended to leave the city, nor was there any justification for the writ of seizure. The Spaniards were declared free and their bail bonds dissolved.

Texas Transferred.

Playa del Este, July 1.—Orders have been received from Washington detaching the battleship Texas from the flying squadron and attaching her to the North Atlantic squadron.

THE RACE POSTPONED

The Freshman Crews Will Start at Ten O'clock To Day.

Saratoga Lake, N. Y., July 1.—The Cornell-Pennsylvania-Columbia freshman race scheduled for yesterday will not be rowed until half past ten o'clock to-day.

At half past five o'clock the course was very rough under a stiff south wind. It was then said that officials would wait as late as half past seven o'clock for the rowing conditions before postponing until to-day.

An hour later the wind seemed to be going down with the setting of the sun, and the referee's boat, with judges and press men aboard, left for an inspection of the stake boats.

The announcement of the postponement followed shortly afterward.

The day for the freshman triangular contest opened bright and clear, with a light cooling breeze stirring.

The race was scheduled to take place so late in the day that no special trains were run. Small crows, however, began coming in early on the regulars, and the main street of the village was crowded with conveyances for public use, which it was expected would form a continuous procession to the lake later in the afternoon. Extra cars were put on the trolley lines to the lake and every provision made to handle the crowds conveniently.

The race talk during the morning continued slightly in favor of the Columbia freshmen, though many favored the Cornell youngsters because of the traditional success that belongs to Ithacan crews. The fast time that Ward swore both his crews had made caused a number to bank on the Quakers. With the water conditions promised before noon and the youngsters in such good form there was every prospect of excellent sport.

The facilities for witnessing the race could not have been better. Grand stands had been erected opposite the finish, and the high acclivity which crowns the neck of the lake where the finish line is located, formed an ideal place for spectators and commanded a view of nearly the entire course.

The following are the crew statistics:

The betting at the bookmaking booths at the lake in the afternoon showed that sporting sentiment was gradually working toward Cornell for first. The bookmakers offered even money against Cornell to win; 6 to 5 against Columbia and 2 to 1 against Pennsylvania.

Revolt in the Carolines.

Vancouver, B. C., July 1.—Mail advices from Hong Kong say that it is reported that the revolt against Spanish rule has extended to the Caroline islands. The Spanish have only a small garrison there, and as they are unable to send relief, it is likely that the rebels will soon have control.

A CURSE OF RABBITS.

They Ruined an Island and the Prospects of a Colony.

About 200 years ago Holland determined to colonize one of her islands, which lies about 200 miles from the coast of Africa. It was thickly wooded, filled with fruit, flowers and edible roots, and the home country decided that 400 or 500 of the peasants, who could find no land to farm in Holland, might be able to turn the island into a huge truck farm and dairy. They were to send things home, and in exchange get manufactures until they had established a little world for themselves.

The people who went were very poor, and took very little with them, but one woman, in an evil moment, decided to take a pair of pet rabbits, and that act sealed the doom of the whole plan.

They reached the island in safety, began to farm, and were happy and successful. They found birds and small game in plenty, and soon, to their joy, they began to find rabbits. Many a good dinner did they have of rabbit pie or stew, and the woman who had brought the original pair with her from home was considered a benefactor, for from this one pair all the others had sprung in a series of rapidly succeeding generations.

Then gradually things began to change; the farmers' crops were nibbled, and the woodsmen found the young trees destroyed. They grew frightened. The rabbits had become a scourge. They multiplied and ate until the people had to fight for every green leaf they had.

Finally there was nothing left on the island but rabbits and people, and rabbits became the people's only food. But as there was no food for the rabbits themselves they soon died off, and left a starving, desolate settlement upon a desert in the sea.

So much for the justice that is displayed in the choice of the long-eared, soft-eyed bunny as an Easter emblem. But about those people! They did not all starve, for the home ship came at last, and instead of leaving her cargo and getting stores of produce, she carried the wretched survivors back to old Holland.—Boston Post and Times.

CAMARA ORDERED OUT

His Stay at Port Said a Violation of Neutrality Laws.

EGYPTIAN DECISION FINAL

Permitted to Coal from His Own Transports—The Fleet Is Awaiting the Arrival of Three Colliers—The Navy Department at Washington Not Apprehensive—Rumors That the Torpedo Boats Will Be Abandoned.

London, July 1.—It was learned this afternoon that the Egyptian government has decided to notify Admiral Camara that his fleet must leave Port Said, as it is violating neutrality.

Port Said, July 1.—The Egyptian government this afternoon gave its sanction to the Spanish fleet, under command of Admiral Camara, coaling from its own transports, and the warships are now engaged in the work of taking coal on board. The Isla de Luzon, with a cargo of coal on board, has arrived here. The Egyptian government had previously prohibited the fleet from taking on board anything more than coal enough to enable it to return to Spain.

The fleet is awaiting the arrival of three colliers. The report that the admiral will leave his torpedo boats here is reiterated.

Washington, July 1.—While not abating its close watch over Admiral Camara's fleet, the navy department does not feel the same degree of apprehension respecting the movements of these ships as it did when the start was made for Port Said. The government has done everything possible within fair lines to prevent this fleet from reaching the Philippines and the agents of the state department have been particularly successful in this work. The United States Consular Agent Broadbent has just made a master stroke, which he reports to the department. While the Spanish ships were seeking permission of the Egyptian government to take coal at Port Said, the consular officer succeeded in quietly buying up all of the coal available at that port. This amounted to 20,000 tons, and it is in a good place to be shipped to Dewey, to serve as a base of supplies for Commodore Watson's eastern squadron when it enters the Mediterranean, or to coal any American vessel that may pass through the Suez canal, bound to the Asiatic station, if it should be decided that it is permissible for warships to take on coal at Port Said.

The news that reached the department through the press reports that Admiral Camara is about to leave his torpedo boat destroyers at Port Said because they would be unable to weather the monsoons that rage in the Indian ocean at this season is believed at the navy department to presage the dissolution of the squadron and the abandonment of the cruise to the Philippines. As these torpedo boat destroyers have proved their ability to cross the Atlantic in bad weather, it is conjectured at the department that the real reason for turning them back is one that is almost chronic in the Spanish navy, namely, a break down of the delicate machinery of the war craft.

Leaving out the three torpedo boat destroyers, Audaz, Proserpina and Ortez, there is very little left in the squadron of an offensive character, aside from the battleship Pelayo and the cruiser Carlos V. At any rate the dropping of the destroyers will weaken Camara's squadron so materially as to make his defeat by Dewey a foregone conclusion if they should come together.

THE NEXT MANILA EXPEDITION.

Troops and Ships Preparing. Gen. Merritt Took $3,000,000 With Him.

San Francisco, July 1.—The steamship Newport, on which General Merritt sailed for the Philippines Wednesday, carried $3,000,000. The troops to go on the fourth expedition will be the Seventh California, First Montana, the First South Dakota and First Iowa, in all about 4,700 men. The steamships Peru and City of Pueblo have been secured. The Umatilla and Walla Walla will probably be impressed. The Aameda will not go because she is carrying British mails to Australia.

The Dolphin's Injuries.

Washington, July 1.—The Dolphin, which was in collision with the cruiser Newark, is now on her way to Norfolk for repairs. The extent of the Dolphin's injuries is not known, but she must have been pretty badly damaged, as it is stated that it will take at least three weeks to repair the vessel. She was evidently injured below the water line, as some repairs had to be made before proceeding to Norfolk.

Cadets In West Point.

Washington, July 1.—The president yesterday made the following appointments of cadets-at-large at the United States Military Academy:

Ulysses S. Grant, 3d, of New York city; Charles S. Hoyt of Washington, D. C., Grayson M. P. Murphy of Philadelphia, Charles F. Smith, son of Major Allen Smith of the First cavalry, Louis Turtle (alternate), Washington, D. C.

Casualties in the Battle of Sevilla.

JOSPEH WHEELER,

Will Probably Not Attack Until Monday.

Washington, July 1.—Information received at the war department last evening confirmed the impression of Wednesday that General Shafter may not attack the city of Santiago until next week. He is evidently waiting for the heavy ordnance supplies and the artillery reinforcements.

SPANIARDS FLEE BEFORE AMERICANS

Three Thousand Leave El Caney at Our Advance

San General Lawton's headquarters, Five Miles East of Santiago De Cuba, June 29, via Kingston, July 1.—The American troops spent yesterday in feeling for the enemy, otherwise engaging in reconnoisances. General Shafter in person, with a small escort, went almost to El Caney, a small town five miles northeast of Santiago de Cuba, with which the city is connected by railroad. Lieut. Standing and a detail of Cubans and American sharpshooters occupied a small hill northwest of the American lines and looking directly down on both El Caney and Santiago.

El Caney now seems to hold only about three hundred Spanish troops, the number reported by the Cuban scouts, in spite of the belief of the Americans at first that there were 3,000 Spaniards there who were driven out by our advance on Baiquiri and Juragua and had all retreated on El Caney and not on Santiago.

The small number of troops now at Caney indicates that the Spaniards have practically evacuated the place, and this is believed to be the case. Lieutenant Standing was not molested during his observation, though he passed through a camp which twenty-four hours previously had been occupied by a strong Spanish outpost.

Our men suffer from cold at nights from lack of the blankets thrown away on the march. These have been appropriated by the Cubans, who take everything in sight and do as little as possible. On the whole they actually fare better than our men. Compared with their recent condition this is immeasurably the case.

The American officers, generally, expect a movement to-day to capture Caney. This, however, is not official. Such a move may draw the Spaniards in force from Santiago, but in view of their previous retreats this is considered unlikely.

Five Thousand Troops Started for Baiquiri

Washington, July 1.—General Corbin has announced that six transports with trops left Tampa yesterday under the command of General Snyder for Baiquiri to reinforce General Shafter. The troops number about 5,000 and are regulars.

FOR THE VACATION SEASON.

Subscribers leaving the city for the summer season can have The Daily Press sent to their new address by notifying the buisness office. The address will be changed as often as desired. "Home news" will prove most interesting while you are away.

New Political Jobs.

In order to carry out the provisions of the war revenue law Internal Revenue Collector Rutan, whose headquarters are at Newark, has been obliged to increase his force of assistants by several men, and in this way a number of Republican workers in the district have been provided with government positions, though as soon as the rush is over their services will be dispensed with.

George Wilcox, of New Providence, has been selected to look after the Union and Middlesex districts, and Peter V. D. VanDoren for the Somerset district.

All the appointees are Republicans, in explanation of which fact Mr. Rutan says that the party in power claimed the patronage.

Microbe Hunting.

The favorite winter amusement of the medical profession, likewise of many other scientific gentlemen, may be said to be microbe hunting, and neither in summer do they relax the pursuit. They have heralded to an admiring world the discovery of the microbe of typhoid fever, of smallpox, of diphtheria, of consumption, of malaria, of yellow fever, likewise of the cattle plague and hog cholera. If any new disease should start up, beyond doubt a hundred men would stand ready to catch the microbe of it in their little microscopes.

'Tis well, perhaps. Mankind cannot know too much of science, but one point in this microbe hunting strikes the plain outsider as odd. Logically, if there are microbes of disease, there must also be microbes of health. There cannot be evil without good; there cannot be darkness without light; there cannot be disease without health. If we are nothing but an aggregation of millions and billions of microbes, then there must be more good microbes than bad ones, or the race would have been extinct long ago.

Why, then, do not the doctors undertake the discovery and propagation of the microbes of health? In the blood of one who is perfectly well there must be beneficent microscopic germ growths that eat up the bad germs and maintain the individual in health. Why has not some scientist who has the good of his fellow man at heart hunted for these, segregated them out and propagated them, inoculating diseased persons with the health cultures? That is what we should like to know. If the opposite can be done, if mankind can be infected with disease through germs, then also is health infectious and people can be inoculated with it. W. J. Colville in one of his lectures calls this disease germ hunting "the cult of satanism." We propose a new style of microbe hunting. Let some expert microscopist search for the microbes of perfect health and cultivate them. Then let physicians inoculate all mankind with them.

Doom of the Small City House.

The doom of the small city house is sealed. It must go. Ground is too precious in the crowded town for one family to have a house to itself. The flat-house is the first departure architecturally from the single home. In the city flat light housekeeping is the vogue. It is still the custom for each household to do its own cooking and domestic work separately.

The next step will be an improvement, and a vast one, on this plan. The coming apartment house will be one in which a number of families, 5, 20 or 50, will be housed luxuriously and have their food supplied from one common kitchen, their clothing renovated from one common laundry. It will be found not only pleasanter, but actually cheaper to have food prepared by trained cooks in the best, most palatable and healthful manner in a common kitchen than to have it messed together in the present slapdash, frequently unwholesome, way. Women who desire to do something else than merely keep house will then be free.

The London Speaker points out one of the most important revolutions which the going out of the small city house will bring in the changed status of domestic service. The women who do housework will no longer live in the family of those whom they serve. They will have their own homes or rooms to which they can retire when their stated hours of work are over. They will not be subject to the whims of temper of unreasonable house mistresses on the one hand nor on the other will they be permitted the impertinence, slatternliness and wastefulness to which they too often are addicted today. They will be under the charge of a central superintendent who will regulate them and their hours like clockwork, when the small separate house and flat kitchen give way to the great central hotel. Speed the day!

GENERAL WALLACE F. RANDOLPH.

The artillery in the army which General Shafter took from Florida to Cuba on transports is under command of General Wallace F. Randolph. In the reduction of fortifications on the land side artillery is an important factor. General Randolph is said to be the right man in the right place.

The latest good story about Admiral Dewey is how he snubbed Prince Henry of Germany at a banquet in Hongkong given by that imperial Teuton. Prince Henry omitted to give a toast to the United States, as required by etiquette, till the tail end of the feast. The proud American left the table with the most marred displeasure and refused to accept an excuse other than a downright apology. The challenge was not thrown from the "mailed fist," but Dewey picked it up with lightning promptness.

The noted writer of sea fiction, Mr. Herbert Hamblen, insists that severity in dealing with sailors, the general habit in the American merchant marine, is necessary. As official brutality on shipboard was rigidly suppressed by law a quarter of a century since in England one wonders whether the continued decadence of American shipping interests has anything to do with the belated argument of fist, belaying pin and handspike, still practiced by American skippers and mates.

"Most of the stories sent out from Madrid pertaining to the various repulses of the Americans at Santiago seem to be intended for the marines," says a contemporary. Certainly, however, not for the gallant marines who shed the first blood on Cuban soil and proudly planted Old Glory there for the first time over a camp of American soldiery.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Robert C. Ogden in one of his recent talks to New York merchants said: "It is best always for a continuous advertiser—and no advertising is valuable unless it is continuous—to use good, bold, clear, legible type, easily read, but characteristic, so that whenever the paper is opened the reader will know at once that it is Jones', whether he sees Jones' name or not." The merit of the hint is that any advertiser, large or small, can apply it.—Paterson Press.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The precocious small boy finds the war times offering him unusual chances for bright remarks One youngsters, whose sayings have been related with much gusto by relatives and friends, nearly broke up evening worship at his home the other evening by a chance remark. The lad was tired out by his play for the day and payed little attention to what was being said. The father of the household was reading scripture. "Remember Lot's wife," he started. Suddenly the drowsy face brighted up, "Forget it and remember the Maine" he piped forth and an audible smile went around the family circle.

Harry L. VanEmburgh, the civil engineer in Street Commissioner Gavett's offices, showed his mechanical engenuity yesterday by manufacturing a fan to be run by foot power, which will create fresh breezes and cool the office as effectively as an electric fan. The materials used are those that came handiest to his reach. An old sewing machine forms the base of the machine. At one side is the fan, a tall rod on which four broad fans are fastened. A connecting belt is put on, and then with a gentle movement of his foot, Mr. VanEmburgh sits always in a cool breeze. The inventor is said to be about to apply for a patent, but at any rate the fan attracts quite some attention.

It is an assorted army that rallies under the banner of Isaak Walton, the world renowned fisherman. Plainfield has always been well represented among the pursuers of the finny tribe. Rich and poor, old and young have gone forth and labored by the side of some quiet pond in their favorite pursuit. It was an eye opener, however, for even the oldest inhabitants when a trio of the deciples of the unmortal Isaak Walton wandered to the banks of Green brook, in the vicinity of Grant avenue, last Monday afternoon. Three young colored women, armed and equipped with the necessary tackle and umbrellas, proudly marched to the brookside and opened a campaign against the fish hiding beneath the waters. Perhaps it was the astonishment at the sight that caused the sunfish and shinners to succumb so easily, but at any rate the dusky fishermaidens met with remarkable luck and returned homeward with a lengthy string of fish. Miss Jennie Jefferson, Miss Ella Randolph and a friend made up the party.

THEATRICAL.

The warm weather which is upon us seems to have little effect upon the attendance at the "continuous" houses, and the reason is not far to seek. At the Pleasure Palace, for instance, everything is done to make its patrons coolly comfortable; electric fans are in constant motion, there is a hand fan for everyone, ice water, the cooling influence of waving palms, and graceful ferns and always an entertaining bill. For the present week standard vaudeville features are entirely relied upon to amuse, among which are a very amusing little farce, "The Wrong Flat," presented by John C. Fox and Katie Allen; the Kingsley Sisters, a charming duo who are effective singers of "coon" songs; Harris & Fields, in a comedy specialty; Johnny Quigley, the phenomenal boy tenor; the Dogovans, a clever Irish sketch team; Provo, the European juggler; Charles T. Grilly, in his amusing monologue, a dozen others, and of course the wargraph, with a new and exciting picture from the front.

tion for the trolley had to be considered by the Council. He said that the trolley had ruined West Front street and he did not favor the location of it on East Front street.

Mr. Hetfield asked if the consents for East Second street had been filed with the clerk. He was told that they have not, and he replied that he would like to see such consents and a map filed.

This part of the meeting was concluded after a few more remarks had been made by Mr. Newman, Joseph Robinson and U. B. Crane, relative to the sprinkling of the streets and the macadamizing of the same. A motion was then made that the hearing be adjourned until Tuesday evening, July 5th. This motion was adopted with an amendment that the consents and a map for East Second street be filed at once.

The regular order of business was then taken up and a petition was received from the residents of Sandford avenue asking that that street be macadamized. Mr. Barrows stated that the work had been started.

The resignation of Collector E H. Bird was received. It will be accepted after the accounts are audited by the finance committee and his successor is appointed.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

One would suppose that among the many gowns included in the summer girl's wardrobe for wheeling and the numerous other sports, one of them at least would be appropriate for golfing and tennis; this, however, is not the case. The up-to-date girl wants a separate and distinct gown for every occasion and the modistes and large establishments take pleasure in supplying their demands.

The costumes designed for golfing differ very little from the bicycle suit, with the exception that the skirt may be worn longer. The skirts are made of light wool goods for cool days and for wear during the warm weather pique, duck and linen are popular materials. Shirt waists on these occasions are simply indispensable. They are usually made quite plain and of any suitable material, the thin wool goods, however, proving the most desirable, especially in preventing one taking cold. The most attractive part of the golf costume is the coat. This garment is always red and either the double or single breasted variety is fashionable, fastening with brass buttons.

Another important item is the hat to be worn on these occasions, and this season shows some very unique styles. The sun-bonnet is a novelty and many girls have adopted them for both golfing and tennis. White dimity or sprigged muslin are employed in the composition of these quaint bonnets, and they are made with small capes extending down well over the shoulders, thus preventing the hot summer's sun from marring the complexion or the neck, and also forming a very picturesque frame to a youthful face. Many women, however, prefer the regulation Alpine or sailor hat, the sombrero which is now so much in vogue also proving a very popular form of headgear.

The patriotic American girl will undoubtedly be a conspicuous figure in all the summer sports and some very striking gowns, comprising the national colors and ornamented with military buttons, army buckles and all the rest of the paraphernalia will be seen. A lovely gown of this description has been designed for an enthusiastic tennis player. The skirt is navy blue linen, cut to escape the ground by about three inches, is finished at the base with a deep band of red lined, headed with a piping of white pique. The blouse of blue linen is made sailor fashion, with a large collar of red over a plastron and stock of white pique. White pique form the cuffs of the regulation shirt waist sleeve, while brass buttons are employed to fasten the front of the blouse. A red leather belt fastening with an immense army buckle finishes the waist. The hat to be donned with this suit is a simple white sailor, decorated with a band of red, white and blue ribbon. Altogether this forms a very original as well as attractive suit.

Two pretty models recently completed by a fashionable dressmaker for a couple of swell patrons are worthy of description. One in thin blue serge, unlined throughout, has the natty skirt made in bell shape and is simply faced at the hem with a strip of linen which supports the band of white cloth, decorated with rows of braid. The blouse has an open V neck and may be worn with chemisette or plastron of pique or silk. The broad front pleat of white cloth is braided to match the skirt as is also the square sailor collar and small turned-up cuffs. A blue silk scarf ties beneath the collar in a jaunty sailor knot. A white belt and sailor hat completes this suit.

The second costume is especially charming in a combination of white pique combined with red and white striped linen. This suit is also made without a lining. The wide band at the foot of the skirt is put on to form a point in the center. The blouse bodice is single breasted, fastening with one large button and worn over a shirt waist or plastron of silk or cotton. The striped linen forms the slashed revers, the band down the front and the cuffs of the tight fitting leg-o-mutton sleeves. The fashionable sombrero will be worn with this gown.

Napoleon and the Plough.

A certain incident connected with the great Napoleon while he was in exile at Elba is commemorated in the island, to this hour, by an inscription affixed to the wall of a peasant's house.

A man named Giaconi was ploughing when the famous exile came along one day, and expressed an interest in his work. Napoleon even took the ploughshare out of the man's hand, and attempted to guide it himself. But the oxen refused to obey him, overturned the plough, and spoiled the furrow.

The inscription runs thus:—

"Napoleon the Great, passing by this place in MDCCCXIV, took in the neighboring field a ploughshare from the hands of a peasant, and himself tried to plough, but the oxen, rebellious to those hands which yet had guided Europe, headlong fled from the furrow."

Self Made Men of Other Days.

The self-made man is by no means solely the product of modern times. Columbus was a weaver, Franklin was a journeyman printer, Pope Sixtus V. was employed in his young days in keeping swine, Robert Burns was a ploughman, Aesop was a slave, Homer was a beggar, Daniel Defoe was apprenticed to a hosier, Demosthenes was the son of a cutler, while Virgil was a baker's son. Ben Jonson was a bricklayer, Cervantes was a common soldier, Canova's father was a stonecutter, Captain Cook commenced life as a cabin boy, Haydn, the musician, was the son of a poor wheelwright, Pizarro, instead of going to school, was sent to keep hogs. Kirke White's father was a butcher, and Keat's father kept a livery stable.

She Won.

"Mary," said Mr. Thomas when a silence fraught with unpleasant meaning, had followed his first altercation with his young wife.

"Yes?" said Mary, interrogatively.

"When a man and his wife have had a—a difference," said Mr. Thomas, with a judicial air, "and each considers the other at fault, which of the two do you think should make the first advance toward reconciliation?"

"The wiser of the two," said Mrs. Thomas, promptly, "and so, my dear, I'll say at once that I am very sorry."

It occurred to Mr. Thomas that it might have been as well for him to make the first advance, after all, but he thoughtfully refrained from saying so.

For Cool Summer Days.

A handy little garment for cool summer days or evenings is made of cadet blue covert cloth lined with plaid silk. The pointed yoke is of embroidered cloth and is made with a rolling collar.

Dainty wraps of every variety are shown for the summer. Some of them are little more than two or three shaped ruffles, trimmed with bouillones and dainty ruchings, while others are made on the shawl pattern, long in back and short in front and these form handsome garments.

War Tax on Club Women.

The question of imposing a war tax on the club-women of the country is one that has been discussed with great interest in club circles. Undoubtedly the result of such a tax would be a very important sum, as the number of club-women in the United States is close to if not over half a million. While waiting to be taxed, however, the club-women of the country both in and out of patriotic societies are showing great zeal in their services in behalf of the country's defenders.

Strawberry Salad.

Strawberry salad requires very large, firm luscious berries. These are piled six or eight of them in a lettuce cup, made from two leaves taken from the heart of the head, and are either sprinkled lightly with sugar or with a few drops of lemon-juice before a teaspoonful of mayonnaise is put on them.

Testing Balls.

A German has invented a new method of testing the balls for use in ball bearings. The balls are rolled singly down an inclined plane and drop on a steel block, those which rebound over an adjustable gauge in the box being deemed of the right quality for use.

An Unguarded Moment.

Visitor—"Don't you get tired sitting there doing nothing?"

The Bearded Lady—"Yes, but I have to do something to support my wife and children."

Curious Facts.

It is said that cowbells are produced only in four factories in the United States, and are made just the same as they were 100 years ago, and sound the same. There are 10 sizes.

Notwithstanding the enormous fruit production in America, and in spite of the tariff discouragements, the United States actually import from Europe seven hundred million of oranges a year.

The seeds of the "Philippine bean" from the coast near Manila so closely resemble the quartz pebbles, among which they fall, in shape, size, color and hardness as to be almost indistinguishable.

A cord of wood, weighing 4,000lb., will yield 9 gallons of alcohol, 25 gallons of tar, and 85 mushels of charcoal. Wood alcohol is almost a perfect substitute for grain alcohol for mechanical and manufacturing purposes.

It is a common Asiatic custom for the bridegroom to give chase to the bride either on foot, on horseback, or in a canoe. If the bridegroom catches the fugitive he claims her as his wife, otherwise the match is broken off.

A Parlor Suit Treat
—it concerns a dozen sample suits.

If you have a moment or two, put it to good purpose—see the big Parlor Suit "spread" that's waiting for you. A dozen remarkably superb sample suits—often for less than it cost to put 'em together. About some of them:

One—a silk brocatelle suit, was $75—now $50.

Another velour suit—$50 before—now $35.

A $60 silk velour suit—take the sample for $45.

A most elaborate rich-appearing suit—heavily silk covered, curled hair upholstery—$125 it's old price—now $85.

Note this—300 Remnants of Oilcloths put at less than half their old prices. A mighty lucky chance for you shrewd folks. Mattings, 400 rolls.

A great big Refrigerator stock—$5.49 is what you can get a hardwood upright refrigerator for—where can closer buying be done? The galvanized ice pick, tongs and pan go with it, free.

VAN HORN'S

Wickless Blue Flame Oil Stove —easy as a lamp to run—but has no wick or valve—worth its weight in gold to housewives.

The "Monarch" Vapor Stove —a great wonder—one burner generates all the vapor—powerful and sure. No details or "things" to operate —no worry, danger or uncertainty.

$5.95—just received—others ask and get a third more for it. Look up this Carriage stock of ours.

There's a daily exhibition of these stoves going on for all visitors—we sell the "Insurance" and "Quickmeal" Vapor Stoves, too.

Lesson For the Week Beginning July 3. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, Christian Citizenship.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Deut. vi, 2-9; Math. xxii, 36-40.

Love of country and patriotic devotion to its welfare is one of the Christian virtues. This is more than the natural attachment for places and persons familiar to childhood days and made dear by personal association. It is a sentiment not largely found in people of low state of civilization nor in those of debased morals. It is particularly conspicuous in those of advanced grade of Christian life.

The source of genuine patriotism is a recognition of God as the ruler of the nations and thankfulness to Him for national privileges and blessings. It recognizes personal obligation to Him to preserve the benefits of pure government and to advance all the interests of His kingdom on earth.

Real love of fatherland is generous toward all other people and recognizes their right and duty to love and be loyal to their rulers and help develop their national destiny on its appropriate lines. Love of one's own does not imply scorn of another's possessions nor envy of his prosperity.

At this time of the year some special service should be arranged to deepen the lessons of patriotism. It is well to have some exercises which shall have a biographical cast. The names and deeds of the great men of the past who have been influential in laying the foundations of our national existence should be kept fresh in memory. It is well also to review the events of our history and trace the development of the national life. Beyond all this and more important it is to give some thought to the peculiar principles on which our nation is founded and which distinguish it from all other nations of the earth, past and present. The dangers to which such a nation is liable can be profitably scanned and the safeguards discussed. All should close with earnest prayer for the guidance of the Divine hand in the path of destiny.

The Unfolding Age.

That the world is advancing along many lines no careful student of events can doubt. However disappointingly slow the development may be to ardent temperaments it is beyond dispute that the race is discovering moral principles as well as material resources and is forging righteousness as truly as it is inventing machinery to assist labor. Many books have appeared in the last few years attempting to forecast the future conditions of the nations in political, commercial, industrial, social and religious matters. Many of these are valueless, some are vicious, a few are of worth. One of the very best is Dr. Josiah Strong's "New Era." It is comprehensive and safely progressive. He shows the nineteenth century to have been one of preparation. The high destiny of the race is outlined. The work done by the great nations of antiquity and the place of the Anglo-Saxon in the onward march are graphically given. The authoritative teacher and the fundamental laws of man are found. The pressing problems of the present time are recognized and the place of the church and the individual's duty in their solution are clearly sketched.

This is also a book which many League chapters should divide up and discuss. It is a thought breeder and worth a cartload of common trash. It is written in a style as fascinating as any romance. If taste for this kind of literature is once acquired, the whole life will take on new purpose.

Know the times in which you live and the after times shall know you.

Lay Up In Store.

Don't close up the League during the summer if you can avoid it. If some are away, let the others meet. Have the meetings out of doors in some pleasant garden or veranda if possible. Have absent members write of their vacation experiences and read the letters at the meetings of the chapter.

Especially let those who are absent from home be on the alert for items of interest to make bright and profitable the services after their return. It is surprising how active one's thoughts can be in planning autumn and winter work when away from the rush and crowding of the daily routine. We need to get at a distance occasionally to see the duties and calls of service in their true perspective. Then they come out in clearer light and more exact proportion and relation.

Mingling with new friends, we touch a new world. Wider horizons open around us. Use your notebook. Catch the suggestions which come to you with freshness. If you don't note them, you will forget them before you return home. Plan ahead. Think out the schemes which come to mind. All will be of use sometime. Anyway it will give you readiness for emergencies when they arise. Stock up for days ahead!

A great deal of what goes under the name of prayer is a disguised attempt to steal. Some people never think of God till they get into a tight place and want Him to help them out. Others call upon Him every time their selfishness craves something beyond their reach or their desires are in danger of denial.

Fuchau, China, has some live chapters of the League. That in Lek Don gives liberally to self support. Some members sold rice and brought the profits. One brought an egg and put it on the collection plate.

Many people now hate the one who rebukes their sins and would banish the church and burn the gospel to get rid of the misery they have cultivated themselves.

The mind must be preoccupied with religious thought and work or it will be reoccupied with the old life of sin.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 31. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—The evils of covetousness.—Ex. xx. 17; Luke xii, 13-21.

Covetousness is an inordinate and unlawful desire for that which is not ours. It usually leads to an effort to possess what we wish for most inordinately, whether by fair means or foul ones. Covetousness is forbidden by the law of God. "Thou shalt not covet" is the final command of God in the summary of the moral law given to Moses.

Covetousness is selfishness. It does not consider the rights of God or the rights of man, but only self. The rich fool, who had such abundance that he did not know what to do with it, did not inquire, "What would God have me do?" or "What do my obligations to humanity demand that I should do?" but only "What shall I do?" and the conclusion reached was a selfish one—"This will I do. I will pull down my barns and build greater, and there will I bestow all my fruits and goods," not to use for God or humanity, but for his own ease for many years. That which leads us to disregard God and to fail to consider our fellow men is a great and grave evil.

Covetousness is one of the most dangerous evils to which humanity is heir. It is a sin of the heart and is not so easily seen and its dangers realized. It creeps upon us gradually and has us in its toils before we are aware of it, and, in fact, while its prisoners many never realize the fact. No sin is so insidious, and in this fact lies one of its greatest dangers. It is also a prevalent evil. It affects, more or less, the whole human race. Man naturally desires that which is of value and attractiveness to him, and it is an easy step from the natural, proper desire to an inordinate, sinful desire. Being so prevalent, it is lightly treated by men generally. It is forbidden by the law of God, but not by the law of man. It is often called by other names, and applauded by the world rather than condemned by it. But it is no less an evil in the sight of God. God looks at the heart and not on the outward man. The world's standard of judgment is not God's standard. We may escape the judgment and punishment of men, but when we stand before God we will be judged by what we are and not by what we seem.

The cure for covetousness is Christianity. Christianity teaches men to live for God and for humanity rather than for self. Such a man can never be covetous. Christianity shows us the absolute deceitfulness and uncertainty of the riches of this world and of the folly of sacrificing eternity for time. Christians themselves are often too much absorbed in the things of this world. As Christians and as Endeavorers let us prove to the world by our lives and teachings that godliness with contentment is the most desirable of all possessions.

Bible Readings.—Joshua vii, 16-26; I Sam. xv, 10-25; II Kings v, 15-27; Ps. x, 3; Prov. xv, 27; xxi, 24-26; Isa. v, 8; Eccl. v, 10; Ezek. xxxiii, 31; Math. xxvi, 14-16; Mark vii, 21, 22; Acts v, 1-11; Rom. xiii, 9; Eph. v, 5; I Tim. vi, 9-11.

The Active Love.

Contemplate the love of Christ—that which made his life so much to the world, so much to you and me, was active love, or love in action. If we would study that perfect character more, we would love it more, and our own characters would become more like His. The Christ life would bring us very near to God. If a piece of iron is put close to an electrified body, the iron becomes charged and both become magnets while together. If we will keep close to the Father spirit, we shall feel the magnetic touch of His love, and our hearts will thrill with new life.

The great God and Father of all, the eternal spirit of love, can never fail. He is the same yesterday, today and forever, and that spark of the Infinite in our own breasts shall never cease to burn until we are purged from all dross. God has loved us into being and will love us until the great purpose of our creation is accomplished, until everything shall be subdued unto Him, "and He shall be all, and in all."—Universalist.

Great Sins.

The great danger in the Christian life is the supposition that only great sins affect the life. On the contrary, it is rare that the evil comes in like a flood. There is in the embankment the little crack through which the water trickles almost unobserved, and in such small quantity that it is not regarded as worthy of effort to restrain it. But each minute it works its deadly work, removing particle after particle, until, under the stress of the storm, it opens the way for the giving away of the embankment, and in a moment the flood with its ruin!—Lutheran Observer.

The Bible.

To us the Bible is more than a mere literary study. We never read it but with that profound sense of veneration which is due to one of the masterworks of God! Call us a fanatic, an ignoramus, if you please; you cannot take from us that sense of veneration.—Jewish Voice.

After the Storm.

The ships passed over the water,
But the wings of the storm were there,
And they beat the light back into the night
Till the sea moaned in despair.
They beat the ragged pinions
Till black was the heavens' frown,
And they cleft the waves into yawning graves
Till the ships in the sea went down.
They beat and beat the ribs of the fleet
Till the fleet in the sea sank down.

Now peace broods over the water,
And those wings no more are out
That scourged in their wrath the ocean's path
And tossed the ships about,
That smote the sea in their anger
Till they made it shriek and roar
With their cruel whips that lashed the ships
Till the ships could hear no more,
And the airs are sweet, but the ribs of the fleet
Are whitening on the shore.

—Frank H. Sweet.

STORIES ABOUT CENTENARIANS.

Not All of Them Lived Perfectly Temperate Lives.

Not all of the centenarians were paragons of all the virtues. Thomas Whittington, for example, who lived to be 104, was a habitual drunkard, drinking only London gin, of which he consumed from a pint to a pint and a half daily. Philip Laroque went to bed drunk at least two nights in the week until he was 100. At ninety-two he cut four new teeth. John de la Somet, 130 years old, was an inveterate smoker. Several famous old people were extremely addicted to matrimony. Owen Duffy, who lived to be 122, married his third wife at 116, "by whom he had a son and daughter." Francis Hongo, a Venetian, was five times married, and was the father of forty-nine children. At the age of 100 his white hair fell out and a new crop of the original color came in. At the age of 112 he had two new teeth. Margaret Krasiowna, a Pole, married her third husband at ninety-four. "She bore him two sons and a daughter, as proved by the parish register." Margaret McDowal, 106 years old, married and survived thirteen husbands.

Among the recorded centenarians are two dwarfs—Mary Jones, 100 years, who was 2 feet 8 inches in height and terribly deformed, and Elspeth Watson, 115 years old, who was 2 feet 9 inches in height. Among the most agile were Mrs. Barrett, who, at the age of 116, climbed a ladder to repair the roof of her cottage, and Elizabeth Alexander, who was particular about her dress at 108, and was used to a daily walk of two miles. Several had peculiar habits. Mrs. Lewson, 117 years old, never washed her face for fear of taking cold, but greased it with hog's lard. John Hussey, 116 years, drank only balm tea as a beverage. John Wilson, the same age, supped always off roasted turnips. Judith Banister, 100, lived entirely on biscuit, bread, and apples during the last sixty years of her life. Old Lord Scarsdale and Lord Combermere, both of whom lived to a ripe age, thought the wearing of a tight belt habitually about the waist had much to do with their excellent health. Macklin, the centenarian actor, abandoned regular hours of eating in the last sixty-seven yers of his life, taking food when he was hungry. Two interesting married couples are reported. Mr. and Mrs. Cotterell, aged respectively 120 and 115 years, were married ninety-eight years and "never had a quarrel." They died within a few hours of each other. John Rovin, a Hungarian, and his wife, aged 172 and 164 years, lived together 148 years. At the time of the husband's death the youngest son was 116 years old.—North American Review.

AMERICA'S LATENT POWER.

The Quickness and Inventiveness of Her People Has No Parallel in Europe.

The quickness and inventiveness of American mechanics, engineers and manufacturers have no parallel in Europe. On a year's notice the United States might undertake to cope evenhanded with either the dual or triple alliance—although we have now only the nucleus of an army and the beginning of a navy, while the European powers have made war preparation their principal business for a whole generation. It is true that we have built only a few torpedo boats and only a few vessels of the type known as destroyers; but we have discovered that about a hundred very rich Americans had been amusing themselves within the past few years by building or buying splendid ocean-going, steel-built steam yachts of high speed, and with stanch qualities, capable of being quickly transformed into naval dispatch boats or armored and fitted with torpedo tubes. Probably not a single private Spanish citizen could turn over to his government such a vessel as the magnificent Goelet yacht, the Mayflower, which was secured by our navy department on March 16; not to mention scores of other private steam yachts of great size and strength that wealthy American citizens are ready to offer if needed.—Review of Reviews.

THE DWELLERS ON THE ROCK.

The St. Kildans Are Exempted from the Game Laws of Great Britain.

"Except the islands of St. Kilda" is a saving clause in every game law passed in Great Britain. The islands form a small group northwest of the Hebrides.

It is recognized by all who legislate for the sacred interests of sport that the St. Kildans have to live. Besides, there are only about seventy-five of them, and they live so far away from everybody else that their example has no bad effect.

The St. Kildans live more by the chase and less by agriculture than any other people. They pasture wild sheep on the island of Soa, sheep descended lineally from those left there by the Vikings, and less than half as large as those of the mainland. When a sheep is wanted they run it down with dogs. This keeps the breed lively and active.

Mainly the St. Kildans live, and live well, by snaring birds. They once caught 90,000 puffins in one season. At present the yearly catch is 32,000 gannets, 8,960 fulmars, 9,600 puffins, 1,920 guillemots and 800 razor backs. The catch is common property; so are boats, wild sheep and the use of the land generally.—New York World.

The Y. M. C. A. team will meet the nine of the Clinton Avenue Club tomorrow afternoon on the Clinton avenue grounds.

The Crescents will play their regular Saturday afternoon game this week with a team from the Dreadnaught Athletic Club, of Mott Haven. The game will be played on the Crescent Oval at 3:30 o'clock. Stages will run to the grounds from the station.

The Brooklyn A. A., which will play the Crescents Monday morning at the Crescent Oval, claim the title of champions of Brooklyn. They have been winning victory after victory and come to Plainfield all flushed with success. They promise the Crescents a hot fight.

Warren MacLaughlin will pitch for the Crescents on the Fourth with Stevens as a substitute. Stevens has done no twirling at all this season, but he used to be one of the best in his class. While he might be a little wild at first, his opponents would find him a dangerous man.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Miss Lottie Wilson, of West Fourth street, has a new wheel.

Enthusiastic cyclers are just now talking of holding a century run from Newark to Philadelphia. The run will probably take place this month, but the date has not yet been decided upon.

George Eckhardt, of Stockton, South Jersey, left Philadelphia Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock on his wheel and reached Plainfield in the evening of the same day at 6:30. He suffered no punctures and enjoyed his ride very much. He will remain in Plainfield until after Tuesday next.

There was some good racing on Park avenue again last night. G. H. Kenyon, got up a series of road races from Randolph road to Holly's corner and back, a distance of five miles. There were fourteen who started. The race was won by Abraham Connett, colored, who had a 2 minute handicap. Charles Dodd, with a half-minute, came in second; Alfred Springer, half-minute, third; Charles Westerfield, half-minute, fourth; V. Christofferson, one-minute, fifth; Chauncey Stout, one-and-a-half-minute, sixth.

WELCOMED PASTOR AND WIFE.

A Pleasant Reception Given to Mr. and Mrs. W. C. O'Donnell.

A pleasant event in the history of Monroe Avenue church was the reception given there last evening to Rev. W. C. O'Donnell and his bride by the members and friends of the church. It was a genuine welcome to the pastor and his wife, and everyone joined heartily in congratulating the popular couple and saying lots of pleasant things to make them feel assured that they have a warm place in the hearts of all. The church and Epworth house were prettily decorated for the occasion with flowers and flags. The affair was in charge of the women of the church and they were very successful. During the evening some excellent music was furnished which helped materially in making the reception an enjoyable one. Another delightful feature was the serving of ice cream. This proved to be the right thing in the right place.

To Set Aside Mortgages.

Craig A. Marsh and W. R. Codington were yesterday engaged in trying the case of Hart against Hart, before Vice Chancellor Reed at Trenton. A. V. Schenck and L. E. Hart represented the defendant. The suit was brought to set aside some mortgages given in the conveyance of property, and the plaintiffs claimed that undue influence was used in the transfer.

TO FURNISH NEW CLUBHOUSE.

Entertainment Given by the Young Women's Club Last Night

A successful entertainment, given to raise funds for the furnishing of the new clubhouse of the Young Women's Club on Madison avenue, was held in the hall of the Plainfield Camera Club last evening. An appreciative audience listened and heartily applauded the different numbers.

The programme included two glees by five boys from the Grace church choir, Reginald Chandor, Harry Messersmith, Linn Adams, Raymond Cohen and Ray Bigelow. Miss Mary Collier acted as accompanist. Then there were two vocal solos by Mr. Moran, another solo by Herbert Schutt, of the Grace church choir, and a series of Delsarte poses and recitations by Miss Mary A. Luckey. Miss Luckey was particularly good in her portion of the programme, giving the recitations very effectively.

There were also a number of views from a stereopticon under the charge of J. Hervey Doane. They included local views and others of a patriotic nature.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. L. H. Bigelow, Jr., Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux, Miss Horold, Mrs. J. W. Johnson and Mrs. C. C. Young.

TO HELP IN FRESH AIR WORK.

Park Avenue Baptist Christian Endeavorers Lay Plans.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Park Avenue Baptist church Christian Endeavor Society was held last evening at the home of Miss Florence Hawkins, of La Grande avenue. There was a very large attendance and the meeting was interesting and profitable. Mrs. W. S. Lowry, president of the society, presided. The members decided to suspend the monthly business meetings until the first Tuesday in September.

Regarding the work for the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, the members of the Park Avenue Baptist church and society will take an active interest, both financially and in aiding with the devotional work. In the local fresh air work, a special committee will be appointed by the president, to provide homes in the Park Avenue society and church for the girls from New York for a period of a week or ten days.

It was announced that the profits of the recent festival held at the church were $20, and this amount will be given to the church.

EMBRYO ARTISTS RELEASED.

Boys Who Defaced Walls Said They Drew Pictures of Cubans.

Alexander Boyd, James McGanley, Bert Smith and Allen Fulmer, the four lads who were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning on a charge of marking up the white walls of a new house in the course of construction on the corner of Berkman and East Sixth streets, claim to be artists. All four of them range in ages from eight to thirteen years, and when asked what damage they had done, said that they had drawn pictures on the walls.

"Were they pictures of Spaniards?" asked the City Judge.

"No, Cubans," answered Jacob M. Higgins, the complainant in the case.

The boys were allowed to go with a reprimand, and promised hereafter to keep out of other peoples' houses.

CUBAN SUPPER.

Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church Society Raise Funds for Their Church.

The Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, on West Fourth street, looked very gay and bright last night at the Cuban supper which was given for the benefit of the church. "Aunt Debby," the Cuban cook, stood behind the principal table, and had charge of the supper which was served to all.

A programme of music was first given, consisting of piano and vocal solos by Frederick White, vocal solos by Miss Berth Groves and Miss Minnie Dunham, and a rainbow drill by fourteen little folks, seven boys and seven girls.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Saide Randolph, who was the Cuban cook; Miss Bertha Groves, Miss Hattie Langford, Frederick White and Frank Kelso.

Coddington was elected president, George Griffen, treasurer; W. A. Woodruff, secretary. The owners say that they are going to oppose the location of a trolley on East Second street to the bitter end and they are willing to spend some money to see that their rights are protected. They will be strongly represented at the meeting of the Council Tuesday evening.

THE IMITATIVENESS OF THE JAP.

How a Man's Silk Tile Was Crushed Like a Theatre Hat.

A good story is told by "St. Barbe" of the imitativeness of the Japanese, which is easily creditable; for was it not a Japanese who, when he was told to make a coat to pattern—the old one being sent—so faithfully did he carry out the order that a rent and darn in one of the tails was carefully executed in the new garment?

"At a certain reception we were asked in morning dress, but knowing people wore their crush theatre hats. When we got down to the gunroom, which was devoted to gentlemen's cloaks, the gentleman immediately before me took off his theatre hat, crushed it against his breastbone, wrapped it up in his dust-cloak, and handed it to the Japanese in charge.

"I took off my hat and dust-cloak and handed them. To my horrow, the Jap took hold of my hat by the brim and crushed it against his breastbone, as he had seen my predecessor do. Unfortunately that gentleman's hat would not work at first, and he had to use a great deal of force before the springs would fold down. The Japanese, therefore, saw nothing in my hat's unwillingness to work, but just crushed it and folded my cloak round it.

"When I expostulated, he smiled, and presented me with a paper flower —I suppose as a peace-offering."

A TOWN OF REAL LIVING FREAKS.

Chesterfield, Indiana, the Banner Place for Curiosities.

The stork who presides over the State of Indiana has decided to make things easy for the managers of museums and freak shows. He now "bunches" all the abnormal children and places them in the small town of Chesterfield. The annual crop of freaks is taken as a matter of course by the 300 inhabitants of the little town, most of whom belong to the collection. The tallest man in the world registers from Chesterfield.

The largest and fattest four-year-old baby in the State is of this odd township. He weighs 116 pounds and is gaining rapidly. His nearest neighbor is a tiny specimen of humanity who weighs 50 pounds and is 17 years old.

Opposite live two children, twins, who are utterly devoid of sense, even animal instinct is lacking. They never move unless impelled, and never crave food. A mother there has spent fifty-two years in bed, and during this time has given birth to and raised eleven children. She is well contented, even happy.

Not the least of the freaks is one who claims to have discovered perpetual motion.—New York Journal.

AMERICA VICTORIOUS IN FIRST DAY'S FIGHT.

Carried Outer Fortifications But With Heavy Losses.

Reports of the General Assault on Spanish Lines—Kent's Men Carry San Juan Heights—Santiago's Doom Is Sealed—Medical Aid Needed—Relief Order to Cuba.

THE FIRST DAY'S FIGHT.

San Juan Heights Fell After a Bitter Fight—Heavy Losses.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Headquarters of American Army at Siboney, Cuba, July 1, via Playa del Este, July 2, 11:38 a. m—The first day's fighting practically stopped at 9 o'clock this evening although there is some desultory firing still along the line.

The assault will be resumed on the doomed city tomorrow morning as soon as the light is sufficient for the advance. Our troops have now advanced nearly to the city and have bivouaced on the field for the night.

The fight has been a terrible one and fresh reports of casualties have poured in all the evening. The first estimates of the losses were far too low. The losses are now estimated at over a thousand killed and wounded. The Spaniards must have suffered even worse.

At 8 o'clock this morning, the fighting was still continuing at several points. The reserves of the American troops have been ordered to the front at once apparently with the intention of forcing their way into Santiago without delay.

The fortifications of Santiago are very strong and the Spaniards have resisted bitterly. The bravery of the Americans has been superb. As a result of the stubborn resistance of the Spanish, the fatalities have been numerous.

The Twenty-first Regular Infantry bore the brunt of the fight and was the chief sufferer.

As a result of the day's fighting San Juan Heights has fallen and the way is now open for the American troops to advance on Morro Castle. The victory was very dearly purchased.

The place was the strongest Spanish outpost. It was well fortified and valiantly defended. The position was an excellent one on the top of a hill, the sides of which were very steep. On the top was located a battery of artillery while the infantry occupied the barracks there.

The American soldiers stormed the heights under a galling fire from the Spanish artillery. They were covered by the American artillery which kept up a fierce cannonade. The engagement was a fierce one and both sides suffered severely.

The Stars and Stripes were finally carried up the hill and the Americans took possession of the fortifications while the Spaniards were driven back to the city in disorder.

The town of Caney and its fortifications were captured after a stubborn defence by the Spaniards there. Brigadier General Kent, who is in command of the assaulting column, was highly elated with the victory.

SANTIAGO FALLS TONIGHT.

Such is the Opinion of Secretary Alger—Other News From Front.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 2, 12:33 p. m.—There is no doubt among the officials of the War Department that the attack on Santiago has been resumed this morning.

According to despatches received at the War Department, the Americans began shortly after daybreak a general assault on all the fortifications surrounding Santiago.

While the department is silent except as to the general sense of the messages received, Secretary Alger says that he expects that sunset tonight will see all Santiago in the hands of the Americans with the Spanish forces taken prisoners or in full flight.

The despatches received from the front make it almost certain that the troops will capture the city tonight.

If Rear Admiral Sampson has not already entered Santiago harbor, he will do so during the day and sink the ships of Admiral Cervera's fleet that lie in the harbor, partially dismantled.

The only thing that blocks his passage is the powerful battery placed on Smith Cayo, which lies just inside of the harbor.

During the night the Vesuvius hurled dozens of dynamite shells at the island, and if only a few find their mark the place must be torn to shreds.

According to the reports, it is thought that over 1,000 Americans were killed and wounded. The chief sufferers in the conflict were the First, Twenty-first, Seventh, Sixth, Sixteenth and Tenth Regulars, the Seventy-first New York Volunteers, and the Second Massachusetts. The Rough Riders were not actively engaged.

News of a second battle at Santiago is momentarily expected at the War Department.

MEDICAL AID NEEDED.

SMALL AFFAIRS OF THE LOCAL CANADA.

Borough Council Transact Business in Sweltering Heat.

POWER FOR THE COLLECTOR

AUTHORIZED TO STRIKE HOPELESS DELINQUENTS OFF THE BOOKS

Assurances That the Work of Macadamizing Summit Avenue Will Soon be Started—New Bicycle for Chief Wilson—An Objection to the Extra Charge Made by Engineer Hubbard.

The high temperature last night had a depressing effect on the business transacted at the regular July meeting of the Borough Council. Ice water and fans assisted a little in keeping down the temperature of the Mayor and Council to normal. The clerk's report showed a balance of $897.83 in cash and a balance on hand of $4,028.-73. The sum of $3,130.90 was paid county and State. Collector Brown's report showed that the sum of $1,005.86 was collected during the month of June, and there is now a balance in bank of $2,152 60.

A communication was received from Collector Brown in which he stated that he had settled a sidewalk assessment of $57 against the Susan Campbell estate for $53. He also asked the Council to adjust the tax assessment against Mrs. A. J. VanDeventer, so that the amount for the years of 1896 and 1897 would be $5,000. There was $7,500 for 1896 and $5,500 for 1897 against the property, which had not been paid, but would be if the amounts were made alike for both years. The Council confirmed Mr. Brown's action in the settlement of the assessment on the Campbell estate and complied with Mr. Brown's request in the other matter. They also agreed to give the collector authority to mark off such tax payers from the list where it appears there is no hope of getting the back taxes.

Regarding the macadamizing of Summit avenue, a petition was received from the property owners stating that they are willing to pay their share for the work which will be about $200. Mr. Woolston stated that the sum of $114 had been raised by the owners and that they had agreed to raise the balance. The work will be started very soon.

Mr. Woolston, for the street committee, reported that $506 16 had been expended on the streets during the past month, which included the laying of crosswalks and two catch basins on Sycamore avenue.

In reference to vacations for the marshals Chief Wilson was asked about the matter. He stated that last year he received two weeks' vacation and the other marshals one week. It was agreed that the same rule should be adopted this year and the chief was given authority to arrange the time for the vacations. Another matter introduced by the Mayor was that regarding a bicycle for Chief Wilson. He said that the officer bought a wheel three years ago and had worn it out in the service. He therefore thought the Council should buy him a new wheel.

Mr. Rogers offered a resolution that $50 be appropriated for the purchase of a Spalding wheel for the chief.

The resolution offered by Mr. Rogers prevailed.

Mr. MacLoughlin noticed in the bill rendered by Borough Engineer Hubbard an item of $10.25 for copying a blue print map for the borough. He objected to the bill and asked that it be stricken from the whole bill, as he thought Mr. Hubbard was getting a sufficient salary to do the work for the amount he receives.

Mr. Woolston said that he had told Mr. Hubbard that he would receive $10.25 for the work. The borough needs the map and has constant use for it. Mr. Rogers and Mr. Valiant agreed with Mr. MacLoughlin that Mr. Hubbard should do the work for his salary. It is not so much the amount of the bill as the principle they objected to. It was finally agreed that the amount should be eliminated from the general bill and that an effort be made to have Mr. Hubbard withdraw the same.

On the suggestion offered by Mr. Rogers, the Mayor appointed Messrs. Rogers, Burtis and Woolston a committee to confer with the Board of Trade of Plainfield regarding a future water supply for both city and borough, as suggested by the board at a recent meeting.

A resolution offered by Mr. Burtis provided for the payment of $400 to Borough Counsel C. A. Reed as extra compensation for work performed in looking after the interests of the bor-

DEANEY MUCH WANTED.

ACCUSED OF A HALF-DOZEN ROBBERIES IN AND ABOUT NEWARK.

Identified in Jail by a Little Girl Who Saw Him in Newark Entering a House in Which He Stole $700 Worth.

Edward Deaney, the sneak thief, who was detected in the act of looting the home of W. C. Smith, Jr., of Watchung avenue, Wednesday of last week, and was afterwards arrested after a thrilling chase in which Chief Marshal Wilson and a number of citizens participated, is a very much wanted man in Newark.

As soon as the report of Deaney's arrest reached Newark, Acting Captain of Detectives Cosgrove thought he was a man very much wanted there. The description given in the papers corresponded with that of a man who had been extensively working a skeleton-key game there.

Captain Cosgrove sent Detectives Murphy and Christie to Somerville with people whose houses had been entered, to identify Deaney if possible. The detectives went to the jail first, and were sure it was their man.

But the prisoner suspected what was up, and Wednesday night he secured a spoon and, by sharpening it on the stones, managed to shave his moustache off. He hoped to escape identification.

When placed in line with a number of other prisoners a little girl, who lives near M S. Wood, of 242 Sixth avenue, whose house was robbed June 16th, and who saw a stranger go in, at once picked Deaney out.

"That's the man," she said, "but he's shaved his moustache off."

The girl claims to have seen the prisoner enter the Wood residence. About $700 worth of jewelry and silverware was stolen

Other residences which are supposed to have been robbed by Deaney are those of George McCulla, 214 North Sixth street, entered May 17th: J. E. Chedister, 81 Twelfth street, entered April 6th; Charles Coffin, 56 North Ninth street, entered May 17th, and Julius Metz, 57 Ninth avenue, June 16th.

A recent attempted robbery in Arlington, when the thief was chased by a crowd of men, is also alleged against the prisoner.

OCEAN GROVE SUMMER SCHOOL.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, of Plainfield, to be Among the Speakers.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Ocean Grove, July 2.—The Ocean Grove Summer School holds its fourth annual session August 2nd-12th. The altogether unusual excellence of both lectures and musical features has established for this institution a high reputation.

Dr. J. E. Price, the dean, announces for this year's work a list of lecturers which includes the following: Old Testament, Dr. Robert W. Rogers, Drew Seminary; New Testament, Prof. Casper Rene Gregory, University of Leipsic, Dr. Marcus D. Buell, Boston University; philosophic theology, President B. P. Raymond, Wesleyan University; historical theology, Dr. John Alfred Faulkner, Drew Seminary; physical science, Dr. J. E. Price, dean; systematic theology, Dr. Geo. B. Stevens, Yale University; pastoral theology, Dr. S. F. Upham, Drew Seminary; English literature, Dr. Wm. V. Kelley, editor Methodist Review. Special lecturers: Dr. H. K. Carroll, Plainfield; Dr. George Elliott and Dr. S. J. Herben.

The evenings will be given largely to great popular lectures by speakers of National reputation. Another great musical festival is arranged, comprising a great popular concert, another symphony concert with a thousand children's voices, and the oratorio of "The Messiah."

Regular Meeting Business

It was expected that at the meeting of the Council Thursday evening the matter relating to to the erection of a new hosehouse in the West End would be introduced. It was not, however, slated for that meeting as it has to be brought up at a regular session, which will be Tuesday evening of next week. At the meeting next week the new tax collector will be appointed, and the resignation of Collector Bird will be accepted.

Unlucky Thirteen Rats.

Randolph Marsh, of Plainfield avenue, has been troubled of late by the inroads of some four footed invader in his chicken house. The unbidden guest has played havoc among the small chicks. This morning, Mr. Marsh's son, Grover, opened a campaign against the invaders. During the early morning hours, he trapped thirteen rats, some of them remarkably large.

A HALF CENTURY THEY HAVE BEEN MARRIED.

Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kitchen.

A PLEASANT CELEBRATION.

RELATIVES AND FRIENDS GATHERED AT OLD COUPLE'S HOME.

The Marriage of the Celebrants was Solemnized at Mechanicsville, N. J., Fifty Years Ago—Daughter and Granddaughter Arranged the Event—Names of the Many Guests Assembled.

[Special to The Daily Press.]

New Market, July 2—It was fifty years ago at Mechanicsville, N. J., that Mr. and Mrs. William D. Kitchen were joined together in matrimony, and in honor of the event the golden wedding anniversary was celebrated yesterday afternoon and evening at their home in this place. Mrs. George Conover, of Dunellen, a daughter, and Mrs. John Kitchen, of North Plainfield, a granddaughter, arranged the event.

During the afternoon relatives and friends from all parts of New Jersey assembled at the home and bestowed their good wishes on Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen.

Of those present, only one, Herman J. Henry, of Lebanon, was present when Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen were married. The celebrants occupied a place in the parlor, where the golden figures 1848-1898 reminded all of the important years. The house was appropriately decorated. Many costly and useful gifts were received, including a large oil painting from Charles Dalley, a grandson, of Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen have resided in New Market twenty-two years and have won a warm place in the hearts of their neighbors and friends. The groom is 75 years of age, while his wife is 69 years old. Five grandchildren were present to make the bride and groom happy.

During the afternoon a poem composed by Marion Conover, a granddaughter, was recited by her. Rev. E. S. Jamison, pastor of the Dunellen M. E. church, was present, and his remarks to the bride and groom were very appropriate and thoroughly enjoyed.

Those present to enjoy the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stigers, Harman J. Henry, Lebanon; Mr. and Mrs. John Ramsey, Potterstown; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Swackhammer, Mr. and Mrs. John Swackhammer, East White House; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Henry and son, Mr. and Mrs. George Henry, Somerville; Mr. and Mrs. J. Powelson, Louis Powelson, Frank Powelson, Miss Gussie Colther, Bound Brook; Mr. and Mrs. George Conover, Ida Conover, Mary Conover, Emma Conover, Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Jamison, Mrs. Ramsey, of Dunellen; Miss Lizzie Staats, New Brunswick; Miss Ida Mulford, Manasquan; John Dalley, Charles Dalley, A. J. Kitchen, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Nelson, Mrs. Mechling, of New Market; Mrs. Mary Higgins, Frenchtown; Mrs. Wm. Calvin, Jersey City; Mr. and Mrs. John Kitchen, Wm. Kitchen, Frank Blatz, George DeMeza, of Plainfield.

SIXTY YEARS WEDDED.

MRS. L. V. F. RANDOLPH'S PARENTS CELEBRATE THE EVENT.

The Affair Made a Time For a Quiet Family Gathering on the Shady Lawn Around the Randolph Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthias Price are this afternoon celebrating the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding at the home of their son in law, former Mayor L. V. F Randolph, of East Front street. They are an elderly couple, Mr. Price being eighty-four years old and Mrs. Price eighty-one. An abstemious life and care for health leaves them still hale and hearty.

It was strictly a family gathering, for the friends of the couple are so numerous that to invite them all would have made the affair too much of a strain on them. Twenty-five relatives, young and old, gathered on the shady lawn that surrounds Mr. Randolph's house this afternoon and are now enjoying a social time.

Besides Mrs. Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. Price have another daughter living in this city, Mrs. Henry R. Halloway. Mr. and Mrs. Price reside in Newark.

An Informal Dance.

An informal dance was given last evening in the Casino by Miss Rowland Cox, of West Seventh street, in honor of her guests, Miss Anne McCormick, of Harrisburg, Pa., and Miss Elizabeth Eastman Colgate, of Manchester, N. H. The music was furnished by Elliot of New York.

RARE POTTERY ON VIEW.

CLOISONNE COLLECTION EXHIBITED AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Exhibit Occupies the North Side of the Building, Which Has Been Especially Fitted for the Valuable Articles.

After many months of study and work the cloisonne collection of rare pottery has been put on exhibition in the Public Library. The exhibition occupies the nothern room on the second floor, which has been undergoing a long course of preparation to receive it.

The room and the articles on exhibition have been arranged with a true eye to the artistic. The walls on three sides are occupied by cases, handsome ones, with glass doors, the woodwork being stained and varnished a deep brown. Burlap covers the walls, above the cases, being a light green, and below of a bright red color. Inside the pieces are placed with an accuracy that strikes the eye at once. They were arranged by Miss Emma L. Adams.

The pottery is what is known as the Schoonmaker collection, and is very valuable. Several years ago some of the articles were exposed to view in the art gallery, but not as they now can be seen. After Job Male's death the collection was purchased and plans made to arrange the collection in a systematic manner.

Plans were submitted, and after much consideration, the order was given to Charles Stimpson to put in the cases. More delays followed and it was not until this week that the room was ready for the public.

The exhibitition is well worth attending. There are seventy-five pieces, some of them very rare, and all of the most skilled workmanship. Chinese and Japanese vases, cups, placques, dishes and jardinieres predominate, and no piece or set of pieces is puplicated. Each piece is carefully tabled and its history plainly printed on a slip of paper in front of it. This makes it very easy for the visitor to understand what he is looking at.

The southern wing to the library building, which is in course of erection, is being pushed rapidly. The new wing, when completed, will add much valuable space to the new floor room, and will be a much needed improvement. It is the intention of the board of directors to use the new space for the storing of books, and then to divide the present lower floor into reference rooms, reading rooms, rooms for study, etc., making out of the institution an ideal library in every sense of the word.

These plans may not be carried out for want of means, but the work is being pushed on the new addition, and it will be finished as soon as possible.

A NEIGHBORHOOD DISTURBANCE.

Jim Donohue is a Complainant and a Defendant in Court.

James Donohue and his neighbors, Charles Rothenhausen and wife, cannot live peaceably together. Both families occupy the house situated at 158 East Front street, and because one tenant's clothes line hangs over the other's back yard fence a little, the other tears it down.

That is what happened a few days ago, and then Donohue swore out a complaint against Mrs. Rothenhausen. She retaliated by making a complaint against him. Then Donohue found something amiss in Charles Rothenhausen's conduct, and the result was another complaint.

All three cases were tried this morning in the city court. It proved to be a quarrel begun several years ago, and of such bitterness and fierceness that Judge DeMeza wouldn't stop to settle it, but warned all parties hereafter to keep the peace.

Was in Madrid During the War.

Arthur H. Serrell, of Myrtle avenue, has just returned from Europe, where he has been spending several months as the representative of a large American engineering concern. He was in Madrid until two weeks before war was declared and afterwards visited the capital of Spain while the war was in progress. Although aversion to Americans was very strong, there was no demonstration against him.

WHAT YOU CAN DO THE FOURTH OF JULY.

Various Attractions In and About Plainfield That Day.

NO PUBLIC EVENTS IN TOWN.

BASEBALL AND PICNICS FORM THE ONLY PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

The Park Club Will Celebrate With a Tea in the Afternoon and Fireworks and a Dance in the Evening—There Will be Public Celebrations in Dunellen, Bound Brook and Westfield.

Monday will be the Fourth of July, the day that the small boy has looked forward to for many moons. The fire-crackers will pop, the cannon will boom, and the rockets will sizz until the heart of the patriotic youngster bubbles over with joy. Never since 1876 has there been such exhaustive preparations for the celebration of the day. In Plainfield there is sure to be enough noise to please even the most enthusiastic. Powder will be burned in large enough quantities to rival the bombardment of Santiago. Plainfield is not going to have any public celebration of Independence Day, however. It will remain for the individuals to show their patriotism by their individual celebrations.

It has been several years since Plainfield offered so few active attractions for the Fourth. There have been general observations of the day in which most of the citizens have joined, the local clubs have planned various means of entertainment for themselves and friends, and local advocates of various outdoor sports have arranged contests. This year, however, baseball and several picnics are the only public attractions.

The day will be ushered in with the booming of cannon and the ringing of church bells. While the morning of the Fourth is always a noisy time, it will unusually be so this year. The dealers in Fourth of July supplies agree as to that. There will be no concerted movement, however, but everybody will bring out something in the line of firearms and let her go.

The Crescents will be at home to all their friends at the Crescent Oval, morning and afternoon. The morning game will be with the Brooklyn Athletic Association and will be called at 10:30 o'clock, promptly. Stages will run to and from the grounds starting at the North Avenue station. The fare will be 5 cents each way. The game in the afternoon will be with the New Brunswick Athletic Association and will be called at 3:30 o'clock. Ample transportation will be provided by the stages. For those who ride their wheels to the ground, racks have been fixed so that their wheels can be checked.

The Twilight Social Club will conduct a picnic in the Crescent Rink, Monday evening, for which extensive preparations are being made. Dancing will commence at 7 o'clock.

Miantonomo Tribe of Red Men will hold a picnic at Mountain Park Grove, at the end of the Somerset trolley line. Swings and other picnic attractions will be in full sway. The Red Men are expecting a large crowd.

The Park Club usually celebrates Independence Day with an elaborate programme of attractions lasting all day and well into the evening. This year, however, the morning baseball will be given up. Instead, the members will gather on the new golf links on Hyde's meadows and inspect them and the new clubhouse which is under course of erection. In the afternoon, a tea will be held and a display of day fireworks given. The tennis courts have been put in excellent condition for those who care to play during the day.

In the evening, the Park Club has prepared a very elaborate display of fireworks to be given on the grounds. A number of invitations have been issued. Special stands will be erected near the club house to accommodate the invited guests. The display will be one of the handsomest ever given in Plainfield. It will cost $3,000. After the fireworks, there will be a dance for the members and their invited guests. While only those holding invitations will be admitted to the grounds, the display can be seen from the Washington avenue bridge and from the neighboring streets and houses.

The new proprietors of the Hunterston, formerly the Hotel Netherwood, have announced the first hop of the season for Monday night. They will also have a display of fireworks.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will have a contest for the Reinhart cup on their grounds on Plainfield avenue. There will be playing there

SANTIAGO ATTACKED

Our Land and Sea Forces Begin Active Operations.

WE CAPTURE EL CANEY.

Lawton's Brigade Opened the Battle at 7 O'clock in the Morning—The Vesuvius Hurled Earthquakers at the Harbor Fortifications and There Were Hot Engagements All Along the Line—Shafter Reports to Washington.

Washington, July 2.—The war department has received the following from General Shafter, dated at Siboney:

"Had a very heavy engagement today, which lasted from 8 a. m. until sundown. We have carried their outworks and are now in possession of them.

"There is now about three-quarters of a mile of open between my lines and the city. By morning troops will be intrenched and considerable augmentation of forces will be there.

"Gen. Lawton's division and General Bates's brigade, which have been engaged all day in carrying El Caney, which was accomplished at 4 p. m., will be in line and in front of Santiago during the night.

"I regret to say that our casualties will be above four hundred, of these not many killed.

"SHAFTER."

Playa del Este, July 2.—A general assault on the city of Santiago de Cuba by the land and sea forces of the United States began at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

General Lawton advanced and took possession of Caponа, a suburb of Santiago.

Morro Castle and the other forts at the entrance of the harbor were bombarded by our fleet. The Vesuvius used her dynamite guns with good effect.

The Spanish fleet in the harbor fired on the American troops, who were very close to the city.

Nine wounded Cubans were brought in at noon.

After over five hours' terrific fighting the Spanish began to leave their intrenchments and retreat into the city.

Many Americans have been wounded and are being brought in. One man had both arms shot off and was wounded in the hip, but was laughing.

Everything apparently that General Shafter desired from the day's fighting has been secured, and he is now in a position to place his heavy guns.

Shafter Reports.

Washington, July 2.—Secretary Alger received the following dispatch from General Shafter:

Camp at Sevilla, Cuba, July 1.—Action now going on, but firing light and desultory. Begun on right near Caney, Lawton division. He will move on northeast part of town of Santiago. Will keep you continually advised of progress. SHAFTER,

Major General Commanding.

Secretary Alger left for the cabinet meeting at 11 o'clock. The secretary expressed confidence that our forces were well posted and in good position to give an excellent account of themselves. General Shafter has his artillery well placed.

After the cabinet meeting Secretary Long said that the fleet under Sampson was co-operating to the fullest extent with the land forces and that he expected great results.

He suggested that there were two conditions certain in the Santiago situation. "One is," he said, "we will surely win, and the other that it will come about after hard fighting that will tell. Of this we are certain."

THE PLAN OF ATTACK.

Gen. Shafter in Command at the Front in Person With Garcia.

Playa del Este, July 2.—The American forces, now numbering nearly seventeen thousand men, occupy a position in a long file, five miles east of Santiago de Cuba. But no forward movement has been made during the past twenty-four hours owing to the difficulty experienced in forwarding sufficient supplies from the base at Juragua and the fact that it has not been possible to send light artillery and siege guns to the front from Baiquiri up to the present.

Major General Shafter is at the front and is conducting the reconnoissance in person.

The town of Caney, which commands the land entrance into Santiago de Cuba, lies close to the Americans' right wing, and will probably be taken without difficulty soon, as it is held by only a small guard of Spanish troops. American scouting parties have been within a thousand yards of Caney without being attacked, and the roads in that vicinity have been repaired and improved by our troops, indicating that artillery will be moved in that direction. It is believed that the investment of Santiago de Cuba will follow the capture of Caney.

There are about five thousand Cubans operating with the American army at the front, and the Spanish force defending Santiago de Cuba is estimated at from twelve thousand to twenty thousand men. In addition, as already cabled, General Pando, the Spanish military commander in the field, is marching from Manzanillo, some 127 miles west, with about eight thousand men, and unless checked by the small force of Cubans holding the mountain passes, he ought to reach Santiago de Cuba in his efforts to support General Linares, in a few days.

Blanco and Cervera Out.

London, July 2.—The Pall Mall Gazette's correspondent in Madrid telegraphs that he hears a coldness exists between Captain General Blanco and Admiral Cervera, adding that it appears Blanco ordered Cervera to leave Santiago de Cuba, and the admiral replied that he would be glad to leave, but his guns were dismounted, he was without coal, and the American admiral was waiting outside.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

The Trade Barometer Does Not Indicate Any Unusual Business Disturbances.

New York, July 2.—Failures have been a little larger than in the first quarter of the year, whereas a decrease of 6.2 per cent. might have been expected from experience of the past ten years, but with that allowance a difference of only $3,500,000 can be charged to war and fears of war, whereas solvent payments through clearing houses for the quarter were over $15,600,000,000. In the very best years defaults range from an eighth to a fifth of 1 per cent. of such payments, and in bad times from a third to half of one per cent. or more, but this year the proportion is less than a fifth.

The exports of wheat continue extraordinary. During the week they have been, flour included, 4,006,890 bushels from Atlantic ports against 2,064,173 last year, and Pacific exports 416,564 against 120,000 last year. This makes for the crop year, with some minor ports yet to hear from, 217,571,960 bushels exported of wheat, flour included, against 225,665,812 in 1892, the year of largest previous exports, but at the same time 211,452,253 bushels of corn have gone out against 76,602,285 bushels in that year, and 178,817,417 last year which was much the largest on record. The market has been a little weaker, as is natural with abundant evidence of an enormous yield notwithstanding all reports of injury, but cash wheat has advanced to 85 cents. Corn has declined a fraction although the demand for export is still beyond all precedent, and cotton is an eighth lower at 6.25 cents, owing to favorable reports as to the growing crop.

It is judged by experts that about 90 per cent. of the cotton manufacturing machinery is now employed and yet the demand for goods is strengthening. The demand for wool has been almost wholly confined to needs for orders in hand, and yet there is good reason to look for a better demand for goods as soon as the new season has opened, while with government contracts more than the usual proportion of machinery is employed, even at this dull season.

The iron industry shows some decline in prices.

It is difficult to speak of the money market at present because large payments for bonds are by many expected to influence it, and do in fact draw much money from interior banks, and thus indirectly from New York, but yet no disturbance is feared and rates are remarkably favorable. The course of foreign exchange is unusually favorable for the season, and another arrival of gold at San Francisco from Australia shows that the balance is still largely in favor of this country, though the time is just coming in which heavy balances in its favor are usually accumulated. Failures for the week have been 254 in the United States against 241 last year, and 15 in Canada against 30 last year.

All Chicago Newspapers Have Suspended.

Chicago, July 2.—Chicago citizens will have to depend on outside papers for their war news. The Stereotypers' union declared a strike, and its first result was to stop work on every morning paper. It will also affect the evening papers, so that if Chicagoans want to learn what is going on in Cuba they will have to write to outside cities for the information.

The stereotypers, whose union included about 200 members, have been getting $3.25 for their day's work of eight hours. They demanded a day of seven hours and $4 pay. In case of working overtime they wanted 75 cents an hour.

These demands were presented to the publishers of the big morning dailies Thursday, and the latter immediately held a meeting, deciding to refuse the demand. It was also agreed to stick together in the fight and not issue any of the papers unless all came out.

SHERMAN ON ALASKA

Returning from Trip, He Says Country Needs Territoritorial Laws.

Seattle, July 2.—Ex-Secretary John Sherman has arrived here from Alaska. In an interview Mr. Sherman said:

"Alaska would be better governed had she regular territorial laws. I believe it will be a very short time until Congress gives her these. It may be years before statehood can be given.

"That prohibition law, to which Alaskans object so strongly, does not seem to prohibit entirely, as I noticed a great many saloons. If the law cannot be enforced it would better be taken off the statute books."

No Third Call Just Now.

Washington, July 2.—It can be stated positively that the president does not contemplate issuing a third call for volunteers within the next two weeks, at least, as present plans in all probability will preclude its issuance within a fortnight, if then.

The Way to Brand Cattle.

When the Venezuela cowboy wishes to catch a bull or cow for branding, or for any purpose, he rides alongside it, and with horse and bovine on the dead run, stoops from his saddle, grasps the creature's tail, and with a sharp, peculiar twist sends the animal rolling on its back. From the force with which it falls, the creature's horns almost invariably pin its head to the ground, leaving the vaquero time to dismount and sit on its head, holding the animal helpless to rise, while a companion ties its legs.

The Good It Did.

"I do; and I don't mind saying that the rules and regulations and theories and plans worry me nearly to death."—Chicago Post.

CURRENT HUMOR.

First North Pole Explorer (elatedly): "Hurrah! We have but to push on two days more, and the Pole is reached!"

Second Explorer (thoughtfully): "Yes; but time is precious. We had better turn back now, or I may have to cancel some of the dates of our lecturing tour."

NEWS AT WASHINGTON

The Main Battle was Planned to Occur Sunday,

UNLESS DONS SURRENDER.

Fight of Yesterday Intended to Be Preliminary—Statesmen Flocked to the Capital and Exitement Ran High as War Bulletins Were Received and Read—But One Opinion Was Entertained of the Outcome.

Washington, July 2.—The news of the receipt of advices that fighting had begun at Santiago quickly spread and there was the widest demand for details. At the White House several members of Congress were in consultation with the president when the news came. Adjutant General Corbin was the bearer of the Shafter dispatch. The president was exceedingly gratified, as were those officials to whom the news was made known.

The attack on the city of Santiago was intended simply as a feint designed to distract the attention of the enemy from the real object of the assault, the fortifications. With Morro Castle and Estrella battery in the possession of the American troops, the mines in the harbor were to be removed and the four battleships Iowa, Indiana, Massachusetts and Oregon, were to be sent into the harbor to give battle to Cervera's fleet.

The naval fight was expected to occur on Sunday morning. When concluded the city, under the guns of the American fleet and attacked on shore by the American troops, would be compelled to surrender.

The sentiment in the cabinet was that there was a strong possibility that the fall of Santiago might be announced at any time now.

General Lawton, who was chosen for the important and responsible duty of opening the battle by the capture of Caney and the interception of Spanish reinforcements, now nearing Santiago, is described as a good fighter and a soldier of experience and ability. He served in the Union army throughout the war, having entered as sergeant of Company E, Ninth Indiana volunteer infantry.

General Lawton's division, which opened the battle at Santiago yesterday morning, is, with the exception of the Second Massachusetts regiment of volunteers, composed entirely of regulars.

OUR MANUFACTURED EXPORTS.

This Year, the First Time, They Exceed Imports, and That Largely.

Washington, July 2.—The report of the bureau of statistics, just issued, gives the following information regarding manufactured articles exported from and imported into the country:

Twenty-seven million dollars' worth of American manufactures were sent abroad during the twenty-six business days of May, and only $18,000,000 worth of foreign manufactures were brought into the country during the same time. It has already been announced that our exports of manufactured articles are this year, for the first time in our history, exceeding our imports of manufactures, but it remained for the month of May to make the phenomenal record of exporting 50 per cent. more of manufactures than were imported in the same time. Notwithstanding this fact that the imports of manufactures during the fiscal year have been much less than in preceding years, and the demand upon our own manufacturers consequently greater, the manufacturers have steadily gone on increasing their exports, so that the total exportation of manufactures during the fiscal year will exceed by fully $12,000,000 those of any preceding year in the history of the country, and will be more than double that of a decade ago, and more than 60 per cent. in excess of that of 1895.

The aggregate exports will amount to $300,000,000 for the year.

The most important in point of value of the manufactured articles exported are: Agricultural implements, books, maps and engravings, chemicals, copper and manufactures of it; cotton manufactures, cycles, manufactures of flax, hemp and jute; glass and glassware, instruments and apparatus for scientific purposes, manufactures of iron and steel, manufactures of leather, mineral oils for illuminating purposes, paper and manufactures thereof, paraffine and paraffine wax, tobacco, furniture and other manufactures of wood. Of these articles none fell below $2,000,000 in the amount exported during the year, and many range into the tens of millions. Of agricultural implements, for instance, our exports in the year will amount to over $6,000,000, of which more than $1,000,000 go to France, nearly $1,000,000 worth to the United Kingdom, an equal amount to Germany, more than $500,000 worth to Canada, nearly $500,000 to Argentina, and a like amount to British Australasia, while Mexico, Brazil, Colombia, Cuba, Porto Rico, British East Indies and Africa also absorbed a share of the grand total of over $6,000,000.

Of bicycles the exports for the year will amount to more than $6,000,000, $1,500,000 in value going to the United Kingdom, nearly an equal amount to Germany, $500,000 to British North America, nearly $100,000 worth to Japan, $250,000 worth to British Australasia and nearly $200,000 worth to Africa.

The exportation of manufactures of copper has grown enormously in the past two or three years. In the fiscal year 1895 it amounted to over $14,000,000, in 1896 to over $19,000,000, in 1897 to over $31,000,000 and in the present year will considerably exceed that of 1897.

Manufactured cotton will amount in the year to probably $17,000,000.

The St. Paul in New York.

New York, July 2.—The auxiliary cruiser St. Paul, which was reported by Spanish sources from Mole St. Nicholas yesterday as having been captured by the Spaniards, arrived safe in the harbor yesterday morning.

The St. Paul was with the St. Louis off San Juan where she overhauled the Spanish supply steamer Antonio Lopez and was attacked by the torpedo boat Terror and the cruiser Isabel II. The Spanish warships were driven back, the Terror being disabled by a shot from the St. Paul and the Lopez was driven ashore, where her boiler exploded.

THE BESEIGED CITY.

Situation at Santiago in Peace Would Move to Plex.

Washington, July 2.—The situation of the Spanish in Santiago is extremely desperate. Reports are received from there daily and they are all of the same character.

Famine exists everywhere. The soldiers, of course, have the most of the food, but it is of the poorest quality and greatly restricted as to quantity. The civilians have to shift for themselves.

Practically all the food in the city consists of black bread, which in most cases is unfit to eat. Many are starving because they cannot get even this poor stuff to appease their hunger. Water is scarce, owing to the cutting of two of the sources of water supply by the Americans.

There are many wells in the city, however, but they are not sufficient in number to supply the needs of the people.

The situation there is so bad that General Shafter recalled the troops which had been sent to intercept a force of 5,000 Spaniards on their way from Manzanillo to reinforce the army at Santiago.

After a conference with Gens. Garcia, Wheeler and others, and listening to reports of the condition of affairs in the city, General Shafter decided that the more Spaniards reached Santiago the worse their condition would be and the quicker they would surrender.

The archbishop of Santiago, the foremost ecclesiastical authority on the island of Cuba, is said to be devoting his energies in the direction of peace.

Miss Clara Barton has received a committee of Cuban generals, composed of Generals Garcia, Demetrio Castillo and Carlos, on board the Red Cross steamship State of Texas. The committee told her that 2,000 families were starving near the town of Firmeza. She landed a supply of rations and sent them to the famished ones under the protection of the Juragua Mining Company's railway guard.

Miss Barton also received word from Commander McCalla that the Cuban General Perez had reported that 5,000 rations were urgently needed by the destitute families near the city of Guantanamo. Rations for their relief were sent forward yesterday.

Supply Train for Cuba.

New York, July 2.—A special train of ten cars left Jersey City last evening for Tampa loaded with engineering supplies consigned to the army in Cuba. The supplies include 2,000 wire cutters, quantities of rope of various sizes and horse and mule shoes. It is expected that the train will reach Tampa in thirty hours as it will have the right of way over all other trains.

Bids for these supplies were opened at noon Thursday. There were forty-four bidders. Thirty-three of them were successful in securing contracts to furnish various articles. It was 11 o'clock before the quartermaster's department had figured out who were the lowest bidders, and the work of loading the train was begun early yesterday morning. The whole transaction was of quick record.

Dixon Defeated by Ben Jordan.

New York, July 2.—Ben Jordan of England fought George Dixon from the start to finish in the Lenox Athletic Club last night and richly deserved the decision which was awarded to him. The boys fought 25 rounds at 122 lbs., and from first to last the Englishman was the aggressor. He went all over and under and around Dixon, and made him look everything but a champion.

Early in the fight he placed crepe on both of Dixon's eyes and at different stages of the fight he doubled him up with a left swing on the wind. Jordan's left did terrible work and at infighting he was more than a match for the colored champion. Not once in the 25 rounds did he land his famous stomach punch and at no time didhe land an effective blow of any kind.

While it has been apparent to Dixon's friends and to all observers of pugilism that the colored champion fast was going back, it was thought that he still was strong enough and skilfull enough to outpoint and outfight Jordan.

Last night's contest cured them of that delusion and prepared them for the defeat which must be Dixon's portion in the near future if he continues to fight the best men in his class. The wonder is not that he soon will meet defeat, but that he so long has staved it off. He has been in constant training more than twelve years and in that time has met and defeated more than a hundred men.

To Poison Czarina.

Bucharest, July 2.—A rumor is in circulation here of the discovery of a plot at St. Petersburg to poison the czarina, who has shown signs of the effect of slow poisoning, due to the administration of arsenic. It is alleged that the poison was contained in the morning chocolate which was served to her majesty by one of her ladies in waiting.

The czarina, it is said, is very unpopular at the St. Petersburg court because of the austerity of her ideas of morality and propriety, which are essentially non-Russian, and she has been nicknamed the German.

Nebraska's Great Harvest.

Lincoln, Neb., July 2.—The wheat harvest in the southern counties of Nebraska is in full blast. The yield is so heavy and the acreage so large that men cannot be secured in sufficient numbers to harvest the crops. As high as $2 per day is paid for workmen in the harvest fields, and the demand is exceeding the supply by many hundred.

Brice Back in Politics.

Cleveland, July 2.—It is announced here that Senator Brice has entered Ohio politics and proposes to capture the state convention at Dayton. In this case Ohio Democrats will follow the lead of Pennsylvania Democrats and decline to indorse Bryan and free silver.

Aid Wanted for Gomez.

Washington, July 2.—"Something ought to be done for poor Gomez," said Senor Quesada of the Cuban legation here.

"I have a letter which tells the sore distress he is in. He and his troops should be helped at once if possible."

THE WAR TAX STAMPS

Revenue Officers Could Not Supply Them Fast Enough.

HAWAII IN THE SENATE

The Opposition Hoping for a Failure of a Quorum—The Efforts to Secure a Early Vote—Congressmen Favorably Inclined Have Little Fear of the Ultimate Result—Mr. Pettus' Speech.

Washington, July 2.—The internal revenue bureau at Washington will have distributed throughout the country 175,000,000 war revenue stamps tonight. The distribution has been going on for the last week at the rate of from 20,000,000 to 35,000,000 per day. The bureau of engraving and printing will continue to produce about 25,000,000 stamps per day for some time to come, and this great output will be placed where it can best satisfy the demand. Requisitions were made by collectors for about 500,000,000 stamps to cover the first three months' business under the new law. This aggregate amount represented the collectors' estimates of what would be needed during the first quarter.

The department has, therefore, been able to furnish about one month's supply. Actual experience may show that these estimates are entirely inadequate to meet the situation. Indeed, a suspicion that such is the case prevails among treasury officials. There are absolutely no data upon which to base estimates of what may be required. When the old war revenue law was in force it applied to only little more than half the country. Since the repeal of that old law the business of the country has increased from eight to tenfold, and commercial conditions have changed wonderfully. Consequently the internal revenue officials feel that they are entering upon an untried experimental field.

Hawaiian Annexation.

No positive agreement nor even a "tacit understanding" has been reached in the Senate as to annexation, but opinion is crystallizing that a conclusion will be reached by the end of next week. Congressmen, who have been vainly seeking information for several days for the government of their personal programmes, were receiving the quiet tip yesterday afternoon that they will not be taking unreasonable risks if they plan for freedom after next week. Hints to that effect have been in circulation for some time, but until to-day they lacked the indorsement of anti-annexation authorities.

There is yet a bare chance of filibuster success, and this chance is continually kept in view. That is the possible breaking of a quorum, but the annexationists profess to feel no alarm on that account. The hope of thus tiring out the majority keeps the opposition active.

The Hawaiian annexation resolutions were taken up in the Senate and Mr. Pettus of Alabama made the first formal speech thus far delivered in their favor yesterday.

He said Hawaiian annexation was not a party question and could not be made so by one man or a few men. "Even if it were a party question," said he, "we were all Americans, and, I hope, patriots, before we joined any party."

Mr. Pettus then entered upon a legal and constitutional argument in support of the resolutions, taking sharp issue with Mr. Bacon of Georgia, who had antagonized the resolutions on constitutional grounds. He maintained that no lawyer, no court, could construe correctly one provision of the constitution without considering all other parts of the instrument.

While Mr. Pettus was defining some of the powers of Congress, Mr. Mallory of Florida inquired: "Has Congress the power to make peace?"

"It has the power to make peace as well as war," responded the Alabama senator. "Can a president make peace? Never. Of course I admit that the president has the power to make treaties, but only under such limitations as I have alluded to."

Mr. Pettus took issue with Mr. Caffery of Louisiana, who had argued that the acquisition of Louisiana territory by act of Congress was unconstitutional.

Mr. Pettus ridiculed Mr. Caffery's argument that the question ought to be submitted to the people of Hawaii. He said such an argument had a moral, but no constitutional bearing and while it might be a fit presentation to children in the nursery it would have no force with senators. It was too adolescent.

Mr. Pettus had begun a discussion of the present war when he was interrupted by his colleague, Mr. Morgan, who read an Associated Press dispatch from Playa del Este, announcing that the battle of Santiago had begun, and fighting was proceeding along the entire line.

"Yes, Mr. President," said Mr. Pettus, "the fight is going on along the entire line and it behooves every man, adolescent or senile, to support the government, to support the army and the navy of the United States in all his actions. We ought to support the president of the United States. How many will die in the fight nobody can say. But I pray God that those brave men of ours, if die they must, may die with shouts of victory in their ears."

The House passed a few minor bills and agreed to adjourn until Tuesday.

Camara's Fleet.

London, July 2.—The officials of the United States embassy discredit the Madrid dispatch saying Admiral Camara has passed through the Suez canal. They say he had not entered the canal yesterday morning.

Even if Camara had entered the canal with his first ship he could not take his entire squadron through in less than a week, because no warship can pass in at Port Said until its predecessor has emerged at Suez, nearly ninety miles south.

Mail advices from Japan state that the minister of agriculture and commerce would probably establish a Japanese-American bank, with a capital of 15,000,000 yen.

WAR LOAN'S SUCCESS.

Offers for $790,000,000 Have Been Received for the $200,000,000 Bonds.

Washington, July 2.—The treasury department states that the total proposals for the new government loan of $200,000,000 aggregate $790,000,000 as follows:

Received and absolutely accepted in subscriptions of amounts of $500 and less, $40,000,000.

Subscriptions in amounts over $500 subject to future allotment, $250,000,000.

A proposal for a round lot at a premium of 1 per cent., $100,000,000.

Two syndicate propositions for any part or all of the bonds offered, $200,000,000 each, $400,000,000.

These syndicate offers and this offer for bonds at a premium are not in the regular form, although they came from entirely reliable sources and no allotment will be made in either case.

It is expected that heavy subscriptions will increase in number with the beginning of the new month. Savings bank deposits probably will be realized to a considerable amount as the six months interest period is July 1, and withdrawals now can be made by the depositors without sacrificing any interest.

THE NEXT EXPEDITION.

July 11 Now Understood to Be the Next Sailing Date.

San Francisco, July 2.—It is generally understood among army officers here that the next expedition to the Philippines will start about July 11.

According to well posted persons, the next fleet of transports will consist of the Peru, City of Puebla, Acapulco, Umatilla and Pennsylvania.

The Acapulco is expected at any time from Panama and will be impressed. The Umatilla was expected yesterday from Puget Sound ports. The Pennsylvania is expected every day from Philadelphia.

The Rio de Janeiro is due from China and Japan July 6, too late to go in the next expedition.

Francis Brooks Doherty, a well known Paulist missionary, sailed on the Newport for Manila at the request of Major General Merritt. He speaks Spanish fluently and was selected for the mission by the superior general of the Paulists, who recognized the opportunities to be afforded in the Philippines for an American priest of the same faith as a majority of the islanders.

Rev. Dr. Doherty expects to be of service to the United States by explaining away the false impression that American soldiers would destroy the islanders' religion and loot their places of worship.

MANZANILLO BOMBARDED.

Madrid Hears of a Bombardment by Four American Warships.

Madrid, July 2.—The Imparcial publishes a dispatch from Santiago saying that four American warships at four o'clock yesterday opened fire upon Manzanillo. The dispatch adds that the firing, which lasted an hour, was answered by the Spanish gunboats in the harbor, and, it is further said, the Americans retired with one vessel seriously injured, as she was towed away with her fires extinguished.

The dispatch asserts that only one Spanish peasant was wounded during the bombardment.

From the same source it is asserted that the Americans used a captive balloon in taking observations of the fortifications of Santiago de Cuba.

In conclusion the dispatch says a foraging party of Americans fell into an ambush yesterday and that one of them was killed and the others escaped.

In the Congo Free State.

London, July 2.—It is reported that King Leopold of Belgium has commissioned Mr. R. Dorsey Mohun, formerly United States consul and commercial agent in the Congo Free State, and who has since occupied a similar position at Zanzibar, to build a telegraph line from Lake Tanganyika to Wadelai, on the upper Nile, via Nyongwe and Stanley Falls.

Mr. Mohun, it is added, is to be allowed a free hand in the selection of his staff, and will employ American and British engineers.

The Philippine Republic.

London, July 2.—A representative of General Aguinaldo, the leader of the Philippine insurgents, who served with him during the last insurrection, and who is now in London, is quoted as saying in an interview that before Aguinaldo left Hong Kong he promised Rear Admiral Dewey not to enter Manila until the arrival of the American troops.

Aguinaldo's representative adds that he has just received a dispatch from Cavite saying that a republic has been proclaimed there by Aguinaldo, under the protection of the United States and approved by Great Britain and Japan.

Balloons Make Successful Observations.

Washington, July 2.—Reports received at the navy and war departments announce the successful operation of military balloons. Admiral Sampson reports that the first balloon used by the navy was sent up from the New York and worked successfully.

Colonel Allen reports to General Greely that he has successfully used the signal corps war balloon. Observers, he says, coud plainly see the ships in the harbor, the city of Santiago and the movement of the Spanish troops about the streets. He adds that before long he expects to be able to observe the movement of the reinforcements under General Pando, or those of any other forces that may be sent to Santiago.

July 4 in Canada.

Buffalo, July 2.—A special dispatch to the Express from Niagara Falls, Ont., says Mayor Hill has proclaimed July 4th a public holiday in that city and that public-spirited citizens are preparing for the first celebration of Independence day in Canada.

The dispatch attributes the proclamation to sympathy in the Anglo-American alliance feeling and predicts that several Canadian towns will follow the example of Niagara Fals.

President Has an Asst. Secretary.

Washington, July 2.—President McKinley has appointed George Bruce Cortelyou of New York assistant secretary to the president, to fill the additional position of that grade recently created by Congress.

Unjust Fate of Camden Y. M. C. A.

There must be something very lethargic about the churches of Camden that they should permit the sheriff of that county to attach the property of the Young Men's Christian Association to satisfy a debt of $1,700.

We can imagine some of the good churchmen of Camden believing themselves unjustly censured for not having averted this disaster for the Y. M. C. A. Doubtless they will very piously remark: "Why, my good brethren, that's none of our business. We have got enough to do to attend to the support of 'our' church."

Christian churches are not usually conducted on the narrow plane of simply looking out for what members they have got today. They are stretching out their endeavors to gather in new converts tomorrow, next day and next and so on till Gabriel's trumpet shall blow.

Considering those facts and the further one that the Young Men's Christian Associations are the best feeders for the churches in existence today, the failure of the churches in a city of 60,000 people to prevent the sheriff from proceeding against the one in the way the Camden association was made to suffer, seems very much out of touch with the right condition of things.

The standing and support of the Y. M. C. A. in Plainfield is in happy contrast to the fate of the Camden one. In this city the churches feel that nothing is too good for the Y. M. C. A. They realize that an institution that caters to the better wants of the youth, and almost unconsciously brings them in close communion with the practices of which the church is but a higher and stricter party, is something that well deserves the divided interest of their workers and supporters.

American Sepoys.

The negro race throughout the land has greatly lifted itself in self respect, thrift and intelligence. A genuine note of admiration throughout white society welcomes this splendid progress. Among the elements which have helped this has been the notable military record of the black man. He has fought as well and as patriotically as the white citizen for the country which for a long time was such a cruel stepmother. The negro soldiers of the regular army are among the crack regiments of a service for its numbers the finest in the world. Possibilities indicate that we may need this soldiery on a much larger scale. Apropos of this the London Spectator recently said:

"Nothing stops the Americans from raising the negro force to 20,000 men and with them holding the Philippines, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, paying them out of local revenues. With such a garrison those islands would be as safe as drawing rooms and as full of business as Broadway or Strand. Instead of remaining a source of weakness to the Union the negro can be turned by wise and lenient management into an instrument of empire."

Without agreeing with The Spectator that the negro is a source of national weakness in any sense, its comment has suggestive value. Should we conclude to enter on a course of imperial development, as our foreign contemporaries call it, our black troops would be of indispensable value. It is perhaps a misnomer to speak of them in such connection as "sepoys," a name indicative of alien race, religion and traditions. But they would fill the sepoy function in holding a foreign conquest, specially under the burning heats of the equator, and be of vastly more use than white troops or native auxiliaries. The negro will certainly be of increased importance as a national factor under such conditions.

CAPTAIN ALFRED T. MAHAN.

A member of the strategy board at Washington whose knowledge of naval warfare makes his advice of great value is Captain Alfred T. Mahan. He is recognized both in this country and Europe as the greatest living authority on naval matters.

An Interesting Decision.

The legality of the action of Confederate courts between 1861 and 1865, specially as regards suits involving commercial and property interests, has in various ways entered into litigation before the United States supreme court, but in no case have the principles been so clearly defined as in one just reviewed by that tribunal which will probably settle the question for all time.

It was an appeal from the decision of the supreme court of Georgia, and the matter at issue related to the rights of a guardian to invest the property of his ward in Confederate bonds, which was done, of course, under the scope of a Confederate statute. The Georgia court released the guardian from liability and Judge Harlan, voicing the majority view of the United States supreme court, affirmed the decision. The final summing is in these pregnant words:

"Judicial and legislative acts in the respective states composing the so called Confederate states should be respected by the courts if they were not hostile in their purpose or mode of enforcement to the authority of the national government and did not impair the rights of citizens under the constitution."

In other words, the de facto government, where it was the only one existing in any part of the Confederacy, must be held to have been legal in all matters affecting life and property and the administration of equity among the people except in questions directly involved in the war. The court might have harped on the fact that any investment in Confederate bonds was hostile to the interests of the federal government, but it passed over this technicality and decided on broad and generous grounds.

According to Textile America, the coming textile fiber plant is the ramie, from which a great variety of the most important fabrics are beginning to be made. Its utility is alike in the finish and durability of the goods and the cheapness of the raw material. With the Philippines under a new regime of industry and progress we shall perhaps hear something more, too, of the beautiful and durable "pineapple" weave. From the leaves of the pineapple the Filippinos make textiles as lustrous as silk, which wear like iron, and they use them for manifold purposes of ornament and domestic utility.

The spread of liquor drinking to the most abnormal excesses is making a great stir in Norway. The experiment of prohibition there has so far proved ineffective, illicit stills being set up even in back kitchens and drunkenness taking on increased proportion. But a Scandinavian country furnishes no object lesson as to the worth of any special policy in dealing with intemperance. From time immemorial the Norselanders have been the most insatiable topers in Europe.

An article in The Nineteenth Century reviews the growth of the world's armaments. In 1868 the six leading powers of Europe had 4,500,000 men in their armies on a war footing maintained at a cost of $445,000,000 a year. Now the figures are 17,000,000 men and $845,000,000. These statistics are frightful. The only hope is that such ponderous and crushing machinery will ultimately break down by its own weight.

The splendid service which our small force of naval reserves has already done proves the wisdom of its organization. It is a branch of militia greatly to be encouraged and increased.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

"If you need your money for bread don't stop here!" is the unique notice painted in large letters in the barroom window of our hotel. All honor to Landlord Kitchen for his curt notice to those who rob their families to swill rum.—Baptistown Correspondence Lambertville Beacon.

A minister in a town not a thousand miles away on a recent Sunday surprised the audience by reading the following announcement from the pulpit: "The regular session of the donkey club will be held as usual at the close of this service. Members will line up just outside the church door, make remarks and stare at the ladies who pass, as is their custom. Any member known to escort a young lady to church like a man and sit with her like a gentleman, will be promptly expelled from membership." This application was to the point, and the effect was marvellous.—Sussex Independent.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

During the beautiful moonlight nights of the past week, there have been several little pilgrimages to the Feltville pond. Swimming there in the daylight offers many attractions to the youth of this city, but swimming by moonlight is particularly attractive to the adventurous ones. The ride awheel to the pond is an easy one, and every evening sees a selected little party en route to the place.

The knowing ones were somewhat surprised that the race meet at Somerville this week did not have by any means as good support as the meet in Plainfield. The fair grounds at Somerville are a mile and a half from the station. Ordinarily the good people of Somerville do not mind the walk, but somehow they did not turn out very well for the races. Perhaps the meet was not largely advertised, but anyhow it was an evident fact that Somerville did not give her support to the horse races as was counted on by the hard workers in the Somerset Driving Club.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Die 33 Jahre alte Arbeiterin Anna Wilhelmine Agnes Dietze aus Petersburg ist wegen Betruges und Urkundenfälschung festgenommen worden. Sie hat den Leichnam eines Kindes, welches sie als Ziehmutter in Pflege hatte, auf Wölfnitzer Flur ohne Wissen der zuständigen Behörde vergraben und sich von der Mutter des verstorbenen Kindes die Begräbnißkosten bezahlen lassen.

Döbeln. Als Zeichen der Zeit ist zu verzeichnen, daß über ein hiesiges Möbelgeschäft, dessen Inhaber ein Tischlerlehrling Emil Richard Martin ist, der noch unter väterlicher Gewalt steht, der Konkurs eröffnet worden ist. Als Schulknabe war derselbe vor einigen Jahren „Geschäftsinhaber" geworden.

Glauchau. Der Brennereibesitzer Jersberg wurde von der Strafkammer in Plauen wegen Hinterziehung der Verbrauchsabgabe und des Zuschlages von Branntwein aus verschlossenen Sammelgefäßen zu 61,158 Mark und Unterfagung des Betriebes verurtheilt.

Freiberg. Welch' bedeutenden Ruf die hiesige Deutsche Gerberschule nicht nur in Deutschland, sondern auch im Auslande genießt, beweist die Thatsache, daß jetzt ein früherer Schüler dieser Anstalt, Herr Conscience aus Köln, der die Gerberschule in den Jahren 1896—97 besuchte, von der chinesischen Regierung als Organisator der chinesischen Staatsgerberei für Militärzwecke in Wuchon für die Dauer von drei Jahren mit bedeutendem Gehalt engagirt worden ist.

Leipzig. Mit dem Sitz in Wien und hier hat sich eine deutsch-österreichische Literaturgesellschaft gebildet, die sich die Pflege der deutschen Literatur und Kunst mit Ausschluß jeglicher politischen Tendenz zur Aufgabe macht. Der Aufruf, der von einer Anzahl deutscher und österreichischer Schriftsteller unterzeichnet ist, nimmt auch gleichzeitig die Gründung einer eigenen Verlagsanstalt und Druckerei, einer graphischen Anstalt und Buchbinderei in Aussicht.

Neuberg. Hier erschoß sich der 22 Jahre alte Vorrichter Römmler aus Asch. Der Selbstmörder schrieb zuvor noch einen Zettel, auf dem er ersuchte, daß ihn seine Angehörigen vergessen möchten, da er—ein Lump sei.

Thüringische Staaten.

Gebstedt. In einem Anfall von Geistesstörung schlug sich die Ehefrau Hicer mit einem Beile den Hirnschädel ein.

Gotha. Die Landes-Gewerbeausstellung hierselbst ist nunmehr endgiltig auf die Zeit vom 9. Juli bis einschließlich 7. August, die Eröffnung auf den 8. Juli festgesetzt worden. Ueber 500 Aussteller haben sich gemeldet, so daß sich ein großes wie mannigfaltiges Bild Thüringer Gewerbefleißes darbieten wird.

Zadelsdorf. Im vergangenen Herbst wurde der achtjährige Sohn des Bürgermeisters von einem tollen Hunde in die Backe gebissen. Jetzt nach sieben Monaten brach bei dem Kinde die Tollwuth aus; der arme Junge ist nach mehrtägigem schweren Leiden verstorben.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Bei einer Regatta an der Elbmündung sind die Matrosen Arendt und Carlson beim Umschlagen eines Bootes, zu dessen Rudermannschaft sie gehörten, in's Wasser gefallen und ertrunken.—Der hier stattgehabte Verbandstag deutscher Thierschutzvereine lehnte den Antrag Leipzig, eine eigene Bundeszeitung zu begründen, als verfrüht ab, ebenso den Antrag Berlin, die Herausgabe eines Verbandskalenders dem Berliner Vereine zu übertragen, und beschloß auf Antrag Karlsruhe, die Reichsregierung zu ersuchen, das Stopfen der Gänse in Deutschland zu verbieten. Auf dem Verbandstag waren 141 Vereine mit 70,000 Mitgliedern vertreten.

Bremen. Der „Norddeutsche Lloyd" hat bei der Schichau-Werft in Elbing, wo auch der Prachtdampfer „Kaiser Friedrich" erbaut ist, einen neuen Dampferkoloß von nicht weniger als 22,000 Tonnen Tragfähigkeit bestellt.

Lübeck. Redakteur Otto Friedrich, ein Sozialdemokrat, ist aus dem Gefängnisse entlassen worden, wo er wegen mehrerer Preßvergehen eine Freiheitsstrafe von 1 Jahr 6 Wochen zu verbüßen hatte. Die lange Haft war für ihn um so härter, als er sich nicht literarisch beschäftigen durfte, sondern Kaffeebohnen auslesen mußte, auch die Lektüre von Zeitungen nicht gestattet bekam.

Oldenburg.

Oldenburg. Hier wurde das oldenburgische Bundeskriegerfest unter äußerst zahlreicher Betheiligung aus sämmtlichen Theilen des Landes gefeiert. Dasselbe erhält dadurch eine besondere Bedeutung, daß gleichzeitig die 25jährige Jubelfeier des Oldenburger Kriegerbundes begangen werden konnte. Im Jahre 1873 bestand der Bund aus vier Vereinen mit ungefähr 800 Mitgliedern, während er jetzt den enormen Bestand von 105 Vereinen mit über 10,000 ordentlichen Mitgliedern aufweisen kann, da fast sämmtliche Vereine im Lande sich dem Bunde angeschlossen haben.

FOURTH ON TOPHET.

W. H. W. CAMPBELL.

It was the day before the "Glorious Fourth." At Royston the boys reckoned a third of the year, at least, from the national anniversary. "It was about a month before the Fourth" or "three weeks after the Fourth," they would say, in their schoolboy stories relating to this period of the year.

For a number of days now Royston had betrayed symptoms of the approaching festivities. The windows of the village store were unutterably gorgeous with flags, fire crackers, rockets, pin wheels and other paraphernalia of patriotism.

Peaceful twilights had been disturbed by the pop of the premature torpedo and the toot of the furtive horn. A few impetuous youngsters had gone so far as to anticipate the jubilee by sounding this last implement of torture beneath sundry windows after the witching hour of bed time.

Aunt Patience Halliday was interrupted in her slumbers by young Ed Griggs on one of these rehearsals. She happened to have a temper which sometimes went off as unexpectedly as a mouse trap, and upon this occasion she discharged a pitcher of water upon the musical rascal's head.

He then, in a spirit of revengeful depravity, flung a lighted pack of crackers into her window, and Aunt Patience choked and sneezed and made several remarks which much resembled "Lud-a-massy!" with more vigor than elegance.

Young Ed howled with delight in spite of his dripping mane, till the whistle of Uncle Uriah's switch about his legs changed his tune to a dismal shriek.

All the other boys, as well as Ed, were in a state of intense nervous excitement—and the girls, too, for that matter. For was not there to be a procession and a picnic, and the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Professor Stubbs of the Academy and an oration, and music by the brass band?

Oh, yes, anybody could fully comprehend the magnificence of this last item who went near enough to Farmer Hill's barn to discover the history of all those mysterious thumps and whacks and squeals which echoed nightly from its interior.

But the crowning glory of the approaching festival—at least in the minds of Fred Jones and Ed Griggs, who had devised it—was the camping out on the summit of Mount Tophet. This scheme had been kept a profound secret from the other boys, except Geo. Burrall and Elmer Clapp, who had been invited to take a hand in it.

At its first proposal Dominie Jones, as he was called—the pastor of the church, and Fred's father—was not in a favorable mood.

At length, however, sundry recollections of his own boyhood, combined with a paternal sympathy in Fred's disappointment, induced him to relent. But he consented to the camping out on this condition: That Fred's big brother Joe should go along and keep the smaller fry out of danger. So it was settled, and the needful preparations were made with all due mystery.

With their combined savings the boys had hired Blacksmith Pelton's exploder, to heighten the triumphs of the occasion.

This was an ancient anvil, which had been bored out and converted into a very creditable cannon—that is, for the purposes of domestic celebration.

Its reputation for making windows rattle and terrifying old ladies was immense, and the boys had no doubt but its vociferous cracking from the top of Mount Tophet would enable the coming Fourth to usher itself in with uncommon glory.

The day before the Fourth had now arrived, as has been mentioned, and, after much nervous and perspiring preparation, toward the close of the afternoon the boys set forth upon their grand expedition.

They avoided public notice by escaping through a cart path which led from Dominie Jones's barn and joined the highway below the village.

The brisk exploder was slung upon a pair of wagon wheels, on which was also lashed a bulgy basket of provisions and the camp equipage.

The four youngsters were in the highest spirits, while Joe Jones took the lead with the dignity becoming his nineteen years.

The climb to the top of Mount Tophet was a favorite one with the academy boys. Many a thrilling tale of their hair-breadth escapes in scaling its precipitous crags found its way, in letters, to the bosoms of their families.

In point of fact, however, a very respectable path led to the summit, and so it often happened that, while sympathetic mothers were thrilling with anxiety over the perils of their boys at that very moment the young Munchausens were seated snugly by the roadside, regaling their appetites on cookies and ginger pop.

Our little procession, therefore, had no difficulty in hauling its battery to the top of the peak, which was reached just in time for a lovely sunset view of Royston and all the country round.

Joe had brought along a worn and faded American flag, with a coil of rope attached.

This he proposed to fasten to the tallest sapling visible from the village.

"Don't you remember, boys," said he, "how a party of Americans climbed to the very top of Mount Blanc, in Switzerland, and how it was telegraphed all over Europe that the Yankee flag was floating from the snowy summit of the mountain on Fourth of July morning? What is the Fourth, anyway, to a Yank without his flag?"

The party cheered this patriotic sentiment heartily, and proceeded forthwith to storm the provision basket, as if it were the enemy's works.

The assault was successful, the booty was duly divided, and in large part consumed, and then they began their preparations for the eventful night.

First they loaded the brisk exploder up to the muzzle. Then leaves and branches were heaped together for the bonfire—which was lighted at dusk and duly impressed such villagers as observed it by a dim and fitful twinkling in the distance.

Next, heaps of fragrant evergreen boughs were spread beneath the trees for purposes of repose.

But Fred and Ed Griggs had their own private plans for sleeping. They had each brought a pair of blankets and some bits of rope, and proceeded with these to extemporize a couple of aerial hammocks.

Bending down two slender trees, they lashed an end of the blankets to each. Then, as the saplings sprung back, the blankets were hauled well up into the air, and had the double advantage of a cradle and a swing.

Ed and Fred climbed into their hammocks with no little difficulty and pulled their spare blankets over them, while the other boys disposed themselves upon their heaps of branches, protected from the night air by overcoats and other coverings.

There had been some anxiety among the party on the question of waking up at the proper time, and they came very near a quarrel on the subject of detailing sentries. However, as nobody was willing to mount guard, there was nothing to do but to take the chances, trusting to the internal stirrings of patriotic fervor to wake them up betimes.

So Ed and Fred rocked themselves into a gentle slumber in the tree tops, while the other small boys went to the land of Nod amid delightful whiffs of spicy hemlock.

Dear old Joe snored like a saw mill by their side.

It could not have been very long after when Fred had a singular dream. He thought he was a pin cushion and his sisters were sticking pins into him. Consequently he woke up with great zeal for the purpose of remonstrating.

He discovered that he had sagged down into his blanket till it was as tightly drawn under him as a potato skin on a potato. And through the blanket somebody certainly was sticking something into his legs and his neck. He squirmed uneasily in his nest, when his ear was saluted by the shrill buzz of an orchestra of patriotic mosquitoes, who were out of bed and dressed already. At the same time he heard a prodigious slap in Joe's direction.

Fred stretched out his head and called:

"Joe! Joe! Do you feel anything in particular down there?"

"Feel!" growled Joe in response. "Why, they are fighting the battle of Lexington all over my nose, and a hundred of 'em at least are reading the Declaration of Independence right in my ears."

At this the other boys, who had been concealing their agonies, burst into peals of laughter and shouts, and the whole camp was broad awake. No need of sentinels for the rest of that night.

The boys tossed and scolded and thumped themselves, and further relieved their minds by stories and jokes, till the first tints of day appeared.

Then all were speedily astir. The hammocks were unslung and packed, and then the patriot horde undertook a fresh assault upon the enemy's works and made a clean sweep of the provision basket.

By this time the rays of the coming sun began to gild the eastern horizon.

As yet all was quiet in the village, for the orb of day does not get up as early on that level as on the top of so respectable a mountain as Tophet.

Joe's flag was lazily flapping on its tree in the light morning breeze.

With great solemnity the anvil was hauled into position. A hush of expectancy followed and then Joe applied the fuse. There was a dull, heavy explosion and a loud cry from Joe:

"Look out, boys!"

But quicker than his words the brisk exploder flew in fragments through the air.

Fred was standing not far from the edge of the precipice, and a huge piece of iron, weighing forty or fifty pounds, was hurled directly toward him.

The cloud of smoke from the exploder concealed him from Joe's eyes for an instant, while the fragment of metal was heard crashing down the cliff two or three hundred feet below.

When the breeze cleared the smoke away Fred had disappeared. The fatal missile had apparently hurled him over the edge of the crag.

Joe's heart gave a mighty thump and the ground seemed to reel beneath him. The other boys gave vent to loud shrieks of dismay.

Joe instantly sprang to the edge of the precipice, when—could he believe his eyes?—he beheld Fred, apparently unhurt, though in a swoon, suspended in a bushy shrub, or small tree, which sprang from a crevice in the mountain side, but a few feet below the top.

In a twinkling Joe rushed to the tree from which his flag was waving and in an incredibly short time had the bunting on the ground and the lanyards in his hand. He attached the rope to Ed Griggs's waist and lowered him down to Fred's side.

There Ed found good footing and, as Fred was now reviving, he fastened the lanyard about him. Fred grasped it with both hands and sturdy Joe quickly hauled him up. By the same means Ed himself was soon brought again to terra firma.

It seemed that the flying fragment of the exploder had struck Fred upon the arm, tearing his jacket sleeve and inflicting a slight flesh wound. The force of the concussion and the surprise carried him over the brink, and only the fortunate interposition of the stout bush saved him from being dashed to pieces on the rocky debris far below.

It is needless to say that the celebration came to an abrupt end. The camp equipage was hustled together and the party started down the mountain as soon as Fred had sufficiently recovered his strength.

When the road became smooth enough to permit of it, the disabled patriot was mounted, with the devastated provision basket and other baggage, upon the wagon wheels. As they descended Fred's spirits rapidly revived, although he suffered considerable pain.

"I don't mind it," he said pluckily. "I mean to go to the picnic just the same."

As the little procession entered the village street the celebration was in full blast, with jangling bells, tooting horns, popping crackers and banging guns.

The boys entered into the spirit of it, and became as excited and happy as if nothing had occurred to mar their pleasure. Fred forgot his pain and laughed and shouted as heartily as any of them.

"What's become of your cannon?" asked Blacksmith Pelton as the party approached the parsonage.

"Here it is," responded Joe, as he ran the wagon wheels up to the door.

"Bang!" shouted Fred, leaping off and running into the house.

At family prayers that morning it was quite doubtful whether Dominie Jones was more fervent in his petitions for his native land, or in his thanksgivings for the narrow escape of his dear boy, Fred. But, at all events, there was the greatest Fourth of July celebration on record that day at the Jones parsonage.—Golden Days.

STAR-SPANGLED BANNER.

O say, can you see by the dawn's early light
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?—
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming!
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there:
O say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

On that shore dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, now conceals, now discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected, now shines on the stream;
'Tis the star-spangled banner! O, long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

O, thus be it ever when freemen shall stand
Between their loved homes and the war's desolation!
Blest with vict'ry and peace, may the heaven rescued land
Praise the power that hath made and preserved us a nation.
Then conquer we must, when our cause is just,
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust;"
And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

OLD GLORY'S BIRTHDAY.

The American flag will be 121 years old the fourteenth day of this month, and for 121 years it has been a constant and unfailing source of livelihood to thousands of men and women who work from year's beginning to year's beginning upon the making of the flag.

There are forty flag factories in the United States, scattered through the country, but for the most part located in New England, where the great manufacturing businesses lie. One of the largest is at Lowell, and there Ben Butler turned out bunting for years for the flag. Bunting such as up to that time had never been seen. There was a patriotic look about every inch of the Ben Butler bunting, and, though now you can find a great deal of the same color and weight and just as good in the days when Ben Butler started his flag factory there were very few flags that looked like flags at all, unless they came from there. At this time of the year all the flag factories are in full blast. They are never very idle, for the American public uses up 3,000,000 flags every year, enough to keep all the flag factories working all the time.

THE FIRST FLAG.

The first big demand for the American flag comes on Flag day, when all the public buildings have new flags, and when the school children carry them to celebrate their new holiday and patriotic citizens hang out their new flag to celebrate the day. Next comes the Fourth of July, which is proverbially a day of the waving of flags, and by the time flag day and the Fourth are over there will be very few of the new flags left.

The life of an American flag is a short one. In other countries they buy a flag to last; they take care of it; take it down when it rains, do not let the sun shine upon it, and treat it as though it were a thing rich and rare. But the Americans do not treat their flags in this way; the public buildings fling them from the flag posts and leave them there until they are weather-beaten; then they are taken down, thrown away, and a new flag put up.

The commonest flag, that which you see in public most upon the largest buildings, is the woven flag. It is made of cotton bunting, upon a loom that is built especially for flags. The colors are supplied to the loom in regular order, and the machinery takes and distributes them so that when a certain number of inches have been woven you see coming out of the loom a completed flag.

There is another kind of flag which is more expensive than this, though not so good for all purposes. This is the sewed flag. It is made out of strips of silk or bunting. Bunting flags are sewn together strip by strip, and fastened to the pole; the blue field is then sewed upon the corner and the white stars are glued or sewn in place. Silk flags are made in the same way, strip by strip, carfully overhanded together, with the "field" and stars sewed or pasted on.

Silk flags are used for draping public halls and for hanging back of patriotic speakers. They are very dear, a silk flag 12 by 18 feet costing $200. What becomes of the flags no one knows, for unless they fall into the hands of the destructive small boy, their end is a mystery; 1,000,000 of them, however, perish every year.

A great number of these fine flags go out of the country every year in the trunks of traveling American citizens, who find it very convenient to spread a flag over the top of their belongings, so that the custom-house people can see it as soon as the cover of the trunk is lifted.

When a state is admitted to the Union it means a great deal of extra for the flag factories, as the entire star design must be changed. This is done by law on the following Fourth of July. When Utah became a state there was a great deal of trouble in adding the forty-fifth star. Secretary Lamont appointed Lieutenant Rockwell of Philadelphia to place the extra star, and he made room for it in the fourth row from the top upon the right of the existing stars. At the same time the regulation size of the army flag was made smaller. It is now five and a half feet long and four feet four inches wide. The old army flags were too big; they hung spiritless around the pole instead of flying proudly to the breeze, as a small flag would. The stripes are now four inches wide and the rows of stars four and a half inches apart. The staff of the regular flag is nine feet long.

The first American flag is made laboriously by hand, by Mrs. Betty Ross, an upholsterer who lived on Arch street, near Third, Philadelphia. She had done work for Lady Washington, and when George Washington wanted a flag he took his design to her and left it. When he visited her a week later she brought out from her little cupboard a sample flag, and, holding it up before him, said: "I have executed your order, sir, does it please you?" The General made a few changes in it until it became the American flag as you now know it, with the thirteen original stars and stripes.

The American flag has never been changed, although other countries have changed freely. General Washington said: "This flag of the thirteen United States shall be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, with the union of thirteen stars, white, in a field of blue, to represent a new constellation; and it shall endure forever, a new heaven floating between God's old earth and the bright blue sky"—a prediction that stands a chance of fulfillment.

And straightway blew him up.

England's Saucy Child.

During the progress of the queen's jubilee the colonial princes, officers and premiers attracted, next to the royal lady herself, the attention of the public. Wherever they appeared they were received with cheers and special honors.

On one occasion the streets were packed with spectators watching the guests depart from some royal function at Buckingham palace. The crowd refused to move except when some of the Indian rajahs or Australian officers appeared, when a way was speedily opened for them.

A carriage presently came out of the gates in which were three or four Americans, who had been guests in the palace. Finding that the way was completely blocked, one young fellow among them shouted:

"Let us pass! We, too, are colonials!"

The crowd divided, and as the carriage entered the opening he added:

"We are the colonials who wouldn't let our mother spank us."

The crowd caught the joke and replied with laughter and applause.—Youth's Companion.

CLAY'S FEAR FOR CUBA.

Appealed for a Navy to Protect Our Commerce from England's Rapacity.

As long ago as 1812 Henry Clay, in a speech delivered in the House of Representatives, expressed a fear as to the future possession of Cuba which has never been entirely absent until now, when Cuban independence is reasonably assured. In an eloquent argument in favor of an increase of the navy, Mr. Clay said, on January 22, 1812:

"Whether the ancient dynasty of Spain is to be upheld or subverted, it is extremely uncertain if the bonds connecting the parent country with her colonies are not forever broken. What is to become of Cuba? Will it assert independence, or remain the province of some European power? In either case the whole trade of the western country, which must pass almost within gunshot of Morro Castle, is exposed to danger. I am not, however, afraid of Cuba. I wish her to be independent. But suppose England gets possession of that valuable island? With Cuba on the south and Halifax on the north, who of the most sanguine among us would not tremble for our commerce and for the integrity of the Union?

"If, along with Cuba, Great Britain should acquire East Florida, she would have the absolute command of the Gulf of Mexico. Can you gentlemen contemplate such possible, nay, probable, events, without desiring to see at least the commencement of such a naval establishment as would effectually protect our southern coast?"

Mr. Clay's fears were not without good reason, for in 1762 an English fleet under Lord Albermarle had captured Havana and invested Cuba, exchanging it the following year for Florida. In 1783 Great Britain ceded Florida back to Spain. Even while Mr. Clay was speaking a body of "patriots" were organizing to capture Florida and organize a republic. Later the United States intervened and under General Jackson wrested Florida from Spain in 1819 and made it a territory.

Clay's appeal for a new navy, however, was effective. By a vote of 52 to 47 the motion to strike out the naval appropriation was defeated and the navy was fitted out with dispatch. The naval victories won by our navy during the war with Great Britain within the next two years indicated the good judgment of the "Great Commoner," and covered the nation with glory.—New York Mail and Express.

A Stigma on George.

Tommy—Say, Mommy, I don't see why they make such a fuss about George Washington. He was awful unpatriotic.

Mommy—Why, dear?

Tommy—Why, teacher says that when he was a little boy he never celebrated the Fourth.

What a Joke.

Chicago Woman—It's queer; my first three husbands were very quiet, but my last is always making a noise.

Friend—Naturally. The Fourth is always noisy.

Thrice Blessed.

He heeds not the pyrotechnic roar,
Or "chasers" mad careering,
But grins throughout the livelong day,
For he is hard of hearing.

THE NATIONAL COLORS.

Who perished while fighting a nation to save.
The white is the snow, as new-fallen it lies,
The union a square of the star-lighted skies.

Don't Cross Your Legs.

One by one the doctors are taking away our comforts by representing them as dangerous. Now we must not cross our legs. According to a medical man, when we get a headache or cold feet that we cannot account for, the discomfort is caused by the habit of crossing the legs.

"Cold feet, varicose veins, headache, ulcers, and countless other troubles from the improper circulation of the blood in the lower limbs, are caused by the pernicious habit of crossing the legs," this medical man goes on to say.

The reason why such serious diseases follow the mere crossing of the legs is a purely physiological one. If you cross your right leg over the left knee, you will notice that the whole weight of the suspended right leg is sustained by the left knee, which places all the pressure against that under part of your right leg between the calf and the knee-cap.

The mere fact of putting undue pressure against this spot in either leg has the effect of crowding all these tissues together; their walls are clogged up, and the circulation of the life-giving fluid is materially interfered with.

An Affectionate Dog.

A lady had a pet dog of which she was very fond, and in many ways the dog showed that he returned her affection. When she was ill he was very restless and wandered about the house in great distress.

One day he saw that some beef tea was being made, and he watched the whole proceeding. When it was ready the servant put it on a tray and took it upstairs to the mistress. To the dog's surprise, however, the meat was put down for him to eat.

Somehow he got the idea that a mistake had been made and the meat meant for his mistress had been given to him. He therefore determined to put the matter right. Watching for an opportunity, he took as much meat as he could in his mouth, ran upstairs and laid it on the lady's pillow.

Then he lay down at the door of the room, to see that no one carried it off before the lady awoke. In a little while a servant tried to enter the room, and the dog gave an angry bark. This awoke the lady, who saw the beef he had brought to her. She did not eat it, but she showed by her manner to him, how much she appreciated the mark of affection.

What Goes with Meat.

Roast beef—grated horseradish. Roast mutton—current jelly. Boiled mutton—caper sauce. Roast pork—apple sauce. Roast lamb—mint sauce. Roast goose—apple sauce. Roast turkey—oyster sauce. Roast chicken—bread sauce. Venison or wild duck—black current jelly. Compote of pigeons—mushroom sauce. Broiled fresh mackerel—fennel sauce or sauce of stewed gooseberries. Fresh Salmon—shrimp sauce and cucumber.

Ants have brains larger in proportion to the size of their bodies than any other living creature.

Baseball in Biblical Times.

A member of the Canton Theological School who is interested in the great national game, has written a thesis on "baseball among the ancients." From this are gleaned the following interesting points which help to establish his contention:

The devil was the first coacher—he coached Eve when she stole first—Adam stole second.

When Isaac met Rebecca at the well she was walking with a pitcher.

Samson struck out a great many times when he beat the Philistines.

Moses made his first run when he slew the Egyptian.

Cain made a base hit when he killed Abel.

Abraham made a sacrifice.

The Prodigal Son made a home run.

David was a great long-distance thrower.

Moses shut out the Egyptians at the Red Sea.—Canton Commercial Advertiser.

Brigadiers Not Wanted.

This story is told in Boston of Colonel T. W. Higginson: He was travelling in the South a few years after the war, and chanced to fall into talk with an old farmer who had engaged a number of old soldiers to help in the haying "You see over there where those four men are working?" asked the farmer. "Well, all of 'em fought in the war. One of 'em was a private, one of 'em was a corporal, one was a major, and that man 'way over there in the corner was a colonel." "Are they good men?" asked Higginson. "Well," said the farmer, "that private's a first class man, and the corporal's pretty good, too. "But how about the major and the colonel?" "The major's so-so," said the farmer. "But the colonel?" "Well, I don't want to say nothin' against any man who was a colonel in the war," said the farmer, "but I've made up my mind I won't hire any brigadier generals."—New York Tribune.

RIGHT OF OWNERSHIP.

Jury in Justice Nash's Court Decides in Mrs. Gwynette's Favor.

Mrs. Annie Gwynette, of Prospect avenue, called a jury in Justice Nash's court, to decide whether she owned certain goods and chattels in her house which Constable Rockafellow levied upon at the instigation of Theokore J. F. Zeller. Zeller's claim was for about $130, and the levy covered goods amounting to $1,000. Rockafellow explained that he levied on such a large quantity of goods because Mr. Gwynette told him there was a chattel mortgage on them.

The jury men were William B Ayres, C. Ross, G. A. Dufford, J. Cash, J. Allen and Samael Ross. After being out a few minutes, they returned with a verdict for Mrs. Gwynett. Mrs. Gwynett was represented by R. M Clark and Zeller's counsel was Clarence Murphy.

HELP FOR SANTIAGO.

Pando Has Arrived There With 5,000 More Spanish Troops.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Off Juragua, Cuba, July 4, via despatch to Kingston, Jamaica, July 5, 11:51 p. m.—General Pando, with his army of five thousand Spanish troops, has succeeded in forcing his way into Santiago to reinforce the Spanish army in that city.

Pando and his men marched into Santiago at noon Sunday amid great rejoicing in the Spanish camp. His force is largely composed of veterans. They are liberally supplied with provisions, however.

General Garcia, the insurgent leader, failed to delay the movements of Pando.

Garcia refused to engege the Spanish troops on the ground that the advancing force was far too numerous for the insurgent band too meet.

TO CLEAR THE CHANNEL.

Sampson Tried to Explode the Mines But With Little Success.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 5, 11:04 a. m—Advices received from the American fleet off Santiago state that Rear Admiral Sampson endeavored to explode mines in the channel to the inner harbor of Santiago.

The report says that he only succeeded in detonating a few of the mines.

The Spanish batteries on Smith Cayo, Socapa and the Morro are still active and fired on the American ships when they were near the mouth of the harbor yesterday morning.

It was stated this morning that the Spanish still refuse to surrender, and that Gen. Shafter expresses his determination to begin the bombardment this noon as agreed.

SAMPSON ENTERED HARBOR

It is Reported That He Forced an Entrance Today.

Washington, July 5, 2:30 p. m—Gen. Greeley has received word from the signal officer at the front that shortly before noon today Sampson entered the harbor of Santiago.

CAMERA ENTERS CANAL.

The Cruisers Start for Manila Leaving the Torpedo Boats Behind.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Port Said, Egypt, July 5—The Spanish fleet under the command of Admiral Camera, with the exception of the torpedo boats that have heretofore been attached to the fleet, has entered the Suez canal after coaling from its own transports.

Death of Mrs. Hetfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 5—The death of Mrs. Ann Eliza Hetfield, wife of O. M. Hetfield, aged seventy seven years, occurred last evening after a lingering illness. Mrs. Hetfield was quite ill recently, but under the care of Dr. Whitford she seemed to improve. Her age, however, was against her, and she finally grew rapidly worse. Deceased was a resident of the borough for many years, and she had a host of friends who will mourn her death. The funeral services will be held from her late residence on North avenue next Thurspay afternoon at 2:30.

Red Men Picnic.

Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., held their first annual picnic in Mountainside Park Grove yesterday. Dancing began at 2 o'clock, and a general good time was had by all. The committee in charge consisted of William A. Westphall, William Newcorn, C. L. Holstein, D. C. Allen, Joseph Newman, George Houseman, Charles Fulmer, M. Leahy, William Schloss and F. M. Marshbank.

Borough Was Good

Not a single arrest was made in the borough from last Saturday to this morning. The order of the borough was excellent and there were no occasions for arrest. Special Marshal Whitely was on duty yesterday to look after the crowds that passed back and forth, but everybody was quiet and peaceful.

To Organize a Camp.

Oscar A. Moore, Richard P. McCullough, Robert G. Jeffery and Arthur E. Smith went to Lake Hopatcong yesterday to make plans for a summer camp at that place during August. About thirty young men have signified their willingness to join the camp.

Councilman T. J. Carey and Dr. Matthewson rode their wheels to Manhattan Beach last Saturday.

George Eckhardt, who has been visiting relatives in this city, returned to Camden on his wheel Sunday.

This evening the cycling members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, together with their friends, will enjoy a short run in the country.

HORSE DRAGGED BY ENGINE.

Going to a Fire Sunday Night, One Horse Was Injured.

Another small fire occurred last Sunday evening about 11:20 o'clock in the rear of Daley Bros., grocery store on West Front street. There was a little rubbish left in the rear of the store and in a mysterious manner it was set on fire. Patrolman Vanderweg discovered the fire and sent in an alarm from Box 12, corner of Front and Somerset streets. The department responded quickly, but it was only necessary to use one extinguisher to put the fire out. A slight accident to the "Harry" horse, which is driven to the chemical engine, occurred at the corner of Park aveune and Second street, while on the way to the fire Driver Feiring was not speeding his horses, but the horse slipped on the iron culvert at the corner and was dragged about fifty feet. The horse received a scratch on the right shoulder near the leg. He regained his feet, however, and proceeded to the fire. The horse is now temporarily laid off, and one of William Hand & Son's horses is being used. The injury is not so serious but what the animal will soon recover.

Enjoyed a Three Days' Cruise.

The West End Yachting Club returned from a three days' cruise in the Raritan and New York bays today. The yacht "P. Metzger," of Perth Amboy, was chartered, and the twelve members had a fine time sailing the briny deep.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Counhoven, of Newark, spent Sunday and the Fourth at the home of Mrs. Counhoven's sister, Mrs. J. H. Leggett, Kensington avenue.

WET TIME FOR PARKS.

THEIR DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS COULD NOT BE CARRIED OUT.

In the Morning, However, the New Golf Links and Clubhouse Were Visited and Inspected With Interest.

The Park Club made the Fourth this year a day long to be remembered. A special effort was made to make the day a successful one in every particular, and had it not been for the shower, everything would have gone off according to the programme. As it was, the evening's display of fireworks had to be postponed.

The postponed exhibition of fireworks will take place at 8:15 o'clock tonight.

The Fourth of July committee, consisting of Edwin T. Douglass, Edward T. Wilson, Walter M McGee, William J. Roome and Allen B Laing, planned something to occupy the attention of the members and their friends morning, afternoon and evening. First, it was a run up to the new golf grounds on Mountain avenue, which are about completed, and were open to inspection. Many members took this advantage of viewing the new grounds close at hand, and a few went completely or partly over the course of nine holes.

The clubhouse will probably be formally opened sometime this month, but must first be hurried to completion. More work is necessary, too, upon the links, before they are in good condition to play on. The clubhouse occupies a fine site on the mountainside, back of the Independent Shooting Club's grounds north of Mountain avenue. The entrance to the grounds will be through Hudson's lane, which will make it handy to the trolley. Situated as the house is upon the hill side, it commands a splendid view and enables one to watch the players for some distance around the course. The tie is just at the side of the house, and from that to the first hole is a straight away shot down the hill which can be plainly seen. After one or two more shots the players are lost to view around the woods, which are quite thick behind the clubhouse.

The members of the Park Club are well pleased with the new clubhouse and links, and after investigating things to their hearts' desire went home and returned to the clubhouse at 4 o'clock, when tea was served by Mrs. Edward T. Douglass and Mrs. Walter M. McGee.

They were assisted in receiving by Mrs. A. VanDeventer, Miss Mabel and Miss Halla VanDeventer, Miss Long, Miss Murphy and Miss Helen Phillips. An hour later the day fireworks were set off. These consisted of a couple of dozen of six-inch Japanese shells, which exploded at a great height, showing pretty pictures and colors.

The reception and dance was well attended. The patronesses were Mrs. Charles A. Reed, Mrs. Walter M. McGee, Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Mrs. Edwin T. Douglass, Mrs. J. C. Peck, Mrs. George T. Rogers, Mrs. George P. Dupee, Mrs. Samuel Townsend and Mrs. J. H. Howell.

The clubhouse and grounds were very tastefully decorated with bunting, flags and lanterns, under the supervision of Allen B. Laing. The clubhouse looked very pretty, and there were those who said that it never looked better than last night.

A VICIOUS PRISONER.

Bit Roundsman Flynn and Sent to Jail for Thirty Days.

Pat Gargon, as a dilapidated, wild-eyed hobo called himself, stood before Judge DeMeza yesterday morning, charged with assaulting two officers, Sergeant Kiely and Roundsman Flynn. He was indignant at the charge, and so was remanded back to his cell until this morning.

Officer Watson found Gargon wandering around late Sunday night, and being a rough looking man and badly clothed, the officer asked him where he was going. Watson met with a profane exclamation and so locked the man up.

Yesterday morning Flynn opened Gargon's cell door to inquire his name, and the officer claims that Gargon seized him around the neck and would have choked him had it not been for the opportune arrival of Kiely, who was in the building. Gargon declared that Flynn assaulted him first, so the Judge set his case over until this morning, when he gave him thirty days.

Preached to G. A. R. Men.

Twenty-four G. A. R. men attended service in a body at Grace M. E. church Sunday night, and listened to a sermon from the pastor, Rev. G. W. Gardner.

—There will be a special consecration meeting of all Christian Endeavorers of the First Church of Christ, Grove street, tonight at 8 o'clock in the chapel.

Keyless Fire Alarm Box.

The new keyless fire alarm box, No. 12, has been installed in front of Harry Werner's clothing store on West Front street. The work was done by Herbert Chamberlain, of the local telephone company. All one has to do to bring out the department is to turn a handle on the outside of the box until the bell sounds inside. The handle must be turned to the right. It will not be well for the person caught fooling with the box or sending in a false alarm.

A Vociferous Colored Preacher.

Last Sunday morning the colored preacher at the Calvary Baptist church, on West Front street, talked so loud that it disturbed Dr. Yerkes, who was preaching in the First Baptist church, opposite. One of the members of the latter church was finally obliged to ask the preacher across the way to make less noise. The disturbance was so annoying that Dr. Yerkes was forced to speak of it while preaching.

Queer Way of Dodging.

William Trust didn't like to get too close to the big fire crackers which were exploding on every side of him early yesterday morning. He dodged one, stepped on a cellar door, on Park avenue, and fell. Officer Watson says Billie was drunk, and locked him up. City Judge De Meza suspended sentence on him.

Old Glory on North Avenue.

Saturday afternoon the workmen successfully raised the flag pole on the roof of the North avenue railroad station, and floated the American flag for the first time. Station Agent J. A. Haynes furnished the flag, the railroad company the pole. The depot at Elizabethport also floats a flag.

Randolph Giles, one of the drivers in the employ of the U. S. Express Company, spent the Fourth at Allentown, Pa.

ACCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

SMALL CASUALTIES THAT MARRED CELEBRATING THE FOURTH.

Small Boy Threw a Lighted Firecracker Into Powder—Numerous Hurts That Came From Operating Cannons.

Henry Brosey, aged 12 years, living on Grove street, met with a painful accident yesterday noon. He had been enjoying himself discharging a good-sized cannon, and close by his side was a quantity of powder exposed. A small boy happened along and threw a lighted firecracker at Brosey and the small piece of explosive material landed in the powder igniting it. Brosey's arms were badly burned, as was also his face and head. Half of the hair was burned off his head and he suffered the greatest agony. As soon as neighbors learned what had happened they assisted the boy to his home. Dr. Rushmore was called and is now in attendance. Proper treatment somewhat relieved the boy's sufferings, but it will be sometime before he fully recovers.

While a young son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farley, of Jackson avenue, was shooting a cannon off yesterday, he was badly burned about the hands and face. He received a portion of the charge thus inflicting the injuries. He was treated at home and he will soon recover from the accident.

Thomas Casey, of 951 West Third street, while out riding on his wheel yesterday morning, received a sun stroke and was taken to the home of his aunt, Mrs. Martin, West Front street. He was detained there until 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when he was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital. He was able to leave the hospital last night and go home.

Yesterday morning before 8 o'clock John Kanary, aged 9 years, a resident on West Fourth street, met with an accident that rather spoiled the day for him. He was shooting a cannon off. A small glass bottle stood near and the charge completely demolished the bottle. A piece of the glass entered the calf of the leg. The boy was taken to the hopital and the glass was removed. The boy experienced some pain, but later in the day continued his sport.

Charles Drake, 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Drake, of Richmond street, burned his hand severely yesterday. He had some paper caps in his hand, which came in contact with a lighted piece of punk. The skin on the hand was burned off and he suffered great pain.

Three lads, Wm. Summers, Thomas Waring and Henry Roche, all of whom live near the corner of Third and Liberty streets were badly injured in a premature explosion of a cannon yesterday morning. The boys had loaded the cannon, but were not ready to touch it off when a spark from a match fell on the loose powder and an explosion followed. Summers' left hand was cut and bruised by flying missles. Waring was struck in the leg and Roche was wounded in the chest.

Last evening between 7 and 8 o'clock lightning struck F. O. Herring's barn on Park avenue. The weather vane and cupola were quite badly damaged and the electric lights in the barn were burned out. Outside of that there was no other damage.

SWITCHBOARD BURNED OUT.

Curious Accident that Happened to Fire-Alarm System.

Yesterday afternoon in some mysterious manner the fire alarm switchboard at fire department headquarters was completely burned out. It was about four o'clock and the fire gong sounded several single blows. The department was ready to go out, but as no regular alarm was blown, they did not respond. Chief Doane at once went to the battery room and found the place completely filled with smoke. Herbert Chamberlain, of the local telephone company, who looks after the system, was soon on the spot and he soon put the fire out with some water. It was then discovered that the switchboard was burned out. How the thing happened no one is able to tell. A cross with a telephone or electric light would have caused it but so far it cannot be ascertained that such a thing occurred. Chief Doane went to New York to purchase a new board. In the meantime the service is all right, but the system is not divided by circuits as formerly.

New Reading Rooms to Open.

According to a plan which has long been in the minds of some few members of the Reform Club, the reading-rooms in Reform Club Hall will be opened again soon for the accommodation of those who used to frequent the rooms to read the papers and play games. Light refreshments will be on sale, which is a new departure.

—A regular meeting of the Sons of Veterans will be held this evening.

ONE FIRE ON THE 4TH

AND THAT WAS NOT CAUSED BY PEOPLE CELEBRATING.

Oil Stove Set Fire to Woodwork in a House on South Second Street—A Lively Blaze Last Saturday Afternoon.

A small fire broke out last evening at 6:21 o'clock in a house on South Second street occupied by a family by the name of Brown. An oil stove was being used and the heat therefrom set fire to some woodwork and the studding burned fiercely. The alarm was sent in from Box 47 by Alonzo Ayres with the key from the Pond Tool Works. Although the fire was a small one it was with some difficulty that the department extinguished it. The damage is about $25.

Saturday afternoon last about 5 o'clock Sergeant Kiely and Detective John Large were talking on East Front street near the home of William Rockwell. The Sergeant happened to look up toward the house and noticed that smoke was coming from the upper rooms. He jumped on his wheel and hastened to fire headquarters and informed the firemen. James Bailey started out with the Chief's gig and found Chief Doane not far away. The two went to the house and after the chief saw what the fire was he instructed Bailey to send in an alarm from box 16 corner of Front and Richmond streets. Investigation proved that Mr. Enander, the plumber, was working in the top of the house putting a new covering on the water tank. He was lining the tank with asphaltum and accidentally dropped a lighted candled in the tank The fire broke out almost immediately, and Mr. Enander, in trying to turn on the water in the tank to extinguish the flames, burned his right arm and face badly. His injuries were afterward dressed at Armstrong's drug store. The firemen worked for awhile in thoroughly extinguishing the fire and the damage amounted to about $40. While Sergeant Kiely was on his way to headquarters, Mr. Large entered the house and worked hard in carrying water from the first floor to the top of the house.

When the fire was discovered by the family in the house Mr. Rockwell, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, attempted to leave his bed and help put the fire out. He was too weak, however, and he fell prostrate on the floor. He was assisted back to his bed by members of the family.

SHE IMAGINED THINGS.

An Exciting Incident of the Dark Hours at Fanwood.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood, July 5—The residents of this place were aroused out of their slumbers early Sunday morning by the cries of murder, which were found to be coming from the roof of the postoffice building. Several valorous citizens appeared in scanty attire and found that the noise was made by a colored woman known as Annie Carr.

It seems that the Carr woman is a recent importation from the south and was tramping through the country when she stopped at the house of George Gray alias David Dock, where, she claims, she was threatened with death.

She appealed to Justice Hoar for protection and he held Gray for the action of the Grand Jury. Miss Bettman, the postmistress, agreed to give her employment as a domestic.

It was found Sunday morning that the woman's imagination had induced her to think that she was being pursued by Gray and so she yelled for help. After learning this fact, the valorous citizens retired to their beds and slumbered on.

Since the above was written Annie was arrested by one of the Plainfield officers for being a vagrant. She was wandering around that city bareheaded, and when arraigned before the Judge was given ten minutes to get out of town. When released she still hung around the station house, so was brought back and given ten days in the county jail.

Kept Sober Three Years.

It was just three years ago yesterday that Steven Perrine, of Watchung avenue, was arrested for being drunk. He kept out of the clutches of the police until Sunday when he succumbed. He was charged by Officer Mattox with being drunk in the boulevard. Sentence was suspended upon him.

Picniced on the Raritan.

A number of the young of the Seventh Day Baptist church enjoyed a picnic yesterday to the farm of Nathan Randolph, on the banks of the Raritan river, near South Branch. Thirty went by stage early in the morning, returning late at night.

INGLORIOUS ENDING OF A STRONG NINE.

Crescents Disband for Reason of Lack of Patronage.

THEY MET DEFEAT AT LAST.

SADLY WEAKENED, CRESCENTS WERE BEATEN BY NEW BRUNSWICK.

The Closest Game of the Season Was Played Saturday With the Dreadnaught Athletic Club—Yesterday Morning Was Too Warm to Play, But the Crescents Had an Easy Thing—The End of it All

The people of Plainfield are very particular. They object to riding in stages. It must be trolley cars or else they stay at home. In the spring Benjamin A. Mumford established a baseball diamond at the Crescent Oval. He provided the best team that has ever played before a Plainfield audience. Transportation to the ground was arranged by stages. The Plainfield Crescents played ten games and won them all but one, the last.

The quality of the baseball presented was first-class, the accommodations were good, but the people of Plainfield would not go out to the Crescent Oval. As the most natural thing in the world the Crescents, failing to receive enough support to maintain them, have disbanded. Mumford's venture was a failure, and baseball at the Crescent Oval is a thing of the past. The game Saturday afternoon and the two games yesterday were a final trial and the good people of Plainfield were "weighed in the balance and found wanting."

Saturday afternoon saw the closest game of the season. The Dreadnaught Athletic Club sent a formidable array of players out to meet the Crescents who missed Metz and Stevens. The Crescents won by a score of 4 to 3, but it was a very narrow escape. In the sixth inning, the visitors took the lead by a score of 3 to 2 and kept it until the last when the Crescents scored two more by timely batting.

It was too warm to play ball Monday morning. The players sweltered out in the boiling sun, the umpire bemoaned his hard fate and the scorers retreated to the scanty shade of the back stop. The Brooklyn Athletic Association team came out but was easily handled by the Crescents. Neither side could play a swappy game in the terrible heat and so interest dragged.

The Crescents opened the game by hitting Charters freely. Charters has been here before and has been compelled to bear punishment. The fielding of the visitors was not up the usual standard, and their general playing was rather ragged. A half a dozen errors and hits by Collins, Cavanaugh and Vrooms netted five runs in the first inning. In the third, Cooney took first on a fumble by third and came home on Mumford's single. In the next, the visitors scored one run.

In the sixth inning, Collins put in the box to save MacLoughlin for the afternoon game while Mac went to short. Collins was not hit hard but four hits being made off him. Cooney did some wild throwing, and Mac showed a distaste for hot grounders so that the visitors made one in the seventh and three in the eighth. The Crescents managed to add three to their score in these two innings and the game went to the Crescent by a score of 9 to 5.

The detailed score was as follows:—

VICTORY!

Remnant of the Spanish Navy Completely Obliterated.

CERVERA IS OUR PRISONER.

Dewey's Conquest at Manila Bay Is Paralleled by Sampson at Santiago. Spanish Loss Is Heavy, and 1,300 Are Prisoners.

ONE AMERICAN KILLED.

The Spanish Admiral's Bold Attempt to Escape from the Bottled Condition Which He Voluntarily Created for Himself When He Entered Santiago Harbor Proved Totally Disastrous as Latest Advices Confirm.

New York, July 5.—The Herald this morning gives the following graphic account of the sinking of Cervera's fleet at Santiago:

Off Santiago de Cuba, by Herald dispatch boat Golden Rod to Kingston, Jamaica, Monday.—Cervera's famed squadron is a mere matter of history now. Three of the crack cruisers that were bottled up in Santiago and the two destroyers, after being pounded into helpless hulks by the guns of Sampson's fleet, in a vain attempt to escape from the harbor, and blazing fore and aft, were beached by their commanders in a last effort to save the lives of some of the crews.

Ever since it has been known that the Merrimac did not effectually block the harbor it has been feared that Cervera would try to run through the American fleet, and a ceaseless watch has been kept to prevent it. So little were the Americans expecting the dash when it came that the flagship New York had gone cruising up the coast to the east, and only returned in time to see the finish of the fight and fire a shot or two at the shattered destroyers that were then headed for the beach.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON.

Cervera himself headed his fleet's plunge to annihilation. It was half past nine Sunday when his flagship was seen steaming rapidly through the narrow channel at the harbor's mouth. The signal ran from ship to ship of the American fleet and the Iowa and Indiana, the record breaking Oregon, the Massachusetts and Texas, the cruiser Brooklyn, and the saucy little improvised destroyer Corsair were soon scurrying into position to block the Spaniards' exit.

But the American vessels did not open fire at once. Cervera's ships were allowed to come out of the harbor and get well out of the range of Morro's guns before the big battleships began to close in.

Cervera headed to the west, keeping close to the shore, and firing from every gun that he could bring to bear.

At the heels of the Colon came the Vizcaya and Oquendo, and back of them the dread destroyers.

Then suddenly the big battleships opened up and the rest of the Spanish way was literally through a hurricane of shot and shell.

But still the Colon kept on firing bravely, reeling under the terrible impact of the tons of metal that were poured upon her, till when about ten miles to the westward of Morro Castle with his ship "trailing like a wounded duck" and bannered with flame, Cervera's turned the vessel's nose toward the shore and made a last desperate effort to keep her out of his enemy's hands.

She was sinking then and blazing in a score of places, but still her guns kept at work, and the white flag showed above her last of all.

At the first the fearful fire of the battleships had naturally been poured on the flagship, but the others were not forgotten. In the terrible din and uproar made by the heavy guns and continuous crash and rattle of the rapid fire batteries, little save results could be noted. The smake, too, wrapped the scene in stifling obscurity.

But from time to time, as the wind tore the smoke curtains aside, the spectators caught momentary glimpses of the swift tragedy.

Close upon the heels of the Colon's destruction, simultaneously almost, came the doom of the Oquendo and Vizcaya.

While all had apparently been pounding away at the Colon, the Vizcaya and Oquendo had to face the fire of the Iowa, Texas and Indiana.

Under the fire of this ponderous trio, the grim cruisers that had raised so many hopes and not a few fears, went down to defeat with fearful swiftness.

The flagship fought her way ten miles up the coast before her nose was turned shoreward.

The Vizcaya and Oquendo had not made half that distance under the terrible hammering of the hurricane battleships before their case was hopeless and they, too, were turned shoreward.

And they had not been idle. Their crews fought with desperate bravery. But courage was no match for courage plus gunnery. It was the old story—Spanish shells that went wild for the most part, while the American gun fire was marked by merciless precision.

When the battered Oquendo and Vizcaya faced the inevitable and swung around for the shore both were afire, the Vizcaya from fore to amidships.

The two cruisers were beached not more than a quarter of a mile apart.

Meanwhile the most dramatic feature of the battle was in progress. The two destroyers with Cervera had come out in the wake of the big Vizcaya. As they swept through the smoke and uproar the little Corsair, the patrician yacht that all New Yorkers have seen lazily drifting about the harbor, a very perfumed exquisite among pleasure craft, swung out to block the way of the craft that even the burly Oregon was supposed to dread.

As the Corsair came up she opened on the two destroyers with her little six-pounders. They fired back as they came, but were bent on a more desperate business, and ran by their plucky little foe as a hawk leaves a king bird. But they still had the big battleships to deal with, and in the face of the terrific fire that the big ships poured upon them, the destroyers both turned back, only to find the little Corsair there again pegging away at them with her baby six-pounders.

Then the destroyers turned upon the little Corsair like wounded wolves in one desperate effort to strike somewhere. But Wainwright, who was with the Maine, was on the Corsair's bridge and there was a battle royal on before the desperate destroyers were aware what they had tackled.

The Corsair was struck time and again—she is the only American vessel reported damaged—but both of the destroyers were set afire and both had to be beached.

As they struck the beach one exploded with a terrific crash and a great plume of smoke shot up to mark where she had been. Her crew, those that were able, had thrown themselves into the surf and were struggling ashore when the crash came.

It was just before this that the New York came up from her jaunt down the coast and managed to open up on them for a few rounds before the white flag showed on them.

By this time, too, the white flags were flaunting over the burning Oquendo and Vizcaya, though farther down the shore the Colon was still firing an occasional desperate gun.

As the flames swept over the beached cruisers the crews could be seen huddling away from the flames, yet afraid to leap into the water.

It was at first reported that Admiral Cervera was dead. Afterward, however, the report was denied.

Destruction of Cervera's Fleet.

Washington, July 5.—The secretary of the navy received the following message yesterday from Rear Admiral Sampson:

Playa, via Hayti.

Secretary of the Navy:

Siboney, 3.15 a. m., July 3.

The fleet under my command offers the nation as a Fourth of July present the destruction of the whole of Cervera's fleet.

No one escaped.

It attempted to escape at 9.30 a. m., and at 2 p. m., the last, the Cristobal Colon, had run ashore sixty miles west of Santiago and has let down her colors.

The Infanta Maria Teresa, Oquendo and Vizcaya were forced ashore, burned and blown up within twenty miles of Santiago.

The Furor and Pluton were destroyed within four miles of the port.

Loss, one killed and two wounded.

Enemy's loss probably several hundred from gun fire, explosions and drowning.

About 1,300 prisoners, including Admiral Cervera.

The man killed was George H. Ellis, chief yeoman of the Brooklyn.

SAMPSON.

The President's Congratulations.

Washington, July 5.—The following message was sent to Admiral Sampson by the president:

To Admiral Sampson, Playa del Este:

You have the gratitude and congratulations of the whole American people. Convey to your noble officers and crews through whose valor new honors have been added to the Americans, the grateful thanks and appreciation of the nation.

WILLIAM McKINLEY.

The Army Hears of the Victory.

Later the war department posted the following from General Shafter:

Playa del Este, 9.30 a. m., July 4.

Headquarters Fifth Army Corps, near Santiago:

When the news of the disaster to the Spanish fleet reached the front, which was during the truce, the regimental band that had managed to keep its instruments on the line, played "The Star Spangled Banner" and "There'll Be a Hot time in the Old Town To-night."

Men cheering from one end of the line to the other. Officers and men without even shelter tents have been soaking for five days in the afternoon rains but all are happy. SHAFTER.

Tells Why He Tried to Escape.

Washington, July 5.—Information was given out at the bureau of navigation that Admiral Cervera explained his action to Admiral Sampson in the single sentence: "I knew I would be overpowered, but I preferred taking chances in the open sea to a death like a rat in a hole."

It is not known whether this statement was made on the New York or not, but it is presumed that such was the case, as the details of the conversation were given by Admiral Sampson in his report to the department, all of which was not made public.

Sampson Nominated for Promotion.

Washington, July 5.—The president has nominated W. T. Sampson, whose real rank is that of Captain, but who is now acting as rear admiral by special appointment, to be a commodore in the United States navy.

BATTLE OF EL CANEY

Conspicuous Bravery of Troops Under Terrific Fire.

FACE SMOKELESS POWDER.

Our Loss in Two Battles Estimated at 800—Spanish Loss About 3,500 Killed and Wounded—How the Americans Captured Every Outpost of the Enemy After Desperate Fighting—Splendid Charge at San Juan.

San Juan Hill, Overlooking Santiago de Cuba, July 5.—Fuller and more accurate details of the two days' fight at Santiago last Friday and Saturday show that the American loss in killed and wounded was about 800, and that the Spanish loss was 3,500 killed and wounded, more than four times the amount of our loss. Inch by inch the Americans forced their way in the face of Spanish shells and bullets until they had captured every outpost around Santiago, and had taken by one of the fiercest charges in history the forts of San Juan, which the Spanish believed to be impregnable.

When the firing ceased last Saturday afternoon our batteries looked down on the town of Santiago from all sides and the Americans were stopping to take breath.

Exactly a week after the battle of Sevilla, in which the Rough Riders took part, Shafter's men were ready to attack the Spaniards about Santiago. For a clear understanding of the fighting last Friday and Saturday it must be remembered that the city of Santiago is at the head of the bay, six miles from the mouth of the harbor. The city is surrounded on all sides by high mountains, which rise abruptly from the water. The mountains stand in ridges which run parallel with the coast. The city lies between the first and second ridges. Directly south of Santiago, on the coast, two and a half miles east of the entrance of the harbor, is Aguadores.

San Juan, the strongest of Santiago's outposts, lies southeast of the city on a high hill top. General Shafter believed that it would be best to take Santiago by siege, but lest his troops might become weakened by the climate, he yielded to arguments in favor of attacking the city from all sides.

Everything was in readiness for the fighting when the sun rose on Friday morning. There were three main lines of attack. The first forces were directed northeast of the city toward El Caney, under General Lawton. The second line of attack was against San Juan by the forces under Gen. Wheeler, with Sumner in actual command, because Wheeler was ill. The third set of troops was under General Duffield, who was directed to keep close to the seaside and under the protection of the fleet and in conjunction with the Michigan volunteers to march against Aguadores. The Seventy-first New York and Colonel Wheeler's Massachusetts volunteers were held in reserve.

Captain Capron's battery (Lawton's forces), which was planted on a bluff a mile and a half from El Caney, opened the firing at 6 o'clock on Friday morning. No answer was made to the first shot and two more were carefully trained on El Caney. It looked as though the Spaniards were not going to fight. A thousand Cubans under Garcia, believing that the Spanish were retreating, set out to capture them. Some of the Spaniards had started to run away from El Caney. When the Cubans met them there was a sharp engagement, in which many Spaniards were wounded and nineteen Cubans were wounded.

The Spanish then fled back to El Caney and took their wounded with them. Not until the twenty-seventh shot from Capron's battery was fired was there any return from a Spanish battery. Then a Spanish shell whistled through the air near Capron's battery. Several other shells from the same battery followed quickly and wounded thirteen Cubans and eighteen Americans. After an hour of hot fighting on both sides the firing ceased.

Before Capron's battery stopped firing, Grimes's battery (General Wheeler's forces), stationed at El Pozo, opened up and began firing across the gulch from the hill below San Juan. After the tenth shot the Spanish replied. The Spaniards invariably shot too high and their shells did no damage at that time. The battery was silenced for the time being and no Spaniards were in sight. Then began the real fighting. The First and Tenth regiments and the Rough Riders were ordered to make a detour and take the hill. Although no Spaniards were in sight there were plenty of them concealed.

Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt rode at the head of his troops until his horse was shot from under him, and then, with sword in hand, he rushed along the lines on foot, ordering "Forward, charge!" to the men, who were at first somewhat confused at the way in which their ranks were being depleted by the fire from the Mauser rifles.

The Spaniards were really in strong intrenchments, but their inability to stop the heroic rush of the Americans up the hill so frightened them that in their haste they exposed themselves. Then the Tenth cavalry picked them off likeducks. Our men never stopped until they gained the top of the hill. The Spaniards, who had been doing deadly work, were still in a position to create great havoc, but the daring of the Americans so dazed them that they took to flight. As the ran our men brought a large number of them down.

The Spanish trenchts were found full of dead soldiers, but all of the wounded had run with the fleeing Spaniards. In their rush more than half of the Rough Riders were wounded more or less dangerously.

The experience of the Wheeler forces in taking San Juan was almost identical with that of Lawton's forces in taking El Caney. When Capron's battery resumed its firing on the stone fort at El Caney, the 7th, 17th and 12th infantry, under General Chaffee, started out to take the fort. The Spaniards reported to the old trick of putting their hats on sticks and then firing from some other quarter. As they were using smokeless powder it was a long time before our troops could tell from where the deadly Mauser bullets came.

At ine time the firing was so incessant and the inability of our men to find the location of the enemy so great that the men were ordered to lie down. Even then many were hit by the Spaniards, who, being above them, could see clearly where onr men lay. When the Spanish pests were finally discovered our men began to turn the tables on them and then made a dash up the hill right into their intrenchments.

Again the Spanish were so demoralized by the daring of the Americans that they fled in disorder. Every street leading out of the town of El Caney was filled with fleeing soldiers. The trenches were filled with the dead. One hundred and twenty-five of the fleeing Spaniards were captured. The 71st of New York did good work by following up General Lawton's men and holding all the ground gained.

The 71st lost seventy men killed and wounded in taking a hill surrounded by a half mile of open country, in which they had not the slightest protection from the Spaniards. But with Capt. Rafferty's company in the lead the men never stopped until they had routed the Spaniards from the blockhouse fort. Somtimes they had to crawl but they never retreated. When the 71st was carrying away some of its wounded under the protection of the Red Cross, the Spaniards violated the rules of civilized warfare by firing on our men from a distance. Fortunately they did little damage.

Lieut. Maxwell, from his balloon 200 feet high, was able to direct General Hawkins's men, including the 3rd and 6th cavalry and the 13th and 16th infantry in taking San Juan.

Gen. Duffield and his men carried out their part in aiding the fleet to capture Aguadores. The Suwanee opened the fight, which never ceased until our flag floated over Aguadores.

The fighting was resumed on Saturday by a desperate attempt of the Spaniards to recapture San Juan hill, but in that attempt their loss was so great that they were forced to retreat back behind the walls of the city of Santiago.

DEWEY READY FOR BUSINESS

First Expedition Arrives After Taking a Spanish Island While Enroute.

New York, July 5.—Amoy, July 4.—Messages from Manila received here announced the safe arrival there on Thursday last, June 30, of the cruiser Charleston, with the transports City of Pekin, City of Sydney and Australia with troops.

The Charleston en route captured Guajan, one of the Ladrones. Seven guns were fired at the fort there, but the fire was not returned.

The governor, thinking the Charleston was firing a salute, sent a boat out to the cruiser and thanked the captain effusively for the honor paid him. The governor's representative was detained on board a prisoner and boats were sent ashore to capture the governor and his officials, all of whom were taken on the Charleston to Manila. An American was left in charge at Guajan.

First Expedition Reaches Manila.

Cavite, July 1, via Hong Kong, July 5.—The cruiser Charleston, with the transports City of Pekin, Australia and City of Sydney arrived here yesterday.

At Honolulu the Charleston received sealed orders from Washington to proceed to Guajan, the largest of the Ladrone islands, and capture it, or sink or capture any Spanish gunboats there and afterward to reduce the forts.

The Charleston arrived at Guajan June 20 and was boarded by Spanish officials of the Ladrone islands, who professed entire ignorance of war existing between Spain and the United States.

Governor Marina surrendered and he and his staff were made prisoners and taken aboard the Charleston.

The American flag was left flying over the capitol.

The American troops arrived here in a very healthy condition.

The troops began landing immediately. Cavite arsenal had been put in order for their accommodation.

The French admiral has arrived on the cruiser Bayard. The British cruisers Iphegenia and Pigmy have arrived. The Bonaventura left yesterday for Wei Hai Wei. Others are expected here.

Another Spanish gunboat, the Leyte, was captured in Manila bay on Wednesday.

Dewey's Official Report.

Washington, July 5.—Secretary Long received from Admiral Dewey the following official report of the arrival of the first expedition:

Cavite, July 1, via Hong Kong, July 3.

Three transports and Charleston arrived yesterday. Captured Guam, Ladrone islands, June 21; no resistance. Brought the Spanish officials and the garrison of six officers and fifty-four men to Manila. On June 29 the Spanish gun vessel Leyte came out of a river near Manila and surrendered to me, having exhausted ammunition and food repelling attacks by insurgents. Had on board fifty-two officers and ninety-four men, naval and military.

DEWEY.

The war department received the following dispatch from General Anderson:

Hong Kong, July 3.

ON TO SPAIN AT ONCE.

Watson Will Set Sail as soon as His Fleet Can Be Fitted Out.

Washington, July 5.—After the adjournment of the war board's conference at the White House Secretary Long said:

"There will be no change in the present plans of the navy. Commodore Watson's fleet will sail for the Spanish coast as soon as it is fitted out, and the fleet before Santiago will be given plenty of wor kto do."

Welcome for Cornell.

Ithaca, N. Y., July 5.—More than a thousand persons gave the Cornell crews a rousing welcome last evening on their arrival in Ithaca. The oars men were escorted to a decorated float, which was drawn through the principal streets of the city by a crowd of anthusiastic students.

SANTIAGO IS DOOMED

Bombardment Was to have Begun At Noon To-Day.

NOTICE GIVEN BY SHAFTER

Confident of His Power the American General in Conjunction With Sampson Will Make Quick Work in the Destruction of the City Unless the Spanish Commander Unconditionally Surrenders

Washington, July 5.—General Shafter has given the commandant of the city of Santiago until noon to-day to surrender the city unconditionally.

In the event of refusal he was to proceed to bombard the city at once.

The following dispatch received from him shows that he has the city completely surrounded:

Headquarters Fifth Army Corps.
Santiago, July 3.

To-night my lines completely surround the town from bay, on north of the city, to point on San Juan river, on South.

The enemy holds from west bend of San Juan river at its mouth up the railroad to the city.

General Pando, I find, is some distance away and will not get into Santiago. SHAFTER.

Why Bombardment Waits.

The secretary of war later received a long and important dispatch from General Shafter. It excited much rumor, but the essential points were as follows:

GENERAL WILLIAM R. SHAFTER.

It stated Shafter's demand for surrender of Santiago at noon Monday on pain of bombardment. Thereupon the foreign consuls at Santiago made a joint representation, requesting that women and children in the city have until Tuesday noon to withdraw before the bombardment begins.

The Spanish general declined to surrender at the time first set by Shafter. At present a truce exists, pending the expiration of the twenty-four hours asked for by the foreign consuls.

General Shafter next reported:

"I feel that I am master of the situation and can hold the enemy for any length of time."

Heading off Pando.

General Miles received the following telegram from General Shafter dated Playa del Este:

"Headquarters Fifth Army Corps.—Killed a Spanish general in affair at Caney, and a large number of officers and men, who are still unburied. Gen. Linares's arm was broken. My demand for surrender of Santiago still being considered by Spanish authorities. Pando has arrived near break in railroad with his advance. I think he will be stopped."

Also the following from Assistant Adjutant General Wagner at same place and time:

"Pando six miles north with 5,000. Garcia opposes with 3,000. Lawton can support Garcia and prevent junction."

Miles to Go to the Front.

General Miles sent the following dispatch to General Shafter before the news of the destruction of the fleet:

Headquarters of the Army,
Washington, July 4.

General Shafter, Playa del Este, Cuba:

Accept my hearty congratulations on the record made of the magnificent fortitude, gallantry and sacrifice displayed in the desperate fighting of the troops before Santiago. I realize the hardships, difficulties and sufferings, and am proud that amid those terrible scenes the troops illustrated such fearless and patriotic devotion to the welfare of our common country and flag. Whatever the results to follow their unsurpassed deeds of valor, the past is already a gratifying chapter of history. I expect to be with you within one week with strong reinforcements.

MILES,
Major General Commanding.

Shafter's Correspondence With the Commander at Santiago.

Washington, July 5.—The following dispatch was received at the war department:

Hon. R. A. Alger, Secretary of War:

The following is my demand for the surrender of Santiago:

I shall be obliged, unless you surrender, to shell Santiago de Cuba. Please inform the citizens of foreign countries and all women and children that they should leave the city before ten o'clock to-morrow morning.

Very respectfully,
W. R. SHAFTER,
Major General Commanding.

The following is the Spanish reply which Colonel Dorst returned at 6.30 p. m.:

Santiago de Cuba, 2 p. m., July 3.

To His Excellency the General Commanding forces of the United States, San Juan River:

Sir: I have the honor to reply to your communication of to-day, written at 8.20 a. m., and received at 1 p. m., demanding the surrender of this city; in the contrary case announcing to me that you will bombard the city and that I advise the foreign women and children that they must leave the city before 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

It is my duty to say to you that this city will not surrender and that I will inform the foreign consuls and inhabitants of the contents of your message.

Very respectfully,
JOSE TORAL,
Commander-in-Chief Fourth Corps.

The British, Portuguese, Chinese and Norwegian consuls have come to my line with Colonel Dorst. They ask if non-combatants can occupy the town of Caney and railroad points, and ask until 10 o'clock of the 5th inst. before the city is fired upon. They claim that there are between 15,000 and 20,000 people, many of them old, who will leave.

They ask if I can supply them with food, which I cannot do for want of transportation to Caney, which is 13 miles from my landing.

The following is my reply.

Commanding General Spanish Forces,
Santiago de Cuba, July 3.

Sir: In consideration of the request of the consuls and officers of your city for delay in carrying out my intention to fire on the city, and in the interest of poor women and children, who will suffer very greatly by their enforced departure from the city, I have the honor to announce that I will delay such action solely in their interest until noon of the fifth, providing during the interval your forces make no demonstration whatever upon those of mine.

I am with breat respect, your obedient servant,

W. R. SHAFTER.

Pando Reaches Santiago.

Off Juragua, July 3, by way of Port Antonio, July 5.—General Pando, with 5,000 reinforcements, reached Santiago at noon to-day, General Garcia refusing to make an effort to stop him, saying that the Spanish force was too large for him to engage.

Several Officers Were Overcome by Heat.

Siboney, Cuba, July 5.—General Shafter is still more or less ailing, so that his headquarters have not been moved so far forward as would be most convenient, but he has directed the general movements of his army, though lying most of the time on a cot or in a hammock attended by a surgeon.

General T. B. M. Young, commander of the Second Brigade of General Wheeler's cavalry division, has been suffering with fever since Wednesday night and has been confined to his tent.

General Wheeler also had a slight fever on Thursday and Friday morning, but recovered sufficiently to go to the front soon after the cannonading was begun from Grimes's Hill.

There were many cases of prostration from heat among the men of the Ninth Massachusetts and the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Michigan regiments, all of whom were pushed at once to the front to reinforce our wearied men on the firing line.

The News in Madrid.

Madrid, July 5.—Up to late last evening the officials were consoling themselves with such news as the following:

An official dispatch from Santiago de Cuba says:

"Admiral Cervera's fleet sustained for an hour the fire of the American fleet. It then disappeared westward, followed by the American squadron. We lost two torpedo boat destroyers."

A later official dispatch from Santiago de Cuba says:

"Admiral Cervera's squadron made a sortie from Santiago, traversing the channel without incident. But a heavy cannonade was heard outside the harbor and it is supposed a naval battle was proceeding.

Would Exchange Cervera for Hobson.

Washington, July 5.—The release of Hobson and the other heroes of the Merrimac incident is likely to be another result of the events transpiring yesterday. It may now come about either by the surrender of the city, which would include the surrender of Hobson and other American prisoners, or else by the exchange of Hobson for Admiral Cervera or some other high ranking naval official.

TO PORTO RICO NEXT.

Troops Now on the Water to Go to San Juan.

Washington, July 5.—The feeling at the war department that Santiago, being covered by Shafter's siege guns on the heights around the town, and by the guns of Sampson's ships, must surrender before the day is over, has led to a complete revolution of the plans which were formulated when General Shafter's dispatch calling for immediate reinforcements was received.

As soon as General Shafter's troops have been thoroughly rested they will be forwarded to Porto Rico.

The army corps under General Brooke at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga, now under marching orders, will probably be the first troops to leave for Porto Rico.

The soldiers of General Snyder's division at Tampa are believed to be on the water bound for Santiago. It is the purpose to forward them immediately after their arrival at that place to Porto Rico, without disembarking the soldiers from the transports, with the exception perhaps of one or two regiments, which will replace some of the troops of General Shafter's army.

Fourth of July Tornadoes.

Hampton, N. H., July 5.—A terrific tornado struck a section of Hampton Beach at 3.15 yesterday afternoon, causing immense damage to beach property and loss of life. The atmospheric disturbance came almost without warning.

A yacht owned by Captain Frank Mudd of this place was sailing off the beach and was in the path of the storm. In it were nine persons and of these five were drowned.

Beverly, Mass., July 5.—The small excursion steamer Surf City, with about 60 passengers on board, while half way over from Salem Willows to her wharf here, a distance of about two miles, was struck by a sudden but terrific squall about 6 o'clock last night and capsized. Of those on board a large majority are believed to have been rescued by boats from both the Salem and Beverly shores, but no less than six bodies had been recovered at dark.

FOR THE VACATION SEASON.

Subscribers leaving the city for the summer season can have The Daily Press sent to their new address by notifying the buisness office. The address will be changed as often as desired. "Home news" will prove most interesting while you are away.

A Glorious Victory.

If Admirals Sampson and Cervera had held a conference and arranged for the destruction of the Spanish fleet that has been hovering in the protection of Santiago harbor for several weeks, the job could not have been done with neater despatch and effectiveness than what has proved to be the fate of the formidable armada of the Dons.

Happily, no such conditions could prevail. The United States sea warriors had to accomplish the annihilation of Cervera's command by the superior gunnery, ready minds and pluck and endurance that has always characterized the Yankee fighters from the time of Paul Jones to the hour of every hero in the present conflict. So it was glorious to receive news of the victory the day that we were celebrating the declaration of independence—the foundation rock of our government.

The reception of news of a victory for the United States was never marked with greater regard for the eternal fitness of things than the announcement that Admiral Cervera and his Spanish warriors had succumbed to the force of this country—not the force, however, of being a bully, but of being what justice and fairness and courage and strength awards to the country in the natural trend of events.

The Power of Ignorance.

There is a hackneyed proverb that knowledge is power. Sometimes, too, ignorance is power. Certainly it is the sole power which made the current war possible on the part of the Spanish nation. It is the malefic power which has kept Spain lagging so far in the rear in the great race of nations; which has made her people willing to face such enormous odds, and permits the continuance of a struggle which spells bankruptcy and ruin. Dr. E. J. Dillon in The Contemporary Review, gives some illuminating facts apropos of this. We are told that eight-ninths of the Spanish population are absolute illiterates, with no cognizance of any but the bare happenings which occur around them from day to day. They are as innocent of any acquaintance with history, geography and contemporary news as the idiots that may gibber and drivel in their midst. Again in Spain what is called education is purely training in the use of the native language. According to Dr. Dillon, the difference between the lettered and the unlettered "consists less in the greater number of ideas possessed by the educated than in the elegance with which they express the pathetic delusions common to all." This love of sonorous and eloquent phrase has been a bane of parliamentary and governmental life, for it has helped sound to take the place of sense and meaning.

The staying power, then, in Spain, which sustains the bellicose mood, is a dense, universal and almost impenetrable ignorance. Almost, yet not quite. For there is a hard headed and practical element which is beginning to make itself felt. One Spanish writer and statesman, Pi y Margall, has continued his energetic warnings against the folly of a war with this country and other wise Jeremiahs are following his lead. The Catalan merchants and manufacturers, who represent the best practical intelligence of the land, have recently issued a manifesto protesting against the ruinous folly of the government, and the enforced idleness of Catalan workpeople is breeding a riotous spirit. In other provinces there is no intelligent public opinion to which to appeal. Not much can be expected till the inevitable shows itself still more portentously, for there is no "vis a tergo" in the people. That enormous mass of ignorance is immobile, and its power of inertia baffles enlightenment except by a series of overwhelming defeats. Protesting voices can argue effectively only with the thunder of the American cannon.

GENERAL EMILIO AGUINALDO.

General Aguinaldo is the insurgent chief who is operating with Rear Admiral Dewey in the attack upon the Philippines. Aguinaldo is brave and brainy, and what Dewey will do with him if the United States concludes to hold the Philippines is an interesting problem of the future.

The death of Sir Edward Burne-Jones, the celebrated English painter, leaves living but few of that little group of artists who, under the name of preraphaelites, exercised such a powerful influence on the theory and practice of art some 30 years ago. The apostles of preraphaelitism were John Ruskin, the eloquent art writer, and Gabriel Dante Rossetti, the poet painter. Among those beside Burne-Jones who were recruits of the new school and who afterward became famous were Millais, Watts and Whistler. When the preraphaelite teaching began to influence painting, the state of English pictorial art, in spite of such magnificent examples of genius as Turner and Constable, was decadent. It fed for the most part on sentimental prettiness and genre extravagance. The new movement was a revolt against this. It called itself preraphaelite because the early Italian painters who preceded Raphael, if deficient in color and the sensuous splendor of painting, were marked by extreme sincerity, conscience and fidelity to the truth of lines, and these modern imitators strove to inject this vital force into the art of the period. Like all other crusades, it was carried to an extreme in practice and much of the preraphaelite school art was woefully deficient in that which after all must constitute the life of painting—subtlety and strength of color treatment. But it certainly aroused the conscience of painters and wrought a good work in reform. The disciples of the school who won the greatest fame, specially Millais and Burne-Jones, ultimately modified their art methods and became as great in color as in sincerity of draftsmanship.

Don Carlos in an interview has criticised the Spanish government for precipitating the war by not preparing for it, as it had been clear for two years that such a conflict was imminent. Reduced to a phrase this means reproaching Spain for being Spanish. "Manana" (tomorrow) sounds the keynote of Spanish character. The aftersight of Don Carlos is good. What his foresight would have been had he been monarch, not pretender and critic, is another question.

The United States, England and Germany are the only countries where army officers are rigidly honest. The financial scandals in Spain, Italy, Austria, Russia and Norway among military circles have been colossal. Grand Duke Nicholas during the Turco-Russian war only escaped Siberia for his robbery of the military chest because he was the emperor's brother.

Nicaragua and Costa Rica on declaring peace have disbanded the larger part of their armies. This looks as if sane and law abiding theories were beginning to find their way into the practice of the turbulent Spanish-American republics.

Four Plainfield Young Men Arrested and Fined $3.80 Each.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 5.—Five young men, four of them from Plainfield, and one from South River, were arrested here Sunday afternoon and taken before Justice Storms charged with tearing pickets off of fences and insulting people. They were arrested by Constable Mundy.

One lad, whose name could not be learned, escaped from the Judge's parlor and wasn't seen any more. Sentence was suspended on the lad from South River, but each of the others was fined $3.80. After a good lecture they were allowed to go, and as they left threatened to come back yesterday and "do" the constable and his assistant. But they were not seen

Education Makes a Strong Country.

The meeting at Trinity Reformed church Sunday evening was given up to a service of Christian patriotism. An address was given by State Superintendent of Schools Charles J. Baxter, in which he compared the worth of education in making a nation as seen between the United States and the Phillippines, in the latter country only about thirty-five per cent of the people possessing any kind of education. Mr. Baxter made some telling points, and the address throughout deserved a much larger audience than filled the church, the smallness of which was due to the excessive heat.

Flag Swung to the Breeze.

There was a gathering of friends at the home of Joseph M. Hawkins, of LaGrande avenue, yesterday morning. A handsome large American flag, which was made by Mrs. Hawkins' mother, and given to him, was swung to the breeze. The flag, all wrapped up, was hung out on a rope extending from the house to a neighboring tree and then allowed to fall. It was filled with small flags which were kept by the guests as souvenirs.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of the Daily Press.)

Dunellen, June 5.—Last Sunday afternoon Rev. Mr. Woodruff, pastor of the Scotch Plains M. E church, made an excellent address before the scholars of the M. E. church Sunday-school.

Fourth of July was celebrated at this place yesterday afternoon in a lively manner under the auspices of Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M. The scene of the festivities were on North avenue near the terminus of the trolley and during the afternoon the grounds were thronged with people from Plainfield and the surrounding towns. One of the features of the progamme was an address by Prof. T. H. Roberts, of New York. Following the address came the various races. The one-mile bicycle race and the one-mile boys' bicycle race were run together. Bert Taylor won the race and Chris. Sorensen came in second. The prizes consisted of medals. Walter Bodine won the egg race which followed and was presented with an oak stand. The next contest was putting the shot backward. This was won by Theodore Apgar, and he received a rocking chair. The 100 yards dash was won by Ernest Peters, while the potato race was won by George Richardson, with Frank Humpstone second. The winner secured $1 and the second man 50 cents. Following the races and contests a general good time was enjoyed. There was dancing, etc. The refreshment stands all did a good business and the affair throughout was a great success. Owing to the rainy weather last evening the display of fireworks was postponed. The rain appeared early enough to send most of the people to places of shelter. The committee having the matter in charge consisted of Frank Humpstone, chairman; J. Newton Apgar, secretary; L. Schneider, treasurer; Wm. Schiveley, H. H. Vail.

During the last few days there has been as many as twenty families leaving town for the summer. Before the sewer beds were located near the borough people from the city were accustomed to spend a portion of the summer in the borough. Not so any more.

The Borough Council will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening. The Council met and adjourned last evening, as many desired to celebrate the Fourth.

Mrs. Strickland and her son, of Brooklyn, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Day have returned home.

In spite of the attractions yesterday many Dunellenites left town for the day, and enjoyed short trips to the mountain and shore.

Most of the school teachers have left town for the summer. Some have gone to the mountains, others to the seashore.

Edward Teel, of the Central Railroad, has been promoted, and now has a run on the Long Branch division.

Daniel Dodge has taken charge of the "Wheelmen's Rest" and is now running the place.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Henry, of Front street, are entertaining relatives from New York.

Last Sunday morning at the M. E. church the Lord's Supper was observed.

The Board of Education will hold a regular meeting next Thursday evening.

Mr. Robinson, of Newark, was the guest of friends in the borough yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 5—There was a fair sized crowd present yesterday to enjoy the Fourth of July festivities arranged by the members of Friendship Council, No. 81, Jr. O. U. A. M. The programme commenced at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and it was nearly 6 o'clock when it was completed. There were two addresses, one by Rev. Frank Fletcher and another by Rev E S. Jamison. Then followed the races and contests. First was the tub race. This was won by Edison Davis with Merrill Larrabee, second; mud race, D. W. Moody, first, Clarence Stofield, second; bicycle race, Frank Schuck, first, Harry Lister, second; wheelbarrow race, J. R. Dunham, first, C. T. Rogers, second; sack race, Theodore Roantree, first, Ogden Meeker, second; barrel race, D. W. Moody, first; shoe race, D. W. Moody first, Ogden Meeker, second; egg race, Charles Day, first, David Cavilier, second. Following the races those present remained on the grounds having a good time until the rain appeared and sent them home. The committee in charge comprised Chas. S. Day, F. Randolph and Edward Meeker. A $400 display of fireworks was to have been shown last evening, but the rain prevented. The display will be given later.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 5.—The chimney on Taylor's cottage, occupied by George Lyons and family was found to be on fire on Sunday afternoon about 1 o'clock. First Assistant Engineer Frentz was notified, he decided not to send in an alarm but went himself and soon extinguished the fire.

The Borough Council meet in their rooms tomorrow evening.

The trustees of the Baptist church will meet in the church parlors this evening.

Miss Emma Clark has returned from a visit with her sister at Mattawan, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott T. Collins, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday and the Fourth with relatives and friends in town.

A large delegation of Scotch Plains people attended the celebration in Westfield on the Fourth.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Westfield, July 5th—The fourth of July was patriotically celebrated in this place yesterday. At eight o'clock the races and games under direction of Messrs Isaac Seeley and James R. Paterson took place and resulted as follows:—100 yard dash, C. K. Michel first, prize $5; second, George Richardson, prize $2 Potato race, first C. Moffett, prize $3; second James McMahon, prize $1. 220 yards dash for colored runners, first, J. Rich, prize $5; second Winfield Monroe, prize $2. 220 yards dash, C. K. Michel, prize $5; second John Crooke prize $2. Sack race, first Horatio Wraggs, prize $3; William Brooks second, prize $1. Tub race, Charles Embleton first, prize $2; J. Delmar second, $1.50; C. Moffett third, 50c.; C. Mahon fourth, 50c At nine o'clock the bicycle parade started at the depot square and paraded through the principle streets of the town. About three hundred were in line, and the wheels were all artistically decorated. For the best decorated girl's wheel Madona Richie took first prize valued at $4, and for the best boy's decoration Walter Dominick was given a prize of the same value. Miss Florence Cox was dressed to represent Columbia and her costume was so striking that she was awarded first lady's prize, a silver mounted comb and brush. Carle Whitehead and Frank Warnke rode a tandem which represented the battleship Maine. They were awarded second prize. C. A. Denman and J. B. Wilson were awarded prizes for grotesque attire. Directly after the bicycle parade came "Ye Ancient and Horrible Coaching party," and some of the rigs in line were the most dilapidated looking objects of locomotion that have ever been seen in Westfield since the war (war of 1861 63), but one in particular was not only horrible but original, so the owner, Willie Perrine, was awarded the prize, $10 The second prize was captured by Alvin Day, and consisted of a bale of hay and a bag of oats. The judges of the bicycle division were L. M. Whitaker, W. G. Delamater and James O. Clark, of coaching division, Harry E. Knight, Charles Foster and Charles B. Peddie.

At 2 o'clock the members of Central Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., raised their new flag at the corner of Prospect and Broad streets. The oration was delivered by Charles H. Gowan, night city editor of the New York Herald, and was a most patriotic and interesting address. Then came the bicycle races, which were under the direction of A. H. Barnett, winner of the Milburn Irvington road race in 1896, who acted as starter. G. B. Hoagland, of Elizabeth, timer, J. F. Dorval, referee and judge at time Charles Van Buskirk. The mile open proved and easy thing for N. J. Mooney, of Rahway, who led Alfred Springer, of Plainfield, and C. V. Abbott, of Rahway, over the tape in 2:42 1 5. In the one mile handicap Charles Westervelt, of Plainfield, with a handicap of 150 yards, won with P. Laworette, of Plainfield, 90 yards, a close second and N. J. Mooney, scratch man, close up. Time 2:10 The one mile boys race proved easy for Henry V. Cummings, of Plainfield, who won in 2:47 3 5. Albert Schomp, of Plainfield, finished second and Charles Embleton, of Westfield, third. The two-mile handicap was a close finish between Jack Townsend, of the N. J. A. A. C., 60 yards and P. E. Lovereth, of Plainfield, 120 yards, but the Bayonne sprinted in the stretch and crossed the tape too just ahead of the Plainfield boy. N. J. Nooney, of Rahway, scratch man, finished third, time 4:7 2 5. On account of the storm, the pyrotechnic display has been postponed until Thursday evening when it will take place on the Broad street base ball grounds.

ONE OF THE CAPTORS.

W. H. LAWRENCE ASSISTED IN DESTRUCTION OF SPANISH FLEET.

He Was On the Armed Yacht Gloucester Whose Exploit Has Been Heralded All Over the Country.

Among the brave men who fought so valiantly on board the U. S. S. "Gloucester," under the command of Lieutenant Commander Wainwright, in the destruction of Cervera's fleet off Santiago Sunday, was William H. Lawrence, of Sherman avenue, this city. The story of the great bravery of the little armed yacht, formerly J. P. Morgan's private floating palace, the "Corsair," has been heard from one end of the country to the other. The men who fought with the brave young officer, the last to leave the battleship, "Maine" when she was blown up in Havana Harbor, have all become heroes.

The plucky little "Gloucester" is reported somewhat damaged by the despatches from the newspapermen who were at the scene of the conflict in her unequal contest with the two Spanish torpedo boat destroyers, Morro Castle, and the Spanish cruiser, Viscaya, but there is no report of any of her seamen being killed and wounded.

A Country Celebration.

The Fourth was patriotically celebrated at Voehl's summer residence, known as "Sunset Cottage." During the day a ball game was played in which many of the ladies took part and in many cases outclassed the gentlemen. The score at the end of the game was 10 to 7 in favor of the home team and against the Bayonne club. During the evening a display of fireworks was given that could be seen for miles about. Fifty children and grandchildren were present and many invited guests. Dancing whiled the hours away.

Robert Rand's Accident.

Robert Rand, of West Front street, wears a bandage around his head today because a heavy sign fell on him Friday and cut a deep gash just above his temple. Mr. Rand undertook to adjust the sign over the doorway of his store when the fastenings broke and it fell.

—Court Pride, A. O. F., will hold its meeting this evening.

LINCOLN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Lincoln, July 5.—The Central Railroad Company are maintaining a dangerous grade crossing at this place without a flagman to warn teams of an approaching train which cannot be seen coming west on account of the steel works obstructing the view. While a bell is in position to give an alarm, many times it cannot be heard on account of the noise made by Lehigh Valley trains which pass near about the same time. With very little expense to the company, the agent employed at the depot by Mayor Drake could be hired to flag all trains, ank thereby make life and limb more secure for pedestrians and team passing this way.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

Shoes that were Meant to Hurt.

The young man entered the bootmaker's establishment hastily, after having glanced cautiously round to see that no one was about. He hurried past the assistant to the farther end of the shop, where he produced a small brown paper parcel from under his coat.

"See these slippers?" he asked. "I want a good pair of heels put on."

"But—er, h'm!—these are very old slippers, very much worn," objected the man. "They will hardly stand heeling."

"I only want them for one occasion," replied the young man. "Only for a minute or two. But I want a good solid pair of heels, hard leather."

"They will hardly be a creditable pair," continued the assistant, "even if you only wear them for a few minutes. Certainly a cheap new pair would be——"

"I'm not going to spend money on a new pair for that," said the owner, doggedly. "I want some good, thick, big, hard heels on these—you can make them of iron, or stone, or anything you like, so long as they are hard."

The man stared at him, in doubt whether his customer was in full possession of his senses.

"You don't catch on," said the customer, looking round the shop and speaking in a low voice. "I'll tell you what I want 'em for. I was courting a pretty girl, and Black cut me out. They are to be married to-morrow, and I'm going to throw a pair of old slippers at him—for luck, you know—and if I don't give him something to remember his wedding day by, you can set me down as a heathen Chinee."

When He Fell in Love.

"Joseph," said Mrs. Hunkerly, "I want you to tell me truly when you first began to love me."

"It was at the ball the Upperton's gave," he replied.

"Ah, yes," she sighed. "I remember it well. What a fine time we had there! How lovely the music seemed as we floated round, and how delightful everything in the world seemed to be. Do you know that I first began to really and truly love you that same night."

"I thought you did, darling," he answered.

"Yes," she went on, "I couldn't help thinking how much handsomer you were than any of the the other men, and how noble you seemed. Tell me, dearest, what you remember best about me as I appeared that night. Was it the dress I wore that made you fall in love with me, or did you happen to discover then that I was beautiful?"

"I don't remember what kind of a dress you had on," he answered, "and I had discovered long before that you were beautiful. But you were so hoarse that night that you couldn't talk."

Jules Verne's Life.

The great romancer, Jules Verne, is nearly seventy years of age, but enjoys robust health and spirits, living on a diet of eggs and herbs in Amiens, France. He has written six books more than he is years old. His habit is to rise early and write till eleven o'clock. After luncheon, he goes to a library, where he reads all the newspapers. He declares that the hardest work he ever does is the reading up of travels in order to write his wonderful stories, for, strange to say, he has himself traveled but little.

Clouding Glass.

To cloud a glass for the sake of protection purposes, as in a bathroom, and yet to preserve the light, a man who works in glass says that it is done with a solution of Epson salts and vinegar applied with a brush. This should give a frosted look that becomes very durable if it is gone over at once with Damar or white varnish.

Macaroni.

Macaroni is recommended as a dish that should be frequently on the table, and suggests that its service between seasons when other foods are somewhat scarce is especially useful. The wheat flour used in its compounding is more digestible in this form than when served in bread. Much of the macaroni offered at the average family table is dry and tough. In its preparation a little care only is needed to prevent these undesirable qualities. It should be boiled rapidly and not allowed to stand in hot water on the range, as is too often done. When it is tender after its quick boiling in salted water (and it should be put in when the water has reached the boiling point), it is turned into a colander and cold water run quickly through to rinse and blanch it. It is then put into a baking-dish, and if cheese is to be used this is the moment to grate it over in a fairly thick layer. Afterwards cover with a white sauce made with a tablespoon each of flour and butter stirred smooth into a cup of hot milk. Pour this over the macaroni and cover with a crust of fine cracker crumbs, which have been slightly moistened with hot butter. The cracker crumbs will be found to be better than bread crumbs, and the compound beneath should be creamy, light, and altogether toothsome.

Soap-Bubble Party.

The chief requirement for a soap bubble party is that the table shall be one which cannot be harmed by water and soap. As marble tables are not common, a wooden one may be used, or two or three if needed—long, narrow ones to be preferred, and if they are other than the kitchen tables, they may be protected by a blanket, over which a sheet is pinned under the table to keep it tight. Bowls of paper or light tin basins, each with its accompanying pipe, are provided. For the suds a strong, good yellow soap is the best, a few drops of glycerine dropped in each bowl adding to the durability of the bubble. Various contests are made the excuse for the prizes which are provided. A favorite one where the company is made up of adults is to see who can blow the most bubbles in a given time. Prizes, too, for the bubble which remains the longest are given, and sometimes one for the bubble which will float the highest. Plenty of extra clay pipes should be provided, as breakages are apt to be pretty constant. This is an excellent amusement for an impromptu evening at a summer resort, and for a children's party it is also useful, although the children should be warned of the nature of the entertainment, that too dainty dressing may be avoided.

Fashion's Fancies.

This season's hats are veritable gardens, violets, lilies of the valley, morning-glories, accacia and roses being used in profusion.

The pointed shawl cape is the ultra-fashionable one of the season. For carriage wear the materials used most are black chantilly lace, with burnt orange liberty silk.

A pretty effect in hats is of black fancy braid, with double brim and soft crown, overlaid with sequins. At the side are white plumes held with shirred rosettes of three tones of watermelon pink, and fastened with a jewelled buckle.

One neat design in lawn is a gray ground, with three diagonal white stripes, about a quarter of an inch wide, spaced so as to give a checkerboard effect. These unite to form diamond checks, and on the surface are sprinkled carelessly tiny designs of flower sprigs or conventional figures.

Something Like a Tooth.

"I want yer to take out this tooth of mine," said an Ulsterman to a dentist.

The man sat down, and in a short time the dentist had his instrument applied to the offending tooth. But every time he was about to pull it the patient shut his mouth. The dentist whispered to his assistant to get a pin and go quietly behind the chair, and dash the pin right into the calf of the man's leg. Uttering a yell of pain, the man opened his mouth wide. Taking advantage of the opportunity, the dentist gave one pull and out flew the tooth. After the pain had somewhat abated, the man, not in the least suspecting the trick, said, rubbing the calf of his leg:—

"Lor', but that tooth of mine had a tremendous long root."

A Cool Waist for Hot Weather.

With the approach of the real hot weather many persons will adopt the style of blouse or waist with the neck cut low, either in a V or round or square. A dainty blouse made in sprigged lawn is suitable for morning wear. The material is made quite full back and front and is confined at the waist beneath a leather belt.

The neck is finished with a large sailor collar, edged with white lace. The regulation shirt waist sleeve has a small turned-up cuff. This style would look pretty made up in any soft goods, challie, silk, and many other materials making very suitable models.

Coat and Skirt Costume.

A stylish costume for travelling has the skirt made to fit snugly over the hips, forming two pleats at the back. The lower part is ornamented with a pretty braided design. This form of adornment is also carried out on the jacket, which fits snugly at the back, the belt passing through the darts and fastening underneath.

The front of the jacket is loose fitting and has two small square revers near the top; below these the coat fastens with three large fancy buttons. This gown would be pretty made of some thin woolen material. A smart Alpine of coarse brown straw trimmed with plaid silk and quills gives a jaunty finish.

Mainz. Wegen der bedeutenden Verheerungen, die der Rebstichler in den Weinbau treibenden Gemeinden der Provinz anrichtet, hat das Ministerium angeordnet, daß die Schulknaben der vier oberen Jahrgänge zur Vertilgung des Rebstichlers in den Weinbergen herangezogen werden dürfen.

Offenbach. Die landwirthschaftlichen Genossenschaften haben für ihre 3000 Beamten eine besondere Versicherungskasse errichtet und die Pension und die Wittwenversicherung gewährt; außerdem hat der allgemeine Verband der deutschen landwirthschaftlichen Genossenschaften eine Beamtenwohlfahrtskasse als Hilfsanstalt für Genossenschaftsbeamte aus Vereins- und gemeinnützigen Mitteln gegründet.

Bayern.

München. Vom 16. bis 28. Mai erfolgten in Bayern täglich Hagelschläge, die namentlich dem in Blüthe stehenden Winterroggen viel Schaden zufügten; vom 22. bis 28. Mai wurden 275 Gemeinden betroffen.—In Mittersendling ist seit der Mehrung der industriellen Anlagen—es bestehen jetzt schon mehr als 30 Fabriken—der Güterverkehr derart gewachsen, daß die vorhandene Güterhalle nicht mehr genügt; diese soll nun im Laufe des nächsten Jahres abgebrochen und eine neue große Ladehalle auf der gegenüberliegenden, den Fabriken näher gelegenen Seite mit einem Kostenaufwande von 50,000 Mark erbaut werden.

Bayreuth. Der 24jährige hessische Hofschauspieler Camille Ernest von Darmstadt, gebürtig aus Lyon, hat sich mittelst Morphium vergiftet. Er besuchte hier die Wagner'sche Spielbildungsanstalt, um sich zum Heldentenor auszubilden, entsprach aber nicht den gestellten Anforderungen und erhielt gleichzeitig seine Entlassung vom Hoftheater in Darmstadt. Das mag das Motiv zu seiner That gewesen sein.

Kronach. Wie von hier gemeldet wird, ist der amerikanische Admiral Sampson ein Schwager des Herrn Bezirksarztes Schöpp dahier. Er ist vermählt mit der Schwester der Frau Bezirksarzt.

Nürnberg. Dieser Tage wurde hier die 13. Hauptversammlung des Verbandes reisender Kaufleute abgehalten. Der Verband zählt in 68 Sektionen mehr als 8000 Mitglieder und besitzt ein Vermögen von 1,200,000 Mark. Neben anderen Kassen wurde eine eingeschriebene Krankenkasse am 1. Oktober 1890 gegründet; sie hat bisher 214,843 Mark für Krankengelder, Arznei und Heilmittel, an Begräbnißkosten 9676 Mark gezahlt. Das Vermögen des Wittwen- und Waisenfonds beträgt 683,961 Mark. Seit dem Jahre 1893 sind 164 Wittwen mit lebenslänglicher Rente bedacht worden.

Passau. Die ungarische Fluß- und Seeschifffahrtsgesellschaft, welche hier geräumige Lagerhäuser erbaut hat, ist kürzlich zum ersten Male mit einem auf der Bergfahrt begriffenen kolossalen Remorqueur an unseren Donauufern gelandet. Der Dampfer hat etwa 1900 indizirte Pferdekräfte, ist nach den neuesten technischen Erfahrungen gebaut und war mit einer Fracht von 55 Waggons Roggen und Weizen beladen.

Roßdorf. Im nahen Walde wurde die Leiche des 60jährigen Steinbrechers Jakob Schrüfer aus Wernsdorf aufgefunden. Es liegt unzweifelhaft Raubmord vor. Die Leiche zeigte eingeschlagenen Schädel und Strangulirungen. Schrüfer hatte, als man ihn hier zuletzt sah, mit einer größeren Summe Geldes geprahlt.

Straubing. Der 14 Jahre alte Weinwirthssohn Fritz Hafeneder, der seinem Vater 1100 Mark entwendet hatte, um damit zu verduften, wurde am Bahnhof durch die Polizei kurz vor Abfahrt des Zuges aus dem Koupe geholt und in's elterliche Haus zurückgebracht.

Zwiesel. Bei einem Feuer in Langdorf, welches die Anwesen des Söldners Sixt und des Bauern Oswald in Asche legte, fand ein Kind von fünf Jahren in den Flammen seinen Tod. Brandstiftung wird allgemein angenommen.

Don't Look.

Very Dangerous, But If Left To Itself It is Death—A Plainfield Case.

There are some diseases which do not arouse our sympathy—the disease is not deep, and therefore our sympathy is shallow. But we often make serious mistakes—such as calling a backache a light affliction. Backache means kidney trouble every time, and if you don't drive it away it will never go of its own accord without taking you with it. But it does not continue simply as a backache. Now don't you think a backache dangerous? We do, but we must add just a few words and they are, Doan's Kidney Pills cure every time and all stages of kidney disease, but it is always best to keep as far from the danger line as possible, and the cure is easier.

Mr. S. J. Conklin, Traveling Salesman for a New York Confectionery House, living at 134 W. Front street, says:—"I have been subject to kidney complaint for 6 or 7 years. My symptoms were, pain in back and the hips which at times I felt in my side; if I sat for any length of time in one position when I rose, a sharp, shooting pain struck me through the small of my back and caused me great agony. I was also troubled with a bladder difficulty. I tried different kinds of kidney cures but received little or no relief. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. On using this I felt great relief and procured a second box. I have now taken 3 altogether and am wonderfully improved. I am troubled very little with backache and the bladder trouble has been greatly benefited. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and accomplished all that is claimed for them."

CASS FOR PRESIDENT.

HALF CENTURY SINCE HIS NOMINATION FOR THAT OFFICE.

He Was One of Those Great Americans Whose Fate It Was to be First in Their Day in the Hearts and Esteem of Their Countrymen, Yet Missed the Presidency

The fiftieth anniversary of the nomination of Lewis Cass to the Presidency reminds us of when annexation was an issue in American politics. General Cass was one of those great Americans whose fate it was to be first in their day in the hearts and esteem of their countrymen and yet who were never destined to reach the Presidency. He was a candidate in 1844 for the Presidential nomination which fell to James K. Polk; again when the annexation of Texas was the issue and once more in 1852 while representing Michigan in the United States Senate.

The northwest is said to be the foster child of the republic, and if so, General Lewis Cass was its putative father. A great portion of his life was devoted to introducing settlers, popular government, modern habits of life and legal methods of procedure into the nve deserves an abiding place in the history of American statesmen.

Politically considered Cass like Henry Clay and James G. Blaine was from the standpoint of the statesman better qualified by experience and attainments for the executive office than any Americanizing this immense region he states north of the Ohio River. In man of his day. He was also the man for whom the people would doubtless have voted if the choice had been theirs, but he was apparently too timid, too fine-grained and too scholarly a man to find favor with the caucus and the ring. He was a jurist and pleader of national reputation, a soldier who had seen service in the war with England under General Hull, an administrator of affairs first as Governor of Michigan and later as Secretary of War and finally as Minister to France. As a statesman whom Lord Brougham thought it necessary to cross swords with Cass in his day and throughout an extended career proved to be a prudent cautious legislator who could have brought ripe experience and rare attainments to the Presidency, had he been elected in 1848.

The defeat of Cass and the election of Taylor are principally interesting now because the annexation of new territory and the desire of the people for expansion and for a foreign policy different to that of the whimpering whigs, was the chief cause which told in the National Democratic Convention. Cass was a man of argument and of peace. Taylor was rather a man of action than of argument who favored the Texas war and who despised these metaphysical niceties and ethical principles which are usually the stock in trade of the peace at any price party. Cass had negotiated no fewer than twenty-two treaties through which were secured the cession to the United States by the various Indian tribes what is now the great northwest. Taylor, too, had led the Texas campaign and had brought into the Union but in the opposite direction, viz., the Southwest, a country as large as France. Southern interests were then predominant and though Cass was the plumed knight of peace chiefly from the circumstance that he had made effective reply to Lord Brougham in the Senate, and had resisted the English right to search American vessels, nevertheless General Taylor's policy won the day and he was elected. On the first attempt of Cass to reach the Presidency he was not an active candidate. His name had been put forward by his friends, and everywhere throughout the Union there was a general acquiescence as to his fitness, but Polk triumphed at the convention. Cass then took the stump vigorously for him throughout the canvass. In the following January Cass was elected to the Senate. But previous to the second attempt Mr. Cass made no secret of his Presidential intentions and in order to fit himself for the campaign he resigned as Senator for Michigan to thus meet his fate a second time. He was then 66 years of age and had accumulated a large private fortune. Cass was then probably the richest man in the Union and had for an American attracted unusual attention in Paris by the sumptuous nature of his living, and by his social entertainments. Seeing the failure of his earlier attempt, and how by following the weak-kneed foreign policy of the Whigs he had been superceded by a dark horse like Polk on the previous occasion, Cass now made himself the special champion of the famous "Fifty-four, forty or fight!" demand which a statesman than a mere politician he tickled the hearts and aroused the highest patriotism of the people throughout the homes of the northwest. He had early seen the importance of Americans possessing Canada, and in December, 1845, Senator Cass had introduced a resolution similar to that of Senator Chandler's in October, 1895, holding up the spectre of war, and insisting that nothing but concessions or sensible precautions could prevent armed collision with Great Britain. From henceforth he was the leader of the "fifty-four fifties" or the lingoes as they would now be called. Accordingly in the campaign of 1848 Cass became the hot favorite of the Democratic party. But being more of was defeated, the question of "Squatter Sovereignity," and incidentally the hostility of British interests having contributed to the confusion or disruption of the Cass contingent. There were "Barnburners" and "Free Soilers" and "Cotton Whigs" and "Conscience Whigs" and "Henekers" and regular "Democrats" and "Roundheads," while the great central facts stood out against Cass that he had wabbled with Webster on the doctrine of annexation in 1844 and that he had flirted with the question of State's rights, but above all was Van Buren's opposition.

It was the often-expressed opinion of William H. Seward that Van Buren never committed but one fatal error in politics, and that was when, nursing resentment at his failure to secure the nomination in 1844, he permitted a wing of his party to nominate him as a hopeless candidate in 1848, thereby entailing just what was intended to be entailed, the defeat of the Democratic candidate.

General Cass was never greater than in the hour of his defeat by General Taylor in 1848. He looked upon himself merely as the representative of his party, and took his defeat with perfect composure and without resentment. It was the party which was defeated, and not Cass, the man, in his opinion, and the simple dignity with which, after having served for a time in the Cabinet of Buchanan, he retired from public life to his home in Michigan, was a beautiful indication of the man's real greatness.

In the Senate, however, he wielded a powerful influence, and with Henry Clay opposed the claims of the southern states to such an extent that Cass will always be considered one of those great Americans who built up this nation and who furthered policies calculated to strengthen it in the North and to free it from the cause of slavery in the South.

Webster, Clay and Cass are a trio of American statesmen who graced the Senate or the office of the Secretary of State and who even if none of them ever attained to the Presidency, worthily maintained the traditions of this country a generation ago. He was not a Washington in National significance, nor a Lincoln in Administration, nor a Grant in arms, but he was a true American who stood up against Lord Brougham and Clarendon for the rights of his country. He was a man of sound judgment. Physically he had a large figure, with massive head, firm mouth, and features that bespoke earnestness, animation, Americanism and personal and political integrity.

The career of Cass is the more appropriate study just now because some of the difficulties he confronted and some of the policies he advocated may become of live interest as a result of the present war.

Some Notes of Interest.

It is a curious fact that the honeybee was never known in the United States till imported from England.

Prof. Reginald A. Fessenden of the Western University of Pennsylvania has just completed a portable X-ray apparatus for use by the surgeons in the field during the war. The apparatus is as large as an unabridged dictionary and will weigh about twenty-five pounds. It is to be operated by a gas-motor of like weight, and the generator will be one of the smallest ever employed in practical work. The apparatus will supply X-rays of sufficient quantity and intensity to enable the surgeons to see through the body, and should prove a valuable adjunct to the equipment of the field hospitals.

A few facts regarding the Whitehead torpedo may be of interest at the present time. This instrument carries 220 pounds of wet gun-cotton, and weighs ready for service 1,160 pounds. Its maximum length is 16 feet 5 inches, and its greatest diameter is 17.7 inches. At a speed of 28 knots per hour it has a range of about 850 yards. The torpedo is driven by compressed air at a pressure of 1,350 pounds per square inch, which operates a three-stage engine.

As a result of experiments by chemists and engineers of the British Admiralty, it has been decided to supply all ships equipped with water-tube boilers with delicate hydrometers and nitrate of silver solution for the detection of the presence of salt in the feed-circuits. The presence of salt in the water-tube boilers has long been a cause of much annoyance to naval engineers, and it is hoped that by frequently testing the density and presence of salt in the water, produced by evaporation, or formed in the main condenser, it will be possible to keep boilers and fittings in proper condition.

He Simply Directs.

There is a man-cook in London who is said to make an income of over $10,000 a year. He is not attached to any one hotel or household, but goes from house to house during the London season. Early in the evening he sets out from his own home in his brougham and drives to the house of some rich person who is giving a dinner-party. Arrived there he goes at once to the kitchen and tastes every one of the dishes that are to appear on the table, ordering a little more sugar to be put into this entree, a pinch of herbs here, a dash of salt there, and when everything suits his palate, he pockets his fee of five guineas and drives away to the house of another dinner-party giver, where he goes through the same process with the dishes there. He visits many houses each night, and in some instances has carefully arranged the dinner beforehand, merely looking in at the last moment to see that his instructions have been properly carried out.

He Didn't Get Wet.

A Scotchman was once advised to take shower baths. A friend explained to him how to fit up one by the use of a cistern and colander, and Sandy accordingly set to work and had the thing done at once. Subsequently he was met by the friend who had given him the advice, and, being asked how he enjoyed the bath, "Man," said he, "it was fine! I liked it rale weel, and kept mysel' quite dry, too." Being asked how he managed to take the shower and yet remain quite dry, he replied: "Dod, ye dinna, surely, think I was sae daft as stand below the water without an umbrella!"

PREDICTS TRIUMPH.

WHAT CRISPI, THE STATESMAN, SAYS OF THE AMERICAN IDEA.

Character of the Man and How He Rose to Power by Persistent Effort—His Energy Has Checked Those Conditions in Italy that Caused the Decay of Spain

(By Thomas Burke Grant.)

When Spain declared war against the United States there was one among the statesmen of Europe of whose fervid appreciation of America there cannot be the least doubt from the very nature of his utterance. That was Signor Crispi, the man who has checked those conditions in Italy that have caused the decay and degeneracy of Spain.

Crispi said: "The present war is an epoch-making event in the march of human freedom; that the prophecy of De Toqueville is being realized and the institutions of America are revolutionizing those in Europe." Of course to Americans there cannot be anything essentially new in this statement which is nevertheless gratifying. We know it is true in the present instance but the purblind tory of Europe hardly cares yet to admit it. The agrarian noble of Germany who feels the sceptre of power passing from him to the masses of the German people, wants to shut out our American produce. He thus pays unconscious tribute to America in this effort to keep a roof upon the Schloss. The stolid reader of the ponderous articles in the London Times may sneer at the Sunday paper, or at the sensational journalism of America, but under the very shadow of St. Paul's these prevailing features of America are making headway and are gradually converting into back numbers the once leading journals of London. Even the sacred precincts of the peerage are being invaded, and the British duchesses will soon have to form a combination in order to exclude the nervy, bouncing, magnetic American girl, who is never more charming than when she dashes down every mildewed banner that snobbery and self efficiency have fenced around fashionable exclusiveness.

Yes, Crispi is right, we are for better or worse revolutionizing Europe, and no power on earth can stop the process. To do so is our divinest destiny. It was in order that we should do this that the all-wise Creator of the world placed us in the middle with the civilization of Europe to the East of us, and that of the Orient to the West, our arms like those of Alexander extending into both. America has only to be true to herself and to the precepts of the fathers of the Republic, in order to bring thrones and crowns, and musty constitutions crumbling to her feet. It is greatly to Signor Crispi's credit that he has discovered and what is more that he has conceded to us so manifest a destiny. The circumstance clearly shows that the Italian statesman is keeping his observation eye in good order, and that he has thoroughly divined the tread of events.

And on the occasion of the first foreign war that the United States has had in eighty-six years, any such forecast cannot but be regarded as highly flattering to all Americans. It is particularly so from a man like Crispi, whose career is an inspiration and who takes high ranks, not so much as an Italian dictator, but a son of "Those men whose hearts were torches For Freedom's quenchless fire."

As a prophet Crispi has not only the rare distinction of being honored in his own country and in his own time but his prophetic forecasts have invariably been realized. Many years ago when Italy was under the joint tutelage of Austria and France, when her internal divisions were a series of petty duchies like Parma, Modena and Tuscany, when the notorious Bomba was ruling at Naples, when Mazzini was a political pamphleteer starving on Fulham Road in London and Garibaldi was a guerrilla chief at Caprera; and when all that was rich and righteous and respectable in the world frowned upon the Italian patriots and their cause, this man who to-day predicts the proud destiny of America, then also forecasted a new and United Italy. He lived too to place the capstone on a noble idea through Italy taking her place as an integer in the Great Triple Alliance.

He has driven out the banditti and foiled every pest against the unity of his native country that was nursed by Princes at their leisure. When others were blind Crispi was wide awake and far seeing. When Mazzini was appealing to Charles Albert in the pathetic words, "Sire, unite us," Crispi saw that union was impossible without a national spirit to sustain it. He therefore set about creating the national spirit by going from town to town as a tramp editor turning up with a paper in Milan, or in Malta, or Palermo; making a most scanty living as a writer or delivering a lecture on a political discourse to all within sound of his voice. The great world did not then as now heed what Crispi said, but Crispi's accuracy and judgment and unwavering self confidence were then manifest features of the character of the man who was preaching the political regeneration of Italy at night and manufacturing bombs in the daytime. The wondering Italians, taught from youth to respect orthodoxy whether in politics or religion asked him on some of these occasions, "Are you a follower of Mazzini?" He answered, "No." "Are you a Garibaldian then?" "No more," was the reply. "What are you?" was the last despairing interrogatory of those spokesmen in the crowds who tried to confound the lecturer. "I am Crispi," was the remarkable response. "But Crispi is nobody," they argued. "I call myself 'To-morrow,'" was the embryo statesman's rejoinder. And Crispi's glorious "to-morrow" came in God's good time.

Viewed in whatever light we may Crispi is as much a marvel among men, as is the country he loves a phenomenon among resurrected and united people. Having forced a new Italy as from the old scrap iron of petty warring states, Crispi's fortitude and introspection has preserved her from falling asunder again. What the nature of those services are can be gathered from the tribute paid Crispi recently by a member of the College of Cardinals—"His (Crispi's) knowledge of our affairs excites the astonishment of all of us; it is like intuition. He knows us better than we know ourselves, and the black anarchy as well as the red." The spirit of the "black anarchy" has pursued Italy's Grand Old Man so relentlessly that Bismarck once jokingly observed to him—"I have always believed that I was the most hated man in my time but perhaps I have been presumptious in this, for Your Excellency pushes me very hard."

The pleasant prediction of a man whose prophetic observations give him unique authority may well buoy up all loyal Americans at such a crisis; and the great Italian statesman whose genius together with the smile of Queen Marguerite are said "to be the two bonds that bind Italy together" need have no doubt but his generous and encouraging remarks are destined to make him and his country many warm friends in the United States.

And They Cured Her, Too.

A physician has had an amusing experience. The other day a somewhat distracted mother brought her daughter to see him. The girl was suffering from what is known among many people as "general lowness"; there was nothing much the matter with her, but she was pale and listless, and did not care about eating or doing anything. The doctor, after due consultation, prescribed for her a glass of claret three times a day with her meals. The mother was somewhat deaf, but apparently heard all he said, and bore off her daughter, determined to carry out the prescription to the very letter.

In ten days' time they were back again, and the girl looked quite a different creature. She was rosy-cheeked, smiling, and the picture of health. The doctor congratulated himself upon the keen insight he had displayed in his diagnosis of the case. "I am glad to see that your daughter is so much better," he said.

"Yes," exclaimed the excited and grateful mother, "thanks to you, doctor! She has had just what you ordered. She has eaten carrots three times a day since we were here, and sometimes oftener—and once or twice uncooked—and now look at her!"

The medical man was so overcome with laughter that, for some minutes, he could not explain the mistake.

Snatched Him Baldheaded.

An infirm old gentleman was found by a rogue moaning sadly for something lost. "What is the matter, sir?" said the fellow.

"Oh, sir, a villain has just stolen my new white hat from my head, and run away with it!"

"Why don't you run after him?" asked the rogue.

"I can't run at all; I can hardly walk."

"You can't," said the rogue; "and he stole your hat?"

"Yes, he did, sir."

"And you can't run?"

"Not I."

"Nor catch him?"

"No."

"Then here goes for your wig," and accordingly, pulling off the thatch from his head, the fellow went off like a shot from a rifle, and the old gentleman was left as bald as a coot.

Centenaries of 1898.

This is to be a year of centenaries France will have three—the centenary of Jasmin, the barber poet, who was born at Agen in 1798, and died in 1864; that of Auguste Comte, founder of the Positivist School, who died in 1857; and that of Jules Michelet, the famous historian, who was born on August 21st, 1798. There will be two centenary festivals in Italy, in memory of the poet Leopardi and of Savonarola. Besides the centenary celebration of the independence of the Canton of Vaud, the Swiss will commemorate the fourth centenary of Hans Holbein, the great painter. On May 21st, Portugal will commemorate the fourth centenary of the explorer Vasco de Gama.

She Does Not Cycle.

The German Empress has expressed herself against the proposed reform of women's clothing, saying that she is quite content with the present fashions, which are sensible and can be modelled according to everyone's taste. Her Majesty is one of the few Royal ladies who do not cycle. She considers it a very ungraceful sport for women, and the lady cyclists she has seen in Germany have not impressed her by their varied costumes.

A Singular Ship.

The most singular ship in the world is the Polyphemus, of the British Navy. It is simply a long steel tube, deeply buried in the water, the deck rising only 4ft. above the sea. It carries no masts or sails, and is used as a ram and torpedo-boat.

Rose leaves not only furnish us with the most delightful of perfumes, but are also medicinally employed as a tonic and astringent.

Cloth Made from Wood.

Cloth is now being successfully made from wood. Strips of fine-grained wood are boiled and crushed between rollers, and the filaments, having been carded into parallel lines, are spun into threads, from which cloth can be woven in the usual way.

AN INGLORIOUS ENDING.

ford was unable to stand the heavy expense of his crack team and had to weaken it by the loss of several of the best men. Then others were absent for other reasons. As a result the Crescents were greatly weakened.

The visiting team was from the New Brunswick Athletic Association, largely composed of the same players that met the Crescents last year on the New Brunswick Y. M. C. A. team The afternoon was a good one for baseball although a gentle shower came that drove the spectators to cover and cooled off the players.

Both teams scored in the first inning and then began the misery which, however, was decidedly exciting. The New Brunswick boys did not win the game, "Jack" Cooney lost it. Now, Cooney was not the only man to make errors, Ed Eriksen made six, but his were the kind that told. He persisted in throwing the ball far over Cavanaugh's head and allowing the base runner, with several who preceded him, to score before the ball could be fielded back. Eriksen was called suddenly to take Lederer's place at second. He had had no practice and errors were the inevitable consequence.

The Crescents, that is "Neeley" Collins and the rest of the original team, tried hard and overcame the lead only to lose it again. MacLaughlin pitched a strong game after the first two innings and at no time was hit hard. Errors and plenty of them were the primary feature of the game.

The individual scores were as follows:

A NEW WRINKLE IN MANICURE.

The Athletic and Sporting Girl is Responsible for It.

Dainty, rose tinted finger nails are at an end. Finger nails that have shown a high polish and a delicate point of nail are past and gone—that is among the ultra-fashionables. And it is the athletic, the sporting girl, who has brought it all about.

She—this vigorous young woman who is out in the air at all times and is setting the pace for the girls of this generation—exhibits now a hand with a nail that is cut squarely and unromantically, and shows but a dull polish, if, indeed, it shows a polish at all. Never a suspicion of coloring matter is on this nail. It has been treated only with soap and water, and its pink is a faint one beside the deep pink that was so popular a year ago, or even this past winter.

Thus the finger nail of the modern girl is very prosaic compared to what it was and looks more like a boy's than it does her very own.

Golf has been the power that has banished the dainty finger nail and put this new, boyish appearing nail in its place. For in mild feminine sports the pointed nail of high polish was all very well, but the girls found it did not do when it came to golf. The high polish was destroyed in short order, the point got in the way and frequently, during an exciting stroke broke on one or the other of the golf sticks.

This was not to be endured. The golf girl is, before all else, very practical. She made up her mind at once that the nail she had long been so proud of and had manicured so faithfully must go, and in its place she made this new nail the fashion.

It is not an artistic nail, but it serves its purpose, and is being quite thoroughly adopted by the girls that delight in games.—New York Herald.

CANADA SAYS "SHAKE."

An Anglo-Saxon Postal Card from Over the Border.

One of the signs of the times from across the border comes in the form of a postal card, designed to show Canadian good feeling toward us, if it also shows lack of careful observation of our national ensign.

At one end of the card on the address side, printed in bright red and blue, appears the British flag, crossed with a flag which, though it has fifteen stripes and thirty stars, is evidently intended for "Old Glory." Above the flags appears a map of the western hemisphere, and below sit Britannia and Columbia side by side, with the eagle and the lion at their feet. Britannia holds her trident, and at her side appear two military masts with guns and rigging. Above, two hands are clasped, with the motto: "One aim, one goal." Between the flags are the words "Anglo-Saxon," and below all, "Gloria Mundi."—New York Sun.

Questioning is Not Conversation.

The man who imagines that the art of conversation consists in asking questions spoils conversation as much as the man who never asks any. People of this description will interrupt a speaker as frequently as they do in the French Chamber, and run anxiously from subject to subject with their interrogatories, like a cackling hen that is going to lay an egg. Horace Walpole, when exiled at Houghton, bemoans the existence of such a pest in the person of an aunt. Writing to his friend Sir Horace Mann, he says: "I have an aunt here, a family piece of goods, an old remnant of inquisitive hospitality and economy. She wore me so down by day and night with interrogations that I dreamed all night she was at my ear with who's, why's, when's, and what's, till at last in my very sleep I cried out, 'For heaven's sake, madam, ask me no more questions.'"

Dr. Johnson's dislike of being questioned is well known, and he gives the classic refutation of the habit in his own inimitable style: "Sir, questioning is not the mode of conversation among gentlemen. It is assuming a superiority, and it is particularly wrong to question a man concerning himself."—Chamber's Journal.

"MRS. SENATOR" IN WASHINGTON

If She Entertains Handsomely She May Take the Lead.

The Senator's wife is quite a great personage in society at the national capital. She takes rank in importance next to the ladies of the Cabinet and the wives of the Judges of the Supreme Court. Should she be rich and a generous entertainer, she may even take precedence of them socially to all intents and purposes, though not officially, of course. Her weekly receptions during the season are eagerly sought, and in her parlors may be found all the distinguished men of the Administration a scattering of foreign Embassadors and Ministers with their wives and the secretaries and attaches of legations. She is invited to State dinners at the President's house, and indeed no door may be closed upon her.

Sometimes the woman who finds herself in this exalted social position is used to a quiet, domestic and uneventful life in some small Western town, and is frightened as well as dazzled by this brilliant company that surrounds her. Usually under such circumstances, with all a woman's clever adaptability, she soon learns to take her honors as a matter of course and becomes a thorough society woman but occasionally one is found who is so frightened by the gay prospect that she shrinks hastily back into her shell and hides herself away in obscurity so that people of the smart set almost forget her existence except when they meet her at long intervals at White House dinners. The invitations from the President, by the way, are very like those that emanate from royalty abroad. They are politely worded commands, and no one dares disobey them. Most people do not want to, however; on the contrary such honors are eagerly sought.

Most women, even if naturally inclined to shrink from social gayeties, would make an effort to overcome the feeling when their husbands are elected to the Senate, if only for motives of political expediency, for it is a well-known fact that States take great pride in being represented at Washington in a manner that "does them credit." The farmer loves to read of the gayeties of his favorite Senator and to discuss them with his friend over the counter of the store later in the day. In fact, there is no surer way for a man to secure a national reputation than by giving a series of dinners and balls in Washington.

In order to be a perfect success socially as a Senator's wife a woman must be decidedly healthy and strong, for the life is rather an exacting one.

A Senator's wife must be well informed upon the topics of the day at home and abroad. She must know what bills are being discussed in both houses and what their prospects of success may be.—New York Journal.

CONDITIONS OF LIFE IN HAYTI.

A Street Quarrel May Cause a Panic Among the People.

When a fire breaks out in the town almost all the stores close, the troops stand under arms, and few except the firemen and the people near the place of conflagration venture out in the street, the reason being that most revolutionary movements are started in this manner. While fire draws the attention to some remote part of Port au Prince, the "conspirators," as they are always called, attempt to storm the arsenal and the prison, liberating and arming their inmates. Many a dangerous criminal owes his liberty to an incident of this nature.

Another peculiar feature of the constant excitement is the so-called couru—derived from courier, the French word for run—when everybody in the streets starts to run. The writer remembers well one that happened in Port au Prince, the capital, about five years ago, when the situation was comparatively quiet. Two young men who quarrelled about a woman met near the market-place, drew their revolvers and fired at each other. This caused a panic in the market-halls; everybody commenced to run, in order to get home. Nobody knew what had happened; nobody knew what was going to happen; those who had not heard the shots, seeing the others take to their heels, also ran for the shelter of their homes. The stores closed; strong detachments of troops patrolled the streets, headed by the chief-of-police, the commanders of the port, the town, and the "Arrondissement"; and finally the President himself, being in doubt as to the outcome of the affair, left the palace and rode through the streets at the head of about two hundred and fifty cavalry, with their carbines on the thigh and their fingers on the trigger, who were followed by a battalion of infantry. Only one man of the party besides the officers was without a rifle; he carried on his head a soapbox full of cartridges. All this had been caused by a few shots exchanged between two men! They were promptly arrested, but the majority of people did not know until the next morning why they "ran." It is indeed quite natural that they should look for shelter at such a time; for justice (and sometimes injustice), always summarily dispensed, is particularly high-handed at the time of a couru.

A similar march which President Hippolyte made through the streets at the head of his troops to quell the May insurrection of 1891 cost a good many lives. However, had the revolution been allowed to spread, thousands of Haytians might have fallen.—Frank Leslie's Weekly.

WELL GUARDED CITY

SUFFICIENT MILITIA AND POLICE IN NEW YORK TO KEEP OUT INVADERS

More Than 7,500 Policemen—Chief Devery Says that He Can Mass 5,000 Men at Any Point Within Two Hours—Harbor Well Patrolled.

Following the hearty cheers with which the patriotic people of New York have encouraged the departure for active war service of one after another of the city's militia regiments, there has crept into the minds of some of these same patriotic people just the shadow of a fear that in giving up so much to the country New York has seriously weakened her own power of self-protection. The regiments that have gone would undoubtedly be missed in the improbable event of an attempted invasion by a hostile force, but even a superficial consideration of the external defences and internal resources for protection ought to convince any doubting mind that New York City is still a very safe place to live in.

Every water approach to New York is a death trap for any hostile warship, and even should the submarine mines fail, every channel is commanded by powerful land batteries. To guard against surprise, there is an efficient coast patrol, as well as a harbor patrol. In the coast patrol are several good vessels under command of Commander Howell,

The task of guarding the outer bay has been assigned to the two monitors, the Nahant and the Jason, the former manned by a detachment of the First New York Naval Militia and the latter by a detail of the Second New York Naval Militia. A numerous fleet of armed yachts, under command of Rear Admiral Erben, retired, is constantly patrolling the harbor and Long Island Sound; some of these yachts carry rapid-fire guns which could doubtless be depended upon to do effective service in case of need. In the event of any local disturbances of riots getting beyond the control of the municipal and State authorities, these well armed patrol yachts could readily command any pier or landing place, and if necessary United States regulars could be brought from Governor's Island or David's Island or from Forts Hamilton Hancock, Wadsworth or Schuyler.

Should the unexpected happen and cause a sudden emergency call for Federal fighting power the Navy Yard would play no mean part. There are a large number of stalwart and seasoned marines and sailors over there, and they have the means at hand to make it hot for any intruding foe.

Chief Devery was asked what he could do if called upon by some sudden and desperate emergency to mass a large body of policemen, and he replied without hesitation: "I can mass 5,000 trained policemen at any given point in New York City within two hours." Reminding his questioner that it would not be good policy to tell too much about the resources of the police force, the Chief admitted that he could get 1,000 men together at any given point within a few minutes.

"The police force will be found equal to the emergency in any uprising that there may be," he said, confidently.

Loyal to Her Country.

A well known Washington woman was doing the cathedral cities of England last summer. Throughout her tour she wore a tiny American flag pinned to the waist of her travelling dress. A good many of the English people whom she met did not understand, or pretended not to understand what the flag stood for.

"You belong to some secret society, I perceive," said an Englishwoman to whom she was introduced, pointing to the diminutive starry banner.

"Yes," responded the Washington woman amiably, "there are 70,000,000 of us."—Washington Post.

A Woman Western Boomer.

California has a novelty in womanhood. She is Mrs. Janet Macdonald, whose business is to go about the country lecturing to attract emigrants and capital to the Pacific coast. It is said that she can boom Western land with more glibness than a book agent can boom a book. Mrs. Macdonald is an excellent speaker and her lectures describing the natural resources and advantages of California are illustrated with kinetoscope pictures taken directly under her supervision. She owns frankly that she was a failure as a milliner and says she'd rather talk up California than do anything else she ever tried.—Chicago Tribune.

One morning a gentleman called upon Douglas Jerrold to solicit a subscription on behalf of a mutual friend in want of money. "Well," said Jerrold, "how much does —— want this time?"

"Why, just four and two noughts will, I think, put him straight."

"Very well," answered Jerrold, "put me down for one of the noughts this time."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A FASCINATING ISLAND.

Where the Traveler Forgets Everything in Its Languorous Delight.

"Of all fascinating places under the sun," said a gentleman who has traveled much, "the island of Tahiti, one of the Society Islands, is the most fascinating. In that country a little earth lost in a vast ocean, nature has done everything to make indolent souls happy. The climate is temperate and even all the year round, the vegetation is luxuriant, the women beautiful, and the nights, full of perfume and mystical light, stir the most practical mind to love of meditation and dreaming. The influence of this dreamy, lazy life is very insidious. It is not necessary to work, as the island furnishes food without the labor of tillage. I know a number of Americans and French who have gone there for a visit, and have become so enraptured with the languorous existence that, like the visitors to lotus land, they lie down and forget friends, home, ambition and everything. I remember how I used to feel the influence steal upon me. Many a time I wished earnestly to cast my lot with those languorous people. I can look back now and see myself as I lay one night against a cocoanut tree in a sort of ecstacy of meditation. Overhead was a sky bright with a million stars. Sounds came to me in a strange fashion, blending into a murmur. A short distance away a group of natives, girls and men, were shouting the rhythmic chant of the upuupa dance. I thought of myself on this little isle, with ocean on every side and New Orleans so many miles distant. Nothing seemed real to me but that spot in which one could hear indistinctly the chant of the singers and the sobbing of the waves; a mysterious charm possessed me."—Mexican Herald.

WILL EXCHANGE HOBSON.

Gen. Toral Informs Gen. Shafter That the Exchange Will be Made.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 6, 12:47 p. m.—The War Department received a cable message from Gen Shafter this morning telling of the latest situation about Santiago.

Shafter says that he is just in receipt of a message from Gen. Toral, the acting commander of the Spanish troops in Santiago, agreeing to exchange Naval Constructor Hobson and his men.

The exchange will be made in the morning. Gen. Toral refused to make the exchange yesterday. Gen. Shafter says that Hobson and his men will be brought to this country.

STORM AT SANTIAGO.

It Will Delay the Joint Attack of Army and Navy On Beleaguered City.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 6, 12:58 p. m—Gen. Greely says that he has received advices from the chief signal officer in Cuba that a great storm is raging off Santiago which will prevent the army and fleet from making a oint attack today.

The fleet was compelled to steam to sea to avoid disaster on the rocks. The smaller ships took refuge in the shallow harbors.

PELAYO DISABLED.

Accident to Machinery of Spanish Battleship Delays Her in Canal.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Ismailia, Egypt, July 6, 11 a. m—The machinery of the Spanish battleship Pelayo was disabled as that vessel passed this point en route through the Suez canal. The accident to the machinery was of such a nature as to compel the steamer to stop here for repairs.

The other vessels of Admiral Camara's fleet continued on their way through the canal and will probably await the Pelayo in the Red Sea.

PANIC-STRICKEN SANTIAGO.

All are Anxious to Leave the Doomed City Before the Bombardment.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Kingston, Jamaica, July 6, 1:27 p. m—Great confusion is reported among the refugees at Santiago. The British and Austrian consulates are besieged by hundreds imploring a chance to leave the country.

The foreigners were not the only ones who applied to the consuls for transportation from Saatiago on the warships. A number of frightened Spaniard made large offers of money for permission to leave.

A panic prevails among those who cannot go. The British consul is kept busy night and day and considers it his duty to remain. He has declined to avail himself of the British warships in the harbor and his family are determined to stay with him.

The archbishop of Santiago advised the military authorities to surrender the city without waiting for the bombardment. After receiving an unfavorable answer he cabled Madrid, but has received no reply as yet.

Red Cross Steamer Brings 320 Wounded From Santiago—Taken to Hospitals.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Key West, July 6, 11:57 a. m.—The Red Cross steamer Iroquois has arrived at this port, bringing 320 wounded from the front. They were the victims of the first day's fighting around Santiago.

Will Demand Peace.

London, July 6, 11:35 a. m—Advices received from Madrid say that peace will be demanded today by the populace.

READING FOR BLOCKADERS.

Brave Boys on the Battleships Want Newspapers to Read

It is not a particularly exciting occupation to be a sailor or a marine on board one of the ships of the blockading squadron. Once in a while there comes in sight a ship, a chase follows, and then the monotony continues for days perhaps. Our warships are well equipped for battle, but they furnish little amusement for the brave boys who man them.

A request now comes to the people of Plainfield to aid a little in furnishing pleasure for those who are fighting for their county. It is that old papers, periodicals and stories be sent down to the boys. If a large number of persons will do this, a liberal amount of reading matter will be accumilated and the hearts of the bluejackets, and marines will be gladdened accordingly.

Tenders are going daily to the blockading fleet from Key West and every paper sent is sure to get into the hands of some intelligent lad who is anxious to know how the world outside is getting on. All reading matter should be sent to R. E. Steele, Naval Base, Key West, Fla., where it is sure to be looked after and distributed among those for whom it is intended.

600 LOST OUT AT SEA.

French Liner La Bourgogne in Collision With the Ship Cromartyshire.

MRS. LACASSE WAS SAVED.

The Ship Cromartyshire Collided With the French Steamer in a Dense Fog—Cromartyshire Saved 200 From the La Bourgogue—Mr. and Mrs. La Casse in the Water Eight Hours.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Halifax, Nova Scotia, July 6, 10:35 a. m—The Allan Line steamer Grecian has just entered the harbor with the ship Cromartyshire in tow. The latter reports that at 5 o'clock on the morning of the Fourth she collided with the French Line steamer LaBourgogne, bound from New York to Havre, carrying 800 passengers.

The accident occurred in the dense fog, sixty miles south of Sable Island. The steamship sank almost immediately after the collision.

Of the 800 souls aboard, including passengers and crew, only 200 were saved. One hundred and seventy passengers, including only one woman, were saved. Thirty of the crew, including the purser and three engineers, were saved. The other officers were all drowned.

Mrs. A. D. LaCasse, of Plainfield, N. J., was the only woman saved. Mr. LaCasse was also saved. Lacasse and his wife were in the water eight hours, clinging to a raft before they were picked up by a boat from the Cromartyshire.

They lost everything but what they wore at the time. Money and valuables are all gone. Mrs. LaCasse says that the officers stayed at their posts, going down with the ship.

The passengers, with the exception of Prof. LaCasse, were below decks when the collision occurred. LaCasse rushed to his stateroom, got his wife out of the berth and partially dressed.

They hastened to the deck to be precipitated into the water on reaching it. They were not long in the water, however, when they found a partially submerged raft on to which LaCasse lifted his unconcious wife and then climbed himself.

It is believed by those who have interviewed the survivors that no effort was made to save the women. Some of the foreigners fought for places in the boats.

La Casse says several boats capsized and all on board were drowned. It was fifteen minutes after the accident before the steamer went down and there was time to save women and children.

Most of those saved were steerage passengers and sailors. The crew of the Cromartyshire express the belief that there must have been foul play considering that only one woman was saved out of 300.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrain C. La Casse have resided in Plainfield for a little over a year. They came here two years to continue the work of educational instructors in which they have been engaged for several years.

Mr. LaCasse, last fall, accepted the position of instructor in physics and French in the New Jersey Military Academy under Prof. A. D. Warde, having already formed a co-partnership with Miss Clara Hellwig, in the School of Languages, at the corner of Watchung avenue and East Fifth street.

Mrs. LaCasse gave lessons in French to the children of several wealthy citizens, but beyond attending to instruction she never associated with any of the families of her pupils and they knew nothing more than that she was an accomplished and thorough-going instructor.

She and her husband lived modestly at 115 Church street when they first moved to town, but subsequently removed to 165 Duer street, where they now reside. Of intimate acquaintances they had very few—in fact, only two in this city.

Miss Hellwig called on them once in a while and they on her. With Rev. and Mrs. George Hauser, of the German Reformed church, they were

COUNCIL STOPS THE TROLLEY GOING EAST.

Denied the Application for East Second Street Franchise.

PROPERTY OWNERS OBJECT

HEARING ON RICHMOND STREET FRANCHISE POSTPONED A MONTH.

Argument of L. W. Serrell, Jr., Proved Unavailing on the Council—Resignation of Collector Bird Was Not Accepted Because Accounts Had Not Been Audited—Ordinances Passed.

There was a large crowd of interested spectators present at the July meeting of the Common Council last evening, all desirious of learning what dispcsition would be made of the petition for a trolley through East Second street. After much discussion on the subject the petition was denied and hearing for other extensions deferred until the August meeting. Collector Bird is still retained as collector awaiting the action of the Council regarding his accounts.

The regular order of business was suspended to give a hearing on the question of extending the trolley through East Second street. As against the trolley a lengthy communication was received from A. E. Bushnell, who begged the Council not to grant a franchise to the trolley company through East Second street, and presented objections offered a week ago.

Lawyer W. A. Coddington, for the objectionists, presented another remonstrance, and made a few remarks, in which he asked the Council to give his clients an extension of time, so a suitable reply can be presented in argument against the papers and maps filed by the trolley company.

This request was favored by L. W. Serrell, Jr., for the company, and was, in fact, asked for by Mr. Serrell.

Mr. Barrows stated that if the people do not want the trolley the Council should not grant a franchise to the company. He offered a motion that the application for East Second street be denied, and that the one for Richmond street be laid over till the August meeting.

Mr. Buckle made a few remarks in favor of the trolley and said that a number of those now posing as objectionists are the very ones who want trade to come to Plainfield.

Mr. Newman did not favor the trolley and thought that some other streets should be used. He did not, however, want to appear as opposing public improvements.

Mr. Barrows' motion was not adopted at this time, but later in the evening it was.

Mr. Serrell made a plea for consideration on the part of the Council, and expressed an opinion that the Council does not appreciate the efforts being put forth by the company to secure the right of way. He urged that the Council grant a stay for one week for another hearing.

A petition was received from the residents of East Second street asking the Council to repair the street between Richmond and Berckman streets

Another petition was received from residents of East Sixth street and Richmond street, asking for crosswalks.

Building Inspector Doane reeported that seven permits were granted during the month. Street Commissioner Gavett reported the granting of twenty-three sewer permits.

The report of City Judge DeMeza showed that during the past month there were before him 108 prisoners, of which number forty were fined; seventeen committed, nine discharged, thirty-seven sentence suspended, two are under bonds and there are three untried cases. The sum of $360.75 was received, and after deducting expenses the sum of $226.17 was turned over to the city treasurer.

Mr. Runyon offered a resolution to the effect that all bids received for the erection of a new hosehouse in the West End be rejected and that all bidders receive their deposited checks. Another resolution was offered by Mr. Runyon providing for a change in the new hosehouse, to lessen the cost. Also that bids be advertised for building to the new plans.

Mr. Runyon stated, in explanation, that it has recently been learned that the work can be done much cheaper than the lowest bid received.

Mr. Barrows offered a resolution that the trolley company's petition be taken up, and that the application for East Second street be denied and that further hearing in the matter be deferred until the August meeting. The

A DISASTROUS RUNAWAY

COLLIDED WITH TWO RIGS AND ALSO KNOCKED OVER A LAMP POST.

The Fractious Horse Belonged to A. E. Hoagland and Broke Its Halter Without Any Apparent Cause Whatever.

If there is anything in being superstitious, A. E. Hoagland, the North avenue expressman, has reason to feel that "hard luck" is following him. Last Sunday a cat appeared near his residence acting strangely and Hoagland killed the feline. Yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock one of his spirited horses ran away and considerable damage resulted.

The horse was tied in front of Hoagland's place on North avenue, when without any apparent cause the animal broke the halter and ran down toward Park avenue at full speed. The heavy wagon struck E H. Van-Buren's light two seat wagon and wrecked one of the rear wheels. The coachman sat in the wagon and barely escaped serious injury.

After striking the wagon the truck swung around and struck the large lamp post in front of McVey's restaurant, taking it out by the roots and completely demolishing the engraved glass in the top.

The runaway animal in trying to turn from North avenue into Park avenue slipped and fell on the crosswalk. At the same time the horse and wagon collided with a team of horses attached to a hay wagon which was standing in front of Miss Lincoln's floral conservatory. The team was taken off its feet and for a few minutes there was a general mixup. Mr. Hoagland's horse and wagon were quickly taken care of by its owner. It was found that no damage had resulted to it.

The team of horses thrown down belonged to Mr. Nason, of Mt. Bethel, and was in charge of a farm hand. So far as could be learned they were not injured. One of the team attempted to run away, but was caught just in time by Dennis Kane, who happened to be near.

Mr. Hoagland at once consulted Lawyer W. S. Angleman and later referred the owners of the two rigs to his lawyer. Mr. McVey was also referred to Lawyer Angleman. It is not known exactly what the damages will amount to.

WILL FORD WRITES HOME.

He is With Fifth Artillery—Expects to be in Cuba Soon.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Ford, of East Fourth street, have received a letter from their son, William Fred Ford, who is now quartered at Tampa with Battery F, of the Fifth United States Artillery. He reports that the men are all in good health and are given good rations despite the stories to the contrary. They are very cheerful at the prospects of going to the front as they expect to leave for Cuba very soon. The guns, horses and amunition have already been loaded on the transports. They are probably now on their way as this is published.

He tells that they have just received a thousand little bags containing needles, pins, cotton and other handy article from the W. C. T. U. in Florida, which they greatly appreciate.

They were to sail for Santiago Saturday and expected to reach there in five days.

Dog Attacked the Cyclist.

F. O. Herring, of Park avenue, had an unpleasant encounter with a fiery little canine near Metuchen Saturday afternoon. He was riding peacefully along on his wheel when there was a rush, a series of barks and the naughty little dog set his teeth in the calf of the leg of Mr. Herring. Then Mr. Herring dismounted and hurled rocks after the dog, which was in the meantime half a mile away.

Trinity's Excursion.

If you want to have a good time for one day and enjoy it with good people who will make everything pleasant for you, don't fail to join the members of Trinity Reformed church and Sunday-school on their annual excursion to Asbury Park on July 14. This will be the first church excursion to the shore this season.

Trolley Carried 1,000,000 Passengers.

The trolley is a pretty good thing in Plainfield according to the statement made last evening by L. W. Serrell, Jr., at the City Council meeting. One million passengers were carried in this city last year and this year bids fair to exceed that number.

MAKING HEALTH OF SCHOLARS BETTER.

Report of Medical Examiners to Board of Education.

THEIR RECOMMENDATIONS

BETTER DRINKING WATER AND LESS DIRECT LIGHT ON EYES.

The Board Decide to Adopt the Suggestions Made by the Medical Examiners, Whose Work Has Been So Satisfactory That They Have Been Engaged for Another Year at $200 Each.

The time of the members of the Board of Education at the meeting last night was chiefly taken up discussing plans for the better health of the pupils, in accordance with certain recommendations made by the two physicians on the examining board, Doctors T. H. Tomlinson and William H. Murray. The resignation of Miss Mary Grace Caldwell, teacher of the third class, High School, was also accepted, at her request. Miss Caldwell has been offered a position as teacher at Dana Hall preparatory school, Wellesley College, where she will receive an increase of salary.

Secretary Lounsbury stated that Collector Elias Bird had turned over to the board $919 62, which represented taxes collected by him, with interest, extending over a period of several years.

A petition was read which was signed by J. T. Vail and eleven property holders and residents of East Sixth street, between Richmond street and Franklin place, asking that the fence in front of the Bryant building be removed.

President Probasco was in favor of complying, especially as several of the fences in that vicinity have been removed, and it is the intention of all of those whose names were affixed to the petition to do the same. Mr. Lounsbury opposed the plan, for fear the children of the neighborhood would use the grass plots as a play ground. Action was postponed until the next meeting.

The report of the medical examiners showed that during the month of June 130 pupils had been examined. One hundred and two had not been vaccinated and five showed defects in their vision. Since their appointment the examiners have examined 1,947 pupils. Out of these 100 showed defective eye sight and fifteen defective hearing. Many showed throat troubles. The physicians reported that many of the pupils had improved greatly in health since some defects had been remedied.

They made three recommendations. First, that better ventilation be provided for the Washington and Bryant buildings; second, that the seats of the pupils be so arranged that they will not need to face the light continually; third, that drinking fountains be placed in all the schools.

Mr. Lounsbury thought that the Stillman, Franklin and Bryant buildings could be fitted up with fountains at a cost of $200 or $250 each After a discussion Mr. Lovell moved that the Board advertise for bids for putting fountains in the Stillman, Franklin and Bryant buildings. This was carried. The services of the two physicians were retained for another year, at the same salary, $200 a year.

It was voted to give the finance committee power to borrow $500 to pay bills now due The Board then adjourned to meet July 19th.

OIL STOVE CAUSES TROUBLE.

Wm. Banks Sues Augustus Hoagland for the Return of an Old Stove.

There promises to be a lively time in Justice Mosher's court next Tuesday over an oil stove when the case in tort of Wm. Banks against Augustus Hoagland will be tried.

Hoagland claims Banks gave him the stove, but Banks claims the other is retaining possession of it unlawfully.

Hoagland says Banks offered him the old stove one day not long ago, so he took it away, fixed it up, and began to use it. A week ago while Mrs. Hoagland was busy over the stove, he says one of Banks' men came and demanded the stove. Mrs. Hoagland told him to take it, but it being hot he decided not to. Then came an order from Banks to return the stove in 24 hours or expect to be sued. Hoagland failed to obey, thus the suit. The damages are placed at $25.

Miss Wier Married.

Miss Nina May Wier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Skeel, of Frankfort, was married Saturday to David Lewis, of Ilion, N. Y., at the home of the bride. She formerly resided on Rockview avenue, this city, and has a number of acquaintances here. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will reside at Ilion.

MANY GATHERED TO SEE FIREWORKS.

Postponed Pyrotechnic Display of Park Club Last Night.

A CREDITABLE EXHIBITION

A LARGE AUDIENCE WITNESSED THE DISPLAY FROM CLUB GROUNDS.

There Were Many Others Who Gathered in the Neighborhood to Witness the Flight of the Rockets and Bombs—Some Crossed the Brook and Invaded the Club Grounds.

Out on the well-kept lawns of the Park Club there was a great gathering last night to see the postponed exhibition of fireworks that the celebration committee of the club had planned for the night before.

But the crowd was not confined only to the club grounds. From far and near there was a steady procession which had the Park Club for its Mecca. They gathered in the streets, in the by-ways and in the fields. The more venturesome leaped from stone to stone across the brook and invaded the very club grounds from the rear. The Washington avenue bridge early became a seathing mass of humanity, the sight-seers in which good humoredly jostled each other in their efforts to catch a glimpse of the display. The neighboring lawns were invaded by both sexes in holiday attair. Washington avenue itself was lined with spectators who chatted and laughed during the intervals and joined in the chracteristic "ah-h-h," that greeted the prettiest sights.

The Park Club display was the only large one in the city, which accounted for the great crowd that assembled. The club had issued a number of invitations for the display and had provided a large number of camp chairs, all of which were occupied.

The members, their families and a goodly number of invited friends occupied the lawn at the time set forth for the display, 8:15 o'clock. While everybody was busily chatting there was a sudden scurrying among the men down on the tennis courts, where the fireworks were shown. A rush, a cloud of sparks and a gigantic rocket shot heavenward, to burst with a heavy detonation. A signal, it seemed, to all Plainfield that the display was about to begin.

Other saluting rockets followed and then the colored lights illuminated the scene, while mines and batteries of Roman candles fired away from the background. Rocket after rocket rushed forth, some almost directly upward and others gyrating in strange wavering orbits, to send their showers of golden rain, release their parachute or group of colored stars far above the spectators.

There were several set pieces, including a bicyclist who pedalled backward as rapidly as possible, a varigated donkey who bucked after the most approved fashion while explosions took place on all parts of his anatomy. Then there were other set pieces that were very pretty but had no particular characteristic.

The display of rockets was continuous. Bombs were thrown high in the air and various other attractions known to the pyrotechnic trade were shown. The display closed with a shield of fire in the National colors which was greeted with loud applause. Then came several saluting rockets and all was over.

Then, while the spectators outside wandered homeward, the Park Clubites gathered in the little ballroom of the club and enjoyed an informal dance.

BOY HURT; FATHER MAD.

Druggist Hall Arrested on the Complaint of Joseph Miller.

Joseph G. Miller, of Watchung avenue, caused the arrest of Charles H. Hall, the Watchung avenue druggist, yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault and battery on Joseph Miller, the former's seven-year old son. Mr. Hall was arraigned before Justice Nash and gave bonds to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Mr. Miller claims that June 26th his son went into the drug store and began to play with the cat, and that Mr. Hall rushed at him, seized him by the hair and lifted him off the floor, then pulled his ears. The defendant, Mr. Hall, waived an examination, and had nothing to say except that the boy has been annoying him a variety of ways for some time.

Mr. Miller formerly kept a drug store on East Front street.

New Market Fireworks Tonight.

The $400 display of fireworks will be given at New Market this evening at 8 o'clock. No doubt there will be a large number of people attend from this place and vicinity.

THE ATTACK DELAYED

Shafter and Sampson Hold a Conference to Make Plans.

ARMY TO BE REINFORCED

The Arrival of Pando's Troops and a Severe Tropical Storm Cause Shafter to Postpone the Attack—The Cubans Not to Be Depended on Hereafter—Plans of General Miles—Cabinet Meeting Held.

Washington, July 6.—The bombardment of Santiago has been postponed. The cabinet decided to allow General Shafter to use his discretion in regard to the matter. General Alger said after the cabinet meeting:

"General Shafter and Admiral Sampson have been advised to hold a conference before any movement is made."

A dispatch from General Shafter announced that a severe tropical storm was raging at Santiago. He said it might be twenty-four or forty-eight hours before the storm subsided and any action could be taken, and this was the principal reason why a postponement of the bombardment was decided on.

Secretary Alger cabled to General Shafter to use the reinforcements that have arrived to fill the places of the men killed and sick, and that reinforcements equal to Pando's regiments were on the way. This message also stated that the president had directed Admiral Sampson and General Shafter to cooperate and bombard at their discretion.

There is a great deal of feeling at the war department in regard to the action of the Cubans and their seeming failure to prevent General Pando with his reinforcements from entering Santiago. It is the general opinion among the officers that the Cubans hereafter must be left out of all calculations. The reports at the war department received during the last few days show that they cannot be depended upon to take orders and fulfill them.

There was a continual telegraphic correspondence between the war department and the headquarters at Santiago all the morning, and the principal subject before the cabinet meeting yesterday was the situation of our army at Santiago. Admiral Sampson's fleet has not entered the harbor of Santiago because the truce was not up until noon yesterday, and he is evidently awaiting instructions from Washington before making the attempt. There was a great deal of anxiety felt at the department yesterday in regard to the army, but General Shafter's dispatches were reassuring and stated that he was able to maintain his position.

There was also much uncertainty in regard to General Miles's movements. It was stated that he would leave for Santiago on the St. Paul from New York to-day, with the Eighth Ohio. After the cabinet meeting, however, a cabinet officer stated that General Miles would not go to Santiago, at least not at present, and that General Shafter would be allowed to continue the campaign there alone. General Miles was at the war department and refused to be interviewed.

Another question discussed at the cabinet meeting yesterday was the disposition of the prisoners taken by Admiral Sampson and his fleet. It was decided that while the minor officers and seamen from the Spanish fleet should be sent to the United States to be confined in military prisons, Admiral Cervera and his staff will be kept on board one of the vessels in the vicinity of Santiago until the fate of Lieutenant Hobson and his crew is decided. Of course, there is no intention of exchanging the admiral for Hobson, but the cabinet as well as the officials were of the opinion that if Admiral Cervera was kept in the vicinity of Santiago, it might have a moral effect upon the treatment of Lieutenant Hobson and his crew by the Spaniards.

Admiral Cervera will be treated with the greatest courtesy and consideration due an officer of his rank, and in fact the administration has decided that all prisoners of war shall be cared for in the best way possible. As this is a war for the sake of humanity, the president is determined that humane treatment shall be accorded everyone, so far as possible. Although the 1,600 prisoners under Admiral Sampson are naval prisoners, they will be turned over to the war department for confinement. It is now supposed that they will be sent to Atlanta and cared for at Fort McPherson. It was proposed to build a stockade at that place, and this plan may now be carried out.

Congress to Adjourn After Hawaiian Vote.

Washington, July 6.—The statement is made with positiveness now that Congress will adjourn within three days after the passage by the Senate of the Hawaiian annexation resolution.

There is no important business left for Congress to transact. Only the big general deficiency bill remains, but the confrerees are almost agreed on it and it will soon be disposed of.

Good reasons exist for an adjournment. There has been abundant legislation for the successful conduct of the war, and neither the president nor the department expect to ask for further authority in connection with military and naval movements against Spain.

If the war comes to an end before December the preliminary negotiations for peace must be conducted by the executive. Should it be necessary to conclude a treaty before December the president can at any time call the Senate together.

Entire Class Arrested.

West Point, July 6.—The entire third class of cadets at the Military academy has been placed under arrest by Colonel Otto L. Hein, the commandant. They will remain under arrest until they decide to submit to an explanation of their conduct on last Sunday evening. They assembled on the parade ground after parade and created a disturbance by cheering for Colonel Samuel Mills, their former commandant, who was very popular with the cadets during his stay here, and who is now in front of Santiago with General Shafter's army, in command of the siege guns.

MADRID BEING DECEIVED.

The Spaniards Think Cervera and His Squadron Escaped.

Madrid, July 6.—The general public of the Spanish capital, at this hour, still believes Admiral Cervera and his squadron have escaped from Santiago de Cuba, thanks to the official dispatches given out by the government and the interviews granted by the ministers. A dispatch from Captain General Blanco says:

"Cervera's squadron, at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning, broke the center of the line of the American fleet and proceeded at full steam in a westerly direction."

The Spanish minister of marine, Senor Aunon, is quoted in an interview as saying:

"I am highly pleased with the feat of arms performed by Admiral Cervera's squadron, which left Santiago the moment Admiral Cervera judged it opportune to do so."

After eulogizing the Spanish admiral, the minister of marine added:

"The squadron could only leave the harbor at a given moment, and when the moment arrived Admiral Cervera seized it. have never doubted he would do so. But, of course, it is difficult to foresee the result. The American sqaudron was taken by surprise. After attacking us, the American admiral detached five of his best ships, which steamed for some time abreast of ours; but they were soon left astern; only the Iowa and Brooklyn were able to follow our fleet, but it is certain they will not do so far, for fear of reprisals on our part. Admiral Cervera deserves great praise."

Not one of the official dispatches received from Cuba up to this hour make mention of the destruction of Admiral Cervera's squadron, and, consequently, the American accounts of the battle cause immense surprise and sensation, though they are discredited by Spanish officials."

Everyone is anxiously waiting for news of to-day's expected bombardment of Santiago de Cuba, and it is anticipated that the fighting will result in appalling bloodshed. The Spaniards doubt whether the Americans, even if they destroy the city, will succeed in penetrating into it, as their losses are confidently expected to be enormous. The arrival of the Spanish reinforcements at Santiago de Cuba will, according to the people here, enable Santiago to make a more tenacious defence than would otherwise have been the case.

London, July 6.—A dispatch to the Evening News from Madrid says that after Friday's battle at Santiago de Cuba the marines and guns belonging to Admiral Cervera's fleet were reshipped, preparatory to the squadron's sortie from the harbor.

Madrid Reports About Manila Compaign

Madrid, July 6.—There is much comment here over the news of the departure of the foreign warships from Manila at the moment of the arrival there of the American reinforcements. Only two German, two French and four British warships now remain at Manila, and the question is asked whether international politics have undergone a change, and whether the Americans are to be given a free hand in the Philippine islands.

The news received here that the British consul at Hong Kong has sent a dispatch boat to Manila for the purpose of informing Rear Admiral Dewey of the fact that Admiral Camara's squadron has traversed the Suez canal is much commented upon, and the newspapers assert that the Egyptian and British authorities purposely placed obstacles in the way of Admiral Camara's departure in order to delay his arrival at Manila as long as possible, adding that the British have been more scrupulous in maintaining the neutrality of the Suez canal than they were when they allowed a steamer to leave Hong Kong loaded with arms for the Manila insurgents.

It is inferred that the news received in Madrid about the "British consul" at Hong Kong refers to the British authorities at Hong Kong.

Affairs at Manila.

London, July 6.—A dispatch from Manila dated July 2, says that Captain General Augusti made a sortie for the purpose of repairing the aqueduct that supplies the walled city in an endeavor to communicate with General Monet. The insurgents concentrated their troops and opposed the sortie, forcing the Spanish commander to return to Manila.

The insurgents are said to have suffered severe loss and the Spaniards are reported to have had fifty men killed and 150 men wounded.

San Francisco, July 6.—In accordance with the wishes of the war department, Major General Otis proposes to hasten preparations for the departure of more troops to Manila. The Peru and City of Puebla can sail this week if so ordered. The Pennsylvania has been favorably passed upon by Major Ruhlin, chief quartermaster. The Titania will be taken by the government on her return from Northwest ports, and other steamers are being considered.

The Care of Prisoners.

Washington, July 6.—The capture of 1,600 men of Cervera's fleet, destroyed off Santiago by Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley on Sunday, and of 2,000 in El Caney, the suburb of that town, on the right of the American line, which was practically occupied by General Shafter's forces on Friday, and the expected fall of Santiago give the officers here an additional burden to carry.

They must provide food and supplies for the large number of prisoners that have fallen and will fall into the hands of the land and sea forces of the United States in Cuba, and the problem is already engaging their serious attention. One of the great difficulties of the question of getting troops to Cuba was that of carrying with them sufficient supplies; and with the addition of thousands of Spanish troops to provide for, the departments of supplies and transportation have their hands more than full.

Cable Operators Flee.

New York, July 6.—The central cable office of the Western Union Telegraph Company in this city has issued a notice to the effect that its cable operators at the city of Santiago de Cuba have gone on board a British gunboat.

TROOPS FOR SHAFTER

Eighth Ohio Infantry Sails on the St. Paul.

THE McKINLEY REGIMENT

Capt. Sigsbee Says His Cruiser is Ready for Sea at Any Time—A Large Amount of Supplies for the Army Have Been Taken on Board—Other Regiments Ordered to the Front—Gen. Miles May Be a Passenger.

New York, July 6.—All was bustle and confusion yesterday at the American line pier at the foot of Fulton street, where the United States auxiliary cruiser St. Paul lay. The ship was being loaded with 2,500 tons of coal, provisions, including fresh fruits and supplies for General Shafter's army at Santiago de Cuba, for which port the St. Paul will set sail to-day.

On board of her will be the Eighth Ohio volunteers, known as the "President's Own Regiment," under Colonel Henry, which left Camp Alger at Washington, D. C., yesterday for this city.

"I don't exactly know myself just what I am to do," said Captain Sigsbee yesterday. "The only information that I have got is in the form of an order from Washington to make preparations to take a regiment of infantry south. I presume that this is the Eighth Ohio, as that has been the one spoken of thus far. I shall finish coaling to-day and also will have all my supplies aboard and can sail just so soon as the troops get aboard."

Among the supplies which are loading on the St. Paul for General Shafter are 10,000 canvas uniforms, 25,000 suits of underclothing, 59,000 pairs of socks, 5,000 campaign hats and 25,000 pairs of shoes. More than the 10,000 canvas suits already loaded will be sent south on the St. Paul if the rush order that the department quartermaster put in for them is able to be filled in time. The cruiser will also carry a lot of horseshoes, muleshoes and nails.

Washington, July 6.—The brigade under General Garretson at Camp Alger has been ordered to proceed at once to Santiago. The Eighth Ohio regiment goes to New York to take the cruiser St. Paul.

The other regiments, the Sixth Massachusetts and Sixth Illinois, go to Charleston, S. C., where the Yale and Harvard will be intercepted on their way North to embark these troops for Santiago.

The brigades of General Ernst and General Haines, now at Chickamauga, will move with all possible dispatch to Charleston, Savannah, Mobile, and other Atlantic coast points, there to take transports to Santiago.

In detail the commands making up this important body of reinforcements are as follows:

General Ernst's brigade, First brigade, First division, First Army Corps—Third Wisconsin, Colonel Martin T. Moore; Fifth Illinois, Colonel James S. Culver; First Kentucky, Colonel John B. Castleman.

General Haine's Third brigade, Third division of the First army corps—Ninth Pennsylvania, Colonel Charles B. Dougherty; Second Missouri, Colonel William K. Caffey; First New Hampshire, Colonel Robert H. Rolfa.

General Garretson's brigade—Eighth Ohio, Colonel Curtis V. Hand; Sixth Illinois, Colonel D. Jack Foster, Sixth Massachusetts, Colonel Chas. F. Woodward.

It is understood that orders to the brigades at Chickamauga are to move with all possible dispatch without fixing the exact hour, it being left with those on the field to make the best arrangements with the railroads for moving southward toward Charleston, Savannah and the other coast towns of embarkation.

An Extra Session.

Albany, July 6.—The extraordinary of the legislature will be called by Governor Black to convene on Monday night, July 11, at 8.30 o'clock. This was decided upon by the governor after a three hours' conference yesterday with thirty of the more prominent of the legislators from the up-state districts.

These men were summoned here by the governor to see if some bill could not be agreed upon to divorce the control of the elections in New York city from the police force.

No particular plan was acceptable to the conference, and it was decided to have the judiciary committee of both houses and the chairmen of the cities committee meet here at once and draft a bill that would be suitable to all.

Promotion for Sampson and Other Officers.

Washington, July 6.—The president yesterday afternoon sent these nominations to the Senate:

Commodore Frederick V. McNair to be rear admiral.

Captain William T. Sampson to be commodore.

Commander Francis W. Dickins to be captain.

Lieutenant Commander William S. Cowles to be commander.

Lieutenant (junior grade) H. A. Field to be lieutenant.

Ensign Albert L. Norton to be lieutenant.

The Army Pay Bill Passed.

Washington, July 6.—The Senate amendment to the bill for the pay of the army from enrolment to the mustering in were concurred in by the House yesterday, and the bill now goes to the president.

Spain's Minister to Morocco.

Tangier, July 6.—The Spanish minister here has gone to Madrid, it is believed, for instructions in connection with the American squadron's expected visit at Tangier. Morocco has declared her neutrality.

To Take British Subjects from Santiago.

Kingston, Jamaica, July 6.—The British warships Pallas and Alert have left here for Santiago de Cuba in order to bring away British subjects who are desirous of leaving that city.

From the Heart of London

In the house of the great Madame Dalbert, Regents Park, London, Eng., there lives a French girl named Angelus Daubene, whose restoration to health through taking Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids has attracted the attention of many people in the neighborhood of Regents Park. She writes as follows:

THE CAPSULOID COMPANY.

GENTLEMEN:—I have the good fortune to know your Manager. I say "good fortune" because six weeks ago when I met him I was a physical wreck through ulcer of the stomach, which caused me dreadful distress as well as anæmia so bad that I was as pale as any corpse. I had not left the house for nine weeks, and I had made my will although only 22 years of age. When your Manager asked me to try Capsuloids, and told me they were not a patent medicine and contained only iron, I smiled and said iron was poison to me, that I would not dare touch it. He kindly explained that your Capsuloids contained natural iron, exactly like the iron which my blood lacked so woefully. He offered to stay with me for an hour after I took the first Capsuloid for, in spite of his assurances that Capsuloids were as mild as milk, I expected to suffer indigestion pain immediately. I was surprised to find that my stomach was as free from pain at the end of the hour as before I took the Capsuloid. I have taken them regularly now for six weeks, without once feeling discomfort from them; the ulcer in my stomach is healed; I can eat even meat and potatoes; I can assure you my cheeks are rosy; I have gained 13½ pounds, and I am better and stronger and freer from headache and backache than I have felt in years. I cannot repay you, but I am sure you have sold two hundred boxes in this locality through the change you have brought about in me.

I am ever thankfully yours, ANGELUS DAUBENE.

ON THE YUKON RIVER.

Party Reaches St. Michael in Open Boats With News of the Winter in Gold Region.

Vancouver, B. C., July 6.—Advices received here from the port of St. Michael, on Norton Sound, say that the ice left the harbor of St. Michael on June 16. The tug New England was the first steamer to arrive there. At Dutch harbor there are a great many river boats being built for the Yukon trade. The Yukon river opened at Dawson on May 8.

A party of eighteen men left Dawson City on June 1 in small open boats and reached St. Michael on June 15, a distance of 1,800 miles, in fourteen days and sixteen hours. The Yukon is eight fet higher than ever known.

Dawson is flooded. There is a great deal of sickness in Dawson, the death rate being three to four daily. Typhoid, pneumonia and scurvy are the prevailing ailments. The hospital and church at Dawson were burned down on June 4.

It is reported that there are 16,000 claims recorded, and only about 200 are on a paying basis. It is estimated that from $10,000,000 to $40,000,000 will come out of the country this spring. A good part of this will be composed of last year's output. Outcoming miners say that new miners will have to go to entirely new grounds for diggings.

TO INCREASE THE ARMY.

Bill to Enlist 25,000 Negro Troops Sent to the House.

Washington, June 5.—An increase of the force in the office of the judge advocate general of the army by the addition of a colonel and a lieutenant colonel, to be made by promotion of officers now in the department, was recommended in a letter from Secretary Alger to Speaker Reed yesterday. Judge Advocate General Lieber sets forth the necessity for the additional force, and submitted the draft of a bill to carry the recommendation into effect, which accompanied the letter from Secretary Alger.

The advertised bill authorizing the president to enlist 25,000 negro troops for service in tropical countries was sent to the House by Secretary Alger.

The secretary says in his letter of transmittal: "In view of the special adaptability of colored troops for service under the conditions of a tropical climate the passage of this bill is regarded as very important to successful military operations in the war in which we are now engaged. It is hoped that the Congress will recognize its necessity by prompt enactment."

Can the Colon Be Saved.

Off Santiago, July 6.—The Spanish armored cruiser Cristobal Colon has listed on her beam ends on the rocks.

It is now practically impossible to save her.

The first and only statement concerning the recent naval battle made by the Spanish commander, Admiral Cervera, was to a correspondent of the Associated Press, on board the battleship Iowa. It was as follows:

"I would rather lose my ships at sea like a sailor, than in a harbor. It was the only thing left for me to do."

Will Try to Save Her.

Washington, July 5.—Naval officers state that although reports from Santiago say that the Spanish war vessels have been destroyed, there was every hope that the Cristobal Colon at least might be saved. The later reports that she had gone upon the rocks are not believed.

One high official states that wrecking vessels have been ordered to Santiago in the hope of saving the Colon, and perhaps one or two of the others. The department thought at least the heavy guns and other portions of the vessels could be recovered.

Chicago Without News.

Chicago, July 6.—The strike of a handful of men is still keeping hundreds of newspaper workers here out of employment. In all, it is said, there were only about sixty of the disaffected stereotypers, but their peremptory demands for higher wages, a smaller number of hours for a day's work, and big pay for overtime have prevented 600 compositors, 175 reporters, 150 pressmen and other regular employes of newspaper offices from earning any money.

HOW THEY RAILROAD IN CHINIA.

Some of the Difficulties Under Which the Roads Are Conducted.

A missionary writing from China to a friend in this city recently described the difficulties under which the newly completed railroads are conducted in that country.

Passengers in the first-class coaches, he said, exhibited so strong a desire to carry off various articles from the cars as souvenirs of their trip that the coaches were speedily stripped of those things that contribute to the comfort of the passenger. They took away with them hat and bundle racks, mirrors, lamp brackets, hooks, small tables, and even doors. They were considerate enough to leave the car frame and wheels. And the purloiners were government officials and people belonging to the wealthy classes.

The stations along the railroad over which the writer traveled were rude sheds, very unclean, and without a chair or bench. The cars, too, were very dirty. While this was especially true of the second-class coaches, which were oftentimes crowded with half-naked, unwashed people, the first-class coaches also became very unclean in a short time. It soon became necessary to take out all the upholstery and replace it by plain seats.

When the railroads were being built reports were spread that the foreign contractors were stealing Chinese children and burying them in the roadbed so as to propitiate the god who rules over railroads. These reports greatly excited the people, and in one instance a mob attacked two missionaries near Pekin, and would have killed them had not a detachment of soldiers rescued them. Under guise of these reports children were really kidnapped and taken into the cities for immoral purposes.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

COMMENT IN LONDON.

Spain Urged to Sue for Peace at the Earliest Moment.

London, July 6.—The Daily Mail, in an editorial, under the caption, "As in 1863," says:

"Wherever the English language is spoken, yesterday there was jubiliation. Admiral Cervera's defeat by the American navy has nobly redeemed the latter's recent apparent inaction. Admiral Sampson's name stands with Admiral Dewey's. With Sampson rests the glory of this Fourth of July. If the war had shown nothing else it would have proved the amazing efficiency of the American navy."

The Times says:

"Admiral Sampson's brilliant exploit was as complete as Admiral Dewey's. Nothing but the conviction that his plight within the harbor was hopeless could have justified Admiral Cervera's attempt to leave. Had he been able to judge correctly what was passing in General Shafter's mind, doubtless he would have remained. The difficulties of navigation probably caused him to make a bold effort by daylight.

"It is not easy at this moment to foresee the wider consequences of the unchallenged supremacy of the American fleet in Cuban waters. Overpowered, after an heroic defence, Spain's only course is—her friends even in the French press urge her—to seek peace, which, even if onerous, cannot now be dishonorable."

The Daily Graphic says:

"If Senor Sagasta elects to risk further disasters for fear of the frothy jingoes in Madrid, he will incur a terrible responsibility. The Spanish flag has been borne with undying glory in the face of tremendous odds, and the punctilios of honor have been generously satisfied."

The Daily News tenders similar advice. It says:

"The Spaniards can fight and die. So can the Americans. Ambassador Hay, in his glowing and eloquent speech of yesterday, gloried in this thought, but to their equal courage Americans add in this unequal combat with Spain not only vastly superior material resources, but a devising of mind and a skilled organization without which bravery is nothing but a means of providing stuff for the shambles."

THANKS FOR SCHLEY.

Resolution Introduced Into the House by Representative Berry, of Kentucky.

Washington, July 6.—Representative Berry of Kentucky yesterday introduced in the House a joint resolution tendering the thanks of Congress to Commodore Schley and the officers and men under his command for the destruction of the Spanish fleet. The resolution is as follows:

"Resolved, That the thanks of Congress and of the American people are hereby tendered to Commodore Schley, U. S. N., for his heroic and distinguished conduct in destroying the Spanish fleet in Cuban waters on the third of July last."

COMMODORE SCHLEY.

The body of the resolution omits reference to those under Schley's command who are recognized in the title.

VICTIMS OF A TORNADO.

Eight Deaths as the Result of Yesterday's Storms at Hampton Beach, N. H.

Hampton, N. H., July 6.—The tornado which swept over Hampton Beach July 4 has almost dazed the people of that village, and aside from caring for the injured little has been done towards clearing up the wreck of the storm or estimating the full extent of the damage. It is now settled that the number of killed was eight, and that he pecuniary loss will be several thousand dollars.

Six cottages were wholly or partly demolished, the casino, a restaurant, and several barns, carriage houses and other buildings. The Hampton beach and the new Bearshead hotels also suffered some damage.

The list of injured exceeds a score, and the wounds in some cases are serious. It was reported by the physicians yesterday, however, that all were doing well.

Wage Reduction in Canada.

Montreal, July 6.—A 10 per cent. reduction in the wages of shirt makers in this city came into effect on July 1. The manufacturers claim that Canadian goods are being crowded out by American and foreign and that the industry has been struggling against great disadvantages since the present tariff came into force. The shirt manufacturers of Canada employ over 8,000 hands, ninety per cent. of whom are women. These are paid wages averaging $1 per day, which enables them to livxe, if nothing more.

Camara's Fleet Proceeding.

Port Said, July 6.—The Spanish fleet under the command of Admiral Camara, consisting of the Pelayo, Carlos V, Patriota, Rapido, Buenos Ayres, Isla de Panay, San Francisco, Isla de Luzon, San Augustin and San Ignacio de Loyola, has entered the Suez canal.

The Spanish torpedo boats which were with the fleet, have been ordered to Messina, Sicily. They sailed yesterday, their ultimate destination, it is said, being a Spanish port.

Australian Gold for the United States.

New York, July 6.—Cable advices from Sydney, N. S. W., received in Wall street, announce the departure from there for San Francisco of the steamship Mariposa, having on board 25,000 sovereigns in gold.

THE GREAT VICTORY

How the Spanish Warships Were Destroyed.

THE MAINE IS AVENGED

Scenes Following the Fight Cervera's Fleeing Squadron. Captains of the Pluton and Terror Among Lieut. Commander Wainwright's Prisoners. The Escape of the American Ships Almost Miraculous.

Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 6.—For hours after Admiral Cervera went on board the Gloucester the Infanta Maria Teresa, Almirante Oquendo and Vizcaya continued to burn, and every now and then a deep roar, accompanied by a burst of flame and smoke from the sides of the ships, would announce the explosion of more ammunition or another magazine.

As Lieutenant Commander Wainwright watched the conflagration from the bridge, he said to an officer beside him:

"The Maine is avenged."

Lieutenant Commander Wainwright was executive officer of the Maine when she was destroyed.

Just then the Pluton and the Terror sank. The Gloucester's boat picked up as many of the survivors as she could find on the shore. The prisoners of war included the captains of both boats. None offered any resistance and they were glad to go to the Gloucester, as they feared an attack from the Cubans.

A number of the survivors, including officers of the Furor, who, it was reported, had their legs shot off, were scattered along the coast for some distance and could not be found. Three officers and six men of the Pluton escaped in one of their own boats and pulled to the Associated Press dispatch boat Wanda, where they remained until their captain, who was held a prisoner on the Gloucester, ordered them to join him on the latter vessel.

The most remarkable feature of the combat was the fact that, notwithstanding the utter destruction of the Spanish fleet and the hard fight those ships made even after they were on fire, the American vessels should escape without injury. The only thing this can be attributed to is the poor marksmanship of the Spanish gunners, which has been so well demonstrated in every other conflict of the war.

The Newark, Commodore Watson's flag ship, did not participate in the great capture, as she was coaling at Guantanamo.

In the great sea fight which took place Monday Spain lost six ships, 300 men killed, 150 wounded and 1,800 prisoners. Our loss was one man killed and two wounded. None of our ships was seriously hurt. Admiral Cervera, Vice Admiral Villamil, Captain Eulate, and the other officers and men are held as prisoners. They were all transferred to the St. Louis yesterday and sent to New York.

Admiral Cervera said in answer to the question why he made the dash out of the harbor with his fleet, that he was forced to come out in obedience to an order from Captain General Blanco, who was acting under instructions from the government at Madrid. He made a dash for the west, he said, because only the Brooklyn and three American battleships were on that side of the harbor. He thought he would be able to outrun the battleships, and if the Brooklyn followed he could whip her.

The wrecks of six vessels of Cervera's fleet are strewn along the Cuban beach from a point two miles distant from the entrance to Santiago harbor to Jarquina Point, fifty miles away.

The Brooklyn and the Oregon chased the Cristobal Colon to the latter point, where they captured her, and a prize crew was put on board.

Before she was boarded, however, the Spaniards had opened all of the sea valves and thrown all the caps of the valves overboard.

The ship was fast filling with water and sank rapidly, and she finally careened over on her beam ends, with her big guns pointing toward the sky. She cannot be saved.

WILL HAVANA BE NEXT?

Said an Expedition Will Join Sampson' Fleet in an Attack on Capital.

Santiago, July 6.—It is stated positively that an expedition is now being fitted out for an attack upon Havana, and that Admiral Sampson's fleet will proceed there immediately after they have concluded the operations against Santiago.

Not Credited in Washington.

Washington, July 6.—A cabinet officer after the cabinet meeting yesterday denied in the most positive manner the reports from Santiago that after the fall of that place Admiral Sampson's fleet would attack Havana.

He stated that such was not the intention and that the next move would be on Porto Rico, and that when that island was taken the attack upon the Spanish coast would follow.

Officials at the navy department, before this authoritative statement was made, gave little credence to the report from Santiago. They said that the war board decided these matters, and not Admiral Sampson, and that the intention to attack Porto Rico after Santiago had fallen had never been changed.

Ice-Bound Newfoundland Ports.

Montreal, July 6.—A correspondent writes from St. Johns, N. F.: "This year has been unprecedented in regard to the enormous quantities of Arctic ice that beset the northeastern shores of the island up to the end of June. All the northern bays have been filled with ice through which no steamer could penetrate. Craft bound for Labrador were obliged to take refuge where they could and wait for weeks for an off-shore wind to clear away the ice. In White Bay and other places people were in danger of actually dying from starvation, and it is feared that when news from these localities is received sad tales will be told.

FOR THE VACATION SEASON.

Subscribers leaving the city for the summer season can have The Daily Press sent to their new address by notifying the buisness office. The address will be changed as often as desired. "Home news" will prove most interesting while you are away.

The Common Sense Route.

The Common Council respected the best kind of public opinion last night when they denied the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company the right of operating their line on East Second street. It was public opinion manifested in common sense reasoning.

Let us suppose that there is a man standing on the corner of East Fifth and Richmond streets and one on the corner of Watchung avenue and East Second street. Either one of those men, let us say, are qualified to answer a certain question which one of the magnates of the Plainfield Street Railway Company wants information about. The latter, let us again suppose, is standing on North avenue somewhere, and must get the information from either one of those men. From the corner of North avenue it is one block to East Fifth street. From the corner of North avenue to Watchung avenue and East Second street it is five blocks. Common sense teaches you that the street railway magnate would not hesitate for a moment about choosing the man on the corner of Fifth street to ask his question of.

Such being the action that common sense would dictate the individual to take, it applies equally as well to the corporation who can make the same connections in one block that would otherwise take five blocks to do.

Of course, the practical way for the people is not always the particular way for corporations who are striving to get something very valuable with comparative little outlay to themselves and great inconvenience to someone else

By the payment of a small bonus, the street railway magnates will find no obstacles in the way of securing unqualified consents for the right of way for the one block on Richmond street, between East Fifth street and North avenue, to connect their present Fifth street line with the proposed extension to Scotch Plains over North avenue.

The Council should not permit the street railway company to invade any other streets on which property owners interested object strongly so long as this short and practical way is open for their use.

The Mosquito Honored.

The festive and avaricious mosquito seems to be inseperably associated with New Jersey, and from the present trend of affairs it is not among the impossibilities that at some future time a picture of the genius culex may become the State insigns.

It will be remembered that two years ago the badges designed for the delegates to the State convention of the Christian Endeavor societies, held in this city, had a large sized mosquito printed upon it as a distinctive emblem of the State.

Now that badge has been patterned after by H. Brewster Willis, school superintendent of Middlesex county, who has designed a symbol for a large delegation of Middlesex teacoers to wear at the National Educational Society, which has upon it in prominent form the image of the mosquito as indicating beyond doubt that the wearers are from Jersey.

The mosquito may be detested and feared because of his large and powerful proboscis and his ubiquitious visits upon the unwary, but it seems nothwithstanding this that there is a certain amount of respect and credit attached to him, if the teachers' and the Endeavorers' selection can be taken to mean anything.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Although it may not be generally known, there is quite a run on the soda fountains in this city for ice cream and plain soda to take home in pails. This custom has become quite prevalent, and one drug store in particular does a good business in this way. Hereafter, when a respectable citizen is seen skulking along the back streets carrying in his hands something that looks suspiciously like a growler, do not judge him harshly, for he may only be carrying home to his family a pail of ice cream soda.

* * * * *

In a recent issue of the News a personal appeared in the Dunellen column stating that two well-known young ladies of that place had been "entertaining Rahway." It is pleasant to hear that such hospitality exists at Dunellen, but we fear that the young ladies in question undertook a task beyond their strength.

* * * * *

Several merchants about town have made a request to the city officials to have the fire alarm whistle blown every evening at 7 o'clock during the summer, so that it will become generally known that that is the hour at which the stores will close. The matter will be laid before the Council.

HE IS STILL A FIGHTER.

ABRAM ALBERTSON, REPORTED KILLED, IS STILL LIVING.

C. C. Cokefair, His Uncle, Receives Word from Gen. Corbin That His Name is Not in the List of Casualties.

C. C. Cokefair, of Crescent avenue, yesterday received a telegram from General Corbin of the War Department at Washington saying that the name of his nephew, Abram Albertson, was not among the list of casualties in the battle at Santiago, as reported by General Shafter.

Albertson is a member of the Seventy-first Regiment, New York Infantry, which took an active part in the engagements before Santiago on Friday and Saturday last, in which a large number of its members were killed and wounded.

Mr. Albertson is from Pennsylvania, but for several years past has been a member of Mr. Cokefair's family, residing on Crescent avenue. He attended college with Mr. Cokefair's son, Frank, and graduated from the School of Mines of Columbia University in 1895, taking the degree of Ph.B. in architecture. Since his graduation he has been connected with the well-known firm of Clinton & Russell, architects, of New York, and was with this firm at the time of his enlistment in Company F, under Captain Wells, who was also prominently connected with the firm of Clinton & Russell and a warm personal friend of Albertson.

The last letter received from Albertson was written on board the Vigilancia the day the transports left Tampa for Santiago. He was then well and full of patriotism, although enduring great hardships and privations. His enlistment was from purely patriotic motives and from a firm conviction of duty. Doubtless his regiment will again be brought into action at the final siege of the city of Santiago and his friends will anxiously await further tidings.

Young Hamilton Fish, of Roosevelt's Rough Riders, who died so bravely in the first charge of his regiment after the arrival of our troops in Cuba, was graduated from Columbia at the same time with Albertson in 1895.

COUNCIL STOPS TROLLEY

resolution was adopted.

A communication was received from George F. White in which he asked the Council to give him an extension of one year to complete the improvement of Sycamore avenue and that his bondsmen be released. The request was granted upon the condition that Mr. White file a bond of $1,000 to complete the work by January 1, 1899.

Resolutions were offered by Mr. Barrows which provides for the laying of stone walks and the setting of curbs where property-owners have not complied with the ordinance.

Another resolution was offered by Barrows that curbing be set to the grade on Westervelt avenue, Washington avenue and Grant avenue.

Three ordinances were called from the table and adopted on third reading. One related to the repairing of East Ninth street, another designates the streets through which the underground electric light wires are to be placed, and another relates to the licensing of inns and taverns

The ordinance regarding the care of dogs was called up and brought forth a great deal of discussion. Mr. Hetfield objected to the ordinance. It was finally decided to have one person act as dog catcher. All voted in favor of the ordinance except Mr. Hetfield.

An ordinance which provides for the licensing of shows, entertainments, etc., was called up for the third reading and adopted.

President Baker called for a report from the finance committee. Mr. Van-Herwerden being away, Mr. Buckle started to give a report concerning the accounts of Collector Bird. He said that he fully expected that the chairman of the committee would be present and then a complete report could be submitted. It was the desire of Mr Buckle that Mr. Bird's resignation be accepted so that a successor could be elected, but the other Councilmen thought differently. It was stated that Mr. Bird asked that his resignation be accepted after his accounts were audited and his successor elected, and the Councilmen did not feel like going contrary to that request. It was argued by Mr. Buckle that Mr. Bird's bondsmen were good and that the resignation could be accepted. It was decided otherwise. It was generally considered that it was not the intention of accepting Mr. Bird's resignation last evening and electing a successor.

This concluded the business for the month and the Council adjourned to meet again the first Monday evening in August.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of the Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 6—This evening the committee from Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet to settle up the Fourth of July accounts. It is estimated that the Council will come out a little ahead.

The committee in charge of the Fourth of July celebration at this place decided to display their fireworks last Monday evening, and a very creditable exhibition was given. After the rain a large number of people returned to the grounds and enjoyed dancing together with the display of the fireworks.

Monday last about sixty Sunday-school children from Plainfield enjoyed the day at the home of Mr. Fleming, of Washington avenue. The day was passed in an enjoyable manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Oakley, of New Brunswick, spent Sunday last with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Swackhamer. Mrs. Oakley is still visiting borough relatives for a short time.

Last Sunday afternoon Rev. A. I. Martine, of Church street, made an address before the Sunday-school scholars of the new Presbyterian church at Bound Brook.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

New Market, July 6—If there had been adequate stage accommodations last Monday there is no doubt but what more people would have attended the celebration in town. People did not like the idea of walking from Dunellen to this place, and it was too warm to ride a wheel, while many others did not have horses and wagons.

It is confidently believed that Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will more than clear expenses from their Fourth of July celebration. The affair was very successful financially.

Miss Bertha Giles, of Plainfield, was the guest of relatives in town yesterday.

Miss Gaskill, of Plainfield, has been visiting her cousin, Miss Gaskill.

LINCOLN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Lincoln, July 6—The New Market baseball nine visited this town July 4th to cross bats with the local team. When the visitors discovered that three of the regular nine of the home team were absent visions of an easy victory beamed up in their eyes. If they had an idea that New Market could produce a ball nine, they were sadly disappointed when the game began. The visitors went to the bat first and were retired for two runs. The Linconites then took their turn and pounded the visiting pitcher for eleven runs. Nine innings were played which resulted in a victory for this hub of the universe to the tune of 37 to 9. The features of the game were the playing of Apgar, Pohemus, Smalley and Leerrarie.

—The drivers in the fire department will soon start their summer vacations.

DR. WALKER'S PANTS.

SHE TELLS OF HER THIRTY YEARS EXPERIENCE WITH TROUSERS.

Has Had a Funny Time—Girls Take Her for a Man and Try to Flirt with Her—Often Insulted by People Who Don't Know Any Better.

A correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean writes:

I was talking the other day with Dr. Mary Walker, the only woman in the United States who wears trousers and doesn't wish she were a man. That is her boast, and she has made an international reputation by purusing her fad. There is really nothing mannish about Dr. Mary except her clothes, and in wearing them she is bound to have her own way, which is distinctly a feminine trait. She is a diminutive creature, with the thinnest of treble voice, sharp features, abbreviated hair just turning gray, and spectacles. Her ordinary dress is a plain black suit of broadcloth, with frock coat and a silk hat. For street wear in the winter she has a heavy brown overcoat with velvet collar and a cape, and at all times she carries a stout cane with a silver head fully as large as her fist. If she wore skirts she would look very like a little old maid. As it is, with her erect carriage, trim figure, and sprightly walk, she seems like a boy dressed a little beyond his years.

She has been wearing trousers for thirty years and longer. Nobody knows exactly how long, for this a point on which the doctor resolutely closes her mouth. She can never be induced to reveal the time or place when she forsook the garb of womanhood and adopted masculine atttire. "If I were to tell you that you would guess how old I am," is her feminine formula for rebuffing the inquisitive. She will only say that the change came about by degrees. She admits, too, that she was wearing trousers for some years before she went into the army as a nurse at the beginning of the civil war. The only reason she gives for adopting the garb is the convenience of trousers over the cumbersome skirts which were in vogue when she was a girl.

"This is a free country," she said, "and as I was not responsible for being a woman, I failed to see the reason why I should be compelled to endure the discomforts of skirts for a lifetime simply because I didn't happen to be born a man."

When Dr. Mary was in the army she was an acting assistant surgeon, with the rank of first lieutenant, and she dressed the same as the other officers. She wore trousers at that time with a stripe of gold lace down the side of the leg, a felt hat with gold cord, and an officer's overcoat. Her coat was not like that which she has since adopted, but was shaped like a blouse cut loosely about the neck.

"When I had on my overcoat, though," she said, proudly, "I looked every inch the man, and I am sure I acted it, for I was the only woman holding a commission in the army of the United States, and I am the only woman who has been granted a medal by Congress for active military duty."

As she said this the little doctor pointed to the bronze medal fastened with a big black-headed pin and a red, white and blue ribbon to the lapel of her coat. On the back of the medal was engraved the legend: "Presented by the Congress of the United States to Mary E. Walker, A. A. Surgeon, U. S. Army."

"Do I ever have unkind things said to me?" she said, echoing back my question. "Yes, of course—by ill-bred people. I always consider the source from which they come, and attribute them to ignorance or viciousness, but there are very few experiences of this kind, and when anybody does say anything unpleasant I usually have something to say in return which makes us quits. You would be surprised to find how little trouble I really have, and then think what a relief it is when one arrives in a strange city to be able to pick up one's grip and walk up the street, without bothering anybody and without having some soft-spoken fellow come up with a smirk and 'Is there anything I can do for you, miss?' Oh I tell you, trousers are a great thing!

"I have been taken for a Catholic priest a good many times," said Dr. Mary. "More than once people have sworn to me that I was Father So-and-So, and they wouldn't listen to a denial. Once at the White House a man hailed me as Brother Brown of his church in Atlanta, and when I told him he was mistaken I couldn't get him to believe me. Sometimes the mistakes have been very funny. Young girls have tried to flirt with me, and I have been simply shocked by the brazen effrontery of some women whom I have met while traveling. One of them actually asked me how often I shaved. She thought I was a boy, and wouldn't take my word to the contrary. Some women delight in asking me why I don't dress like them. I always tell them I buy my own clothes and I really don't see why I can't have them cut as I like without having people ask me questions about them. I tell such women that if they will send me their gowns I will wear them. I take very good care not to say how I will wear them, and as they have never sent me any I am saved the trouble of explaining. One lady promised to send me a skirt and asked me if I would wear it as she wore hers. I told her I would put it on over my trousers and then hold it up as she did so as not to interfere with my walking. She was angry and left me. I suppose she gave me up as a hopeless case."

He—I'm saddest when I sing.

She—Well, how do you suppose I feel?—Judge.

BLUE THE DOMINANT COLOR.

Black Satin or Silk Coats to Wear with All Skirts.

(By special arrangement with the N.Y. Sun.)

Blue is the dominant note of color, for it is blue, blue everywhere, and every shade between deepest, darkest navy and palest lavender is called blue. Mauve and gray are a close second, and some of the fashionable combinations of color are blue and green, red and mauve with a little touch of yellow, and light blue and black with any and every other shade in the list.

Bodices are so covered with decorations of various sorts that the original material is visible only in spots. Pretty silk blouses are decorated all over with applications of black or cream lace, trellis designs of ribbon or ruches of chiffon, and the very smartest bodices of all are those which are finely tucked. Yokes extending out over the sleeves epaulet fashion, but in realty forming the top of the sleeves and made of plaited frills of narrow ribbon, are one of the latest fancies. The frills encircle the shoulders and plaid and plain ribbon are both employed, as are frills of narrow lace sewn on a narrow insertion, and put around the yoke in the same way. Yokes of some form and device are an almost universal feature of dress. Certainly the gown without a yoke is the exception, and revers are almost if not quite as popular. They are cut in every conceivable shape, turning back from a vest either above or below the bust.

A feature of the fashionable dress is the black satin or silk coat to wear with any kind of skirt. It may be a plain, sailor-made affair with plain or fancy revers, or a dressy little garment covered with corded tucks set in at intervals and sometimes cut bolero fashion in the back, with round or square tabs in the front.

Handsomely embroidered linen lawn is used for vests and yokes, and plain white batiste is employed for vests in waists of dotted batiste. A vest of deep tucks fastened with two or three turquoise buttons is very pretty. Batistes with embroidered dots and fine lawns in plain tints of figured patterns make lovely waists for warm weather, but plain silk seems to be the all-prevailing fabric.

Sun bonnets not unlike those that were worn in the days of our grandmothers are a feature of headgear this season. They are made of shirred chiffon and organdie, and of dimity without any shirring. The material is cut double for the fronts, stiffened with crinoline, and edged with lace trimmed frills. Young ladies are to wear sun bonnets for tennis and golf with their pretty muslin gowns in the afternoons, and they will supply the matron's garden hats as well.

Some of the prettiest shirt waist are made of a new washing fabric of silk and linen, with cords running through it.

Kaiserslautern. Ein im Glanthal niedergegangener Wolkenbruch richtete großen Schaden an. Das ganze Wiesenthal oberhalb Meisenheim glich einem See. Die Brücke über den Iglsbach wurde fortgerissen. Die Weinberge und Bergäcker wurden mit Geröll bedeckt und zerstört.

St. Ingbert. In Folge eines Herzschlages verschied in Karlsbad, wo er zur Kur weilte, der allgemein hochgeschätzte frühere Mitbürger, Theodor Lamarche, im Alter von 65 Jahren. Der Verlebte hat der hiesigen Stadt testamentarisch 30,000 Mark zu Wohlthätigkeitszwecken vermacht.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Hier tagte die 27. Generalversammlung des Internationalen Vereins der Gasthofsbesitzer. Aus dem Bericht des Vereinsbureaus geht hervor, daß die Mitgliederzahl 1074 beträgt. Das Vermögen stellt sich auf 95,000 Mark, die Jahresrechnung balancirt mit 57,590 Mark. An den Bericht der Fachschulkommission knüpfte sich eine längere Erörterung an, in der von verschiedenen Seiten der weitere Ausbau der bestehenden und die Gründung neuer lokaler Fachschulen befürwortet wurde. Die in Frankfurt a. M. bestehende Privatschule soll wegen ihrer anerkennenswerthen Wirksamkeit eine erhöhte Unterstützung erhalten.

Aalen. Mit einem reichen Vermächtniß hat Freiherr Karl August Wilhelm von König-Warthausen in Untertürkheim die Gemeinde Fachsenfeld Ober-Amt Aalen beglückt. Der Verstorbene hat nämlich letztwillig die Summe von 30,000 Mark mit der Bestimmung testirt, daß die Erträgnisse jedes Jahr an seinem Todestage unter die Ortsarmen der beiden christlichen Konfessionen in Fachsenfeld je hälftig zur Vertheilung gelangen sollen. Schon bei Lebzeiten that Freiherr von König-Warthausen der Gemeinde Fachsenfeld sehr viel Gutes.

Böhringen. Auf der Landstraße von hier nach Irslingen wurde der 26jährige Joseph Digefer von fünf Irslinger Burschen mit Prügeln und Steinen derart zugerichtet, daß er bewußtlos im Blute liegen blieb und bald darauf starb. Die Thäter, welche von dem Erschlagenen vorher noch Bier bezahlt erhielten, hatten nicht den geringsten Anlaß zu ihrem Verbrechen.

Ellwangen. Von der Strafkammer des hiesigen Landgerichts wurde der Schultheiß Amos von Weil, Ober-Amt Schorndorf, der den Lehrer Müller wegen „Ungebühr" mit 24 Stunden Arrest bestraft und sofort eingesperrt hatte, freigesprochen, da das Gericht annahm, der von dem Lehrer beleidigte Schultheiß habe in Wahrung berechtigter Interessen gehandelt. Der Staatsanwalt hatte die Bestrafung des Schultheißen beantragt. Das Urtheil ist geradezu unbegreiflich, denn wenn auch der Lehrer einen nicht sehr höflichen Brief an den Schultheiß geschrieben hatte, so war er von diesem in gröblichster Weise gereizt worden.

Rottweil. Der 77 Jahre alte Ausdinger A. Bühl von Villingendorf begab sich neulich von Hause fort, um an den Bergabhängen Kräuter zu sammeln. Da er am Abend nicht heimkehrte, so suchten seine Angehörigen nach ihm. Am nächsten Morgen fand ihn sein Sohn am Fuße eines Bergabhanges todt auf. Er war von der Halde abgestürzt und hatte so seinen Tod gefunden.

Bruchsal. Das 100jährige Jubiläumsfestschießen der hiesigen Schützengesellschaft verlief unter großer Betheiligung von Schützen aus allen Gegenden Süddeutschlands.

Heidelberg. Im hiesigen Amtsgefängnisse erhängte sich der verheirathete Buchhalter Engel, der wegen Unterschlagung, die er zum Nachtheile eines Heilbronner Geschäftes begangen hatte, verhaftet worden war. Der Selbstmörder war früher Mitinhaber der Firma Bandell u. Engel, Geschäftsbücherfabrik in Stuttgart.

Mannheim. Der Bürgerausschuß beschloß die geplante Verlegung der Wittsack'schen Ingenieurschule von Zweibrücken hierher durch Gewährung von Subventionen zu unterstützen. Vorläufig sollen der Anstalt ein jährlicher Miethzinszuschuß von 5000 Mark und ein einmaliger Beitrag zu den Umbaukosten in Höhe von 8000 Mark gewährt werden. Nach Freiwerden des Gebäudes des Realgymnasiums soll dieses der Anstalt übergeben werden.

CHICKERING PIANOS

An English authority, John H. Gower, (Doctor of Music in the University of Oxford, etc.), has this to say of the Chickering.

"Without any hesitation I say it is one of the most perfect instruments I have ever seen, either in America or Europe. In every respect it is an ideal Piano.

This unsolicited opinion may be of interest to you when I say that I have spent much time and study on the various qualities of tone produced by the different Piano-forte manufacturers, experimenting and lecturing on the many phases of the phenomenon."

You can examine these matchless Pianos here. We are sole agents for the State.

WILLIAM R. DAY.

SECRETARY OF STATE AND PERSONAL FRIEND OF THE PRESIDENT.

The Position Sought the Man, Not the Man the Position—When McKinley was Governor of Ohio Day was His Close Adviser.

Less than fifty years ago, on April 17, 1849, William R. Day was born at Ravenna, Ohio. His father, Luther Day, was Judge of the Supreme Court of Ohio. He sent his son to school in Ravenna to prepare him for the entrance into the University of Wisconsin with the class of '70. Of apparently delicate physique, he devoted himself while in the university with such unremitting zeal and interest as to cause concern among his classmates as to his ability to pull through the course without breaking down. He was tougher than his classmates supposed, and he pulled through with credit, to begin the study of law in Ravenna. Returning to Ann Arbor to attend lectpres, he became librarian at the university, and in July, 1872, was admitted to the Ohio bar. Two years later he formed a partnership with William A. Lynch at Canton, Ohio, the home of Mr. McKinley. This firm continued until June, 1886, when Mr. Day was elected Judge of the Common Pleas Court of the Ninth Judicial District.

JUDGE WILLIAM R. DAY.

The new Judge had not sought nomination or election. He was averse to the routine of the bench; he had been content with his office and his practice, and the practice he had left was more lucrative as well as more congenial than the service of the bench. He resumed practice in 1887, his old firm having been changed by the addition of his brother, David B. Day, to the company, which was styled Day, Lynch & Day. His fitness for public place was recognized by President Harrison, who nominated him to be United States District Judge for the Northern District of Ohio. The Senate confirmed him, and his commission was made out, but by advice of his physician, his health having been impaired by overwork, he declined the honor of serving.

The President has known Judge Day almost from the time he began his practice in Canton. The two became warm and intimate friends. The President needed the advice of just such a man, and long before there was any expectation that Mr. McKinley would be President he had learned to trust to the calm, sagacious advice of the pale, spare and reticent lawyer, then quite as devoted in his friendship as he is now. While McKinley was Governor of Ohio he trusted to Judge Day's help in deciding many questions that semed vexatious, and when he was standing before the country as the candidate for President there was no more zealous and helpful friend than Judge Day.

There is no doubt whatever that if there had been any office under the President which Judge Day desired to occupy after Mr. McKinley had been inaugurated he could have had it. Indeed, it is not improbable that he was asked to accept an office, and that he declined to accept. But the President did not forget him. When it seemed necessary to the President that he should have a report on the conditions in Cuba made by some person in whose judgment he could trust implicitly he turned to Judge Day to perform the service. But the State Department needed a First Assistant Secretary. Mr. Rockwell had been sent to Greece as Minister, and there was need of the guiding hand of a sound lawyer and a man of judgment and courage. Judge Day was stopped while on his way to Cuba and made Assistant Secretary. Sherman's resignation soon followed, and Day then became actual Secretary.

Judge Day has not lacked spirit or patriotism in his conduct of the many negotiations about the Spanish-Cuban controversy. If his feelings occasionally moved him to favor a more vigorous treatment of Spain, his judgment and his absolute loyalty to the President have restrained his personal preferences. Calm, with no inclination to talk, either upon his own motion or in response to questions, this spare, cool, calm man has conducted his business with great tact not only with the diplomatic representatives with whom he has come in contact, but also in his own office, in which respect for his chief and loyalty to the President made it necessary that he should at all times avoid a course that would provoke complaint from his immediate superior that he was in any sense lacking in respect or fidelity.—New York Times.

Sat Down in Boiling Water.

Little Helen Sachar, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sachar, of Richmond street, accidentally sat down in a boiler of boiling water yesterday afternoon. The little girl was somewhat scalded, but escaped serious injury. She is able to be around this morning. Her parents keep a little candy and fruit store on Richmond street, near East Second street.

The prize choristers of Grace church for June are Harris Egan, Douglass Murphy and Van Wyck Brooks.

THE COUNCIL THANKED.

Property Owners Along East Second Street Hold a Meeting

The property owners along East Second street held a meeting this morning at the office of Reed & Coddington, and in appreciation of the action taken by the Common Council last night a vote of thanks was extended to the Councilmen for refusing to grant a franchise to the trolley company to construct its road up East Second street between Watchung avenue and Richmond street.

It was the sense of the meeting that the Mayor and Council deserve great credit for the firm stand taken in favor of individuals rather than a corporation.

A False Alarm.

One round of fire alarm box No. 21, corner of Watchung avenue and East Third street, was sounded yesterday afternoon just as the 5 o'clock whistle was blown. A number of people ran to the box, but soon discovered that there was no fire. The cause for the blow was occasioned by the fact that Herbert Chamberlain was installing a new lightning arrester at fire head quarters and it was positively necessary for the alarm to be sounded. The new switch board will be placed in position in a short time.

To Law Over a Loan.

Charles Kane and Michael Ettinger have disagreed about the loan of $100, and so yesterday Kane brought suit in Justice Mosher's court against Ettinger, who is his brother-in law, for the recovery of the loan. Kane loaned the money to Ettinger and his wife. Mrs. Ettinger has since died, and instead of suing Ettinger and the legal representatives of the dead woman, Kane brought suit against the husband. Justice Mosher, upon motion of Councilman W. L. Hetfield, who represented Ettinger, granted a non-suit. Codington & Swackhamer were Kane's counsel, and say they will institute proceedings again to recover the alleged loan.

Warm for the Judge.

Juetice Mosher found things uncomfortably warm in the region of one of his trousers pockets this morning. He had a tin box containing matches in his clothes and in sitting down crushed the box, igniting the matches. The only damage done was to burn a hole in the Judge's clothes, for he got the box of burning matches out of his pocket so quickly that they did not have a chance to injure him.

Some weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Hauser and Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse decided to go to Europe together. But the former were unable to go with Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse. Instead they sailed this morning.

Both were about thirty-five years of age and childless. Mrs. LaCasse was a little over five feet in height, having light blue eyes and light complexion. She has a wealth of light auburn hair. She was bright and vivacious in her conduct, and had the cultured character of her nationality.

He Wished the Eye Designated.

An assertion one hears frequently nowadays is to the effect that Americans are the finest artillerists in the world. This may as well be admitted, but they are not all so proficient in the art of gunning as was John F. Hurley, of Salem, Mass., who served in the late war and of whom "The Salem Gazette" tells the following story: "Mr. Hurley was a clever gunner, and several years ago the following tale was told of his skill: He was actively engaged in firing solid shot at the enemy, in one engagement, and his captain came up and said: 'Private Hurley, let me see you hit that rebel captain in the eye.' 'Yes, sir,' replied John, 'which eye shall I hit?'"

"Have you copyrighted your play?" asked the theatrical manager.

"No," replied the dramatist, lowering his voice; "but I copied it right."

True Politeness.

An old friend of Dr. Wendell Holmes once took a few friends in to call upon him. Among them was a young married woman, who had never read any of Dr. Holmes' books, and insisted upon her friend's "coaching" her a little in advance. "I told her about his works, therefore," said the lady, "dwelling especially upon the Autocrat of the Breakfast-Table as being perhaps the most famous of them. Everything went swimmingly till just as the company was taking leave. Then the "young married woman" broke out in a pretty burst of enthusiasm, "Oh, Mr. Holmes, I must tell you how much I have enjoyed your books, and particularly the Autocrat of the Breakfast-Table!" Her friend and sponsor was ready to drop through the floor. But her alarm was needless. Holmes smiled in his kindest manner, expressed his thanks, and remarked that many people thought the Autograph the best thing he had ever done.

An Excellent Prescription.

There are doctors and doctors; among the most intelligent of all those friends of humanity was one who had the courage recently to give a bit of advice to the head of a family not many miles from New York. The head of the family was robust but exacting, healthy but irritable. "I don't know what is the matter with my family, doctor," he said; "but my wife is nervous, my children are suffering from something—I don't know what—in fact, the whole house is upset. Even the servants seem vacillating and bordering on nervous prostration." "I think it would be all right," said the doctor, "if you took a six months' tour of Europe alone." "I," cried paterfamilias—"the only well member of the family?" "Yes," said the doctor gravely; "you ought to travel for the health of your family."

The exchange was consummated yesterday for Spanish officers of equal rank. Hobson and his crew were then escorted through the lines by Captain Chadwick amid wild demonstrations on the part of the troops.

They were taken on board of the flagship New York, where they received an ovation from officers and men. It is understood that they will be ordered home shortly.

PLAINFIELD BOYS IN THE RANKS OF THE VOLUNTEERS.

Richard Everett Dwight in Battery A. of the Pennsylvania Volunteers — Charles Peterson in Engineering Corps

Several weeks ago, Richard Everett Dwight, son of Rev. and Mrs. M. E. Dwight, of Rockview avenue, enlisted as a member of Battery A, of the Pennsylvania Volunteers. Dwight is a graduate of Princeton. A number of his old college chums are members of the battery which is largely composed of college men. He went to Philadelphia and enlisted there where the battery was formed through the efforts of Editor Warburton, of the Philadelphia Record. Rev. Mr. Dwight afterwards went to Philadelphia and gave his son an outfit. Battery A is now at Newport News and young Dwight writes home that they are waiting there for their uniforms to arrive when they expect to be ordered to Cuba for active service.

Charles Peterson, of Watchung avenue, now a member of Company B, of the First United States Volunteer Engineers, was home on a furlough Saturday to see his parents. He then returned to Willetts Point where his company was receiving instructions. He now writes that on his return to Willetts Point, he found that a detail of twenty-five men had been selected to go to active service at the front near Santiago. Peterson was BABIES GATHERED ON PARSONAGE LAWN.

Close of the First Year of the Cradle Roll.

A YOUTHFUL ORGANIZATION

THE TOTS WERE GIVEN REFRESHMENTS LIKE THEIR ELDERS.

A Novel Society at the Congregational Church for Children Under Six Years of Age — Miss Dwight is President and Looks After Them — Met Yesterday on Parsonge Lawn.

The citizens of the next century, the babies of today, gathered on the lawn of the Congregational parsonal, corner of West Seventh street and Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon, to attend the closing exercises of the "Cradle Roll" of the church. The "Cradle Roll" is something new. It was started last fall through the instrumentality of Rev. C L. Goodrich, pastor of the church. Membership to this youthful organization was limited to the babies of the congregation under six years of age.

The object of the "Cradle Roll" was to connect the children with the church at an early age before they were old enough to go into the Junior Endeavor Society. The "Cradle Roll" is altogether a rather remarkable organization. There are membership cards for it. Instead of a signature, the outline of the hand of the baby is draw below the clause of membership. The little ones are taught the advantages of giving their pennies to a good cause. Each one is supplied with a tiny mite box in which theoretically the baby is supposed to drop an occasional coin, but which generally depends on the parents of the baby for its support.

There were nearly twenty-five of the tots gathered on the parsonage lawn, each under the care of some indulgent parent or nurse. Swings, hammocks and little seats had been arranged about the lawn, and here the little ones gathered and were soon laughing and romping about in their childish play. The little ones who had not yet attained the dignity of being able to navigate alone, chattered and cooed with pleasure, for the good time was nfections.

Miss Katharine Wolcott Dwight was the president of this tiny organization and on her devolved much of the entertaining of the members. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich and their young son also assisted in doing the honors.

There were a number of new members who joined the "Cradle Roll" yesterday and who partook of the general festivity of the occasion.

Of course, there were refreshments, but the selection of proper ones had given the pastor and the fair president considerable trouble. Milk was decided upon as the most fitting. Then there were souvenirs for each of the tiny guests. They were candy boxes in the shape of little cradles that rocked. Sweets were tabooed, however, and "animal crackers" substituted. The little revellers were very much satisfied with it all, and departed homeward at last munching stray legs off of cracker lions or trunks from elephants of the same nature.

UNITY LODGE OFFICERS.

Pythians Held Their Installation Exercises Last Night.

The recently-elected officers of Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias, were installed last evening with appropriate ceremonies by District Deputy Robinson and staff. There was a large number of members and visiting Knights present. The officers installed were as follows: Chancellor commander, Frank Rathborn; vice-chancellor, Edward Chappell; prelate, Albert Rushton; master of work, R. H. Loughlin; master-at-arms, William Johnson; inner guard, Fred Sears; outer guard, George Radford.

During the good of the order, a handsome past chancellor's jewel was presented to Past Chancellor Robert H. Loughlin.

A Smart Plainfielder.

W. L. Glenny, of Webster place, one of the graduating class at Prof. Leal's school this year, has won high honors in his entrance examinations for Columbia College. He won the Alumni competitive scholarship, which is valued at $600, for the best showing in the examinations in which a large number of young men took part.

Fell Out of a Carriage.

MILK WAGON WRECKED.

RICKETY OLD BUGGY COULDN'T STAND THE STRAIN.

Broken Shaft Frightened the Horse Which Runaway and Plunged Into a Trolley Car With Quite Bad Results.

A runaway that resulted disastrously for Carl VonHeimerle's milk wagon occurred on New street, near Fourth street, this morning about 6 o'clock.

VonHeimerle lives at New Market, and has been bringing his milk to town in a top buggy that had seen better days. This morning one of the shafts of the old buggy was broken, but that didn't make any difference; it was wound with straps and looked all right.

On New street the broken shaft became loose, but the colored driver kept on.

Near Fourth street the shaft came to pieces and this frightened the horse so that he broke into a mad run, in and out of the car tracks, down Fourth street to Liberty. The one shaft kept bobbing back and forth, striking the horse's shoulder all the time. A trolley car was just ahead of the animal and he soon overtook this. One of the wheels struck the rear end of the car, upset the buggy and threw the driver several feet in the air. He landed on his head, but got up unhurt.

The buggy went to pieces, and some of the flying debris barely missed breaking the glass windows in Edward Randolph's drug store on the corner. The horse broke loose from the wreck and with parts of harness dangling was seen going down West Fourth street towards Dunellen at full speed. The milk cans were all empty and were picked up with pieces of buggy wheels, spokes, harness, etc., and deposited in the pile of wreckage.

THE DOCTORS AT THE INN

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION MET AT MOUNTAIN PARK.

Enjoyed a Splendid Menu as Provided by Host Moulton—Address Delivered by a Talented New York Physician.

The quarterly meeting and dinner of the Plainfield Medical Association was held last evening at Mountain Park Inn, and was attended by seventeen of the members. The association had as their guest Dr. Northrup, of New York, who opened the subject for discussion, which was "The Summer Complaints of Children." Dr. Northrup's remarks were highly instructive and of great interest to those present. After the subject was introduced the members of the association discussed it in an informal manner and there was an exchange of much valuable information.

Following the discussion the members adjourned to the dining room, where an excellent menu was served under the direction of Manager Moulton, of the Inn. The menu is as follows:

Little Necks.
Consomme Imperiale.
Chicken Halibut Gratinees.
Cucumber Salad. Pommes Parisienne.
Lobster Saute, en caisse Newberg.
Roman Punch.
Broiled Spring Chicken. Lettuce Salad.
English Fruit Pudding. Brandy Sauce.
Neapolitan Ice Cream. Cakes.
Cheese. Fruit. Coffee.

Through the courtesy of Dr. J. T. Fritts and the Plainfield Street Railway, the members were allowed the use of a special trolley car going and coming from the Inn. The physicians appreciated this expression of goodwill on the part of the company.

Repairing the Sewers.

A long time ago an explosion of sewer pipes occurred in the vicinity of Richmond street and Putnam avenue demolishing a numner of the pipes. Many were repaired at that time, but recently it was discovered that the pipes on Richmond street needed attention, and the matter is now being looked after. Several pipes have been taken out and replaced by new ones. New curb connections are also being made. The work will be continued in that neighborhood until all damaged pipes are removed.

Autographs of Prominent Men.

Alfred T. Slauson, of East Ninth street, called on his cousin, Brigadier-General Guy Henry, and Ensign William Y. M. Powelson, on board the St. Paul yesterday and secured both their autographs. General Henry goes to Santiago with the Eighth Ohio, and is a cousin to Mr. Slauson, while Ensign Powelson is a son of an old friend.

Annoyed By Dogs.

Dogs owned by people living in the Eight Row near Dunellen have been the cause of a complaint to Chief Grant. The residents near there claim that the dogs annoy them so nights that they cannot sleep. The Chief has promised to look after the matter.

WHY SO MANY WERE LOST.

Official Explanation For Great Loss of Life on La Bourgogne.

SURVIVORS START SOUTH.

The Ship Listed Heavily to Starboard and the Port Boats Could Not Be Lowered—Many Climbed In Them However—Murderous Action of the Crew as Seen by the Survivors.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

New York, July 7, 1:25 p. m—According to the latest information regarding the sinking of the French Liner LaBourgogne, the number of persons lost was 560

The official explanation as to the cause that so few of the passengers were saved is that the blow caused the ship to list heavily to starboard.

When the ship listed far to starboard, the lifeboats and rafts on the port side were thus thrown so high in air that they could not be launched, causing the death of many persons, who, not knowing that fact, sat in the boats and waited.

The despatches show that the boats on the starboad side were launched Such is the official explanation of the company for the great loss of life.

The passengers became panic-stricken and could not be controlled. In the rush for the boats many were killed or pushed overboard and drowned.

Much indignation is felt at the conduct of the sailors of the ship as told by the survivors. Many of them describe their actions as murderous pure and simple.

The majority of the survivors left Halifax this morning for Boston. Most of them went by train.

A MIRACULOUS FALL.

Three-Year-Old Boy Tumbled Out of a Third Story Window.

Constable George Rockafellow, of West Front street, received word today that his little three-year-old grandson, Harold, son of George, Jr., fell out of the third story window of a house in Princeton Sunday afternoon. The extent of the lad's injuries have not been fully ascertained, but no bones were broken. The physicians who examined him say that he may not have been hurt at all.

The lad's escape from instant death is marvelous. His mother left him sleeping in a front room, and thinks that he must have climbed up to the window seat to look out of the window and fallen out. In the fall he struck some wires which broke his fall, and he struck on the hard pavement.

Physicians were summoned in haste. Harold was conscious, but badly frightened.

Unable to Walk.

Samuel Pound, aged 50 years, a resident of Leland avenue and employed by David Hand at his brickyard, fell off the brick wagon a few days ago and severely injured his leg so that he is unable to walk. He was taken to the hospital yesterday afternoon and is now receiving proper treatment. Thus far the physicians have been unable to ascertain what the injuries are, but they are considered serions.

Lightning Struck the Hospital.

During one of the recent heavy showers the roof of the small annex to Muhlenberg Hospital was struck by lightning. It was discovered when the roof began to leak Monday night. A few of the shingles were torn off about half way up to the peak.

Flag Fund Growing.

The Public Library flag fund is slowly increasing, and in time enough money will have been donated to purchase a nice flag. Contributions can be left at the library or at this office.

Sunday-school in the Morning.

Beginning with Sunday, the Sunday-school of the Congregational church will hold its session in the morning at 9:30 o'clock instead of in the afternoon.

Overcome by the Heat in Church.

A man was overcome by the heat at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church Sunday evening and had to be carried out during the service.

E. H. Ladd, Jr., of Franklin place, was yesterday elected vice-president of the Central Branch of the Union Pacific Railway.

IN AGONY IN A CELL.

THOMAS WARING LOCKED UP WITH A DISLOCATED SHOULDER.

Doctor Called by Police Said That Nothing Was the Matter With Him —Officers Thought he Was Shamming.

Suffering excruciating agony, and with nothing to relieve the pain except a bottle of witch hazel brought to him by his wife, Thomas Waring, of West Second street, spent the hours from 11 o'clock Tuesday morning until 9 o'clock yesterday in one of the 4x8 cells in the city jail with a dislocated shoulder. Waring knew that something was the matter with his shoulder beyond a bruise, but when examined by a physican at his earnest solicitation, the doctor told him that there were no bones broken, and he was left to suffer in silence.

Waring and John Mullen got into an argument that led to a fight in front of the City Hotel. Tuesday morning, Waring was arrested and locked up, while Mullen escaped. When Waring was taken to the jail he complained of his left shoulder, and thought it was broken. He became so loud in his protestrations against being left without medical attendance that finally one of the officers sent for Dr. M. B. Long who made a cursory examination, and said no bones were broken.

Waring, suffering intense pain, begged to go home or to the hospital to get relief, but this the officers denied him, thinking that as the doctor said his hurt was not serious Waring was shamming. They did permit Mrs. Waring to bring her husband a bottle of witch hazel which he used unsparingly. Waring says he could neither sleep nor lie down, because of the pain and the lack of accommodations. When morning came he was released, and walked home as fast as possible and summoned Doctors VanHorn and Clawson who pronounced his injury a dislocation of the shoulder. Waring had to be put under the influence of ether before his shoulder could be dropped into place and bound up. The injury is not serious, and had it been attended to at once, would have given him but little trouble. The constant application of the witch hazel kept the swelling down, which made it easier to put in place.

GAZELLE STILL ALIVE

OLDEST FIRE COMPANY FINALLY DECIDE NOT TO DISBAND.

It Took a Long Time to Arrive at That Decision, However—Member Rebel Against Being Moved to West End.

A lengthy meeting of the members of Gazelle Engine Company was held last evening to consider the advisability of disbanding the company. The members stood half and half on the question of allowing the oldest and original fire company in the city to go into oblivion. The question was argued pro and con, and for a time it seemed as though a decision would not be reached at all.

The officials of the fire department were present and urged the members to reconsider the motion to disband, and finally this was done. The company will not disband, but they say that they will not be willing to be sent to the new hose house in the West End when it is completed, it having been intimated that such disposition would be made of the comany.

CHURCH IMPROVEMENTS.

First Methodist Society Awards a Contract to W. B. Rittenhouse.

The contracts for the electric lighting and the improvements to the organ at the First M. E. church were awarded last evening at a meeting of the committee on repairs held after prayer meeting. The contract for putting in electric lights in the church and Vincent chapel was awarded to Walter B. Rittenhouse, of this city, a graduate of Stevens Institute. In the main church two big chandeliers and a circle of lights about the organ loft will be put in beside the side lights.

The contract for putting in the water motor for pumping the organ and for repairing the organ was awarded to Midma, the great organ builder.

Express Men, Move On!

An order has gone out from those in authority to the express men that hereafter they must not leave their horses and wagons standing along the curb in front of the depot or the depot parks. Complaints have been made because sometimes when two or three express wagons are standing along the curb it is almost impossible for carriages to find a place to stop. Chief Grant accordingly has issued orders to all express men that they must not leave their horses along the curb except when loading or unloading merchandise.

THREE DAUGHTERS AND FATHER LOST.

All Victims in the Terrible La Bourgogne Disaster.

ONCE LIVED IN PLAINFIELD.

EVANS WAS A POOR ARTIST TRYING TO EDUCATE HIS DAUGHTERS.

Scott Evans Came Here Through the Advice of Col. Julian Scott—His Studio Was Located in Room 13, Stillman Building—A Year and a Half Ago They Moved to New York.

Among the victims of the ill-fated La Bourgogne, the French liner that collided with the British ship Cromartyshire on July 4, near Sable Island, there were D. Scott Evans, Miss L. Evans, Miss B. Evans and Miss M. Evans. They were entered upon the books of the company as from Plainfield, N. J.

It was two years ago or more that a hard working artist, poor like many of his compatriots, moved to this city and opened up a little studio in one of the front rooms on the third floor of "The Stillman." No. 13 was the room. To W. M. Stillman, from whom he rented the room, he gave his name as DeScott Evans.

Evans was an artist of no mean ability. In all branches of the art he was good, but his special aptitude lay in the painting of miniatures. While by no means his ideal branch of the art, he also made quite a feature of interior decorations of walls and panels with various designs and paintings. It was a more lucrative occupation and from it he derived most of his revenue.

Evans had three daughters, only two of whom, however, were known here. One was 22 and the other 20. They were both beautiful girls and followed the inclinations of their father in their love for the artistic. After the death of his wife his one object in life was to give them a good education and provide for them. To that end he worked steadily from morning to night.

His studio was located in New York, but the hard times made his income a scanty one and he was compelled to leave his quarters, owing to lack of ability to pay the high rent demanded. One day he met his friend, Col. Julian Scott, the well-known Plainfield artist. As a result of their little conversation, Artist Evans opened a studio in the same building with Col. Scott.

While an entertaining talker and pleasing conversationalist, Mr. Evans had very little to do with the people of Plainfield. He was a very industrious worker and while he received all who called, and they were few indeed, with courtesy he did not waste his moments.

He often expressed a desire to take his daughters abroad and educate them. They were frequent visitors, or rather two of them were, at his studio and often assisted him or posed for him. Many of his subjects have the face and features of the fair girls who are now sleeping in a watery grave.

Col. Scott is now in Vermont, and he is the only one who can give any of the history of the family. No one seems to know where they lived or where the other sister was. They were not known except to a few and by them only slightly. Mr. Evans was too busy to go out into society even had he cared to, and the young women seemed perfectly content with the company of their father and each other. Although they were in very modest circumstances, they always dressed simply but in very good taste.

In January, 1897, Mr. Evans moved back to New York where he made his home at 14 West Twelfth street. He gave up his little Plainfield studio and this city saw him no more. It was understood that he secured the contract for decorating the dining room to some palatial New York home which was to bring him in a large sum. It is supposed that he completed the work and on the results of it sailed for Europe with the intention of completing the education of his daughters abroad.

The Bicycle Thief Again.

Some time during the morning a Dayton wheel, No. 51,529, belonging to Curtis M. Thorpe, of Park avenue, was stolen. Mr. Thorpe left the wheel in a rack outside his store at 8:30 this morning, and at 1 o'clock, when he went to get it, found it gone.

A Patriotic Address.

A patriotic address was given last evening at the mid-week meeting in the Congregational church by the pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodrich. His subject was "The Christian Purpose of the Founders of Our Nation."

WILL NOT SURRENDER

Spaniards in Santiago Are Still Bitterly Defiant.

WILL DIE BUT NEVER YIELD

Linares's Reply to Shafter Was, "This Garrison Dies, but Never Surrenders." The Armistice Not Officialy Recognized and Men Warned to Keep Out of Sight. Spaniards Anxious to Leave the City. A Desperate Panic

Before Santiago, July 7.—Not a shot has been exchanged between the opposing armies since Tuesday noon. At the request of the foreign consuls in Santiago de Cuba General Shafter extended until to-day noon the period within which General Linares may agree to surrender his forces, under the threat that the town will be bombarded. The Spanish general's decision is doubtful. It is unquestionably true that the annihilation of Admiral Cervera's fleet was a staggering blow to him, but Mr. Ramsden, the British consul, says General Pando has reinforced General Linares with five thousand troops, and that the Spaniards are bitterly determined to fight it out. He said that so intense was the feeling among the Spanish subaltern officers that General Linares would probably be shot if he surrendered. Their attitude was expressed in Gen. Linares' reply to General Shafter yesterday:

"This garrison dies, but never surrenders."

Among some of the soldiers, however, a different feeling must prevail. They have ascertained from the experience of the inhabitants of Siboney that American soldiers respect life and property and relieve prisoners in distress. Many of the Spaniards, therefore, are now utterly indifferent if further misfortune befalls the Spanish army.

The armistice is not officially recognized and our boys have been cautioned to keep out of sight, as a stray shot at any time may precipitate general firing along the line.

In spite of the reports brought by the consuls of the determination of the Spaniards to continue the contest there is a strong hope here that General Linares will capitulate. No other construction can be placed upon his disposition to negotiate.

Rain poured down in torrents for hours, but a traverse to the hillside had been cut in the trenches after yesterday's experience and our men did not suffer very much.

Kingston, Jamaica, July 7.—Thousands of people met the launches of the foreign warships at the waterside at Santiago when they came to take away refugees.

The British and Australian consulates were besieged by hundreds imploring a chance to leave. One Spanish merchant, in a pitiable state of alarm, offered the British consul, Mr. Ramsden, $15,000 in gold to designate him as a British-Cuban, worthy to be taken away.

Those brought to Jamaica came in the clothes they stood in, some even with absolutely no kind of baggage, having thought only of escaping with their lives.

The non-cambatants in the city were in a state of desperate panic. Miss Ramsden, the British consul's daughter, says that the American shells flew around their house on Saturday and Sunday morning. Mr. Ramsden could not leave Santiago and his wife would not.

What the St. Paul Carried.

New York, July 7.—The steamer St. Paul, Captain Sigsbee, which left this port last night for Santiago with the Eighth Ohio volunteers on board, carried several other passengers. Among them was Congressman James Wadsworth of Genesee, a member of the naval committee of the House of Representatives. His object or plans are not known. Besides General Henry and staff and Congressman Wadsworth, was Captain Charles J. Goff, assistant quartermaster general of volunteers, who goes to establish a quartermaster's depot at Santiago. Santiago will be used after its reduction as a base not only for Cuban operations, but also for Porto Rican, it is understood. Twelve laborers and four carpenters accompanied Captain Goff to put up storage sheds for the commissary supplies. Brigadier General Adelbert L. Ames recently appointed brigadier general of volunteers, was ordered by Secretary Alger to take passage on the St. Paul and report to General Shafter at Santiago for assignment to duty under his command.

The St. Paul carried a motley assortment of cargo, ranging from ten-penny nails to smokeless powder for Admiral Sampson's fleet. Tents, wire cutters, more uniforms of blue and canvas, nails, leather, rope, blacksmiths' and carpenters' supplies and probably 1,000,000 rounds of rifle cartridges were carried on the cruiser to General Shafter.

Health of the Generals.

Washington, July 7.—Secretary Alger received the following dispatch yesterday from General Shafter:

Playa del Este, via Hayti, July 6.

Hon. Secretary of War, Washington:

Camp near Santiago, July 5.—Captains Alger and Sewell and Mr. Corbin are well. I am feeling better. Had hoped to be up this morning, but as everything is quiet I will remain still. General Wheeler is feeble, but remains with his command. General Young leaves for Key West to-day. General Hawkins slightly wounded in foot. All others well.

SHAFTER,
Major General Commanding.

Pillsbury in the Lead.

Vienna, July 7.—Pillsbury gained half a point on Tarrasch in the international chess tournament Tuesday night by defeating Maroczy, the Hungarian, to whom he lost in the first half, while on the other hand Tarrasch drew with Lipke. Yesterday Pillsbury defeated Steinitz and secured a clear lead of [illegible] point, Tarrasch having a bye.

HOBSON SET FREE.

His Crew Also Released. The Transaction Has Been Completed.

Washington, July 7.—Hobson and his crew have been exchanged. The release was made yesterday morning. The men are now free and the incident is closed.

The war department posted the following cable dispatch from General Shafter:

Adjutant General, Washington:

Camp near Santiago, July 5.—I am just in receipt of a letter from General Soul (probably Toral), agreeing to exchange Hobson and men here, to make exchange in the morning. Yesterday he refused my proposition of exchange.

SHAFTER,
Major General.

On the receipt of the above dispatch it was stated at the navy department that Admiral Cervera and his entire staff, who are now on the St. Louis, would be sent North and kept as prisoners at the navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H. It was the intention of the administration to keep Admiral Cervera at Santiago until the fate of Lieutenant Hobson was known, but as his exchange has been made it is no longer necessary. The officers at the war department do not know who were exchanged for Lieutenant Hobson and his men, except that the Spanish officers of the same rank were selected for the transfer.

As Lieutenant Hobson is reported ill, he will no doubt be sent at once to the United States on sick leave and will very likely start for home to-day if a vessel leaves. There was great satisfaction at the department over the news of the exchange.

Goddard and Maher to Meet.

New York, July 7.—The heavyweight fight between Joe Goddard and Peter Maher, which will be decided at the Lenox Athletic club on Friday night, is attracting a great deal of interest among the sporting men of this section of the country. These giants will battle for twenty-five rounds and as it is their third meeting Maher is an attraction, and this time in particular, as he will be watched very closely, for the outcome of this will tell whether he shall go further up the pugilistic ladder and fight Jim Corbett, McCoy and Jeffries.

The Irishman is anxious and more than confident that he can beat each and all of these worthies.

Joe Goddard, than whom no gamer man ever lived, believes that he will effectually knock Peter Maher out of pugilism on Friday night by repeating the dose he administered on two former occasions.

Goddard always was a bull dog fighter, and while some folks are of the opinion that he is getting too old, he smilingly refers to Bob Fitzsimmons's age and remarks that he is a year younger than the champion of the world and also points to his recent defeat of Maher as proof positive that he is not yet out of the business.

Goddard, in the event of defeating Maher, will willingly take on Sharkey, Corbett, McCoy or any other heavyweight.

Truce Ended at Noon.

Camp, near Santiago, Wednesday, July 6, via Kingston, Jamaica, July 7.—A truce was agreed upon between the contending forces here until noon today. There was no fighting Tuesday.

This, of course, was mainly on account of humane motives. General Shafter's summons to surrender was met by General Toral's refusal. Then came the plea of the foreign residents in Santiago that the American commander withhold bombardment for 24 hours to allow non-combatants and those of alien affiliations to withdraw with the respective consuls to a place of safety.

There are so many foreign residents—about 30,000—that General Shafter was not tenacious of starting the bombardment exactly on time.

His lines were well drawn, though a little thin in spots, but not a man outside the walls of Santiago had any fear of the result.

Then came the disastrous attempted flight of Cervera and his fleet which has tended to greatly unnerve the Spanish forces. Now there are rumors that Spain will sue for peace. All that is known before the walls of the city is that there is a lull in the strife that each side may bury its dead, attend to its wounded and get a little needed rest, while waiting for the end to come and, as far at least as the Americans are concerned, they are prepared for that end, whatever shape it may take.

Heroes Commended.

Kingston, Jamaica, July 7.—Corporal Keene and Private Barr of Battery A, Second Light Artillery, have been highly commended for gallant conduct during the terrific fighting of Saturday, when the battery tried to advance beyond El Poyo.

Privates Smith and Underwood were blown to pieces by shells and Sergeant Holvy, Veito, and Cornford were badly hurt and other men were wounded, including Barr and Keene.

One of them was shot three times, and another was shot twice but in spite of their injuries they stuck to the crippled guns until the enemy was forced to give up the assault.

The Ships to Be Raised.

Washington, July 7.—The navy department is already making arrangements to recover as much of the valuable Spanish fleet as can be saved. Yesterday an agreement was closed with the Merritt & Chapman Wrecking Company to undertake the salvage of as much property as possible from the wrecks.

Bismarck's Advice is Good.

London, July 7.—The Berlin correspondent of the Standard says:

Prince Bismarck advocates the most rigorous neutrality as the only policy for Germany with regard to the Hispano-American war.

Chicago Newspapers Resume.

Chicago, July 7.—The Chicago papers published as usual yesterday.

The stereotypers who struck have all been dismissed and their places supplied by non-union men.

Alphonso XII. a Prize.

Key West, Fla., July 7.—It is reported here that the Spanish warship Alfonso XII attempted to run the blockade out of Havana and was captured by an American cruiser.

MEN FOR PORTO RICO

Must Be Ready to Sail for San Juan At Once.

GEN. WADE WILL COMMAND

The Troops Ordered South With So Much of Dispatch Intended for San Juan Instead of Santiago. Our Purpose is to Seize the Last of Spain's Possessions in the Western Hemisphere Before the War Ends.

Washington, D. C., July 7.—Army circles received something of a surprise yesterday when it was semi-officially announced that Major General James F. Wade is to command the Porto Rico expedition.

This information comes from a reliable administration source, as does also the statement that the troops that are now being hurried to various points on the sea coast are reall yintended for service at San Juan.

The assignment of Major General Wade to command the expedition to Porto Rico is a recent change in the programme, for it is known absolutely that Major General Brooke had been promised this command.

Less than ten days ago Gen. Brooke wrote to the war department and strongly urged that he be given active field duty.

Secretary Alger replied to him by stating that when the Porto Rico expedition was prepared to start Brooke should be placed at the head of it.

General Wade is an Ohio man and his political friends have been busily at work for the past two weeks, and the result is understood to be a victory for him and an overthrow for Brooke. General Wade is a son of former Senator Wade of Ohio, who is a great personal friend of President McKinley.

This combination was too strong for Brooke and unless something better turns up for General Wade the latter will command the expedition to Porto Rico. He is at present at the head of the Third Army Corps at Chickamauga.

A close friend of the president says that the great bustle and hurry in the war department Tuesday and yesterday is caused by the preparations to get an army off to capture San Juan.

The administration is of the opinion that as soon as Admiral Sampson is able to enter the harbor and bring his guns to play on Santiago there will be little further hard work for General Shafter's men and that the surrender of the city will quickly follow. It is also thought that the number of trops now there is sufficient to assure victory.

With this idea in view hurried plans are being perfected for taking the last of the Spanish possessions on this hemisphere. While the troops that are now being concentrated at New York Charleston, Newport News, Mobile and Savannah are, to all outward appearances, bound for Santiago, there is slight hope of their being landed in Cuba.

When they sail from American ports it will probably be for San Juan.

The department will communicate with General Wade in the Windward passage before the latter strikes at San Juan. If it should appear that there is need for more men at Santiago this expedition will be deflected from its original course and sent to Shafter's aid.

ANNEXATION BILL PASSED

Measure Empowers President McKinley to Provide for Temporary Government.

Washington, July 7.—By a vote of 42 to 21 the Senate yesterday afternoon passed the joint resolution annexing the Hawaiian islands.

The president will approve the resolution as soon as it reaches him, and the annexation of the islands will be completed.

Rear Admiral Miller, commanding the Pacific station, will have the honor of raising the American flag at Honolulu, and it is expected he will sail from San Francisco for Hawaii by the end of this week in the Philadelphia, his flagship.

The resolution empowers the president to provide for the government of the island until Congress shall pass the necessary legislation on this subject, and it is expected that President McKinley will appoint Mr. Dole, the present president of the Hawaiian republic to be governor general of the islands.

Senator Allison expressed the opinion yesterday that Congress would adjourn before the close of the present week.

Census Bill Held Up.

Washington, July 7.—There is little expectation that the census bill, which has passed the Senate, will get through the House this session. It provides for filling the 3,000 clerical positions in Washington involved in the undertaking on the spoils basis, which would be perhaps twenty government salaries at the disposal of each senator and representative of the dominant party, and ten for distribution by each Democrat in Congress, for the bill provides that not more than two-thirds of the places shall go to members of any one party. There is still an element in Congress left which does not believe that this is the way to do public business.

Representative Gillett, Republican of Massachusetts, is one of these men, and he said yesterday: "They have got to have a quorum here to get the Senate census bill through the House, and as I do not believe a quorum can be kept in this body, the measure will have to go over. We do not purpose to let such a bill pass until we have to, and shall exhaust every resource before consenting to such a thing."

Sorrow for Garcia.

New York, July 7.—General Calixto Garcia's youngest daughter, a girl of fifteen, who was sent out of Cuba at the outbreak of the Cuban insurrection, is at the point of death at the home of relatives in Liberty, Sullivan county.

She is the general's favorite child. Tuesday news of her illness was cabled to him with an appeal from her begging him to come to her before she died.

A DAY OF THANKSGIVING

McKinley Proclaims One for the Victories of American Arms.

Washington, July 7.—President McKinley, at 11.40 last night, issued the following proclamation:

To the People of the United States of America:

At this time, when to the yet fresh remembrance of the unprecedented success which attended the operations of the United States fleet in the bay of Manila, on the 1st day of May last, are added the tidings of the no less glorious achievements of the naval military arms of our beloved country at Santiago de Cuba, it is fitting that we should pause, and, staying the feeling of exultation that so naturally attends great deeds wrought by our countrymen in our country's cause, should reverently bow before the throne of Divine Grace and give devout praise to God, who holdeth the nations in the hollow of his hands and worketh upon them the marvels of His high will, and who has thus far vouchsafed to us the light of His face and led our brave soldiers and seamen to victory.

I, therefore, ask the people of the United States, upon next assembling for divine worship in their respective places of meeting, to offer thanksgiving to Almighty God, who, in His inscrutable ways, now leading our hosts upon the waters to unscathed triumphs now guiding them in a strange land through the dread shadows of death to success, even though at a fearful cost, now bearing them without accident or loss to far distant climes, has watched over our cause and brought nearer to success of the right and the attainment of just and honorable peace.

With the nation's thanks let there be mingled the nation's prayers that our gallant souls may be shielded from harm, alike on the battlefield and in the clash of fleets, and be spared the scourge of suffering and disease while they are striving to uphold their country's honor; and withal let the nation's heart be stirred with holy awe at the thought of the noble men who have perished as heroes die, and be filled with compassionate sympathy for all those who suffer bereavement or endure sickness, wounds and bonds by reason of the awful struggle.

And, above all, let us pray with earnest fervor that He, the Dispenser of all Good, may speedily remove from us the untold afflictions of war and bring to our dear land the blessings of restored peace and to all the domain now ravaged by the cruel strife the priceless boon of security and tranquility.

WILLIAM McKINLEY.

Executive Mansion, Washington, July 6, 1898.

PRISONERS TO BE SENT NORTH.

A Report That Cervera Will Be Sent to Fort Warren, Boston.

Washington, July 7.—Admiral Sampson has been directed to send his prisoners to the United States. Possibly the Harvard will bring some of them. The St. Louis is filled with the wounded soldiers and cannot be used to convey the Spanish sailors. The enlisted men and non-commissioned officers among the prisoners will be sent to Portsmouth, N. H.

The commissioned officers, from Admiral Cervera down to the ensigns, will be sent to Fort Warren, Boston Harbor, where they will be turned over to the army for safe keeping.

CAMARA'S SHIP DISABLED.

Not to Be Allowed to Take on Coal There. A Breakdown of the Pelayo.

Suez, July 7.—The Spanish fleet commanded by Admiral Camara has arrived here, and has been notified by the officials of the Egyptian government that it must leave this port within 24 hours. The government has also notified Admiral Camara that he will not be allowed to coal here.

Ismailia, Egypt, July 7.—The machinery of the Spanish battleship Pelayo is out of order and she has been compelled to stop here since early morning.

The Reina Mercedes sunk

SANTIAGO July 6.—The Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes was destroyed just after midnight by the American fleet. This ends Cervera's squadron.

HAVE BEES CONSCIENCE?

If So It Evidently is Not of a Very Sensitive Kind.

This question was raised in my mind and answered in the affirmative, by the following incident which I observed in the course of a country ramble on the coast of Devon. There were several small bumble-bees steadily at work among the many gay-colored blossoms which form a perfect flower-bed on either side of a cliff walk on that lovely promotory opposite the little fishing town of Salcombe. Each bee kept to his own particular flower, as (so Sir John Lubbock tells us) all well-conducted bees should do. But one became puzzled by the likeness in color between black knapweed and purple thistles. His flower for his outing was evidently the knapweed, and when he had exhausted all its blossoms in the immediate neighborhood he was beguiled by similarity in color into trying a thistle, but, on alighting, he instantly discovered his mistake, and flew about looking for more knapweed, which he might easily have found by flying a few yards further. Instead, however, he returned to the inviting thistle-head, and this time gave himself up with perfect abandon to its luscious delights, stifling the voice of conscience which on his first visit he had so instantly obeyed.

These little bumble-bees well repay the time spent on watching their small, busy lives. On another occasion, when camping for the day in a fir-wood, my sister became aware of two of these soft little creatures buzzing round and round the skirt of her dress in such a determined and spirited way that we felt they meant business and not mischief. My sister drew her skirt away, when the bees instantly made for a tiny hole in the bank, evidently their house door. Their gentle, persistent manner of making their meaning known to us was most striking.

A TERRIBLE DISASTER

French Liner—Bourgogne Sinks in Open Sea.

FIVE HUNDRED LIVES LOST

The Fated Steamer Left New York Last Saturday. Seven Hundred Souls Including Crew on Board. She Was Run Into and Sunk by the Steamer Cromartyshire. Only 200 Persons Rescued from Sinking Vessel.

Halifax, N. S., July 7.—The Nova Scotian coast is the scene of another awful marine disaster, exceeding in horror that which attended the destruction of the White Star line steamer Atlantic on Meagher's Rock, nearly three decades ago. At dawn last Monday, during a dense fog, the iron Clyde built sailing ship Cromartyshire collided with the French line steamer La Bourgovne, which left New York last Saturday for Havre and sent the liner to the bottom. In all over 500 passengers and crew were drowned.

Of the 125 women tourists on board one alone was saved, an exact repetition of the Atlantic wreck, which occurred within a comparatively few miles of where the Bourgoyne went down.

The collision occurred sixty miles south of Sable island, the chief marine graveyard of the North Atlantic, and the Cromartyshire, although badly damaged, managed to stand by and save 200 passengers and crew of the ill fated Bourgoyne.

The Allan line steamer Grecian, bound to New York from Glasgow happened along ten hours after the collision, and, after transferring the survivors of the Bourgoyne to her decks, took the Cromartyshire in tow, bringing her to this port, where both arrived at daylight. The Bourgoyne sunk in one-half hour, her commander, Capt. Delancle, and the majority of the watch officers going down with her.

The Cromartyshire's Speed.

The Cromartyshire, according to a signed statement made to the marine authorities here by her skipper, Captain Henderson, was close hauled on the port tack, heading about west-northwest, when the collision occurred. One of her sailors says that she was under full sail at the time, but Captain Henderson denies this, and adds that his craft was hauling the wind under reduced canvas and travelling through the water at not more than five knots an hour. She is capable of doing thirteen under full sail, he says.

The log of the Cromartyshire shows that the wind was light at the time, as it usually is in foggy weather, and for that reason some doubt that the ship, making five knots an hour as admitted, could have been under small canvas. After the collision the sailing ship was found to be so badly damaged that her crew, aided by the survivors, had to turn to and jettison some thirty odd tons of cargo from the forward hold to offset the effect of the extra weight of sea water which had flowed in there, the ship being down considerably by the head.

Captain Henderson, in his official report, pays particular attention to the operation of her fog horn during the immediate period before the collision. He says that this fog horn was the regulation size, as prescribed by Lloyds and that in accordance with the rules set down by the British board of trade this horn was kept going at regular intervals, the pause being not less than one minute at any time. Two bells had just been struck forward, he adds, when the second mate, whose watch it was, received the hail, "Steamer's whistle to weather."

Each Heard the Whistles.

A dozen times or more the whistle was heard after that. Captain Henderson, who, by that time, had jumped into some clothing and came on deck, hearing it himself more than five times. The Cromartyshire, according to the report, answered each blast of the steamer's siren with a toot of her fog horn. Notwithstanding this the sound of the steamer's siren was clearly nearing very fast. The Cromartyshire continued to hold her course, however, in observance of the rules of the road.

Finally the siren grew particularly loud, as if but a few cable's lengths away, and the Cromartyshire, so the report says, gave an extra blast of her fog horn, which is said to have been answered by the Bourgoyne. Then came the crash, a terrific blow, that staggered both craft and deluged the sea with tons of debris. The vessels met almost bow on, the Bourgoyne striking the sailing vessel on the port side. The French vessel must have been travelling very fast. That is admitted by survivors, and will be made the main point in the defence of the Cromartyshire.

Shattered the Sailing Vessel.

The high bluff bow of the steamer whipped out an immense portion of the wind jammer's bow, and down came the fortopmast, main tangallant mast and the yards on these two spars, falling over the forecastle and wounding several of the sailing vessel's crew.

The jibboom of the Cromartyshire, although the bow was frightfully wrecked, remained intact, and this spar did just what it has always done in collisions of this kind, raked the poor Bourgoyne fore and aft, tearing her hull to pieces almost. The bows of the Cromartyshire were completely cut off, the collision bulkhead alone keeping her afloat. The speed at which the Bourgoyne was travelling made it impossible for her to stop, even with the force of the collision, and she disappeared in the fog to the eastward.

The Bourgoyne was finally brought to a standstill, however, but was fast sinking, and the deep sonorous tooting of her whistle informed the people of the sailing vessel of that fact, although the fog prevented them from seeing her.

The blowing of the Bourgoyne's siren afforded Capt. Henderson knowledge of the steamer's location, and wearing ship as best he could the Cromartyshire started down to the leeward in the direction of the sound. Now and then a skyrocket thrown up from the French vessel came sputtering over the royals of the sailing vessel and were answered by the latter

But the two vessels did not meet again. The fog lifted somewhat at 5.30 and the people of the Cromartyshire saw two boats heading for the ship. They came alongside, and for the first time the name of the other vessel was learned by the Cromartyshire. The latter lay to for ten hours picking up the survivors, many of whom were found on rafts and saved by the volunteers from among the Cromartyshire's crew.

Then the Grecian came along under a bright, sunlit sky, and, after getting the survivors to her decks, started for this port with the Cromartyshire in tow.

The name of the woman saved is Mrs. A. D. Lacasse, and she was rescued by her husband, who is a professor of languages of Plainfield, N. J. They were in the water eight hours when taken from a raft.

Of the 200 saved a total of 170 were passengers, and the remainder members of the crew. This fact in itself is considered very remarkable by shipping men here. As a rule in big shipwrecks the majority saved are sailors and members of the engineer corps. The fact that all the watch officers were drowned is said to indicate that they must have been lost in trying to provide for the safety of the passengers. In all, four officers were saved, the purser and three engineers.

The Cromartyshire left Dunkirk June 8 for Philadelphia. She measured 1,462 tons, as against 7,630 tons of the Bourgoyne.

MESSAGES FROM SHAFTER.

He Reports Condition of Several Officers. Cherokee Sails With 325 Wounded.

Washington, D. C., July 7.—Secretary Alger has received the following dispatch from General Shafter:

Playa del Este, via Hayti, July 6.

Hon. Secretary of War, Washington:

Camp near Santiago, July 5.—Captains Alger and Sewell and Mr. Corbin are well. I am feeling better. Had hoped to be up this a. m., but as everything is quiet will remain still. General Wheeler is feeble but remains with his command. General Young leaves for Key West to-day. General Hawkins slightly wounded in foot. All others well.

SHAFTER,
Major General Commanding.

The war department yesterday received the following:

Playa del Este, July 6.

In camp near Santiago, 5th.—The Iroquois sailed two days ago with 300 wounded; Cherokee sails to-day with 325 wounded.

SHAFTER,
Major General Commanding.

The following cablegram has been received at the White House from Miss Clara Barton, dated Siboney, Cuba, July 4:

"Kennan and Egan reached here yesterday. Five more of us came today by army wagon and on foot. Eight hundred wounded have reached here from the front since Friday morning. Surgeons and litter squads have worked night and day. Hospital accommodations inadequate and many of the wounded lie on the water-soaked soil. The Texas is feeding refugees at Siboney. Texas will go to Guantanamo tomorrow.

(Signed) BARTON.

SPAIN'S DIRE EXTREMITY.

Populace Enraged and Palace Strongly Guarded.

Madrid, July 7.—The enthusiasm aroused by the misleading dispatches of the Spanish government from Cuba is changed into the wailings of the families of the victims, and lamentations over the national disaster. The ministers are crestfallen and are still concealing the worst.

The utmost extremity of despair, of rage and recriminations prevail among the population, and the authorities are adopting strong precautions, fearing popular outbursts.

Marshal Martinez de Campos has been foremost in the endeavors to prevent disturbances.

A government crisis is imminent and it is regarded as probable that Senor Silvela or Marshal Martinez de Campos will succeed Senor Sagasta as premier and purpose peace in order to prevent the Americans from bombarding the peninsula and ruining Spain.

The palace is strongly guarded and the queen regent, who is described as being inconsolable, is receiving the sympathy of the sensible portion of the population, but there is no disguising the fact that grave forebodings are heard as to the future of Spain.

The tone of the general public can be summed up in the remark frequently heard:

"Heaven alone knows what will happen."

WOUNDED MEN AT KEY WEST.

Most of Them Were Injured in Friday's Battle. All Will Recover.

Key West, July 7.—Two more ships arrived yesterday from Santiago de Cuba with seriously wounded soldiers on board.

Most of the wounded who were brought here by the Iroquois were injured in the first day's fight, last Friday, when a general engagement occurred all along the line.

These are the milder cases, sent to Key West to make room for the large numbers being brought into camp from the fields. Most of them will be ready for duty in a month or six weeks. There are only a few seriously wounded on board. The surgeon said all would be placed in hospitals here, instead of being sent North.

Several other transports are en route to Key West with the wounded.

The doctors in charge of the hospitals here say that the wounded men that arrived Tuesday are improving as well as can be expected, and that all will recover. The wounded officers have left for the North.

Spaniards Are Mutineers.

Washington, July 7.—A special to the Star, dated off Santiago, via Port Antonio, July 6, says after the destruction of the Spanish fleet some 450 of the men on the Maria Teresa were placed as prisoners on the Harvard.

For some reason not yet ascertained these men mutinied. The officers and crew of the Harvard were not unprepared, however, and the mutineers were fired upon. Six Spaniards were killed outright and twelve were wounded.

This taught the Spaniards a lesson and restored quiet

Perversity of Human Nature.

Human nature is a strange thing. It considers and is moved almost entirely by circumstances. What arouses glee in one may cause sorrow to another, what causes aversion may from a different point of view enhance affection, and so it goes pro and con all through the various phases of life. No better evidence of it is afforded than the present sentiment which the American public holds toward death.

On Monday we as a nation were in high elation over the ending of some three hundred Spanish lives—men who were whirled to their doom not because of their individual acts or, perhaps, even their convictions, but by fate of their birth in the land with which an overpowering force is at conflict.

The death of everyone of those men meant as many heart breaks and as much affliction to their dear ones as the death of most respected and august personage in the land would mean to their relatives. There are no two ways of viewing death. It is solemn and impressive. But at present we are a warring Nation; and, as has been truthfully said, "war is hell," and "war is merciless," our sentiment towards the unfortunate enemies who fell while doing their duty, as regarded by the remorseless rules of warfare, was simply that of gratification and pleasure at their disaster. Our emotion was the product of human nature as guided by the ethics of what we are pleased to term patriotism—we were happy because we had measureably weakened our enemies. It was the ending of lives, but the perversity of human nature prevented the sympathetic ardor of Americans to assert itself.

Now look at death from another point of view. A powerful transatlantic steamer, with a cargo of some eight hundred precious souls on board, meets with a terrible causality in mid-ocean. Nearly six hundred perish. Death to these victims of the watery expanse of the high seas is exactly the same death that overtook the Spaniards under Cevera's command. It was the cessation of their activities, their influence, their all in this world. It was that and nothing more—death. The grief and the distress that prevails in the families of the ill-fated Bourgogne passengers connot be one whit greater than the sorrow that exists among the relatives of the Spaniards who lost their lives through the valorous conduct of the Yankees under Schley's command.

What a difference, though, in the feelings of the American people towards the two fatalities. The sympathy of the whole country goes out to the ones whose friends lay in the watery graves. Columns upon colums of editorials, teeming with the regrets of the Nation, and millions upon millions of lamentations are heard from every section of the country. In every community the fearfulness of the death met by the Bourgogne passengers is felt impressively We find ourselves unable to express our sadness fervently enough. And why? Because death has come unexpectedly and has brought a world of sorrow into the land, into our own homes or the homes of our neighbors. The fact strikes a sympathetic chord in our nature. It touches our sensibilities, and we find ourselves akin to the impressiveness of the occasion.

What a difference there is in the two moods developed by the same thing—death. Human nature, indeed, is a strange thing.

BRIGADIER GENERAL HENRY W. LAWTON.

Among the gallant officers who are bearing the brunt of the fighting in Cuba is Brigadier General Henry W. Lawton. In his brigade are the Twenty-second and the First Infantry, the Second Massachusetts Volunteers, and companies of the Eighth Cavalry, the Fourth Cavalry and Twenty-fifth Infantry (colored).

Cooking-schools.

Among the minor signs of the times there are few things that count more eloquently in the development of social civilization than the advance in the art of cookery. The progress made in the last quarter of a century has been noticeable. No country in the world furnishes so great a variety and quantity of the raw material of the most wholesome and palatable food as the United States, yet in few countries has food been so generally mismanaged and maltreated in the kitchen. Perhaps the very abundance of food has been responsible for this waste and carelessness of treatment. In France, where compulsion has bred economy in use, it has naturally produced skill and attention to the art of preparation. But as science has begun to educate our people in the importance of little things it has stimulated us, too, in the direction of the cuisine as applied in the household. We have awakened to the truth which Brillat Savarin expressed with some extravagance in his saying, "The discovery of a new dish does more for the happiness of man than the discovery of a new star."

The multiplicity of cooking-schools in all our large towns and cities registers this change in public feeling about the importance of the cuisine. It costs but little more to serve the table with skillfully prepared, wholesome and palatable dishes than with the indigestible abominations so long current among even our middle class families. But it requires some culinary knowledge and the conviction of the importance of good cooking as a primary factor in health and family enjoyment. The cooking-schools have gone far toward this end, and none but the best cookery manuals (and these are little fortunes to the writers) are in demand at the bookshops. The knowledge has passed from the city to the country, and intelligent women generally recognize with the force of personal ambition that it taxes both science and art to make the table what it should be, a source of harmony, pleasure and culture in household life. To this end cooking-schools have immensely contributed. There is no reason why this education should not begin in all our public schools. This would naturally lead to a study of the higher branches of the art in after years. The cooking-school is a great fact and should be systematically encouraged.

The Disease of Worry.

Modern science is beginning to discover that worry is an actual disease. It is a mental disease at first. The habit of worry becomes fixed in the mind, as the habit of taking cocaine, morphine or alcohol becomes fixed in the physical system. By degrees the diseased mental state affects, then breaks down the gray matter of the brain and kills the unfortunate individual, who might have resisted the formation of the deadly habit in the beginning.

If worry ever did any good in bettering our affairs or in helping or reforming those whom we permit ourselves to go to pieces over, then something might be said in its favor. But the bald truth is that it injures, only injures, both ourselves and others. It clouds our judgment, making us less capable of attending to our affairs, causing us to carry with us an atmosphere of unrest and unhappiness and driving friends and well wishers away from us. Next it wrinkles our faces, makes the hair and teeth to fall out, ruins our digestion and gives us gout and rheumatism. Finally it kills us, though often it is called at the last by the name of some other disease.

Pharmaceutical Products explains the fatal action of worry on the brain in these words: "It is as if the skull were laid bare and the surface of the brain struck lightly with a hammer every few seconds with mechanical precision, with never a sign of a let up or the failure of a stroke." In time the brain cells are injured beyond repair all through our own foolishness.

Can we stop worrying? Yes, we can. The way to stop it is just to stop. Think instantly of something else, something bright and pleasant, when the worry habit begins to assert itself. Make yourself think of something else. You cannot do it in a week or in a month, but in a year you can. Our mental states are always within our own control.

The Spanish consul at St. Thomas emitted a stentorian shriek because some American war songs republished in a Danish newspaper insulted, as he alleged, the majesty of the Spanish queen. He succeeded in getting the offender fined on a technicality. The more insulting war songs sung by the mouths of our great guns have not, however, been effectively resented so far.

The Chinese full bloods and half breeds are the most prosperous and thrifty tradesmen of the Philippine islands and have done more than any other class in developing their wealth. We shall needs split hairs with great dexterity in modifying our own laws anent the Celestials when we take permanent possession there.

It is pleasant to observe that recognition by government of gallantry in battle is likely to be more promptly made in this war than it was in the last. Medals of honor and similar tributes have been strung along over 30 years, and there are many brave exploits still left unrewarded.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Dunellen, July 7—The rails for the trolley line through the borough have arrived and there are now about one hundred men employed constructing the line. Yesterday officers of the Brunswick Traction Company made a tour of inspection over the line thus far completed. They report everything to be going along satisfactory.

The "wheelmen's rest" at the end of the trolley is no more. The goods have been moved away and yesterday the structure was taken down and removed also. Jacob Johnson has been proprietor of the place for sometime, but has failed to make the business successful and has been obliged to quit. It now seems only proper that the trolley company should erect some sort of a structure at that point where patrons of the road can have some protection during bad weather.

Mrs. Henry VanMiddlesworth and son, Lloyd VanMiddlesworth, of Plainfield, are guests of relatives in the borough.

LINCOLN.

(Special Correspondence of the Daily Press.)

Lincoln, July 7—The annual election for members of Council and Mayor was held Monday, and much interest was displayed at the polls. The Mayor, with his usual energy, was everywhere, and thanks to his efforts, nearly every voter responded. The result showed a victory for woman suffrage once more. Miss Emma Egel received 79 votes and was re-elected president of the Council. Mrs. Olivia Hazard and Mrs. Flora P. Wrench each received 81 votes which ensures a popular government for this town for another year. The Mayor received quite compliment in a unanimous re-election. The male members on the ticket were also re-elected without opposition.

Upon invitation of Mayor Drake about thirty of our residents and fifty-two children attended the closing exercises of the Presbyterian church in Bound Brook last Sunday, and was cordially welcomed by the minister in charge who complimented the Mayor on having a new town which represented such a large Christian membership.

Mr. and Mrs. David Miller, of Marion, N. J., spent the Fourth with Wm. H. and Gideon Smalley in South Lincoln.

Weddings in All Countries.

Only one out of every 1,000 married couples live to celebrate their golden wedding.

Among the Kols of Central India a sham fight always accompanies the wedding ceremony.

In Persia, a bonfire plays an important part in the marriage ceremony, the service being read over in front of it.

Long engagements are rather expensive affairs in Russia. The bridegroom-elect is expected to send his fiancee a present every day.

Two deaf mutes were recently married in the United States by a clergyman who propounded the important questions by the aid of a typewriter.

While the wedding service is proceeding in Japan the bride kindles a torch and the bridegroom lights a fire from it and burns the wife's playthings.

In ancient Greece, a law provided that if a man divorced his wife he could not subsequently marry a woman younger than his discarded partner.

In New Guinea the single young woman lets her hair hang about her shoulders in all its glory; but immediately after marriage she must have it cut short.

The Swedish bride fills her pockets with bread, which she dispenses to everyone she meets on her way to church, every piece she disposes of averting, as she believes, a misfortune.

English brides are becoming more cool and self-possessed every day. It is different with the man. On several occasions a wedding has been postponed through the indisposition of the bridegroom, and not long since one of these heroes was wrapped in wet sheets, and kept in a quiet, dark room to settle his "nerves."

When a marriage takes place in China, the wedding party enter the temple and light a quantity of fireworks, including a number of crackers. This is supposed to wake the "Great Joss" from his sleep. The priest repeats the service at express speed, the bride and bridegroom take two little glasses of wine, and are then declared man and wife.

The Bayanzi, who live along the Upper Congo, have a strange custom which makes life a burden to the married women. Brass rods are welded into great rings round the necks of the wives. Many of these rings worn by the women whose husbands are well to do weigh as much as thirty pounds and this burden must be carried by the wretched creatures as long as they live.

White Muslin Gown.

White will be all the rage this summer and certainly nothing could be more refreshing and becoming than a dainty gown of fine white muslin.

A decidedly pretty model has the corsage made with the fashionable decollete filled in with a gulmp of finely tucked muslin, and made with a square sailor collar extending over the shoulders. Two groups of tucks with a band of embroidery between ornament the bodice, finished in the center with three large satin rosettes. Tucking and embroidery adorn the sleeves and a stock of satin ribbon finishes the neck.

An inventor having produced a wonderful hair invigorating fluid, applied to an editor for a testimonial. He gave it in these terms:—

"A little applied to the inkstand has given it a coat of bristles, making a splendid pen-wiper at a small cost. We applied the lather to a two-penny nail and the nail is now the handsomest shaving-brush you ever saw, with a beautiful soft hair growing from the end of it some five or six inches in length.

"Applied to door-teps, it does away with the use of a mat. Applied to the floor, it will cause to grow therefrom hair sufficient for a Brussels carpet. A little weak lather sprinkled over a shed makes it impervious to the wind, rain, or cold. It is good to put inside children's cradles, sprinkle on the roadside, or anywhere that luxurious grass is wanted for use or ornament. It produces the effect in ten minutes."

It reads like some of "Dagonet's" remarks on his wonderful Tatcho.

Silks for all Occasions.

Among the new-old silks to be worn on dress occasions this summer are pretty matelasses and frills and brocades of remarkable and most varied weaving, some of them being softly finished and appropriate for the clinging effects in dress; others crisp and stately, to make into elegant redingote gowns. Still other weaves have branching flowers and other designs brocaded in exquisite hand-painted effects on grounds of peau de Suede, a closely twilled silk, yet without the glaring lustre of satin; or they have stripes like soutache-work or reseda, red or light brown grounds. Reproductions are also shown of fine faille, of lustre so brilliant that it is called faille diamant, striped with shaded vine-traceries outlined with a contrasting color, or differently woven. Ecclesiastical silks are shown in rich designs seldom woven save for priestly garments. Soft-finished silks, exact copies from those worn in the time of Louis Quinze, have stripes of green satin holding rose-vines alternating with pale old-rose stripes strewn with green leaves and shaded fleurettes, while tiny bouquets are on pale creamy parchment-colored satin or repped silk stripes.

A simple little frock for a girl of fourteen or fifteen of pale blue muslin has the skirt gathered into the waistband and trimmed around the base with two flounces of the material, edged with narrow puffings.

The bodice is made with a square pleated yoke outlined with a deep frill of material. The sleeves are tight fitting. The collar band and long sash are of white taffeta ribbon.

Dainty dresses of pure white muslin are always appropriate for children and should be included in the summer wardrobe.

THE WHITE HOUSE MISTRESS.

Mrs. McKinley's Ways in Washington Just What They Were in Canton.

"The fact that Mrs. McKinley gave a necktie which she herself knitted to a young man in Washington at his wedding," said a woman who spent the Easter holidays in Washington, "calls attention again to the simplicity and unaffectedness of the tastes of the first magistrate's wife. She has not allowed the change in her position to affect these matters in the least, and she was no more natural and modest in her former home than she is to-day. There she would have felt that something from her own hands was the sort of present that she preferred to give. She felt the same thing in Washington, and the knit four-in-hand scarf which she gave to her young friend as a wedding present was given to him in Washington with the same frankness that would have been shown in Canton.

MRS. M'KINLEY.

"I remember at Easter that she showed to a friend of mine some of the beautiful souvenirs that had been sent to her from different parts of the country. There were some lovely things among them, but she reserved till the last the one which she appreciated most. It was made for her by an old friend in Ohio. It was in the form of one of those glistening eggs of rock candy, but it was larger than they usually are. At one end was a hole through which one could look. The picture inside was a remarkably good reproduction of the White House grounds done in colored paper. On the lawn were two youths playing. The whole picture was very ingeniously done. Mrs. McKinley explained that the two boys were her young sons, who had died many years before. Mrs. McKinley told me that among all the souvenirs sent to her, and some of them were the most expensive that could well be bought, she preferred the Easter egg. Her friends have often found other instances that prove how little changed her taste has been by her removal to the position of the first lady in the land."

CAN CUBA GOVERN HERSELF.

A Grave Question Briefly Answered—Brave Men as Leaders.

To question whether the Cubans can govern themselves, in view of such testimony, is a gratuitous doubt, having no warrant in reason or history. Nothing, on the other hand, is more certain than that the government of one country by the sojourning natives of another, even with the best of intentions, must result in injustice and bad government. As for the blacks, they are rapidly disappearing, and must soon cease to be a cause of any future race prejudice. The ranks of the Cuban army are of an average intelligence above that of the Spanish population, which is fearfully ignorant and credulous.

The Cubans have not been a turbulent people. Though their history has been a long series of revolutions, they have never resorted to arms until every peaceful means of redress had been tried. In those brief intervals of peace which have sometimes visited the island, Cubans have sought to effect, by constitutional agitation, the reforms of existing abuses. Such attempts have never at any time succeeded.

There are higher questions, too, to be considered. There is no whining tone in the indomitable self-reliance of the Cuban leaders. Moving freely over three-quarters of the island, they have knocked at the very gates of Havana; they have held in check a force outnumbering their own at all times three or four to one, cooped up in their fortified towns. They die, too, with cries for Cuba free, as they did in the ten years' war—the thought of independence last in their hearts and on their lips. Their unconquerable souls go forth to that freedom they could not win on their narrow stretch of earth. Love of liberty is the surest guarantee of representative government; that these men have given to the world the purest example of such devotion that history has known proves them fit for self-government.—Joseph Dana Miller in Godey's.

Auf den Steckbrief hin verhaftete man hier auf dem Bahnhofe den Buchhalter Weber aus München irrthümlich, der jedoch ebenfalls ein flüchtiger Spitzbube war. Don't Look.

Very Dangerous, But If Left To Itself It is Death—A Plainfield Case.

There are some diseases which do not arouse our sympathy—the disease is not deep, and therefore our sympathy is shallow. But we often make serious mistakes—such as calling a backache a light affliction. Backache means kidney trouble every time, and if you don't drive it away it will never go of its own accord without taking you with it. But it does not continue simply as a backache. Now don't you think a backache dangerous? We do, but we must add just a few words and they are, Doan's Kidney Pills cure every time and all stages of kidney disease, but it is always best to keep as far from the danger line as possible, and the cure is easier,

Mr. S. J. Conklin, Traveling Salesman for a New York Confectionery House, living at 134 W. Front street, says:—"I have been subject to kidney complaint for 6 or 7 years. My symptoms were, pain in back and the hips which at times I felt in my side; if I sat for any length of time in one position when I rose, a sharp, shooting pain struck me through the small of my back and caused me great agony. I was also troubled with a bladder difficulty. I tried different kinds of kidney cures but received little or no relief. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. On using this I felt great relief and procured a second box. I have now taken 3 altogether and am wonderfully improved. I am troubled very little with backache and the bladder trouble has been greatly benefited. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and accomplished all that is claimed for them."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers, price 50c. Mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

CATHOLICS IN SPAIN.

A SIGNIFICANT LETTER FROM ARCHBISHOP GROSS OF OREGON.

He Is Somewhat Tired of Hearing Certain Governments Called Catholic—Statesmen Who Don the Livery of Heaven Wherein to Serve the Devil.

His grace Archbishop Gross of Oregon has issued the following official letter:

"The impression is abroad that Spain is a most devout Catholic government, where everything Catholic reigns supreme and the mere will of pope and bishops is most respectfully obeyed. Nothing can be further from the truth. We cite but one instance. The barbarous bullfights were introduced in spite of the Catholic church. They have been condemned time after time by the Catholic clergy, with the popes at their head. No one has shown his horror or condemned them so severely as the present most humane and illustrious Leo XIII. And yet, instead of obeying, the highly Catholic government of Spain encourages them. Instead of obeying, Spanish ladies and gentlemen throng the bloody spectacle of a bullfight. The sacred devotion of a Sunday or great feast is ornamented with a bullfight. I have small regard for the Catholicity of Catholics who spurn the commands of the pope when prohibiting what it is his duty to denounce.

"It has been objected that if Spain has its demoralizing bullfights America has its brutal prizefights. Yes, but it did not require a decree of the pope to prohibit them. Our noble government has prohibited the prizefights and has done all in its power, and successfully, too, to stop this barbarous sport.

"We are somewhat tired of hearing the governments of Spain, Italy, France, etc., called Catholics. It is high time that the people of the United States should be told that there are no greater enemies of the Catholic church and that these governments are stooping to vilest means to tear up the Catholic church, root and branch. It may be objected that the masses of the peoples in these countries are Catholics. That may be. But if they are not willing to rise up in their might, as did their brethren in Germany under a Windhorst and Malinckrodt, as the Catholics in brave little Belgium, as the Catholics of France, listening to the advice of the pope, are doing under the gallant leadership of Count de Nun, as the Catholics in the United States always have in Know Nothing attacks—if these masses are content to put their hands in their pockets and let their governments be ruled and every office of their country filled by sworn enemies of the church and by members of vile secret societies which have been condemned by the popes, and if they themselves join by the tens of thousands these prohibited societies—well, let them enjoy to their hearts' content the pleasure of having their rights trampled under foot. But we protest against the parading of these governments as Catholic governments and claiming as such sympathy from American Catholics. They have our contempt, not one jot of our sympathy.

"We are wearied of all this prevailing ignorance and misrepresentation. Pombal, Kaunitz, Choiseul, Tanucci, Cavour, Crispi, were all soi distant Catholics. But any tyro in church history will acknowledge that these gentlemen did more harm to the Catholic church than a Nero and a Diocletian. Let us tear away their mask. Stand out in your true colors, ye foes of the church of Christ. Ye don the livery of heaven wherein to serve the devil.

"We turn to our glorious forefathers—we Americans of Irish descent. It is not necessary to tell us how our holy religion was bound and fettered by 'perfide Albion' as never a country was. But the gallant Irish Catholics yielded never. They were always ready to fight against all odds. And God helps those who help themselves. He raised up that hero, orator, patriot and true Catholic, Daniel O'Connell. O'Connell forced open the doors of the British parliament that for centuries had been closed to Catholics. He shook to its foundations the great British empire and compelled it to give to our holy religion the splendid freedom which it now enjoys in Ireland and wherever floats the British flag."—Catholic Standard and Times.

The Old Hebrew and the Little Sisters.

There has just come to light a good story of how some six months ago a wealthy Hebrew of Detroit investigated the Home For Old People, conducted by the Little Sisters of the Poor. It seems that the gentleman had remarked that no one but a Catholic would be admitted at the home and upon being informed that he was mistaken determined to find out for himself. He, therefore, donned an old suit of clothes and made personal application for admission. Upon being told that he could stop at the home, at least temporarily, he said to the kind faced sister, "But I am not a Catholic." "That makes no difference," replied the sister. "But," he persisted, "I am nothing but an old Jew." "No matter," was the answer. "You are in need. That is sufficient." The man entered and staid a number of days in the shelter of the home, thus making a personal test of the institution. He saw the close and careful manner in which the sisters were forced to live, the daily and hourly sacrifices they made and the constant good they were doing. Then he bade them goodby, thanking them for their kindness, and went away. A few days later the sisters received a check for $250. It was from the wealthy Hebrew.—London Tablet.

The Value of Religion.

Let the men who despise religion learn first to know it. Let them see it as it is—the inward happy crisis by which human life is transformed and an issue opened up toward the ideal life. All human development springs from it and ends in it.

CATHOLICS AS PATRIOTS.

Address of Dean O'Grady at the Dedication of an Asylum at Hopewell, N. J.

Four thousand persons were present the other afternoon at Hopewell, N. J., at the dedication exercises of St. Michael's Orphan Asylum and Industrial School, built on a farm secured by the late Bishop O'Farrell with $50,000 given by Colonel Daniel Morris of Atlantic City. The asylum will accommodate 300 children. The larger children of St. Mary's home, at New Brunswick, will be transferred to the new institution, of which the Rev. Dr. Father Norris has been appointed rector.

Bishop McFaul, assisted by Father Fox, rector of the cathedral, the Rev. Father Norris, rector of the asylum, and Dr. McCloskey, chancellor of the diocese, blessed the building. Attending the bishop were about 75 priests. The oration was by Dean O'Grady of New Brunswick. He said in part: "The republic need have no fear of the influence of the Catholic church. In the discovery of the country, its colonization, its war for independence and its civil war the Catholics and Irish took a prominent part. The Catholics can have both patriotism and religion. In the revolution one-half of the army were natives of Ireland. On this Memorial day the nation is strewing flowers on thousands of graves of Irishmen who were in the civil war. When the 3,000 troops of New Jersey were mobilized at Sea Girt a few weeks ago it was found that 1,800 of them were Catholics. Catholics will fight against any country in defense of their own. If America is not our country, we have no country. The bishop of the diocese has sent out an order for prayers for the success of the American army in the present conflict. The church says if we are not faithful to our country we cannot be faithful to our God."—New York Sun.

CONVERSION OF ENGLAND.

The Movement Is Being Carried Out In More Than One Foreign Country.

The appeal which his holiness Leo XIII addressed to the Catholics of the world for prayers that those who are separated from the Catholic church in England may return to its bosom is being responded to in more than one foreign country. Germany has now taken up the "crusade of prayers." An association has been formed to this end, and already it numbers 20,000 members. Mgr. Kleiser of Freiburg, in Switzerland, has been commissioned to introduce into German speaking lands, with the approbation of the bishops, the Archconfraternity of Our Lady of Compassion, founded by the sovereign pontiff.

The movement has been placed under the patronage of the blessed Canisius, and it will no doubt spread rapidly in those parts of Germany which were evangelized by missionaries from England and Ireland. We should like to see the German Catholics entering into rivalry with their French coreligionists in this matter. It is noteworthy that since the establishment of the Archconfraternity of Our Lady conversions have been particularly numerous in England.—London Catholic Times and Opinion.

IN HONOR OF A PRIEST.

Father O'Farrel's Church In New York Made a Permanent Rectory.

A letter was read at mass in the Church of the Holy Innocents at 126 West Thirty-seventh street, in New York, recently from Archbishop Corrigan, announcing that the church had been elevated to the status of a permanent rectory. There are six others of this status in the New York diocese. Their rectors cannot be removed except by trial before the ecclesiastical court.

The elevation is in recognition of the sterling worth of the rector, Father M. C. O'Farrel, who has been rector for three years, and during that period has reduced the standing debt of the church from $68,000 to $23,000 and has greatly increased the number of parishioners. His previous charge was at St. Teresa's church at Rutgers and Henry streets, and there also his efforts won for that church the status of a permanent rectory.—New York World.

OFFER THEIR SERVICES.

Baltimore Sisters of Mercy Volunteer to Nurse Our Sick and Wounded.

The Sisters of Mercy who have charge of the City hospital, Baltimore, recently sent the following letter to Washington:

Surgeon General Sternberg:

DEAR SIR—As it is the vocation of the sisters of mercy to nurse the sick and as the Baltimore community was among the first to offer their services during the late war in these states, so, with the approbation of his eminence James Cardinal Gibbons, we are again ready to care for the sick and wounded soldiers.

Should it be necessary to establish a military hospital in Baltimore we are willing to take charge. If our services are needed elsewhere in the army, we are ready to go. Stipulations can be made when our services are called for. Hoping that this will prove satisfactory, we have the honor to be, very respectfully

Trappistine Nuns In Japan.

It is gratifying to learn that not only the Trappist monks, but also the Trappistine nuns have settled in Japan. On March 13, eight of these good religious, three being lay sisters, from the abbey of Ubexy (Vosges), sailed from Marseilles for their new and strange home, in the island of Yeso, the northernmost of the Japanese archipelago and the home of the "'Hairy Ainos." The bishop of Hakodate, Mgr. Berlioz, has built them a convent not far from the city. The sisters will devote themselves, as in Europe, to the fruitful work of prayer and penance, but the bishop has also confided to them one other work of practical charity—the care of an orphanage for little girls who will be educated by them, though outside the precincts of the inclosure.—London Tablet.

FRANCIS JOSEPH.

A BRIEF SKETCH OF THE EMPEROR OF AUSTRO-HUNGARY'S LIFE.

His Assurances of Anxiety for the Crown of Spain and the Cabled Rumors of His Efforts to Raise Europe Against Us Makes His Majesty Interesting to Our Peopl

The assurances of anxiety on the part of the Emperor Francis Joseph in the Crown of Spain and the cabled rumors of his efforts to raise Europe against the United States make the polyglot empire of his majesty a matter of direct interest to our people.

We have paid but little attention to the beer garden scenes lately in the Austrian Reichstag, and neither the discontent of the Magyars nor the political demands of the young Czechs, have much concerned the people of the United States, since the exile and death of Louis Kossuth. When the great Hungarian patriot came to this country the people of the United States gave him funds, a warm welcome in the name of freedom and the privileges usually accorded to a distinguished stranger in Washington. Mr. Seward and the late "Sunset" Cox and many others made warm speeches appealing to Magyars and to all American patriots alike to stand by the Hungarian cause. There is not any apology due Francis Joseph for our action in 1870. Though one portion of the dual Empire would probably reciprocate by now discountenancing acts of hostility against the United States on the part of the head of the state, it is nevertheless a fact that beyond wishing well to freedom everywhere we have not as a people taken any particular interest in Austro-Hungarian affairs for many years. We may do so again because it is almost impossible to doubt that the head of the House of Hapsburg has displayed both in his own person and in the case of his Majesty's Premier, Goluchowski, a tone of bitter unfriendliness to the people and institutions of the United States. Count Goluchowski has gone so far as to publicly urge upon Europe the necessity of combining against us commercially, and his august master has followed up this step by repeated invitations to European Courts to intervene in our contest with Spain in the common interest of the lame, crippled, humpbacked, bewigged and wrinkled monarchies of Europe. With the affairs of that continent we have no concern. It is not the intention of the United States to interfere in the domestic affairs of any foreign people. But our espousal of the case of Kossuth helped to create the autonomy of Hungary and as we have in this country many of the former subjects of the Austrian kaiser, the political condition of the people of central Europe can hardly be a matter of indifference to Americans.

The people of the United States may therefore be compelled to renew their former interest in the Emperor Francis Joseph and his affairs, apart entirely from the fact that he may at any time spring into notice as the author of a European concert against the new forward policy of this country. Of course we have no fear of any such concert. And if all Europe would be so mad as to regard these United States as all Europe once regarded the First Napoleon, this country has enough of the former subjects of these European countries to stand between us and an American Waterloo, even if all the native Americans kept saying nothing but sawing wood. We need not raise a hand should such an issue be thrust upon us. Indeed the somewhat rickety throne of Austria would hardly bear such a strain just now as participation in a European concert would put upon it. And the opinion prevails in more centres than America that it is the tact and urbanity of the Emperor alone which makes the House of Hapsburg a factor at all in Europe; and that when Francis Joseph dies as many lines of cleavage are likely to set in through his mosaic empire as manifested themselves in the once proud Empire of Charlemagne, of which there is now no trace.

The present Emperor was hardly seated on the throne in 1848 when he saw the expulsion of Louis Philippe engender a revolution among his subjects, and it is not unlikely that to the fear of seeing the throne of the Bourbons fall in Spain, and thus the contagion spread from Madrid to Vienna, is due much of that solicitious interest in us now shown by the Emperor of Austro-Hungary. It is not our fault but Spain's misfortune that the proud and pedigreed race over which his majesty's niece is Queen Regent, should so conduct itself in Cuba as to make American intervention a humane necessity as was that of Austria in Bosnia and Herzegovnia in 1870.

It may therefore so happen that Francis Joseph would court the fates and that the close of his reign would see the renewal of those aspirations for liberty which in 1848 drove Prince Metternich from the Austrian Capital, and gave a free constitution to the Austrian people. The present Emperor ought not to forget that it was the abdication of his uncle Ferdinand which kept the Hapsburg dynasty from falling in 1848. In order to qualify him for reigning in this crisis, Francis Joseph, then a minor, was declared of age so as to give his ascent of the throne the legal sanction of the constitution in the eyes of the people. It was only through the assistance of wiser councils that those who now surround him, that the young Emperor was proclaimed, and it was through the military aid of Russia and by rather clever manipulation of the popular forces that a peace was maintained which secured the succession.

Nor can we forget that the practice of petty intrigues such as is now attributed to him well becomes the Emperor and his family. For a thousand years the House of Hapsburg has maintained itself by crimes that call for the condemnation of the decalogue. It was by these arts that the dukes of Austria pushed that insignificant state into the proportions of an Empire. It was a duke of Austria that betrayed Richard Plantaganet to the Saracens. It was a duke of Austria that held Richard Coeur de Leon for twelve years in a Danubian castle; and another of the race that did all manner of hideous things in order to incorporate the crowns of Bohemia, Transylvania and Austria. The character of his ancestors also well befits the present Emperor. In the dispute between England and France in 1854 the aim of the Emperor of Astria was to trim between the contending powers. Calling himself an ally of the Western powers he came out of the scramble protector of Moldavia and Wallachia, and so became one of the contracting parties of the peace of Paris in 1856. He thus vastly solidified himself in the seat into which adventitious circumstances had thrust him. He was also successful in the attempt to maintain for a long time the predominance of Austria over Prussia in the Germanic Diet; and no one will deny that the ill-starred attept of his brother Maximilian to subvert the Monroe Doctrine had the full and unconditional approval of the whole Austrian Court. He was then the enemy of America as he is to-day. Therefore there are many probabilities as well as some powerful dynastic reasons why the cables from Paris which speak of the perpicious activity of Austria do no injustice to the Austrian Emperor, whose family masked in piety have ever been the unscrupulous foes of liberty, and of whom a caustic writer has well said that "they gave idiots to Spain in the guise of Kings, harlots to France in the guise of Queens, tyrants to the Netherlands in the guise of regents, monsters to the new world in the guise of warriors and empty-headed bigots to lord it over the brave people of the Holy Roman Empire." This is a crushing indictment and it is perhaps one of the retributions of avenging time that the man who is now conspiring against us has no direct heir for the throne his fathers had stolen and is likely to be succeeded by a madman who is never likely to reign and who is one of the wickedest men on earth.

THE AMERICAN PRIVATEER.

A Private Ship of War Bent on Doing Its Best to Help the Country.

When the American privateer came to the front in the war of 1812 it did not come as a pirate.

It came as a private ship of war bent on doing its best to help the country, which had only a small naval force.

These vessels and their services to the Republic were admirably illustrated in the case of the General Armstrong, a small ship mounting only seven guns and carrying ninety men.

The General Armstrong sailed from New York and captured many British prizes in the first two years of the war.

In September, 1814, she was lying in the harbor of Fayal, Azores Islands, when a British squadron of several ships sailed in.

This squadron was on its way to Jamaica, where a great fleet was being assembled by the English to capture New Orleans.

On seeing the General Armstrong, which was under command of Capt. Samuel C. Reid, the British prepared to attack her. The principal English vessels in the squadron were the ship Plantagenet, of 74 guns, the frigate Rota, 44, and the brig Carnation, of 18.

Commodore Lloyd gave orders to capture the Yankee so that she could be used in the expedition against New Orleans. All were sailing ships in those days, and the first attack on the "Yankee" was made by a boat party of 150 men.

These were repulsed with terrible loss, and a second attack was made with 500 men, which met with a similar fate.

Amazed at the fighting qualities of the American privateer Commodore Lloyd then ordered one of the big ships to be "worn" into position so that she could get her big guns to bear on the General Armstrong.

Before this could be done Capt. Reid scuttled his ship and landed with his men. The little company took refuge in an old stone convent on a high hill and defied the enemy.

The official report of the British Consul shows that the losses on that side in killed and wounded was 300 men, while the American had only 2 killed and 7 wounded.

By this gallant fight of Capt. Reid and his men New Orleans was saved. The British squadron did not reach Jamaica in time to co-operate in the attack, and when they finally reached there Gen. Jackson had the city in a condition to repel their attack.

This wonderful exploit of the General Armstrong is not referred to in any of the regular histories of the American Navy, though it certainly deserves a place there.

The privateers of those days, so far as this country was concerned, were the volunteer navy of the Republic. They struck out boldly for the enemy's country and were ready for a fight at a moment's notice.

The volunteer navy of to-day would do the same thing if given the opportunity.

For Profit and Pleasure.

In Paris the thousands of sardine and other tin boxes that are thrown away every month are stamped by machinery into tin soldiers and sold so cheaply that the poorest children can buy them while the manufacturer makes a fair profit.

Next Saturday afternoon the Clinton avenue team will meet the team from Somerville on the grounds of the former.

The Y. M. C. A. nine were defeated by the Clinton Avenue nine Saturday afternoon on the LaGrande avenue grounds by a score of 21 to 12. The game was an exciting one and plenty of "rag chewing" was indulged in.

T. Lyons, of this city, will play on the Staten Island Club at Albany Saturday. Lyons has come up in baseball work wonderfully in the last two seasons. He is a heavy batter good base runner and good at third base.

With the departure of the Crescents from the diamond for the remainder of the season, baseball does not die in Plainfield. Of course, the Crescents far out-classed anything else in the city, but there are still remaining several good amateur teams that will be brought forward to the public notice now that their great rival is gone.

The Fourth Ward Athletic Club went to meet the Wolf Hill nine in a game of baseball Sunday afternoon. The game was played on a field three miles from Stirling. The game was close throughout. At the close of the ninth inning the score stood 4 to 4. The Wolf Hill boys failed to score. T. Lyons then came to bat, with one man on third and two out. He knocked a three-bagger, that brought in the winning run and ended the game.

The few baseball cranks that remained faithful to the cause and traveled every Saturday afternoon to the Crescent Oval to see the Crescents play their regular game will greatly miss their little Saturday afternoon entertainment. The Oval was just beginning to assume an air of occupation, but now it will return to its state of neglect and desertion that gives the occasional visitor a feeling of home sickness and an idea of faded greatness.

Plainfield was quite well represented on the team of the Westfield Athletic Club that defeated the Cranford team last Saturday by a score of 5 to 1. Steven Rushmore, of Park avenue, who made his reputation as a twirler at Amherst College, was in the box for Westfield. Everett Morgan, another Amherst boy, now a resident of Plainfield, covered first base. George Bolsterli, another local player, played at third. Denny Kane was in right field. All the Plainfield boys made a favorable impression, especially Rushmore, who did some great work. With men on bases and a howling mob on either side, he ended the ninth inning and saved the day for Westfield by striking out two men. The Westfield cranks became so enthusiastic after the game that they insisted on carrying him off the grounds.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church and their friends had a very enjoyable cycle run last Tuesday evening.

Peter B. Matthews, of Grove street, is still covering many miles on his Apollo wheel. The contest in the New York Athletic Club for the greatest milage, which he won last year, was given up this season. Even without that incentive, Mr. Matthews still spends much of his spare time awheel.

F. Lewis Neppert, of New York, is visiting H. Victor Keane, of LaGrande avenue. Both rode on their wheels to Asbury Park this morning, where they will spend the night.

The Brunswick Bicycle Club held a race meet at New Brunswick Monday afternoon. A delegation from Plainfield composed of Peter Simms, Alfred Springer, Harry Lister and Charles Westerfield, went over and took part in several of the events. They found the track in terrible shape. They all finished unplaced. They lay the blame for their defeat on the very poor condition of the track.

Harry Lister, of North avenue, is getting up a road race to take place Thursday evening, July 14th, at 7 o'clock. The course chosen is Park avenue from Randolph road to Pumptown and back, about ten miles. There are six prizes offered. The first, a gold ring with ruby; second, bicycle saddle; third, bicycle lantern; fourth, pearl-handled penknife; fifth, cyclometer. Something valuable will also be offered as a time prize, but that will be selected later. There are several entries already, and Lister expects to have at least fifty.

There was a movement in the early part of the year on the part of some outside race meet promoters to take charge of the Crescent Oval and conduct race meets there on holidays. There was some negotiation in regard to the matter but the reputation that Plainfield had secured regarding its support for bicycle racing at the Oval and the large amount of repairs that were necessary before the track would be in shape rather dampened the ardor of the promoters. It looks now as if Plainfield would see no bicycle racing here this year and possibly not for several years to come.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The third meeting of the Central New Jersey Driving Association was held at Flemington Monday afternoon. Plainfield carried off one first money, three second monies and third money. There were only five starters from Plainfield stables and they all won something. "Woven Wind," from the Woodbrook stable, finished second in three straight heats in the 2:35 class, Osborne up. "Myrtle Twig" under Tom Brantingham's guidance, came in third in the same class. J. W. Arkell's big gelding, "Highland Boy," was second in the 2:17 class for trotters and pacers. "Linola," of the Woodbrook stable, won three heats in the 2:30 class and finished second in another, giving her first money. Osborne drove. Her time in the heats she won was 2:30, 2:36¼ and 2:34¼. N. B. Smalley's "Bolette," driven by Smalley, took second money in that event.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The all-round championships of the A. A. U. were held at the N. J. A. C. grounds at Bergen Point, Monday afternoon. E. C. White, formerly of Cornell and now of the N. J. A. C. won the contest. Last year, George Proctor Smith, of this city, the scholastic championship of New Jersey, was one of the contestants. This year, Smith decided not to keep in training for the event after the national games in which he took part.

LIFE ON TEXAS PLAINS.

GEORGE ROCKFELLOW SPENT A PLEASANT AND HEALTHY WINTER.

Was Nearly Two Months in Traveling by Wagon to North Carolina — He Likes the Ways of the Southerners.

Ranch life in the far west has its charm for all, especially for young men. However, not all are privileged to see it with their own eyes, or to experience a few months of stirring activity on the plains. George A. Rockfellow, of Park avenue, son of George W. Rockfellow, the grocer, has just returned from southwestern Texas, where he has been spending the winter, and has been regaling his friends with stories of cowboy life until some of them can talk about nothing else.

Mr. Rockfellow left Plainfield October 26th last, with W. N. Flanders, of Scotch Plains, bound for North Carolina. They traveled in a moving camp, and reached their destination, Oxford, North Carolina, December 15th, after several weeks of the most delightful traveling through a country thick with game.

December 27th the two parted, Mr. Flanders to conduct evangelistic services with George Needham among the Virginians, and Mr. Rockfellow to spend the cold months in Texas. After a journey which took him through the principal cities of the south, Mr. Rockfellow finally reached San Angelo, in Tom Green county. He went out on a ranch nine miles from San Angelo, where he spent the winter. Mr. Rockfellow had as neighbors a son of O. B. Tweedy, of Crescent avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Webb, the latter a sister to Mrs. J. M. Middledith, of Mercer avenue.

Mr. Rockfellow describes the life he led on the plains as a healthy one beyond all expectations. Up with the sun, the boys on the ranch saddle up and scatter to their several duties, some to ride the fences, others to look after the stock, and others to assist a neighbor in a round-up. The wild life on the plains has about passed away. There are no cowboys now hustling with pistols and knives and dressed in the fantastic garb of a Mexican freebooter. The country is cut up into small farms, surrounded with wire fences.

All last winter, Mr. Rockfellow says, the boys went around in their shirt-sleeves, and the weather was soft and balmy. Occasionally a brisk norther would blow up, which would make the thermometer drop to a point close to zero.

The people, he says, are very hospitable and strangers are always welcomed, if they behave themselves. The householders never think of locking their houses when they go away, and any traveler coming along is at liberty to go inside, cook himself a meal and occupy the best bed in the house, whether the family are at home or not.

Mr. Rockfellow is charmed with Texas people, and may go back there some time in the future.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Thomas Bowser, of 500 East Third street, a colored boy fifteen years of age, was somewhat burned Monday morning by the explosion of a little cannon.

—July 14th is the date for the Trinity Reformed church and Sunday-school to Asbury Park. Bear this in mind and make no other engagement for that day. An enjoyable time is assured all who go.

—At the unfurling of the flag, made and presented to Joseph M. Hawkins by his mother Fourth of July morning, Rev. J. W. Richardson made remarks appropriate to the occasion which were greatly enjoyed by all.

THE COURTS.

JUSTICE MOSHER.

Summons issued—In the case of the Cedarine Manufacturing Company against Packer, on contract. J. P. D. Kirch is the attorney.

Sleep Is Only a Habit.

Mr. Edison has adopted the theory that sleep is only the force of habit, that if they but try, men can get along without sleep precisely as they get along without stimulants. He accounts for the sleep habit as follows:

"The truth is that this habit of sleeping originated when there was no such thing as a good artificial light. People could not read, they had no way of amusing themselves at night, so when darkness came there was nothing left for them to do but lie down and lose themselves in oblivion.

"Now that we have the electric light and other means of illumination, the world is sleeping less and less every year. By-and-bye, gradually, of course, the time will come when an hour or two of rest will be enough. Then people will find that they have been wasting valuable time. It is all right for a man to change his work or seek some sort of diversion, but that is very easy to do by changing work and varying the subject of study."

This is precisely in line with the philosophy which holds that men are only what their environment makes them. In support of his theory Mr. Edison relates that when the phonograph had to be finished in a certain number of hours in order to be in London on a certain day, he worked continuously for seventy-two hours without a minute of sleep, and so did all of his assistants but one or two.

His chief assistant says that Mr. Edison has gone on for years, working hard with little rest, merely dropping down occasionally for a rest of an hour, or, perhaps, only for ten minutes, and then coming up again, apparently as fresh as if he had had a long holiday.

Just Spoilt It.

In a certain class of divinity students there was one member who was generally acknowledged to be slow. His fellow-students called him dumb. For certain reasons, however, the young man received every favor.

Shortly before the final examination those in charge of the class were talking the matter over with the Bishop. It was agreed that, in spite of the fellow's singular ineptitude, he would be permitted to pass if possible.

"If he can answer one question," said the Bishop, "I'll ordain him."

The instructor-in-chief accordingly primed the stupid student for the event.

"You need answer only one question," said the instructor, "and that one will be easy. But mind you don't say anything else. Promise me—not another word, or you'll be certain to get yourself into trouble."

The student promised, and the instructor went upon his way rejoicing. A little later the youth was ushered into the Bishop's presence.

"Who was Saul?" asked the Bishop.

"The first King of Israel," answered the student, quickly enough; and amid the congratulatory smiles of the instructors, he prepared to depart. But just as he reached the door, he turned and added, "Subsequently called Saul of Tarsus."

A Tartar Courtship.

Among the Tchulian Tartars a curious mode of "popping the question" is reported: The Tchulian Coelebs in search of a wife, having filled a brand new pipe, with fragrant tobacco, stealthily enters the dwelling of the fair one upon whom he has bestowed his affections, deposits the pipe upon a conspicuous article of furniture, and retires on tip-toe to some convenient hiding place in the neighborhood, local etiquette requiring that he should execute this strategic movement apparently undetected by the damsel of his choice or any member of her family. Presently he returns without further affectation of secrecy, and looks into the apartment in a casual sort of way. A single glance at the pipe he left behind him enables him to learn the fate of his proposal. If it has been smoked, he goes forth an accepted and exultant bridegroom; if not, the offer of his hand and heart has been irrevocably rejected, as not even worth a pipe of tobacco. By this ingenious expedient the pain and humiliation of verbal refusal and fruitless pleadings are spared to luckless woers, and Tartar maidens are saved from importunities justly regarded as peculiarly trying to female sensibility.

Severe Rules in the Russian Army.

When an officer in the Russian army is insulted, a military court of honor sits to decide upon the action to be taken, and he has to abide by the decision of the court. Not long ago, two young officers of the Russian army quarrelled while drinking together, and one slapped the other across the cheek with his open hand. They were intimate friends, and when in his sober senses the aggressor humbly apologized for the affront to his brother officer, who cordially accepted it. A regimental court of honor had to be held, however, and it was decreed that the officers should fight, though both were much averse to doing so. A duel was therefore arranged at twenty paces, and the young officer who had received the affront, and forgiven his friend, was hit in the hip and crippled for life.

The Eskimo and Punch and Judy.

Some time ago a skipper who visited the Arctic regions presented the head man of an Eskimo community with a Punch and Judy show he had on board and gave the native instructions as to how to work the figures. The Eskimo's son is now said to be an expert at the business, and, in a hut nightly throughout the long winter, makes the familiar marionettes dance about, to the intense delight of his fur-encased friends. The show is known among the Eskimos by something like its English name, only they pronounce it "Bootantoodr."

JOINT ATTACK TOMORROW

Bombardment of Santiago Will Start Saturday Noon.

ALLOWED LINARES TO CABLE

General Shafter Gave Him Permission to Ask Madrid for Instructions About Surrendering City—Sore Straits of People in Santiago—Will Await Gen. Merritt.

BOMBARDMENT TOMORROW.

Shafter and Sampson Will Co-operate in the Destruction of Santiago.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 8, 1:27 p. m—General Shafter and Rear Admiral Sampson have come to a distinct understanding at last and there is satisfaction in all the departments here.

At noon tomorrow, the vessels of Rear Admiral Sampson will begin the bombardment of the outer harbor and its defences while simultaneously Gen. Shafter's land forces will move on to attack the city.

Several notes passed between the commanders of the two armies now face to face and as a result the armistice was extended until noon Saturday in order to allow Gen. Linares, the Spanish commander, to cable his home government for instructions as to the surrendering of the city.

General Linares refused to take the responsibility of surrendering the city, despite the advice of many of his subordinates, and told Gen. Shafter that he could not surrender without orders from Madrid. So Shafter has given him time and the use of the cable to reach his home government.

There has been no fighting recently on either side. Our positions have been greatly strengthened during the last two days. They are now within 400 yards of the enemy.

Rear Admiral Sampson's plan is to bombard the forts at the mouth of the harbor, driving the men from the guns there and then to land a thous and troops to occupy the forts, while launches with grappling crews remove the mines from the harbor.

He will then enter the harbor with his fleet and bombard the city in co-operation with Shafter's forces. If it is necessary, however, Sampson says that he can bombard the city from the sea, a distance of a little over eight miles.

SENT IN OPERATORS.

Shafter Cables Washington That He Allowed Them to Telegraph to Madrid.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 8, 1:17 p. m—A despatch, received by the War Department from Gen. Shafter, says that he has sent the English operators to the city of Santiago to telegraph to Madrid as to the surrender of the city at the request of the Spanish general.

He reports that all is quiet along the line and that no more engagements have taken place. The men are reported to be in good spirits and good health.

IN SORE STRAITS.

Santiago's Non Combatants are Hurrying From the City—The Suffering is Intense.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Caney, Cuba, July 7, via despatch boat to Kingston, Jamaica, July 8, 12:00 p. m—There is a great exodus from Santiago to avoid the bombardment of the city by the Americans.

It is an impressive sight to witness the great numbers of men, women and children, each with a bundle, continually streaming out of the city and across the open space into the American lines. Fear and terror is written on nearly every face.

On the walls and in prominent places in the city placards have been posted stating the Americans being anxious to save the lives of women and children and other non combatants will be allowed to pass to Caney between the hours of 5 and 9 tomorrow morning. No passports will be necessary.

All the refugees who have sought shelter in the American lines say that the city is greatly in need of food and that the suffering there among all classes is intense. It is particularly so among poorer people.

REMEMBER THE MAINE.

Hulks Of Spanish Vessels Give Proof Maine Not Destroyed Internally.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

With the American Fleet off Santiago de Cuba, July 7, via despatch boat to Kingston, Jamaica, July 8, 1:45 p. m—The hulks of the Spanish war ships give abundant proof that the Maine was destroyed by an external explosion.

The experts find that the effects of the internal explosion in the Spanish vessels made the plates bulge outwards, causing great havoc. They say the same symptoms were absent in the wreck of the Maine and that the plates bulged in just the opposite direction.

ALPHONSO DESTROYED.

Tried Unsuccessfully to Enter the Harbor of Havana and Run Blockade.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Key West, July 8, 1:17 p. m.—According to the reports of the officers of the blockading squadron, the Spanish vessel which was destroyed while trying to run the blockade into Havana, was the Spanish transatlantic liner, Alphonso.

She is reported to have been loaded with ammunition and other supplies for Blanco's army at Havana.

WILL AWAIT MERRITT.

Dewey Will Not Take Any Action Until Gen. Merritt Arrives There.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Hong Kong, July 8, 11:39 a. m—A despatch from Manila states that Rear Admiral Dewey will await the arrival of General Merritt before taking any action.

It is stated that the Spaniards are working hard to strengthen the defences about Manila and will resist the American forces to the uttermost.

The Relief Arrives.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 8, 11:30 a. m.—A despatch from Playa del Este says that the hospital ship Relief has arrived there and will proceed immediately to Santiago to care for the wounded.

THEATRICAL TREATS ARE NOW ASSURED.

Music Hall is Being Thoroughly Overhauled.

MANAGER EDWARDS BUSY.

WILL PRESENT THE BEST ATTRACTIONS ON THE ROAD.

Season Will be Opened July 25th by the Sullivan Troubadors. Formerly the Kennedy Players, Who Will be Followed During the Season With Shows Which Will Give the Best Satisfaction.

Despite the fact that there has been nothing presented for public amusement at Music Hall the past two months, there has been a vast amount of work done in, around and about the building, that the public generally know nothing of. Manager Maze Edwards has been a pretty busy individual in booking theatrical novelties and cleaning up, the supervision of which has kept him closely confined to his office and theatre. And by the way, this is the first year since the opening of Music Hall that its doors has been always open daily, Sundays excepted, for the transaction of business the year around.

Beyond a thorough cleaning and scrubbing of floors, walls and ceilings, no change will be observed this season when regular performances begin. The proprietors of the building did not feel justified, in view of the expense incured in the plumbing and sewerage two years ago, to expend more money now, but next season it is confidently expected, extensive alterations and renovations will be made. Manager Edwards has personally however, made some notable improvements on the stage, removed the old draperies about the windows—repaired scenery, seats, etc., and an air cleanliness and cheerfulness is apparent all around. While the heating arrangements of last winter were conceded much better than had been for several seasons past. Mr. Edwards announces with much pleasure that he is promised by Mr. Stillman, an entire overhauling of the boilars and furnaces before cold weather sets in, so patrons may be assured of additional comfort the coming winter.

In the matter of amusements, Mr. Edwards will be able to present a line of attractions superior to the general run of "out town" theatres. By an arrangement with the great theatrical syndicate managers, Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger, of New York, Mr. Edwards secures all the companies controlled by them and the Messrs. Frohman, when they play the "one night stands," and as the general representatives of Mr. Edwards' interests in New York, the firm will undoubtedly route many novelty presentations to this city, which otherwise would not be seen. About one-half of the regular season from September 1898 to May 1, 1899, is already booked and includes some interesting attractions which will be duly announced.

Preliminary performances, however, will be given at the end of this month and during August, the first of which will be by the Sullivan Troubadors, who were formerly known as the Kennedy Players, and who are established favorites in this city. They make their first appearance Monday, July 25th, and play the entire week in a series of new plays and latest vaudeville features. During August the Black Patti Troubadors, Katy Rooney and Company, the great melodrama "When London Sleeps" and the new Haverly Minstrels with other novelties will be presented. Altogether the outlook is promising for an interesting theatrical and amusement season, and Manager Edwards is deserving of all success.

Took a Header."

Two wheelmen from out of town were riding down Park avenue together Wednesday night when they rode too close and collided. Both were thrown and one rider took a complete header, cutting his face quite badly. The wheels were unfit to ride.

PUSHING TROLLEY WORK

CARS SOON TO RUN BETWEEN DUNELLEN AND BOUND BROOK.

Already Cars are Running Between Bound Brook and Somerville—Delay Encountered at Peter's Brook Bridge.

After a delay of several days owing to the failure of needed supplies to come, which had been shipped, work on the Dunellen extension of the trolley has been resumed. Within the past few days ten car loads of iron have been received and delivered at Lincoln, Bound Brook and Dunellen. The balance ordered is to be delivered at once.

Last Friday workmen were building the road between the extension of the main street in Lincoln, across the brook towards the Old Point road. Another gang is working in Bound Brook and still another is to be put to work in Dunellen the first of next week. In case no more delays occur, cars will be running between Dunellen and Bound Brook by August.

Two new cars have been put on the trolley line between Somerville and Bound Brook. This makes three cars which will be the complement so long as the line remains incomplete. These are closed cars, but when the road gets in regular operation it is expected that open cars will be used. The delay in getting the Peter's Brook bridge completed will be longer than at first expected. It was found that the old foundation would not do for the new structure and the renewing of this will take additional time.

WAS BICYCLE STOLEN?

C. M. THORPE'S MISSING WHEEL FOUND AT NORTH AVENUE DEPOT.

Discovered by E. Frank Vail, Who Saw It Standing Alone for Sometime—No One Seemed to Claim It.

Curtis M. Thorpe is again in possession of his bicycle, the loss of which was made known in yesterday's Daily Press. The wheel is back again in its accustomed place, as good as ever, but the mystery of its disappearance remains.

As has happened on a great many other mornings this summer, Mr. Thorpe's wheel stood in front of his mantel store on Park avenue. The wheel was there at 9 o'clock, Mr. Thorpe can swear to that. When he came to look for it two hours later, however, there wasn't a sign of it anywhere.

Then Mr. Thorpe notifield the police of his loss and told such of his friends as he happened to come across. Then the notice of the loss of his wheel appeared in the Daily Press.

Among those whom Mr. Thorpe told was E. Frank Vail, son of J. T. Vail, the real estate agent. He told him the number and kind of wheel.

It was five o'clock in the evening and Vail was sitting in his father's office. He noticed a wheel standing in front of the North avenue station. He did not see who rode it but it remained there so long that it attracted his attention. At last he went over and found that the name and number corresponded with Mr. Thorpe's missing wheel. Then he jumped on the wheel and rode it down to Thorpe's store where it was immediately identified. There was no trace of the one who had taken it but Mr. Thorpe is satisfied to let the thief go as long as he has his wheel back safe and sound.

An Interesting Meeting.

A very interesting and profitable meeting was held by Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., last evening, when the recently-elected officers were installed by National Council Representative William B. LaRue, of Bound Brook. There was present a large delegation from Elizabeth Council, No. 181, of Elizabeth, known as the cycle division of the council, also a delegation from Twilight Council, No. 7, of Scotch Plains. After the meeting the good and welfare committee served refreshments.

Enjoyed a Day at the Beach.

A stage load of young people from this city drove over to Boynton Beach Wednesday morning and spent the day amid the pleasures of the place. They returned in the evening. The party included the Misses Eleanor Williams, Florence Williams, Eleanor T. VanDeventer, Grace E. Overton, Clara Long and John Byers, Lester Walton, Fred Bonny and Fletcher Hallock.

Victim of Poison Ivy.

Mrs. George Dennick, of West Third street, was poisoned by poison ivy the first of the week. The poison seems to have appeared principally on her face, which is so badly swollen as almost to close her eyes.

Gone on the St. Paul.

David Bell, of Johnson avenue, has enlisted as a seaman on the St. Paul and left home Wednesday morning to take his place.

ENOUGH RECRUITS NOW.

QUOTA OF VOLUNTEERS FOR THE SECOND AND THIRD REGIMENTS.

Some Were Sent to Jacksonville, Fla., and Some to Fort Hancock—Governor Has Appointed Three New Surgeons.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Camp Voorhees, Sea Girt, July 8—The recruits for the Second and Third Regiments have all been secured. At 12:53 o'clock yesterday afternoon fifty recruits for the First Battalion of the Third Regiment, stationed at Pompton Lakes, left for that place in charge of First Lieutenant J. Henry Ryno, of Company A. The 222 recruits for the Second and Third battalions of the Third Regt., now at Fort Hancock, left for Sandy Hook this morning in charge of Second Lieutenant Charles C. Davis, of Company C. Both detachments for Col. Lee's command were uniformed.

Shortly after 8:30 o'clock last evening the 342 recruits for the Second Regiment left Camp Voorhees for Camp Cuba Libre, Jacksonville, Fla. The men, in heavy marching order, with the exception of knapsacks, were in charge of Captain Terace E. Murphy of Company A, Captain Franke De Ronde of Company L and First Lieutenant Frank R. Stokes of Company A. Battalion Surgeon Charles R. Blundell, of the Second Regiment, and Battalion Surgeon Stephen J. Keefe, of the Third Regiment, accompanied the volunteers.

The detachment, before leaving camp, was put through a regimental drill. Then, in columns of four, with arms at port, they marched in review before Governor Voorhees, who, with General William S. Stryker, Colonel Oliphant and other military officials, stood on the embankment opposite the Governor's cottage.

A special train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, made up of one baggage-car, a Pullman sleeper and thirteen day coaches, was required to transport the horses of the officers, the baggage, tents, ammunition and soldiers. The officers occupied the parlor car and the recruits the ordinary coaches, but every man was given an entire seat.

The boys will spend two nights on the cars, and the railroad compony promised to land them in Jacksonville at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. They will proceed to Florida by way of the Pennsylvania, the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore, the Baltimore and Potomac, the Southern Railway and the Florida Central.

Governor Voorhees yesterday appointed three of the four surgeons for the new regiment. These are Dr. Edwin Field, of Red Bank, who is to be regimental surgeon; Dr. John J. Broderick, of Jersey City, and Dr. Paul Mulford Mecray, of Camden, who are to be battalion assistant surgeons. The fourth assistant surgeon will be named later. Dr. Field is captain of the Second Troop of cavalry, and is in charge of the Memorial Hospital at Long Branch. Dr. Broderick is one of the battalion surgeons of the Fourth Regiment, N. G. N. J., and Dr. Mecray holds a similar place in the Sixth Regiment.

The three surgeons were at once examined by Battalion Surgeon William S. Terribery. of the Second Regiment Volunteer Infantry; Dr. Franklin Gauntt, of Burlington, surgeon on General Sewell's brigade staff, and Dr. Daniel Strock, of Camden, surgeon of the Sixth Regiment, N. G. N. J. The examinations were made at the Governor's cottage, and the surgeons were passed and accepted by the Board.

Dr. Broderick will examine the volunteers from the Jersey City companies of the National Guard at that place this evening. Dr. Field will examine the Trenton and Lambertville men tomorrow, and Dr. Mecray will pass upon the Camden, Woodbury and Vineland contingent tomorrow.

VICIOUS CURS IN THE WEST END.

A Plague of Dogs Scaring Parents—One Attacked a Cyclist.

Dogs are getting to be such a pest in the West End that parents are afraid to allow their children to play outside of their yards for fear some savage cur will come along and bite them. Last night a wheelman, who was riding along South Second street, near Clinton avenue, was attacked by a litt e cur, who ran out at him and kept snapping at the wheelman's ankles. The rider finally gave the dog a well-directed kick and sent the canine away howling.

Two days ago a dog was seen running around in a vacant lot near the Evona station, frothing at the mouth, and showing signs of rabies. Some men and boys watched him and at last he ran down Clinton avenue towards South Plainfield. Several children are said to have been bitten in the neighborhood this summer, though no serious results have been reported.

WEST POINT CADETSHIP.

EIGHTEEN APPLICANTS EXAMINED FOR APPOINTMENT.

The Examinations Conducted by Public School Teachers—They Were Rigid, but all the Boys Made Good Records.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 8—The examinations for the cadetship at the West Point Military Academy, which falls to the appointment of Congressman Charles N. Fowler, took place June 29th at Pingry School, on Union avenue. There were eighteen candidates, the boys coming Bayonne, Plainfield, North Orange and Rahway.

The examinations were conducted by Frank H. Robson, headmaster of Pingry, Charles M. Davis, superintendent of the Bayonne public schools, and Randall Spaulding, superintendent of Montclair public schools. They were rigid, and all the boys made good records.

Of the eighteen three were selected, and their names will be sent to Congressman Fowler. He will name one for the cadetship and a second as substitute. The boy named will have to take the entrance examinations at West Point, and should he fail then the substitute will be examined. Both failing the third on Congressman Fowler's list will be given an opportunity to take the examinations.

HOME FOR OLD FIREMEN

COMMITTEE OF EXEMPTS DECIDE TO BUY LATHROP PROPERTY.

It Will Cost $65,000 and is Admirably Adapted for the Purposes—Slight Alterations Will Have to be Made.

The board of directors of the New Jersey State Exempt Firemen's Association after inspecting the William G. Lathrop property, has voted unanimously to purchase it for $36,000. The property consists of sixty-five acres of land, a brick residence, a brick stable, a frame barn, a farmhouse, and a porter's lodge. The original cost of the Lathrop residence was $80,000.

The house is situated on a knoll facing the Montville road, about a mile from Boonton. It is three stories with basement, attic and mansard roof, and has two wings and twenty-six rooms. There are piazzas on two stories, at the sides and rear.

The kitchen is in the right wing, but it may be removed to the basement to give more room on the first floor. Light is supplied from a gas machine on the premises. By making a few alterations in the interior of the house about a hundred men can be accommodated.

Massive stone walls slope from the house to the highway, enclosing a crescent carriage drive and a lawn. The stable has stalls for twelve cows and eight horses, and there is a carriage floor also.

The house and stone walls are covered with green vines. The house is in excellent condition. There are two parlors, a large dining room, a library and a small drawing room, which will do for an office, on the first floor.

When necessary, the roof can be raised and the attic converted into a fourth story, with high ceilings.

Wm. H. Brown, of Newark, chairman of the committee on sites, said:

"We may have to expend about $9,000 on the Lathrop property for alterations and furnishings, making the total cost to us $45,000. We have one of the finest sites in New Jersey. Land near it is held at $500 to $700 an acre. There is a grand view from the house. The floors, stairs, doors and other woodwork are of the best quality of hard wood. There is a fountain in the conservatory. The house is 100 feet front by 80 feet deep. We are to take possession on or about July 1st."

The Professor and His Wife Will Visit in New York.

GAVE UP PLAINFIELD HOME

HOUSE ON DUER STREET OCCUPIED BY ANOTHER FAMILY.

The Sudden Rise of Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse Into Notoriety—Thought That They Would Come Home—Will Visit Mrs. LaCasse's Sister on West Third Street, New York—Mother in this State.

The jump that Prof. and Mrs. A. D. LaCasse made into notoriety was a big one and entirely unwished for on their part. From a prepossessing little teacher of languages, known but to a few, Mrs. LaCasse suddenly became known to most of the people of the continent and even in Europe as the only woman survivor of the LaBourgogne disaster. Her picture appeared in half a dozen of the greatest papers of the land and her sayings were quoted far and near.

Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse left Halifax yesterday morning in company with a number of other survivors. They had seen all they cared to of the ocean for the present, and so returned by train. They arrived in New York this morning and are now probably quartered with Mrs. LaCasse's sister, Mrs. Pullot, 73 West Third street, New York.

As the couple were known to have resided in Plainfield prior to their departure to their native land on the other side of the water, there was many a journalistic eye that was cast on Plainfield as the couple journeyed southward. It was supposed that they would return to Plainfield and probably summer here or spend some time at least. Both were quoted as saying that they were perfectly satisfied to remain in America the rest of this year at least after their past experience.

A Press reporter called this morning at the house in which the French professor and his wife had been living. He found it occupied by another family, who knew nothing of the whereabouts of the former occupants. They did not know whether Mr. and Mrs. LaCasse intended to return to Plainfield or not and could give no information regarding them.

Rev. Mr. Eyme, pastor of the German Lutheran church, who resides next door, while he could give no definite news of their movements, was able to give their probable destination. He explained that he was quite certain that it was their intention not to return to Plainfield for a time at least as they had given up their home. Mrs. La Casse's sister, Mrs. Pullot, resides at 73 West Third street, New York, and there he was quite certain the couple would go on their return from Halifax.

Mrs. Perard, mother of Mrs. La Casse, lives near Mt. Bethel but Rev. Mr. Eyme was quite sure that she would be in New York now to welcome her daughter and son-in-law back after their narrow escape from a watery grave.

BURGLAR SCARED AWAY.

Early Morning Prowler Tried to Break Into Mrs. Edward Baker's House.

Some one tried to break into the house occupied by Mrs. Edward Baker, 465 West Front street, early this morning, but was frightened away before accomplishing the purpose.

Mrs. Baker was awakened about 3 o'clock by the crying of her baby. She went down cellar after some milk, and while there heard footsteps on the flagging just outside of the cellar window. Mrs. Baker went up stairs and quietly opening the shutters saw a strange, rough-looking man fumbling with the cellar window just below. Mrs. Baker rattled the window as she stepped back to call her husband, and the slight noise frightened the man, who ran away as fast as he could go.

STORMING OF SANTIAGO

It Will Not Take Place At Once Say Washington Officials.

SPANISH MAY SURRENDER

Disagreement Among Spaniards at Santiago on the Question of Surrender—Linares Unwilling to Yield—Sentiment Expressed by Spanish Prisoners—News from the Wrecked Ships—Many Charred Bodies Found.

Washington, July 8.—A war conference took place at the White House yesterday. Secretaries Long and Alger, General Miles, Rear Admiral Sicard, Captain Crowninshield and Captain Mahan were present. The conference lasted about an hour and a half, when all the members left the president except Secretary Long.

It was decided not to storm Santiago immediately, the belief being that the city's downfall can be accomplished soon without the heavy loss of men or ships that would result from storming it.

In front of Santiago, July 6, via Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 8.—The camp fires blazed merrily under the flag of truce again last night. The lines of our forces and the Spaniards at San Juan are 200 yards apart.

There is said to be a great dispute between military men in Santiago over the question of surrender. General Linares opposes it.

Three thousand foreign residents of the city passed through our lines yesterday.

General Pando did not reach Santiago.

The Spanish naval prisoners captured after the battle of Santiago are thoroughly tired of the war. The second in command of the Oquendo said:

"Peace is near at hand. This will end the war. We are all glad. The cause we are fighting for is not worth so much. Let Cuba go and give us peace."

Upon the Spanish cruisers Oquendo and Maria Teresa, which are lying near each other on the beach west of Santiago, most of the guns are uninjured and of beautiful workmanship, even the 1 1-2 inch Hontorias forward and aft.

The turrets of the Teresa are all right; so are eight of the 5 1-2-inch quick firers, but several of the one-pounders have been damaged by the fire.

To-day the Indiana sent a boat to the Teresa to get loose property and recovered a Maxim gun from her fighting top and a pair of shoes.

Many charred bodies were found. The twelve-inch armor belt was not pierced, but shells had entered the ports.

One mast was shot away on the Oquendo and both masts on the Teresa. Their sterns are afloat, but probably their hulls are irreparably damaged. In the turrets were found bottles half full of brandy.

CERVERA'S REPORT.

Says in His Official Notification to Blanco That 600 Were Killed.

Washington, July 8.—This copy of a dispatch was received at the war department through the cable office at Playa del Este:

To the General-in-Chief, Havana:

In compliance with your orders I went out yesterday from Santiago de Cuba with all the squadron, and after an unequal combat against forces more than triple mine, had all my squadron destroyed by fire. The Teresa, Oquendo and Vizcaya beached and the Colon fleeing. I accordingly informed the Americans and went ashore and gave myself up.

The torpedo chasers foundered. I do not know how many people are lost, but it will surely reach 600 dead and many wounded. Although not in such great numbers, the living are prisoners of the Americans. The conduct of the crews rose to a height that won the most enthusiastic plaudits of the enemy. The commander of the Vizcaya surrendered his vessel. The crew are very grateful for the noble generosity with which they are treated. Among the dead is Villamil, and I believe Lazaga, and among the wounded Cancas and Eulate. We have lost all and are necessarily depressed.

CERVERA.

House Votes to Adjourn

Washington, July 8.—In the House yesterday Mr. Daizell, Republican of Pennsylvania, offered from the committee on ways and means a concurrent resolution providing for the final adjournment of Congress at 2 o'clock today.

It was immediately passed and generally applauded by the members.

Following the passage of the resolution there came a storm of appeals to the speaker for recognition, members desiring to secure the passage of their bills.

Bills were passed regulating postage on letters written by the blind; refunding $6,000 dues paid by the North German Steamship line upon a propeller shaft brought into repair a ship, and adjusting clothing accounts of soldiers who die within six months after entry upon service.

Sinking of the Alfonso XII.

Madrid, July 8.—The Spanish version of the sinking of the warship Alfonso XII is that she was chased by three American warships while attempting to enter the port of Mariel, and that her commander purposely ran her ashore in order to avoid capture.

The official report adds that the Americans fired six hundred shells at the Alfonso XII and that the ship is a complete loss. It is further said that the crew of the cruiser and "part of her cargo" were saved.

A dispatch from Santiago de Cuba says 140 of the sailors who belonged to Admiral Cervera's squadron have arrived at Santiago de Cuba.

Quiet at Manila.

Hong Kong, July 7.—The British collier Eddie, which left Manila July 3, arrived here yesterday.

She reports that no attack had been made upon the town up to the time of her leaving there. Four German, three British, two French and one Japanese warships were then at Manila.

SUFFERING AT THE FRONT

Men Left for Days in Sun and Rain Without Shelter.

Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 8.—The general hospital at General Shafter's headquarters is in a miserable condition.

The sufferings of hundreds of our wounded would cause a thrill of indignation to run through the nation could the people witness them.

There are only a few tents at the general hospital. The two large ones are filled with wounded Cubans. Most of these are men who were hurt while aimlessly straggling during Friday and Saturday's fighting.

Our men are crowded into the smaller tents.

Many lie unsheltered from the sun and the daily showers.

As rapidly as transportation can be secured the wounded are being carried to Siboney, but the facilities for transportation are insufficient and many lie without any shelter for hours and even days.

These conditions may be expected in temporary field hospitals, but are intolerable in a general hospital, which is three miles to the rear of our trenches.

Across the road from the general hospital General Shafter's staff have one tent to each man, where they may be seen lying in cots at any time.

The commissary department needs shaking up.

Some regiments have not received rations for several days.

One regiment will have plenty and the next in line will be hungry.

Getting the War Bonds.

New York, July 8.—Word comes from Washington that up to the close of business Wednesday there had been $875,593,000 subscribed to the new 3 per cent. war loan, of which $51,000,000 was in subscriptions of $500 or less, $324,593,000 in amounts of over $500, and $500,000,000 in syndicate subscriptions. Bankers are able to make predictions regarding the amount to be awarded on July 15, after the subscriptions for $500 or less have been awarded.

It is said that $70,000,000, or at most, $75,000, may be so subscribed, leaving $125,000,000 to be divided among the subscribers for small amounts in excess of $500. It is said that subscribers for amounts not in excess of $2,000 are almost certain to get the bonds.

Brooklyn Struck Forty five Times.

Guantanamo, July 4, by way of Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 8.—When the Spanish fleet left Santiago it was with the intention of making Cienfuegos, the nearest port, to get coal and provisions. All the ships were short of coal, the Cristobal Colon having only two days' supply, which she had obtained at Santiago.

The Spaniards concentrated their fire on the Brooklyn, hoping to disable that vessel, as they considered her the fastest of the American warships, and thus give an opportunity for at least one or two of the Spanish vessels to escape. The Brooklyn was hit forty-five times.

Will Bring Them Home.

Washington, July 8.—In the Senate yesterday a bill making appropriations to pay session employes of the House of Representatives and for other purposes, was passed, with the following amendment:

"To enable the secretary of war, in his discretion, to cause to be transported to their homes the remains of officers and soldiers who die at military camps or who are killed in action, or who die in the field at places outside of the limits of the United States, $200,000."

Fifteen Thousand Refugees.

El Caney, July 6, 4 p. m., via Kingston, July 8.—More than 15,000 innocent victims of the war have fled here in wild panic to escape the terrors of the threatened bombardment of Santiago, and they are now confronted by the horrors of starvation. In their helpless confusion they are appealing to General Shafter for succor. Most of them are foreigners, principally French.

Pearls of Great Price.

Five hundred and fifty thousand dollars was the price paid for the great Tavernier pearl. It was originally owned at Catifa, in Arabia, and M. Tavernier made the trip from Paris to the desert city of Arabia for the express purpose of purchasing the pearl, about which so much had been said and written. He went prepared to pay any price from $5,000 to $500,000. It was thought that he might succeed in closing the bargain for about $125,000, but this proved to be a great mistake. The sum first offered was $50,000, but the deal remained open for several days even after that offer had been increased to $375,000. Finally the bargain was closed for $550,000. Pearl connoisseurs declare that it is not only the largest, but also the most perfect gem of its kind known, being exactly two inches in length, oval and of spotless luster. Among the crown jewels of England there is a pearl over an inch long, and egg shaped, which cost the government not less than $500,000.—New York Herald.

Glad He Missed the Mark.

One of the stories that the late James Payn liked most to tell was about what he called an American duel, wherein two duellists, with one second, met within doors and drew lots to decide which should shoot himself. A was the unlucky man, and without a word he retired into the next apartment to carry out the purpose of self-destruction. B and the second, both very much moved by the tragedy of the situation, remained in listening attitudes. At last the pistol was heard; they shuddered with emotion an remorse, when suddenly in rushed the supposed dead man, triumphantly exclaiming "Missed, by heaven!"—New York Tribune.

Well Brought Up Babies.

Alaskan babies are rubbed with oil, tightly rolled in a skin or blanket padded with grass and bound with deerskin thongs, which are undone but once a day, when the grass is freshened. If the baby cries he is held under water until he is still.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

EXCHANGE OF HOBSON

American Camp Wildly Enthusiastic Over the Event.

TAKEN ON THE FLAGSHIP

Thirteen Spaniards Given for Seven Americans—Enemy Allowed to Choose One of Three Lieuts. for Hobson—Meeting Between Col. Astor and Major Iriles—An Interesting Episode.

Off Juragua, July 8.—Further particulars are at hand in regard to the exchange of Assistant Naval Constructor Richmond P. Hobson of the flagship New York, and the seven seamen who composed the crew of the collier Merrimac, which was sunk by Hobson and his companions in the channel of the harbor of Santiago de Cuba on June 3 last. They were surrendered by the Spanish military authorities yesterday in exchange for prisoners captured by the American forces.

Hobson and his men were escorted through the American lines by Captain Chadwick of the New York, who was awaiting them. Every step of their journey was marked by the wildest demonstrations on the part of the American soldiers, who threw aside all semblance of order, scrambled out of the intrenchments, knocked over tent guys, and other camp paraphernalia in their eagerness to see the returning heroes, and set up cheer after cheer for the men who had passed safely through the jaws of death to serve their country.

The same scenes of enthusiasm were repeated upon the arrival of the men at the hospital station, and at our base at Juragua. Hobson, who reached there in advance of his companions, was taken on board the New York immediately. The flagship's decks were lined with officers and men, and as Hobson stepped on board his vessel the harbor rang with the shouts and cheers of his comrades, which were echoed by the crews of a dozen transports lying nearby.

Was Well Treated.

Hobson had little to say in regard to his experiences, except that he and his companions had been well treated by the Spaniards and that they were all in excellent health.

The Spanish authorities consented yesterday morning to exchange Hobson and his men and a truce was established for that purpose. The place selected for the exchange was under a tree between the American and Spanish lines, two-thirds of a mile beyond the intrenchments occupied by Colonel Wood's Rough Riders, near General Wheeler's headquarters, and in the center of the American line.

The American prisoners left the Reina Mercedes hospitale on the outskirts of Santiago, where they had been confined, at 2.45 yesterday afternoon in charge of Major Iriles, a Spanish staff officer, who speaks English perfectly. The prisoners were conducted to the meeting place on foot, but were not blindfolded. Colonel John Jacob Astor and Lieutenant Miloy, accompanied by Interpreter Maestro, were in charge of the Spanish prisoners. These consisted of Lieutenants Amello Voloz and Aurolius, a German belonging to the Twenty-ninth Regular Infantry, who were captured at El Caney on Friday last, and Lieutenant Adolfo Arias of the First Provisional regiment of Barcelona, one of the most aristocratic military organizations of the Spanish army, and fourteen non-commissioned officers and privates. Lieutenant Aries and a number of the men were wounded in the fight at El Caney.

The Spanish prisoners were taken through the American lines mounted and blindfolded. The meeting between Colonel Astor and Major Iriles was extremely courteous, but very formal, and no attempt was made by either of them to discuss anything but the matter in hand. Major Iriles was given his choice of one of the three Spanish lieutenants in exchange for Hobson, and was also informed that he could have all of the fourteen men in exchange for the American sailors. The Spanish officers selected Lieutenant Arios and the other two Spanish officers were conducted back to Juragua.

End of the Truce.

It was not then later than 4 o'clock, and just as everything was finished, and the two parties were separating, Major Iriles turned and said courteously enough, but in a tone which indicated considerable defiance, and gave his hearers the impression that he desired hostilities to be renewed at once:

"Our understanding is, gentlemen, that the truce comes to an end at 5 o'clock."

Colonel Astor looked at his watch and bowed to the Spanish officer without making a reply, and then started back slowly to the American lines, with Hobson and his companions following.

The meeting of the two parties and the exchange of prisoners had taken place in full view of both the American and Spanish soldiers who were intrenched near the meeting place, and the keenest interest was taken in the episode.

WATSON ORDERED TO START.

Eastern Squadron Will Get Under Way for Spain at Once.

Washington, July 8.—The Eastern squadron, under Commodore Watson, will start from Santiago after Camara's fleet at once, leaving behind the Abarenda, Alexander and the Scindia, colliers, and the Delmonico, supply ship, which will join the fighting ships at an appointed rendezvous. The colliers are returning to Newport News to take on coal.

Watson is to take the Newark, Iowa, Oregon, Yankee, Dixie and Yesemite.

The Anglo-American Entente.

London, July 8.—Lord George Hamilton, secretary of state for India, speaking Wednesday evening at Chiswick, referred favorably to the Anglo-American entente. He said:

"The moment the United States gets outside of North America and becomes in every way associated with colonial dominions, she will find her interests almost identical with the interests of Great Britain.

MILES LEAVES FOR PORTO RICO.

His Start South Taken to Mean Invasion of That Island.

Washington, July 8.—As soon as Secretary Alger and General Miles returned to the war department yesterday the latter began making preparations to leave for the South.

He is now on his way to Tampa.

This is accepted as meaning the starting of the Porto Rican expedition. By the time General Miles reaches Tampa the heavy artillery ordered to General Rogers will be ready to be put upon the transports and sail with General Miles.

It was announced at the war department that the president at the war council decided that General Miles should head the expedition to Porto Rico, and gave him orders to leave at once for the South to organize his army and prepare transports.

It was stated at the war department that while General Miles is to have charge of the Porto Rican expedition, he will stop at Santiago, and if General Shafter is still ill and unable to continue at the head of the army, General Miles may be ordered to take charge of the troops in Cuba.

Everything depends, however, upon the situation after General Miles reaches Santiago. He positively refused to divulge his plans.

HAWAII A PART OF THE UNION.

The Philadelphia to Raise the Flag Over the Islands.

Washington, July 8.—Secretary Long yesterday gave orders for the departure of the Philadelphia from Mare island for Hawaii.

She will carry the flag of the United States to those islands and include them within the Union.

Admiral Miller, commanding the Pacific station, who is now at Mare island, will be charged with the function of hoisting the flag that was hauled down by Commissioner Blount.

The ship will be ready for sea in a very few days, under the secretary's orders, and should make the trip in a week.

Meanwhile the president will immediately appoint a commission to frame the laws necessary for the changed condition of affairs in Hawaii. This must be done before the adjournment of Congress, as the commissioners are subject to confirmation.

Death of Parker Pillsbury.

Concord, N. H., July 8.—Parker Pillsbury, the associate of Garrison, Phillips and others of the great anti-slavery movement of the first half of the century, died at his home here yesterday. He was eighty-nine years of age.

Parker Pillsbury was born in Hamilton, Mass., on the 22d of September, 1809, and was brought up on a farm and at Gilmanton Theological Seminary. After working for a short time in a Congregational church in New London, N. H., he engaged in anti-slavery agitation. From 1840 until the abolition of slavery, he lectured in different parts of the country and was the editor of the Herald of Freedom and other anti-slavery papers. Later in life he was a preacher for free religious societies throughout the West. He was the author of a number of pamphlets.

Destruction of the Reina Mercedes.

Washington, July 8.—Admiral Sampson has telegraphed to the war department as follows from his flagship New York, off Santiago, dated Wednesday:

"About midnight last night the Reina Mercedes was seen by the Massachusetts, which vessel had a searchlight on the channel, coming out of the harbor of Santiago.

"The Massachusetts and Texas opened fire and the Spanish vessel was sunk opposite Estrella cove.

"I am inclined to think it was the intention to sink her in the channel and thus block the harbor entrance. If so, this plan was defeated by the fire of the ships, as she lies on the edge of the shore."

Number Lost on the Bourgogne.

New York, July 8.—According to the latest information made public yesterday morning at the office of the French line in this city, the number of persons on board La Bourgoyne, when she sank at 5 o'clock last Monday, after colliding with the ship Cromartyshire off Sable island, was as follows:

First cabin passengers 83, second cabin passengers 123, sterage passengers 297, crew about 222, including officers; total 725.

According to the same figures there were saved no first cabin passengers, 16 second cabin passengers, 51 steerage passengers, 190 members of the crew and four officers. The number of persons lost would, therefore, according to these figures, be 560.

Prisoners Not Killed.

Washington, July 8.—The war department has posted the following dispatch from General Shafter, received in response to an inquiry as to the reported killing of Spanish prisoners by Cubans.

Playa del Este, July 7.

Hon. Secretary of War, Washington:

Dispatch as to killing prisoners by Cubans absolutely false. No prisoners have been turned over to them, and they have shown no disposition to treat badly any Spaniards who have fallen into their hands.

SHAFTER,
Major General Commanding.

Off for the Philippines.

New York, July 8.—The five companies of the First New York volunteers which have been doing garrison duty at Fort Wadsworth for the past month departed from there yesterday on their long trip to the Philippines. The companies were A, B, C, D and G, and the commander is Major Emmett.

Clothing for Troops.

New York, July 8.—In the quartermaster's department in the Army building, yesterday, contracts were awarded for 25,000 pairs of blue infantry trousers at $2.82 a pair, and 60,000 pairs at $2.28 a pair, 5,000 canvas leggings at 66 cents a pair and 10,000 dark blue shirts at $1.74 1-2 a piece.

Francis Joseph's Escape.

Budapest, July 8.—Three Socialist workmen have been arrested here charged with high treason. One of them has confessed that he took part in a conspiracy to attempt the life of Emperor Francis Joseph by the use of dynamite during his expected visit to this city.

IN CHICKAMAUGA CAMP.

Changes in Commands, Inspection of the Signal Service.

Chickamauga Military Park, July 8.—The new orders for removal of troops have been issued at Camp Thomas and both officers and men, although not losing sight of the fact that they may be rushed out at any time, have gone back to the regular routine. The Third Illinois, Fourth Ohio, and Fourth Pennsylvania which were to have gone out Wednesday, may get away to-day or Saturday, but no information on this point could be secured. The regiments of the First Corps, ordered some time ago to prepare to move, have finished their preparations and are keeping up their usual routine until the moving orders come.

The paymasters are expected to finish their work by to-night. Only a few regiments remain unpaid. Only a small number of recruits arrived yesterday, nearly all of the commands now being recruited up to their full strength.

Information has reached Camp Thomas that General H. V. Boynton, recently appointed a brigadier general, will arrive to-day to report to General Brooke for assignment to duty. It is understood that he is to take a command in the First Corps, but whether he will be placed in command of a brigade or a division is not known.

Brigadier General R. T. Frank, formerly chief instructor of artillery at Fortress Monroe, will arrive at Camp Thomas from New York to-day. It is understood that he is to be assigned to a division, and will in all probability take the command now held by General Fred Grant, whom he outranks in seniority. General Frank was recently promoted from the rank of lieutenant colonel. It is understood that General Grant will be designated as a brigade commander.

General Greely, chief signal officer of the United States army, arrived here to-day to visit Major Glassford. During the last few months Major Glassford has accomplished a great deal of work at Camp Thomas, organizing the volunteer signal corps and training the men. General Greely is now on a tour of inspection through the various camps to ascertain the manner in which the work is progressing. After spending a day or two with Major Glassford he will proceed to Tampa and Jacksonville.

Captain McCarthy, the quartermaster at Camp Thomas, has just received a consignment of 80,000 pounds of mule shoes. The shoes will average a pound each, making about 80,000 shoes. There are thousands of mules at the park and shoes are badly needed.

RUMORS OF PEACE.

It is Said Spain is About to Give Up the Struggle.

Washington, July 8.—Unofficial advices to the administration from sources heretofore accurate, say Spain will sue for peace this week. At the same time no such suggestion from Spain, direct or indirect, has been received here.

The government will listen, it is said, if approached in a proper spirit.

It was also declared that Martinez Campos, Weyler's predecessor as captain general of Cuba, and one of the best and most reasonable minds of Spain, is to be made prime minister of the new Spanish cabinet which is sure to be erected within a few days on the wreck of the Sagasta cabinet.

This information accords well with advices that have been coming in for the past week to show that some of the European powers at least have bestirred themselves to bring pressure upon Spain to yield to the inevitable and ask for peace.

The fact that no overtures have been made by our government looking for peace, however, does not in any way qualify the first statement, namely, that movements in that direction are afoot in Europe.

Has the Fight Begun?

Kingston, Jamaica, July 8.—At the front Wednesday night it was understood that fighting was to be resumed yesterday at noon.

The riflemen of the two armies were a scant two hundred yards apart.

All preparations had been completed for a general assault along the line.

Most of the officers of the Spanish army are reported as willing and anxious to surrender, but say they cannot do so except they receive direct orders from Madrid.

It seems improbable that the Spanish army can hold out against the force hurled at them, but everything tends to indicate that there will be a desperate fight.

Heavy Batteries for Shafter.

Washington, July 8.—With a view to giving General Shafter more heavy artillery, orders have been issued for the immediate departure of four heavy batteries to Tampa, for transportation to Santiago at once. These batteries are: K of the Seventh artillery at Willet's Point, D of the Fourth Artillery at Fort McHenry, Md., and H and K of the Second Artillery, at Fort Adams and elsewhere in Rhode Island. Rush orders were given to each of these batteries, and it is expected that they will start for Tampa at once.

What a Spanish Minister Says.

Madrid, July 8.—A minister, after the cabinet meeting yesterday, declared that if Admiral Cervera had succeeded in escaping, the Spaniards would have sued for peace. But, he added, in view of the destruction of the Spanish fleet, the war must be continued, lest Spain be accused of cowardice or fear.

Dispatches from official sources at Havana announce that there is an enthusiastic desire there to continue the war.

Protest from Switzerland.

Berne, Switzerland, July 8.—The Bundesrath has instructed the Swiss minister at Washington, Dr. J. B. Pioda, to complain of the fact that consignments of St. Gall embroideries lie for months in the New York custom house "because a fresh system of customs entry is applied to these goods daily."

Spain's Loss Twelve Hundred.

YANKEES AT CAVITE

A Fourth of July Celebration in Manila Bay.

DEWEY'S SHIPS IN TRIM

Americans Enjoy a Day of Rest—Admiral Dewey Reviews the Fleet—Troops Are All Landed and Safely Housed at Cavite—Aguinaldo's Forces Daily Fight the Spaniards—American Ships Receive a Fresh Supply of Ammunition.

Cavite, July 4, Evening, via Hong Kong, July 8.—The American soldiers and sailors have not only had a day of rest to-day, but they also took part in an enthusiastic celebration of the national holiday. The fleet dressed ship and fired salutes and General Anderson reviewed the entire brigade. Admiral Dewey was with General Anderson during the review.

The troops have all been landed and are quartered in the buildings of the navy yard and arsenal at Cavite.

Great interest is felt here in the possibility of the arrival of Spanish reinforcements and the action of the Philippine insurgents.

Admiral Dewey's ships are now fully supplied with ammunition, which was brought by the City of Pekin and are now ready for a red hot fight if the Spanish fleet makes its appearance. The Monterey is expected to arrive by that time.

Aguinaldo's forces are hammering the Spaniards steadily back. Hard fighting is going on daily and sometimes there are night attacks. The Spanish are forced to waste a good deal of ammunition and may be compelled to surrender to the Americans in order to avoid being captured by the insurgents.

It is reported that Aguinaldo has cut off the water supply of the city of Manila.

General Anderson will send out a party soon to find out the exact situation and report the condition of the surrounding country.

The transports of the First brigade will discharge their stores for the present only as they may be needed.

Washington, July 8.—The navy department has posted the following bulletin:

"A cablegram from Rear Admiral Dewey, dated Cavite, July 4, Hong Kong, July 7, states that the United States troops have landed and have been comfortably housed at Cavite, Luzon island. The insurgents are still active.

"Aguinaldo proclaimed himself president of the revolutionary republic on July 1."

French Gunners on the Pelayo.

Washington, D. C., July 8.—Official information has been received in Washington to the effect that the Spanish warship Pelayo has joined the rest of Admiral Camara's fleet at Suez.

The Pelayo is considered by naval experts to be one of the strongest fighting machines in the Spanish navy. Owing to the repoerts hitherto received in the navy department it was believed that the Pelayo was in such need of repairs that she would not be in condition to join Admiral Camara.

The officials have positive information to the effect that the Pelayo and one other of the vessels with Admiral Camara are provided with French gunners and French engineers.

Batteries for Cuba.

Washington, July 8.—The war department has ordered to Ybor City, Fla., a number of heavy batteries of artillery, which will be sent to Major General Shafter as soon as possible.

The crack Battery K of the Seventh artillery, now at Willet's Point, L. I., will be among the batteries sent to the front.

General Shafter has made urgent appeals of late for artillery reinforcements.

Eleven Thousand Spanish Troops.

Port Antonio, July 8.—The Spaniards estimate the force behind the fortifications at Santiago at about 11,000, including the 4,000 reinforcements which were brought by General Pando. The force besides General Pando's men, consisting of 4,000 regulars and 2,000 volunteers, are not to be depended on much, and 1,100 marines and sailors were withdrawn from the city when the Spanish fleet made its ill-fated sortie.

Wounded Will Be Taken to Atlanta.

Key West, July 8.—The steamers Iroquois and Cherokee are expected here soon from Santiago with wounded and sick soldiers. They will be transferred to Atlanta, where preparations will be made to give the soldiers every attention.

As soon as the sick and wounded are taken off the Iroquois and Cherokee will be loaded with troops and sent back to Santiago.

Russia's Notice to China.

Pekin, July 8.—The Russian charge d'affaires, M. Paveloff, has informed the Tsung li Yamen (Chinese foreign office) that if northern extension of railroad, which has been conceded to a British syndicate, is persisted in, Russia may be obliged to seize the province of Ili (Chili, in which Pekin is situated), as compensation.

The Eagle Captures a Prize.

Key West, July 8.—The small Spanish schooner Galifo, loaded with lumber, hard wood, chickens, pigs and provisions of various kinds, has been captured by the auxiliary gunboat Eagle and was brought in here yesterday. The capture was effected on Tuesday last east of Cape Pepe, Isle of Pines.

Hawaiian Act Signed.

Washington, July 8.—The president has signed the Hawaiian resolution annexing the islands. As soon as ratified by the Hawaiian legislature the United States will take possession.

Brigade Ordered to Mobile.

Mobile, Ala., July 8.—Major Pullman, quartermaster, admits that a brigade from Chickamauga has been ordered here and will immediately embark on transports for Santiago.

The President's Proclamation.

To the People of the United States of America:

At this time, when to the yet fresh remembrance of the unprecedented success which attended the operations of the United States fleet in the bay of Manila, on the 1st day of May last, are added the tidings of the no less glorious achievements of the naval military arms of our beloved country at Santiago de Cuba, it is fitting that we should pause, and, staying the feeling of exultation that too naturally attends great deeds wrought by our countrymen in our country's cause, should reverently bow before the throne of Divine Grace and give devout praise to God, who holdeth the nations in the hollow of his hands and worketh upon them the marvels of His high will, and who has thus far vouchsafed to us the light of His face and led our brave soldiers and seamen to victory.

I, therefore, ask the people of the United States, upon next assembling for divine worship in their respective places of meeting, to offer thanksgiving to Almighty God, who, in His inscrutable ways, now leading our hosts upon the waters to unscathed triumphs now guiding them in a strange land through the dread shadows of death to success, even though at a fearful cost, now bearing them without accident or loss to far distant climes, has watched over our cause and brought nearer to success of the right and the attainment of just and honorable peace.

With the nation's thanks let there be mingled the nation's prayers that our gallant souls may be shielded from harm, alike on the battlefield and in the clash of fleets, and be spared the scourge of suffering and disease while they are striving to uphold their country's honor; and withal let the nation's heart be stirred with holy awe at the thought of the noble men who have perished as heroes die, and be filled with compassionate sympathy for all those who suffer bereavement or endure sickness, wounds and bonds by reason of the awful struggle.

And, above all, let us pray with earnest fervor that He, the Dispenser of all Good, may speedily remove from us the untold afflictions of war and bring to our dear land the blessings of restored peace and to all the domain now ravaged by the cruel strife the priceless boon of security and tranquility.

WILLIAM McKINLEY.

Executive Mansion, Washington, July 6, 1898.

Must Be Open and Above Board.

It has been a favorite practice among property buyers to conceal the real purchasing price by writing the amount of consideration in real estate transfers as "$1 etc.," but now Uncle Sam has put a stop to this in his new war revenue law.

Hereafter real estate conveyances will have to show the amount paid for a piece of property, instead of the customary "$1 and other valuable consideration" that has been named for the purpose of securing secrecy. The consideration will have to be named, and the deed must bear stamps to the amount required by the price of the property and provided for by the law.

Gives Jersey a Bad Name.

New Jersey editor of the New York Tribune has a wholesome horror of those Jerseyites who go forth parading the disreputable mosquito as a distinctive State "bird." The Tribune says:

A number of newspapers report that H. Brewster Wills, School Superintendent of Middlesex county, has designed a badge for the teachers of that county to wear at the convention of the picture of a mosquito. To some people it may seem excruciatingly funny, bright and original to thus go forth, proclaiming to the whole country that New Jerser is the home of the mosquito. Others there are, however, too obtuse to appreciate the point of this joke. New Jersey is no more the headquarters of mosquitoes than is Long Island or Staten Island, and in both the latter places the plague is infinitely worse. New Jersey has many things to be proud of: it is not proud of the fact that in some parts of the State mosquitoes abound, and is is a poor kind of humor for any Jerseyman or Jerseywoman to go parading around the country representing this commonwealth as being noted chiefly for its mosquito crop.

OUR SIEGE GUNS IN CUBA.

The illustration shows one of the siege guns used by General Shafter in Cuba. It is a seven-inch howitzer. These guns are especially constructed for attacking defenses on land and do terrible damage.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

When the Jamesburg Record says that "the oath of the Prosecutor of Middlesex should be read in the County Court occasionally," there is an implication that some one is negligent of duty. While Prosecutors are the result of politics, its mere reading of an oath cuts little figure in the line of duty—in Middlesex.—New York Press.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Gee Wah, the North avenue laundryman, is mourning the loss of a fine young cockerel which he was to have for dinner Sunday, and which he was fattening in the rear of his shop. Fourth of July night some mischievous boys put a big cracker under the chicken's coop and after the explosion there was nothing left to tell where the rooster had been except a bit of wing and two feet. Gee Wah swears vengeance.

* * * * *

Some fun-loving person managed to have lots of fun on North avenue last Sunday night. He laid a chair in the street and on it placed a section of old stove pipe. Then he lighted a fuse of paper and departed. In the darkness it looked like a small cannon and there was a scattering to get out of range. After patiently waiting for the gun to go off, some enterprising individual discovered the joke. Then everybody explained that it hadn't fooled them a bit.

* * * * *

A short time ago a Plainfield clergyman was calling on some of his parishoners and in the course of conversation the subject of why the pastor does not see his people more frequently was introduced. The pastor remarked, in explanation, that during the summer months, more than half of the women members of his church take the early part of the afternoon for sleeping and he was seldom able to find any of them home until after 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

* * * * *

Among the early celebrators of Independence Day there were none who enjoyed themselves more and, incidentally, made noise than the delegation from the Bachelors' Club. They numbered twenty-three in all, nine of whom were armed with shotguns and the remainder with revolvers. They visited the homes of their friends and gave them abundant evidence that there was plenty of patriotism in their veins. One well-to-do citizen was peacefully sleeping when the bombardment of his residence began. He and his temper rose together and wandered out to the yard. He ordered the invisible "Bachelors" to disperse, only to be saluted with a shotgun from behind a neighboring tree. He then started in to chastise the midnight intruders with a cane. Unable to locate them and half-blinded by the repeated flashes from all sides, the worthy citizen hurried indoors.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

Edward White.

BIRTH OF OUR FLAG.

ITS ORIGIN WRAPPED IN HISTORICAL MYSTERY.

Washington Was a Member of the Committee Which Accepted the Design, and It Is a Curious Coincidence That His Shield Consisted of the Same Figures.

The American flag really dates from Jan. 2, 1776, though officially only from June 14, 1777, when Congress passed the resolution decreeing that the flag of the United States should be thirteen stripes alternate red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a field representing a new constellation. This is nearly all that the records tell. Whenever a new state is admitted a new star is added. The respectable antiquity of our flag is best realized by comparing it with that of other nations. The Spanish flag was established in 1785, the French tricolor in 1794, the Italian flag in 1848, and the flag of the German Empire dates from 1870. As for "the meteor flag of England" which an imaginative poet once applied to the present national ensign of the United Kingdom, it is enough to say that there is no such flag in existence. The British ensign is commonly termed the "Union Jack." This royal standard dates from 1801 when it was first hoisted over the Tower of London. So that the pretty fancy about "the flag that braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze" is simply gilt-edged gibberygosh.

The origin of the flag of the United States is wrapped in historical mystery, but there is good reason to believe that it was designed and adopted largely out of compliment to Washington. He was a member of the committee which accepted the design, and it is a curious coincidence that his shield consisted of the same pieces and figures that the flag is composed of. Washington's crest was an eagle, and the colors and the metal of his coat are also the principal colors in the flag, namely, red and white. Washington's object in this may have been the laudable desire to perpetuate himself seeing that he had no direct posterity. He may have been inspired by the fact that in giving us a free country he was also entitled to influence the features of its flag. Accordingly instead of the stars which in heraldry consist of six or more points the United States have adopted instead the five pointed figures of Washington's shield. These are in heraldry called mullets. The flag thus receives an additional lustre from the silent honors thus paid to the Father of his country by his own contemporaries. The framers of the resolution on June 14, 1777, were probably for these and other reasons designedly silent upon these points. It is considered that they were anxious to have Washington escape the animadversions of the Conway cabal, whose opposition would have been aroused at any open attempt to make a hero of Washington and whom this cabal intended to supplant by General Horatio Gates. Anyhow our official knowledge upon the motives and principles that may have influenced the framers of the flag is very limited and gossip has attributed the designing and the arrangement of the flag to a lady with French predilictions who lived in Philadelphia.

During the revolution many of the states had their own flags, and Lexington was fought under "waving streamers." Some people also go so far as to state that Washington copied the East India Company's flag which had also thirteen stripes, red and white, but such is not likely. Paul Jones claimed that he first hoisted the flag of America on the Alfred. The national emblem was then a rattlesnake which indeed came nearly becoming a national emblem instead of the eagle. The flag of the "Ranger" which was fitted out by Congress for Jones was thirteen stripes with the rattlesnake undulating over them and with the motto—"Don't Tread on Me!" However, from out of all these various devices there was evolved a national standard designed under Washington's supervision and which was accepted by Congress. It was Mrs. Ross who made the banner which Congress approved, from a rough sketch furnished to her and made by the hand of Washington; so that it seems clear, alike from the facts and from the probabilities that the plans and preferences of Washington dominated the national flag. No story of the American flag however, which omitted the vicissitudes—which beset its birth and early existence would be complete, that failed to state the part that France played in the matter. This was so vital a part that Captain A. T. Mahan stated in his speech at New York, Feb. 7, 1897, that "there would be no flag at all if it weren't for the French under De Grasse appearing at Hampton Roads," while 5,000 trained French soldiers tackled Burgoyne and Cornwallis on land, fighting side by side with Americans.

The flag of the fifteen stars and fifteen stripes was carried by Old Ironsides before Tripoli and throughout the war of 1812. It was the flag worn by the Constellation in her actions with l'Insurgent and La Vengeance; the flag that waved over Derne, being the first American flag placed upon a fortress of the Old World; the flag of Lake Erie, Fort McHenry and New Orleans, and of our naval victories on the Atlantic, and which was carried around Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope in the Essex, the first United States cruiser to show a pennant beyond either.

The flag worn by the United States brig Enterprise in her action with the British brig Boxer, September 4, 1813, and afterward the pall which covered the body of Capt. Burrows, had fifteen stripes and fifteen stars; this flag, which was old on the day of the engagement, and patched with a still older one, was, after the action, found to bear the marks of fifty-nine shot holes, chiefly musketry.

The bear flag, which was raised at Sonoma June 14, 1846, is now in the possession of the Pioneer Society of San Francisco. It is made of white cotton and red flannel, and has painted on it the semblance of a grizzly bear. The artist was so unfortunate in his efforts that the Spaniards in their derision called it the "Bandera colchis," or hog flag. The army which raised this flag and attempted to revolutionize a state consisted of fourteen Americans.

Capt. Montgomery, of the sloop-of-war Portsmouth, then lying in San Francisco Bay, raised the United States flag on the plaza of Yerba Buena, now Portsmouth square, under a salute of twenty-one guns, on the 8th of July, 1846. Since that date the flag of our nation has constantly waved over California.

The City of Charleston, S. C., presented a regimental flag to the South Carolina Volunteer on the 24th of December, 1846. The Mayor, in his presentation speech, said: "The motto that glitters in the sunlight from this banner, 'Not for ourselves do we conquer, but for our country,' covers every heart here present." This flag, riddled by bullets, was carried at Contreras and Cherubusco, where Col. Butler was killed carrying it. It was also the first flag borne inside the City of Mexico by the United States forces.

Something from Scotland.

Mrs. Hohmboddie: "What are you reading that absorbs you so?"

Mr. Hohmboddie (looking up from his book): "It's a new Scotch novel."

Mrs. Hohmboddie (with enthusiasm): "Oh, I am so fond of those dear dialect things! Do read me a little."

Mr. Hohmboddie: "Can you understand it?"

Mrs. Hohmboddie (loftily): "Can I understand it? Well, I should hope anything you can understand need not be Greek to me!"

Mr. Hohmboddie: "No; but it might be Scotch."

Mrs. Hohmboddie: "Go on; read just where you are at."

Mr. Hohmboddie (reading): "'Ye see, Elpsie,' said Duncan, doucely, 'I might hae mair the matter wi' me than ye wad be spierin'. Aiblins ma een is a bit dazzlit, an' am hearin' the poolses thuddin' in ma ears, an' ma toongue is clavin' when it sud be gaein'; an' div ye no' hear the dirlin' o' ma hairt an' feel the shakin' o' ma hond this day gin I gat a glimpse o' ye, sair hirplin like an auld mon? Div ye nae guess what's a' the steer, hinney, wi'out me gaein' it mair words?'"

Mrs. Hohmboddin: "Stop, for goodness sake! What in the world is the creature trying to say?"

Mr. Hohmboddie: "He's making a declaration of love."

Mrs. Hohmboddie: "A declaration of love? I thought he was telling a lot of symptoms to his doctor."

Nothing Like a Good Dictionary.

"Father," said his son, looking u from a book, "what is pride?"

"Pride?" returned the father. "Pride Why, a—oh, surely you know wha pride is? A sort of being stuck up—a kind of—well, proud, you know Just get the dictionary. That's th thing to tell you exactly what it is There's nothing like a dictionary Johnny."

"Here it is," said the latter, after an exhausting search: "'Pride—being proud.'"

"Um—yes, that's it," replied the father. "But—well, look at 'proud. That's the way. You've got to hunt these things out, my lad."

"I've got it," answered Johnnie. "Pre — pre — pro — 'proud — having pride."

"That's it. There you are, as clear as day. I tell you, Johnnie, there is nothing like a good dictionary when you are young."

Musical Criticism.

The little daughter of a certain musical critic was overheard the other day entertaining a visitor while her mother was out of the room.

"And do you like music, too?" asked the visitor politely.

"Oh, yes, indeed," replied the child, with as near an approach to her father's manner as she could manage. "I'm 'specially fond of opera."

"What operas do you like?" asked the visitor.

The child hesitated. Then she recovered her grown-up air.

"Oh," she said carelessly, "my favorites are 'Lohindutchman' and 'The Flying Grin.'"

The Gibson Picture Fad.

A scheme for using Gibson pictures (and it may be hinted that this fad has been so overdone that it is showing signs of passing) is to arrange small ones in artistic groups on a square of delicately tinted paper harmonizing with the prevailing tint of the room. For a pink room, a sheet of pink glazed paper is used, an edge left that gives the effect of a frame. On this the pictures are pasted, and it is then attached to the wall by means of tiny gilt thumb-screws, doing away with the tearing or blowing off of these pictures when less securely fastened to the wall.

A Chinese traveller applying for a passport must have his palm brushed over with fine oil-paint, and then press it on thin, damp paper, which retains an exact impression of the lines of his hand. Transference of the passport is then impossible, for no two persons have the same lines on their palms.

Cats can smell even during sleep. If a piece of meat be placed immediately in front of a sleeping cat's nose, the nostrils will begin to work as the scent is received, and an instant later the cat will wake up.

Berlin. Gegen den Schriftsteller Brentano war im Februar d. J. in Folge einer Strafanzeige des Herrn Normann-Schumann ein Verfahren wegen angeblich im Jahre 1888 begangener Urkundenfälschung eingeleitet worden. Nachdem die sorgfältig geführte Untersuchung die vollständige Haltlosigkeit der Verdachtsgründe ergeben hat, ist nun das Verfahren gegen Brentano endgiltig eingestellt worden. —Der Berliner Verein für Velociped-Wettfahren hat einen Preis von 15,000 Mark für ein „24 Stunden-Rennen" ausgesetzt; die Wettbewerber sollen 24 Stunden lang auf dem Rade bleiben; wer in dieser Zeit die größte Kilometerzahl abgefahren haben wird, soll diesen Preis gewinnen.

Brandenburg. Die Strafkammer verurtheilte den Gefangenenaufseher Plachmann, der beim Krähenschießen einen bei Landarbeiten beschäftigten Zuchthäusler tödtlich verletzt hatte, zu drei Monaten Gefängniß.

Havelberg. Sämmtliche Scheunen und Stallungen und andere Wirthschaftsgebäude des städtischen Vorwerks Müggenbusch, mit Ausnahme des Wohnhauses, sind total niedergebrannt. Das Feuer ist angelegt worden, der Brandstifter ist noch nicht ermittelt. Verbrannt sind circa 480 Schafe, 25 Schweine, drei Hunde, sämmtliches Geflügel und alle Ackergeräthe und Maschinen. Der Brandschaden ist enorm, doch sind Gebäude und Mobiliar versichert.

Osnabrück. In der Ortschaft Hagen bei Georg-Marien-Hütte explodirte in dem Beckmann'schen Gasthaus, in dem wegen eines Ausstandes vier Gendarmen untergebracht waren, eine Dynamitpatrone, die auf ein Fenster gelegt worden war. Ein Theil der Mauer und die Fenster wurden zerstört. Menschen sind nicht zu Schaden gekommen.

Diepholz. Die Geflügelcholera räumt in unserem Kreise unter dem Federvieh furchtbar auf. Dem Gänsezüchter C. gingen allein über 500 Gänse ein, welche immerhin einen Werth von 2000 Mark repräsentiren. Daß die Hirten an einem Tage 50 bis 60 an der Seuche krepirte Thiere verscharren müssen, ist nichts Ungewöhnliches.

Provinz Hessen-Nassau.

Flörsheim. Bei einem schweren Gewitter wurde die Fernsprechleitung nach Bad Weilbach zerstört. Sieben Leitungsstangen sind durch den Blitz zerschmettert worden; mächtige Splitter wurden auf den angrenzenden Feldern in die Erde eingespießt vorgefunden.

Frankfurt. Auf dem Friedhof erschoß sich der Bureauvorsteher Julius Zeppenfeld am Grabe seiner ersten Frau. Die Revolverkugel war von der rechten Schläfe bis zur Schädeldecke in der Höhe des linken Auges eingedrungen. Das Verhalten des Mannes in der letzten Zeit läßt vermuthen, daß er einer geistigen Störung unterlegen ist.

Schwerverletzt wurde dieser in's Garnisonlazareth gebracht.

Bromberg. Der 70jährige Hausbesitzer Marks nahm sich durch Ertränken im Kanal das Leben. Ferner wurde in der Netze bei Labischin die Leiche des Arbeiters Schallehn aufgefunden.

Schneidemühl. Im Wiederaufnahmeverfahren wurde der Pferdeknecht Bernhard Kruske aus Deutsch-Krone freigesprochen, nachdem er sechs Monate Gefängniß unschuldig verbüßt hatte. Die Strafkammer hatte ihn im August vorigen Jahres wegen eines Gelddiebstahls zu neun Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt und seine sofortige Verhaftung beschlossen. Die Verurtheilung war auf Grund der eidlichen Aussage eines Kuhfütterers Namens Drews erfolgt, der inzwischen vom Schwurgericht wegen Meineids zu fünfjähriger Zuchthausstrafe verurtheilt ist.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 7. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Lessons from the life of Elijah.—I Kings xviii. 20-39.

Elijah is the most unique character in Biblical history. He has been well called "the grandest and most romantic character that Israel ever produced." He lived in an age when fearlessness and courage were greatly demanded and was always found equal to the great occasions in which he was such a prominent figure. From such a striking and heroic life we could not but learn many lessons, but Elijah's life is pre-eminently a lesson on prayer. Of all the Old Testament worthies who prevailed with God in prayer Elijah is selected by the apostle James to illustrate the fact that the "effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." He teaches us lessons on courage, on faith, on God's faithfulness, but above everything else his life illustrates the power of prayer, and this characteristic alone we will emphasize.

1. Elijah was a righteous man at prayer. Elijah was right with God in an age when most men were not so. He was on good terms with God at all times, and when critical moments came, in which all depended upon God's favor and help, he could go to God with assurance that God would hear him. God does not hear sinners. Sin paralyzes many a prayer. "If I regard iniquity in my heart," says the psalmist, "the Lord will not hear me." It is well to be on good terms with God at all times, to live in such a way that when we greatly need His help and favor we may seek it with earnestness and assurance.

2. Elijah's prayers were definite and specific. He prayed for drought, for fire to descend upon his altars, for rain. He illustrates definiteness in prayer. Too many of our prayers are glittering generalities. We ramble heedlessly and thoughtlessly over the whole creation without giving definiteness to our desires before God. We should know what we want and then ask for it. Then our prayers would not be so long and so meaningless.

3. Elijah illustrates faith in prayer. He had such sublime faith in God that he boldly declared that there should be no dew or rain but according to His word. Afterward, when he prayed for rain, he at once sent his servant out to see if the clouds had appeared. He believed that his prayer would be answered. How many Christians today in praying for rain leave their knees to go and look for the clouds? Many of us would be surprised to see them. There is much lack of faith in prayer. We pray and then we are surprised if the answer comes, which proves conclusively that we did not expect an answer. Our faith in God should be real and strong.

Elijah's whole life proves that our God is a prayer hearing and prayer answering God. Let us ask that we may receive, seek that we may find, knock that it may be opened unto us.

Bible Readings.—I Kings xvii, 1-7, 17-24; xix, 1-6, 11-21; xxi, 17-29; II Kings i, 3, 16, 17; ii, 8-15; ix, 30-37; Ps. cix, 4; Math. xvii, 1-8; xxi, 22; Luke iv, 25, 26; Acts vi, 4; Jas. v, 16-19.

Idle Words.

Gossip, tale bearing, slander, flattery, untruthfulness, useless words, words conducive of neither instruction nor to innocent entertainment, thrown out to while away the time in a spare five minutes, words that are not consecrated by any seriousness of purpose whatever—these are the idle words of which our blessed Lord says an account must be given at the day of judgment. And how many idle words are uttered every day! When we consider seriously how much unnecessary tittle tattle there is in the world, we may well be startled at its magnitude.—Monthly Bulletin, Church of the Advocate.

The Apostolic Way.

The question that confronts the church today is not how to awaken an interest in missions, but how to get men profoundly interested in Christ. Nothing but living, personal union with Him will make the church missionaries—her bishops, her ministers and her people. Christ was the great missionary. "He came," He said, "not to be ministered unto, but to minister." Interest in the mission work of the church can be sustained only as union with Christ, the strength and inspiration of the great missionary movement, is sustained.—Churchman.

Antagonism to the Bicycle.

Christian ministers are not alone in their antagonism to the bicycle. It affects also the attendance at Jewish Sunday services, or at least is claimed to. We seriously doubt it, however. If the young men who go off on their wheels would otherwise go to temple on Sunday mornings, they would attend at least on rainy days and during the winter months when wheels are laid aside, but careful inquiry fails to prove this to be the case. No, it is not the wheel that keeps the young men away.—American Hebrew.

All It Means.

Any one can carry his burden, however heavy, till nightfall. Any one can do his work, however hard, for one day. Any one can live sweetly, patiently, lovingly, purely, till the sun goes down. And this is all that life ever really means.—British Weekly.

Past and Present.

Look thoughtfully at the present, look forward to the future, look backward at the past—at the present with firm and holy resolution, at the past with humble and penitent gratitude, to the future with calm and earnest hope.—Canon Farrar.

Then Be Thankful.

No lot has been so hard this year but that it might possibly have been a little harder. Is it not so? Then be thankful in due degree.—Michigan Christian Advocate.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning July 10. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The Rainbow of Christian Character.

SCRIPTURE READING.—II Pet. i, 5-7.

As God has promised that we shall partake of His Divine nature we need to be diligent, while trustful in His fidelity, to have the whole cluster of Christian virtues hand in hand take their places in our characters and lead our lives. The chiefest of all the graces is fervent affection to all.

Our Senior Book Agent.

One of the largest publishing houses in the world is the Methodist Book Concern. A peculiarity of it is that it changes its title frequently. Once in four years the general conference elects the agents who have charge of the business, and their names are given to the firm during the time of their service. Eaton and Manis are the two names which now stand as the title of the New York branch, while Curts and Jennings is the designation of the western branch.

Dr. Homer Eaton has filled with conspicuous ability the position which has been occupied by many men of rare business qualities and devotion. He was born in Vermont in 1834. Converted when 16 years of age, he gained his education at the academy and Concord Biblical institute. He joined the Troy conference and has filled some of the most important charges, been presiding elder, member of general conference and fraternal delegate to the M. E. church of Canada. Level headedness is one of his chief characteristics.

Resting.

There are times when to think is a burden. Then one should sleep. No medicine does such good as restful slumber. Vacation is needed by all who do faithful work. Some people boast that they never take a vacation and reflect unfavorably upon those who do. This is unkind and unjust. Some people never do enough to know what it is to be actually tired. They can have no sympathy for those who are so worn with fatigue that life itself is a burden, much less can they give safe advice. Change of work, say some, is all you need. This is often the sheerest nonsense. It is disastrously false in some cases. When the body is tired, it must rest or break. If the brain is overtaxed, it is not enough to stop the mental strain and overwork the body. Rest! That means to some people to lie in a hammock or fish, if you are sure not to be troubled with catching anything. Let the exhausted powers of body have time to repair and replace the wasted tissues. Beware of overexertion of any kind. Be patient when others call you indolent. Let them race up the mountains and work off superfluous flesh and energy. If you have none to spare, watch them do it, but don't you do it.

Take time to just be and enjoy the exquisite sense of living. This is a beautiful world. Stop a bit and enjoy it and be glad with Him who makes and keeps it ever fresh and glorious. How beautiful God is! Rest in Him! This is summer time work.

No Substitute.

Nothing can take the place of the church and her services. No club or association for benevolent or social or even spiritual work can be a substitute for the "household of God." The League itself must not detract from the interest in the regular means of grace. If our young people must choose between the meetings of the League and the regular meetings of the church, there can be no question how the decision should be made. Sustain the prayer meeting, class meeting and preaching services. After this, if others are needed, they may be supplemented by special services peculiarly helpful to the young.

Don't make the mistake of putting something else in place of the ordinary services of the church. If you do, the result will be disastrous to your personal piety and the interests of the church in general.

True prayer never fails of answer. It is devout and seeks to know God's will. It is trustful and believes He will do all, well and wisely. It is earnest and persistent because it seeks soul sympathy from Him.

More things are wrought by prayer than this world knows of.

Content.

To labor in thy service, Lord,
To bear thy word with willing feet,
To wield the Spirit's potent sword
And do great things for Thee were sweet.

But sweeter yet to be content
To face life's duties in Thy name
And make each day's discouragement
An offering for Thine altar flame.

Sweetest of all it were to wait
Thy summons, whatsoe'er it be—
To actions high and burdens great
Or sickbed inactivity.

Peace, soul! The wait thy spirit grieves
May prove the appointed hour for one
Worthier than thou to glean His sheaves
And win the Master's glad "Well done!"
—E. Morris Ferguson.

CUBA'S GRAND OLD MAN.

Gen. Gomez is 74 but was the Backbone of the Rebellion.

Maximo Gomez is perhaps the foremost of the four men who are prominent in the affairs of Cuba. Gomez is seventy-four years old, and most of his long life has been spent on fields of battle or in intrigues for revolution and the overthrow of tyrannical governments. He is a native of San Domingo and fought with the Spaniards against his own land long before he took up arms for the cause of free Cuba. He was liberally rewarded by the Spanish Army and in the days before 1870 he knew General Weyler well. When Cuba rose in 1868 Gomez offered his services to Spain. They were refused, and the Dominican being a natural fighter, joined the revolutionists rather than remain idle when war was in the air. His experience of Spanish cruelty during the ten years of strife made him a Cuban heart and soul. After peace Gomez took part in several of the wars in Latin America, and when Maceo brought up the present revolution Gomez was offered the command of the army of liberation and accepted it. He has been eminently successful in that capacity ever since he entered the field. The old general has steadfastly clung to the "independence or death" idea and hates autonomy.

THE SAILOR'S TAILOR.

Government Uniforms Not Fine Enough for the Well Set up Tar.

The skill displayed by the sailors on board our naval vessels in making their own clothes, even to their caps, surprises the average landsman, who has a vague idea that these things are supplied by government tailors. Ready made uniforms are supplied to the recruits, but as soon as the men get their sea legs and begin to have some pride in their appearance they get their uniforms made by the tailors in the crew and much better fitting clothes they are. It is a well recognized fact that no tailor ashore can compete with these sailor tailors in making bluejacket suits. With his ditty box and his small hand sewing machine a ship's tailor, after his regular duties are over, can make extra money to spend ashore. He charges about $5 for making a sailor suit with all its trimmings, and the man who employs him draws his cloth from the ship's stores. For making a cap, including the fancy embroidering about the top and band, the charge is $1.50, and a well set up tar wouldn't think of wearing a cap bought ashore if he had money and pride. The cap makers in a ship's crew are experts in various styles of embroidering. These tailors and cap makers aboard ship are classed usually with the thrifty men, and the amount of money they can make and save in a three years' cruise sometimes amounts to $1,500 or more, and there is a tradition in the navy that a quartermaster was paid off from the cruiser San Francisco several years ago after a three years' cruise with $3,000.—New York Sun.

A LITTLE ARCHDUCHESS' FUNERAL

It Was Almost Gorgeous Enough for a Reigning Sovereign.

Pathetic and picturesque was the funeral of the little Archduchess Natalie of Hungary, who, rumor said, was to have been betrothed to the young king of Spain. Natalie was a little girl in short frocks, but she was a Hapsburg, and almost as much pomp and ceremony attended her funeral as if she had been a reigning sovereign. The coffin, covered with crimson velvet, was enclosed in an outer coffin of silver. The hearse was drawn by six cream white horses and was preceded by a Spanish rider in gorgeous uniform. Then came the little maiden's archducal crown, on its crimson velvet cushion. The chamberlains of the Pressburg archducal court, with their keys of office, the first and second masters of ceremonies, the mistress of ceremonies and her lady in waiting, and the archduchess's own suite rode in splendid coaches flanked by body guards, and mounted and foot halberdiers, with lighted lanterns. The body lay in state in the church one morning, tens of thousands of persons, court officials, children, peasants with flowers, and the emperor of Austria himself, coming for a farewell glimpse of the little archduchess. At sunset the body was borne with pomp and splendor to the imperial vault of the Capuchin monks, and was there received by the lord cardinal and the archbishop. And all this time in the church above the vault, six little archduchesses, sisters of Natalie, sobbed a dirge for the dead.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Encouraged.

"Has my daughter been profiting by your instructions in art?" inquired Mr. Blykins.

"Yes," answered the teacher. "I was a little discouraged at first. But I can now assure you that she is getting on."

"What progress has she made?"

"She has finally become convinced that she doesn't know more about it than the old masters."—Washington Star.

Manager B. O. Bowers, Jr., of the Bachelors' Club nine is perfectly satisfied to let the team rest on its laurels, They haven't been defeated as yet. The team has given up for the summer, unless some special match is arranged, and the boys are now preparing to enjoy themselves until they have to get in trim for the football eleven of the Bachelors' Club.

The Clinton Avenue boys found the Y. M. C. A. team an easy thing last Saturday afternoon and defeated them without trouble. Monday, the Dunellen boys won the deciding game with the Clinton Avenue Club by a score of 6 to 4. Despite the defeat, the Clinton Avenue Club now claims the championship of the city, as the Crescents are no more in field. Dunellen is not in the city, and so does not count. The only team that the Clinton Avenue Club has failed to meet, and that has a record of unbroken victories, is the Bachelors' Club team. A game should be arranged.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Fred Smith, of West Fourth street, is riding a new wheel.

Lawrence French, of the Jackson building, is riding a new wheel.

Miss Bertha Rogers, of Madison avenue, has purchased a new wheel.

Miss Mary White, of Bound Brook, has purchased a Spalding wheel from W. H. Rogers.

W. W. Rowley, the borough delinquent tax collector, has purchased an Eclipse bicycle.

Detective Dougherty, of the Central Railroad, has purchased an Eclipse wheel for his use.

A party of young people of the Seventh-Day Baptist church wheeled down to Westfield last evening to witness the display of fire works which was postponed from the night of the Fourth. They met at the home of Miss Ida Spicer, of West Fifth street.

Strange to say, for some unknown reason, the ride to Pumptown and back by the way of Oak Tree is fast losing favor with the local cyclists. Every pleasant evening there used to be regular processions of wheelmen about that well-known course while now it has shrunk to very slim proportions. The Springfield road is now becoming very popular. South avenue is in such poor condition that many riders shun it.

There are a number of promising young riders in the ranks of the Bachelors Club Wheelmen and for their benefit the executive committee of the club is considering the advisability of holding a road race. The race would be open to the members only and would probably be a scratch event. There is considerable rivalry among the members and there are several who are anxious to test their abilities in a friendly contest against the clubmates.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

A great effort is now being made to get more entries for the last of the circuit of the Central New Jersey Driving Association which is scheduled to be held at New Brunswick next Wednesday and Thursday. The events are the same as those held in this city. The meet is to be held on the new track of the New Brunswick Driving Association, which was built specially for the circuit meets. New Brunswick is hoping for good support from its townspeople, but judging from the failure of Somerville and Flemington to cover their expenses, the New Brnnswick horsemen are feeling rather dubious as to the result.

Among all the meets in the circuit of the Central New Jersey Driving Association, Plainfield can boast of having the only meet that paid. Now the promoters of the Plainfield meet did not make any small fortune out of it, but they came out ahead by a small balance and that satisfied them. It was far preferable to getting left. Somerville ran in debt, however. The entries at Flemington were so small that the two days' racing was combined into one. Now comes a report from New Brunswick that unless the entries greatly increase in a few days the programme there will have to be shortened. Plainfield has been well represented, however, at every meet, and has won her share of the prize money. There has hardly been an event in which the Plainfield trotters and pacers were eligible, that they did not carry off something.

GOLF.

There will be no more golf events on the present links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and the next important event will be the opening of the new links Labor Day, September 5th. In the meantime members of the club will have the use of the present grounds, and there will be some playing, but no matches or events. The opening of the new links will be a grand affair.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Rev. S. B Horton, of Paterson, has moved into the house on Grove street belonging to J. B. Winckler.

Mrs. Winfield Schomp, Mrs. Frank Storr and son, of West Front street, have been visiting at Centreville.

Mrs. Charles Matthews, of Washington Park, left today for Mt. Pocono, Pa., where she will remain for the summer.

Mrs. Hughes, of East Second street, is improving from a serious illness that has detained her at home for several months.

H. B. Newhall, of East Seventh street, had his wife removed to Mt Pocono, Pa., this morning in a special car. Mrs. Newhall has been ill for sometime and the change it is believed will be of benefit.

Last Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Buliff S. Swackhamer, of Whitehouse, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Among those present was Mrs. Geo. Lunger, of Plainfield, a daughter.

Leonard Smith, of this city, who met with a bicycle accident three weeks ago and injured his foot, is now able to be out again. It will be several weeks before he will be able to resume his duties at his New York position.

H. D. Haven, wife and children, of New York have leased former Postmaster J. M. Hetfield's home, 926 Park avenue, through the agency of E. C. Mulford & Son, brokers, on North avenue, and will take possession next Monday.

Rev. Madison Peters, D.D., pastor of the Bloomingdale Reformed church, New York, accompanied by his wife and family, are boarding for the summer at the home of T. J. Hovell, of East Front street, near the elegant summer home of Mrs. P. Malli.

Felting Mill to Start Up.

The Essex Felting Mills, located at Bloodgood's in Clark Township, which have been closed for two weeks, will resume operations next Tuesday. Horse Knew its Way Home.

One day last week Collector George F. Brown, of Grove street, drove to Westfield with his horse to see some relatives. While there his horse broke a strap and ran away. Mr. Brown came home on the train. The next morning about 2 o'clock one of the marshals in the borough awakened Mr. Brown and informed him that his horse was running about the borough. Mr. Brown got up and dressed, and together with the marshal chased around the various streets for over an hour before the horse was caught. The animal had broken away from the wagon, but knew enough to come back home.

Judge Mosher Taken Ill.

Justice Mosher was taken suddenly ill this morning while on his way from his home on East Fourth street to his office, and finally became so bad that he had to be taken home in a cab. J. W. VanHorn, who has office room with the Justice, discovered him so dizzy that he couldn't stand without assistance, and notified Chief Doane and Chief Grant who procured a cab, and Chief Grant and Mr. VanHorn took him home. Dr. Jenkins was summoned and said that it will be some time before the Judge can attend to business again.

HEROIC TREATMENT OF PNEUMONIA

A Blanket of Snow Saved a Patient from Death.

Up in Connecticut they have a brand new cure for pneumonia. It consists of a thorough soaking in snow.

Of course the patient does not take the cure willingly, but as he is supposed to be in a dangerous way he is not consulted in the matter at all.

Here is the method of procedure, as adopted by a Hartford doctor.

On the second day of the disease the patient's temperature reached 106, with a rapid pulse, difficult respiration and rapid delirium.

After repeatedly bathing the patient in water as cold as ice for periods of one hour duration, the doctor found that the temperature remained the same—still above 106 degrees—and the pulse was increasing. Then he decided to resort to the application of ice. But in the section where the patient lived that article was not easily to be procured, and the idea of substituting snow for ice occurred to the physician.

Rubber protectors were placed on each side of the bed, and after the patient had been stripped of all his clothing, the physician took a sheet, spread it out half way, and covered it over with six inches of snow. The patient was placed in this soft bed of frigidity, after which the other fold of the sheet was covered with the same amount of snow, making a pad.

He was then wrapped up between the two pads, every portion of his body excepting his face being completely covered with the ice next to the skin. Cold water was then poured over all portions of the sheet with the idea of turning the snow into ice. The atmosphere of the room was as cold as it could be made, but it was not frigid enough to reduce the dampened snow into a solid mass. On the other hand, it was found that next to the body the snow melted.

The fact that the body was completely encased in the mass of snow and the ice cold water was in contact with every pore at the same moment brought benefits that could be obtained by neither cold bathing nor the application of ice.

Within three-quarters of an hour the patient's temperature dropped to 103 degrees, a fall of 3, and the pulse, with almost absolute relief from delirium. This improvement lasted about six hours, when both the fever and the delirium returned. The "snow bath" was repeated with the same successful results, and for four days the treatment was continued at intervals of a few hours. At the end of that time the crisis was reached and the patient made a rapid and uninterrupted recovery.—New York Journal.

EDISON SCARED THE MINISTER.

Handling Dangerous Explosives Which Go Off When Shouted At.

"There are explosives of such tremendous power," said Edison recently, "that they go off when I shout at them. I simply place a small drop of explosive on the table and any sudden agitation of the atmosphere will cause it to explode. You see the thing is in a state of very delicate equilibrium. It is a question depending on surrounding conditions as to which it will do—remain a liquid or turn into gas. When, as in the case just mentioned, this balance is about equal, it takes very little to incline it toward a gaseous form, so that even the sound of the voice will cause the discharge. A violent fit of coughing will produce the effect, and so would a heavy weight dropped on the floor.

"Speaking of this explosive reminds me of how I got rid of some ministers who once insisted on boring me in my laboratory, when I had some important experiments on hand. I treated them courteously as long as I could, but they grew more interested as the day wore on, and seemed to have no intention of going home. Finally, as a last resort, I told them I was going to make some highly explosive material. This made them only the more interested and they got in my way as much as they possibly could. I do not suppose they knew much of the nature and appearance of high explosives, for when I placed a number of drops of the material in various parts of the room, so as to scatter any accidental explosions, they seemed not to notice it.

At last, when they got crowding almost between me and the work bench, I very carelessly pushed a board off on to the floor. Well, it was worse than I had intended it to be. It nearly shattered the window glass and jostled things around generally. The ministers seemed half scared to death, and from the way they held their ears you would have supposed some one had bumped their heads together. When I told them how it had happened and discussed the possibility of more accidents taking place, they said it really was quite wonderful, but they guessed they had better be going. I urged them to stay and see more fireworks, but they all had very important engagements and hurried off."—St. Louis Republican.

Skunks Fond of Honey Bees.

"Never before in my memory have skunks been so numerous in Sullivan county as this year," said William Cairnes of Rockland. "I've killed no fewer than twenty-one of them myself the present season, and if they come on as they have been doing for the past month, I will more than double that number. You see, I keep bees," continued Mr. Cairnes, "and skunks are very fond of bees. It doesn't make any difference to them whether they are dead or alive; they seek them just the same.

"Some people are skeptical when I tell them that a skunk don't mind tackling a hive of live honey bees, but it's the truth all the same, for I have been a close observer of these animals, and when I saw my bees disappearing from some unknown cause I kept watch, with the result that I found it to be the work of the skunk. I was much interested in the method by which the skunks captured the insects without being stung. They first picked up all the dead bees which lay outside the hive, and then held their tails to the entrance. This had the effect of bringing out the honey makers, and in their efforts to sting they became entangled in the long hairs of the skunk's tail, and were then switched to death. Wherever the honey bee is, there skunks will be found in plenty."

Asparagus for the Czar.

The asparagus served at the Elysee banquet cost the respectable sum of 3 francs per piece, or 90 francs the bundle, and any one fond of reckoning may form a guess as to the probable total cost of this course alone, and the amount consumed among 200 guests. Still the price was not unreasonable, all things considered, as asparagus during the month of October has hitherto been an unrealized dream of cultivators, who so far have only managed with the greatest difficulty to raise a poor apology for the real vegetable in December by means of hot-houses and unceasing care and pains.

Every one knows the difference between the latter and fresh spring asparagus, but that placed before the Czar was freshly cut, and in no whit inferior to the very best grown in April and May. The expensive dainty come from the far-famed gardens of Carpentras, whence all the finest produce of the kind in Paris comes, and the growers of that district are justly proud of their latest success, which has excited much interest in horticultural circles, and will no doubt do lasting good to the growers.

BIG GUNS BOOM IN CUBA.

Bombardment of Santiago Begun Promptly at Noon.

GEN. SHAFTER CABLES HOME.

Army and Navy Unite in Assault on Spanish Fortifications—Situation Desperate at Santiago—Camara Has Turned and Is Now Headed For Cadiz—Madrid Hears Strange Stories.

BOMBARDMENT BEGUN.

Shafter Cables That Army and Navy Began Joint Attack at Noon.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 9, 1:05 p. m.—News of the opening of bombardment on Santiago has reached the War Department.

A cable message from General Shafter was received at the War Department shortly after noon, saying that the bombardment of Santiago began promptly at noon by both army and navy.

SITUATION DESPERATE.

Santiago is Likely to Surrender Very Soon—Officials Flee to Caney.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

With the American fleet off Santiago, July 6, via Kingston, Jamaica, July 9, 11:57 a. m—The truce that exists between the two armies at Santiago has been extended by Gen. Shafter until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The cause for the extension of the truce is a result of a request on the part of the Spanish general. General Linares asked for additional time for the consideration of the question of capitulation.

The situation in the city grows more critical every hour. The whole population clamors for the surrender of the place to the overwhelming force of Americans to save human life and property that a bombardment would surely destroy.

The civil governor of the province of Santiago de Cuba, the chief justice of the province and the Mayor of the city of Santiago have all fled to Caney for safety, contrary to orders of Gen. Linares.

They all say that the report that General Pando had entered the city with reinforcements was untrue, and that Pando and his men are still at Manzanillo.

It is reported that many Spanish regulars and volunteers have deserted and entered the ranks of the Americans where where they have given themselves up as prisoners.

The fact of the request for a postponement of the time of the truce is considered to indicate a hesitation on the part of the home government as to fighting longer. It is believed that the city will finally surrender without any bombardment.

CAMARA STARTED HOME.

Spanish Fleet Has Now Entered Canal Enroute For Spain.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Suez, Egypt, July 9, 12:31 p. m—The Spanish fleet, commanded by Admiral Camara, has re-entered the Suez Canal on its way back to Spain.

Madrid, via London, July 9, 12:45 p. m—It is rumored here that the Spanish government has received a despatch from Governor General Blanco announcing that Rear Admiral Sampson has sent him a telegraphic communication summoning the Spanish commander to order the evacuation of Cuba within forty-eight hours, announcing that the Americans will bombard all the forts in Cuba.

WATSON LEAVES TUESDAY.

His Squadron Will Sail From Cuba Direct to the Spanish Coast.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

DESTRUCTIVE FLOODS IN WESTERN MISSOURI.

LIVES LOST IN TORRENT OF WATERS

The Heavy Rains of the Last Few Days Caused Waters to Rise Near Stanberry.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Stanberry, Mo., July 9, 12:31 p. m—Destructive floods have been raging in this section, doing great damage to property and causing the loss of several lives. The floods are caused by the heavy rains of the last few days. Five deaths have been reported near here. The village of Steelville has been wiped out by the floods and many deaths are reported there yesterday. The water is still very high.

CLYDE LINER BURNED.

Steamship Delaware Destroyed by Fire Off Barnegat—No Lives Lost.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

New York, July 9, 11:23 a. m—The Clyde Line steamer Delaware caught fire and was totally destroyed by fire off Barnegat yesterday. The passengers were saved with great difficulty.

A BOURGOGNE VICTIM.

Name of a Former Borough Teacher in the List of Passengers.

Among the victims of the LaBourgogne disaster was a Miss Josephine Masso. A young woman by that same name taught in the North Plainfield Public School three years ago and she then moved away. While she had a number of acquaintances here, she was not intimate with any Plainfielders, so that it has been impossible to discover whether the young school teacher and the victim of the French liner are one and the same. The name is the same, and as it is a peculiar one, it seems likely that it was the former teacher who was drowned.

A Generous Plainfielder.

ESTIMATED COST OF THE COUNTY TROLLEY

Report of Commissioners Appointed by Freeholders.

$262,700 WILL COVER IT.

NUMBER OF SEPERATE PIECES OF PROPERTY EFFECTED IS 327.

The Highest Damages Allowed is $10,470 to a Westfield Property—Central Oil Cloth Factory, of Plainfield, Awarded $8,700—Freeholders to Go Over the Route Monday.

The three commissioners, J. N. Willcox, of Westfield, J. D. Runyon, of Plainfield, and Louis Quien, of Elizabeth, who were appointed by the County Board of Freeholders to look over the ground and make an estimate of the benefits and damages that would be entailed by widening North avenue, from Elizabeth to Plainfield, to 100 feet, according to the Bergen plan, have prepared a report for the Board of Freeholders. The report gives the value of the land taken from each property-owner, states the amount of benefits that would be received and the amount of damages sustained. The report covers forty-one type written pages.

The number of separate pieces of property effected is 327, and the amount of damages that the county will be called upon to pay the property owners, over and above the amounts assessed on each piece for benefits, is placed at $262,700. Aside from this will be the cost of grading in some places and filling in others, together with the cost of enlarging bridges. The largest bridge in the proposed line of improvement is the bridge across the Rahway river at Cranford. The estimated cost of the work necessary on this bridge is $11,500. There are many smaller bridges that will cost from $300 to $600. The largest amount of net damages allowed on a single piece of property is $10,470, allowed on the brick building, corner of Prospect street and North avenue, Westfield. The next highest is an award to the Central Oilcloth Company, of Plainfield, of $8,700. The lowest award made is $5 to T. S. Bird, in Westfield.

The commissioners recommended that the street through the thickly built part of Westfield and Cranford be left as it is. The Board favored this recommendation, which reduces the cost $32,000 in Westfield, and $21,000 in Cranford.

The amounts fixed by this commission are not binding. Every property holder interested could contest the amount, and a large number of them would do so, as they consider the amounts too small.

The board will meet the commissioners next Monday and they will together take a trip over the road.

After the road is widened a franchise will be sold to the highest bidder to build a trolley line the entire distance, but under the boulevard act the bid must be large enough to cover the cost of widening, as the board will have no authority to bond the county. There is but one bid, that of $100,000, by John Kean, but the board will meet again next Thursday, when all the reports will be in and bids will be advertised for.

The people of Cranford are bitterly opposed to the widening plan and have warned the board that they will oppose every effort in that direction in the courts. It is believed that the plan will finally be abandoned.

Volunteers Busy.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

MARRIAGE OF MISS JESSIE G. GIBBONS TO CLIFFORD C. SCHOOLEY.

Ceremony Performed by Rev. E. M. Rodman—Bride Beautifully Gowned—The Couple Will Reside in Bayonne.

A pretty wedding was celebrated Thursday evening, when Miss Jessie Grace Gibbons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Gibbons, was united in marriage to Clifford Curtis Schooley, of Bayonne City, by Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman, rector of Grace P. E. church, at the home of the bride's parents, 223 East Sixth street.

The home was beautified with palms, roses and sweet peas, which were arranged in an attractive manner and added brilliancy to the happy occasion.

The maid-of-honor was Miss Bessie Earle, of Bayonne City. She wore a gown of pink organdie over white silk.

The best man was Frank Curtis, of New York. The groom met the other members of the bridal party at the altar, where the ceremony was performed. Following the ceremony congratulations were offered to the happy couple, who have the best wishes of their many friends for a life of happiness and success.

A wedding supper was served during the evening by Stephenson, the caterer, and at a late hour Mr. and Mr. and Schooley left the scene of the festivities to enjoy a honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside at Bayonne. They received a large collection of very useful and ornamental presents from their relatives and friends.

DOWN AT FORT HANCOCK

BATTERY A, OF THE HEAVY ARTILLERY, NEEDS RECRUITS.

Corporal Lori Coming to the Muhlenberg Hospital to Undergo Treatment for Hearing—Arrests for Going Home.

(Special Correspondence of the Daily Press.)

Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook, N. J., July 8—Battery A of the Fifth U. S. Heavy Artillery left here this afternoon at 1 o'clock for Fort Hamilton to recruit up to the required number of men under the new war regulations, after which it will proceed to Tampa. Battery L, of the same regiment, is under orders to leave here for Tampa in a few days.

Corporal David Lori, of Company H, Third Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, left Fort Hancock this morning for Plainfield to undergo treatment for his hearing under Dr. F. C. Ard at the Muhlenberg Hospital. His hearing was all right when he enlisted but it is thought that it was affected by the water while he was in bathing.

Six of the members of Company H, one corporal and five privates, are now under arrest for going home without leave. The recruits for the Second and Third Battalion are expected here from Sea Girt this afternoon.

TROUBLE OVER CHICKENS.

Paradise Alley People Air a Dispute in Court.

The attention of the City Judge was taken up this morning during the court hour with a case, the parties to which are neighbors residing in that delightful and peaceful part of the city known as "Paradise Alley." Almost every week some representatives of the alley get in the police courts, but this morning the denizens from both ends of it packed into the court room in such numbers that the small boys had to find standing room outside.

The complainant was Mrs. Ida Levine, a Polish woman, who accused her neighbor, Wolff Miller, with assaulting her by taking hold of her arm and throwing a wash basin full of water over her. The trouble arose over some chickens which Mrs. Levine interested herself in, although they did not belong to her, and which she accused Miller of pelting. Mrs. Levine was represented in court by Lawyer S. S. Swackhamer, who succeeded in having Miller held in $200 bonds to keep the peace.

Another Substitute Letter Carrier.

Frank W. Bailey, of Duer street, for many years in the employ of Walter Scott & Co., at their printing press works, has resigned his position on account of the too close confinement, and Monday will enter the government employ as a substitute letter carrier for Postmaster Bird. Mr. Bailey recently passed a high civil service examination and will no doubt earn his way to a permanent position as a regular carrier as soon as a vacancy shall occur.

Objected To The Name.

Peter Longenbahn, of East Fourth street, complained to City Judge DeMeza a few days ago that William Hedden, a neighbor, had called him a "Dutchman" and vile names. This Hedden denied this morning, and as both men claim that they can bring plenty of witnesses to prove their statements, the case was laid over for a week.

Children in Court.

Lewis Hansen, a lame boy living on Webster place, yesterday roughly pushed and knocked down Minnie Beagle, a five-year-old tot, who lives near him. Minnie's mother made a complaint against Lewis, and he was arraigned before the City Judge this morning, who suspended sentence on him.

BIG HIGH BRIDGE FIRE.

BUSINESS PART OF THE TOWN GUTTED EARLY THIS MORNING.

No Protection in the Town and Help Was Summoned From Other Towns—The Damage Amounts to $20,000.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

High Bridge, July 9.—At an early this morning a fire wiped out the business centre of High Bridge and left five of the principal buildings of the place a heap of smoking ruins. The blaze was a destructive one, causing damage amounting to $20,000.

At 4:30 o'clock flames broke out in the baker shop in the principal business block of the place. The origin of the fire is not known but it is thought that the fire started in some manner from the ovens. The flames attained much headway before they were discovered by the watchman. They rapidly spread through that building which contained also the barber shop and meat market, and set fire to the Rialto building, a three-story structure, the largest in High Bridge. The first floor is used as a general store and the others as the town hall, amusement hall and offices.

There is no organized fire department in High Bridge but the whole town turned out and formed a bucket brigade. Aid was telegraphed for to Phillipsburg and Clinton and several steamers were sent together with a quantity of hose. They came by rail.

The efforts were mainly confined to prevent the flames from spreading. The large Catholic church and the rectory adjoining went up in smoke and flame. The residence of Noah Hoffman was also completely destroyed.

The flames were finally quelled at 6:30 o'clock after five buildings had been completely destroyed. The loss is estimated at $20,000, of which $16,000 was covered by insurance.

NEARLY ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY.

E. L. Gifford, Returning Late at Night, Was Taken for a Desperate Villian.

Surrounded by a cordon of police and interested neighbors, E. L. Gifford, of East Second street, came very near being arrested for burglarizing his own home. It happened last night when Mr. Gifford returned to his home late at night. He was supposed to be away for the summer and no one knew that he was around.

U. B. Crane lives next door. He saw a light in the house and saw a man moving stealthily about the rooms. Leaving Frank Denckiau, another neighbor, to watch the house with bated breath and a firm resolve to bravely attack the burglar should he venture out, Mr. Crane hurried down town and secured two policemen who came up prepared to capture some desperate villian.

They surrounded the house and at last caught a peep of the noctural visitor who was then recognized to be no other than Mr. Gifford himself. He was signalled and explanations followed.

EXPERT GOLF PLAYER.

Miss Sherwood, of Wellesley College Squad Played on Local Links.

Among those who were playing yesterday on the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club was Miss Ethel Sherwood, a member of the golf team of Wellesley College, and considered one of the crack players from that college for young women. She is now the guest of Plainfield friends. Although the links were new to her she made a very creditable score during the afternoon.

Sued in Trover and Conversion.

Elijah Stevens, of Somerville, claims that Augustus Baldwin, of this city, purchased a rubber-tire road wagon and set of harness from him some time ago which he has failed to settle for fully. So Stevens brought suit against Baldwin through his lawyers, Pope & Runyon. The suit was one in trover and conversion, and was for $200 damages. The case was tried this morning before Justice Moffett, who reserved his decision until Monday at 2 o'clock p. m. Baldwin was represented by Councilman Walter L. Hetfield.

Bicycle Squad Organized.

After the Christian Endeavor meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church last night, a meeting was called for the purpose of organizing a bicycle squad. Great enthusiasm was manifested in the plan, and a squad was organized with Frank Clarkson as captain, and Miss Lizzie Runyon as lieutenant and bugler. Another meeting will be held tomorrow morning after Sunday-school to make further plans in regard to runs.

Mrs. George Fisher, of West Third street, who has been ill, is better.

George A. Horne, of Willow avenue, and Charles B. Morse, of Franklin place, were the guests last evening of Frederick Coriell, of Bound Brook.

MRS A. C. LACASSE BACK TO NEW YORK.

Sole Woman Survivor of The Bourgogne Welcomed by Sister

TELLS HER EXPERIENCES.

ACQUITS THE STEAMER'S CREW FROM THE HORRIBLE CHARGES.

She Says the Outrages Were Committed By Italian and Hungarian Steerage Passengers—She Had Confidence From the First That she Would be Saved—She Looks None the Worse Now.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, July 9.—Mrs. Adrian C. LaCasse, of Plainfield, the only woman to be saved from the Bourgogne disaster, arrived at the Grand Central station yesterday afternoon at 5:40 o'clock. Mr. LaCasse was with her, but inasmuch as she was the heroine of the shipwreck all interest centered in her appearance.

At the station waiting to greet her were Mrs. LaCasse' twin sister, Mrs. Millot, and her husband and Miss Lulu Millot.

A most affecting scene ensued when Mrs. LaCasse' sister caught sight of her, and, rushing forward, clasped her in her arms, both sisters weeping tears of joy as they kissed each other over and over again. Then the turn of the other relatives came, and there was more embracing, more kissing and more joyful tears.

Mrs. LaCasse, who is a tall, handsome blonde, about thirty years old, showed no evidences of the awful ordeal which she had undergone. She has the air of a woman of resolute courage, and that this is so is abundantly proved by the story of her experience as told by herself.

"I had no doubt from the very first awful crash," said Mrs. LaCasse, "that I should be saved, for I had every confidence in God's providence and His power to save me. Through it all I had no fear. I want to say at once that there is no truth in the stories published of the shameful conduct of the crew. The men of the crew behaved well and did all in their power during the awful confusion that prevailed. It is true that women were knocked down and trampled on and driven away from the boats with knives and oars in the hands of frenzied men.

"These shameful acts, however, were not committed by members of the crew, but by a horde of Italians and Hungarians in the steerage, who fought like wild beasts and blindly struck down all who stood in the way in the mad rush to reach the boats. One of these brutes tried to take my life. He seized me in his arms and tried to hurl me overboard, but I screamed and fought with him until he was forced to release his hold.

"How I succeeded in getting into a boat I can hardly tell, but we managed to get away from the ship, with the shrieks of five hundered drowning men and women ringing in my ears. I do not think I shall ever cease to hear that fearful sound. I had to turn my face away, for I could not bear to look upon the appalling sights that surrounded us. I saw men and women sink right alongside of our boat.

"But my happiest thought," continued Mrs. LaCasse, "will ever be that I had the privilege of saving at least one life. There was a man struggling in the water near our boat and I reached out and seized him by the hair and succeeded in pulling him in.

"If I am the only woman who was saved from the wreck, that poor fellow can say that he was the only man of them all who was saved by a woman. He knelt at my feet in gratitude as soon as he had recovered himself a little, for when I pulled him aboard he was in the last gasp and would have gone down in another minute."

Mr. LaCasse, who is very proud of his wife, said that he could add nothing to her account of their wonderful escape, but that he sincerely hoped that the accident would be made the subject of a searching investigation.

Mrs. LaCasse and her husband went direct to Mr. Millot's home, at 173 West Third street, where Mrs. LaCasse was greatly pleased to find that her friends had prepared a little surprise for her in the shape of a trophy of French and American flags crossed over the door in honor of the solitary woman rescued from the Bourgogne.

DUN'S WEEKLY REPORT.

All Lines of Business Show an Improvement Beyond General Expectation.

New York, Saturday, July 9.—The usual half yearly statement of failures by branches of business is peculiarly interesting because it shows that war and fears of war have not caused an increase in commercial disasters. The surprisingly large and general decrease in trading defaults would without doubt be accompanied by corresponding returns as to manufacturing, but for excessive expansion in some lines, and the helpless condition reached by a few large firms in other branches. Rarely have the monthly reports, prepared only by this journal, called attention more distinctly to the particular branches of business in which disasters have been invited, but in manufacturing, as in trading, no evidence is found that general conditions have been less favorable than heretofore. In spite of war and expectations of war, failures during the second quarter have been smaller than in the same quarter of the past four years in trading, and in manufacturing smaller than in the same quarter of any year excepting 1894.

The fiscal year has ended with financial results a shade beyond general expectations, and the new war tax begins to increase revenue, not seriously disturbing business in any line. No reason yet appears to apprehend that the war revenue will fall below expectations. Continued heavy exports, for the past four weeks at New York 34 per cent. larger than last year, against imports here 33 per cent. smaller than last year, indicate another heavy balance of $40,000,000 or more to be paid on merchandise account by other countries to this for the month, and yet tht season is at hand when, if ever, adverse balances are expected.

Wheat has reflected but little the improved prospect, advancing from 85 to 90 cents for spot, regardless of the usual stories of injury, the current commercial and the department reports being apparently distrusted by the trade. Dispatches to Dun's Review given yesterday show that western prospects are much more encouraging than would be inferred from the press dispatches. Corn is rather seriously injured in some states and yet on the whole it looks well.

The cotton crop looks better and the prospect is reflected in a decline of a sixteenth in the spot price. The manufacturing works at the North are quite well employed, much more than usual during the vacation season, and the demand for goods is somewhat improving. Abroad, the state of the manufacture does not encourage hopes of an extraordinary demand for the raw material, while the stocks held by millers are known to be unusually large.

There is no disheartenment in other textile manufactures, and business is good and growing in silks, bagging, hemp products and linen.

The manufacture of wool hesitates, although distinctly better demand has appeared during the past ten days, because prices at which western wool is held are too high for eastern markets, and apparently too high for profitable manufacture. Sales for the week at the three chief markets have been only 3,200,000 pounds, of which 2,290,000 were domestic, against 14,120,500 last year, of which 6,989,500 were domestic, and 6,119,350 pounds in the same week of 1892, of which 3,651,600 were domestic.

It is not enough to dismiss the iron industry with the bold statement that it is using up more iron, even at the slowest point of the year, than ever before. It is getting bigger domestic contracts for agricultural implements and car materials, and also for structural work, than in any previous year, but especially for plates, the demand for which quite overruns the capacity of all the works, and not mainly on government account.

The volume of business in July is so far 15.3 larger than last year and 9.5 larger than in 1892, and the money market is unchanged, with a general increase in inquiry for good commercial paper, but as yet no increase in the supply. Cheaper money seems probable, and there is no reason to expect that the demand will lessen the strain on foreign markets. Failures for the week have been 229 in the United States against 206 last year, and 17 in Canada against 30 last year.

Sure of the Family Pluck.

It was a nine-year-old Portland girl who was discussing a possible Spanish invasion with a frightened playmate. After hearing what the latter had to say, she straightened up and remarked: "My father is a Son of the Revolution, and my mother is a Daughter of the Revolution, and I am a child of the Revolution. Our family will not take to the woods.—Portland (Me.) Christian Mirror.

WAITING FOR MERRITT

No Change Likely at Manila till Expedition Arrives.

HONOLULU A TROOP CAMP

The Spanish Active, Rebels Quiet. The Spanish Forces Ready to Endure and Resist. Another Expedition to Sail Next Week. Red Cross Society Are Making Efforts to Secure A Hospital Ship for the Philippines.

Hong Kong, July 9.—A dispatch from Manila, under date of July 4, says that Admiral Dewey will remain inactive until General Merritt arrives.

The rebels are practically doing nothing, but the Spaniards are strengthening their position, destroying huts and woods and constructing entrenchments. The authorities have enacted a penalty of $1,000 against anybody who shall raise the price of provisions.

The Spaniards assert that despite the loss of the water works there will be no famine during the rainy season. They are confident that an ample force from Cadiz will arrive soon and annihilate the Americans and they still hope to conciliate the natives. In the meantime they declare that they will endure patiently whatever comes and resist to the uttermost.

A dispatch from Rome says that the Italian government has ordered the third class cruisers Piemonte and Dogali to proceed to the Philippine islands.

San Francisco, July 9.—The City of Puebla has come off the dry dock and gone to her berth at the sea wall. She will receive freight as soon as the military authorities may choose to send it aboard.

The Peru is ready and has been taking on board a great deal of freight left over by the Newport. She will also take two field pieces, which are on the dock ready for shipment.

It is said the next expedition will sail either Wednesday or Thursday. A military guard has been down to the Peru. If the troops were ready to move they could be received next Sunday and the two vessels could leave port next Monday.

Great haste is being employed in discharging the cargo of the Pennsylvania. She will be taken as a transport.

May Camp Troops at Honolulu.

Annexation of Hawaii will probably cause a change in General Otis's plans for transporting troops to Manila. It has been suggested that all the forces encamped in this city be removed as speedily as possible to Honolulu, where a camp may be established. Transports would then ply between Manila and Honolulu, saving two weeks, which would be consumed by the round journey from Hawaii to California. The United States may send a body of troops to Hawaii to support the new civil authorities and to garrison the island.

Major George P. Schriven of the Signal Corps has been ordered to go to Manila on the Peru and report to General Merritt. Captain C. Dupont Coulert, commissary of subsistence, has been ordered to go on the Peru as assistant to Lieutenant Colonel D. L. Brainerd, chief commissary.

The following named officers have been detailed as commissary, quartermaster, commissary sergeant and quartermaster sergeant to accompany the troops soon to embark on the City of Puebla, destined for Manila: First Lieutenant Charles Martin, 14th United States infantry, as commissary and quartermaster; Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant George F. Sterley, as quartermasttr sergeant; Corporal Olaf Anne, Company G, 14th United States infantry, as commissary sergeant.

The Red Cross Society of California is exerting every effort to have a hospital ship sent to Manila to care for the wounded and sick. It is suggested by the committee in charge of the work that some of the wooden vessels now at Mare island be used for this service. The following telegram has been sent to the governors of the different states regarding the plan:

"The California Red Cross Association, after the fullest investigation, is impressed with the great need of a hospital ship at the Philippines. Kindly urge by telegraph the immediate cooperation of the senators and representatives of your state to accomplish this end with the administration."

No Peace Overtures.

Washington, July 9.—It can be stated authoritatively that no overtures toward peace had reached the government up to the time of the cabinet meeting yesterday.

At the same time cabinet ministers look upon the situation as having more factors conducive to peace than at any time heretofore. It would be no surprise if peace overtures came to the government any moment, either directly from Spain or through some intermediary.

This is felt to be so imminent that it leads to numerous rumors that actual overtures have assumed shape, but these reports are premature and are based on expectations rather than anything tangible.

This is not only the official statement of the government made by Secretary Day, but the same view is taken at the British, French, German and other embassies ani legations, where it is stated that the peace movement has not assumed definite form, but that all circumstances tend in the direction of a desire by Spain to terminate the conflict. None of the foreign representatives has yet received instructions to act.

At the British embassy specific inquiry was made concerning a published report that Sir Julian Pauncefote had made indirect overtures to the president looking to peace, and that the president, while declining intermediation, had said he would agree to peace if Spain applied direct on certain stated terms.

The embassy authorized a full, explicit and complete denial of the report. The ambassador, it was stated, had not seen the president of late, and no overtures of any kind had been made to the United States.

SURRENDER OR FIGHT

Time of Armistice Extended till Noon To-Day.

ASSAULT BY SEA AND LAND

Armistice Extended in Order to Allow Gen. Linares to Communicate With Blanco and the Home Goverment. Our Positions Greatly Strengthened. Men in Condition to Resume Fighting.

Major General Shafter's Headquarters, Before Santiago de Cuba, July 7, via Port Antonio, July 9.—The armistice has been extended until noon today, in order to allow General Linares to communicate with Captain General Blanco and with Madrid.

Not a shot has been fired recently on either side, but work is being pushed on the batteries and intrenchments.

Our position has been greatly strengthened during the last forty-eight hours, the American lines advancing to within 400 yards of the enemy. Our hill side batteries overlook and command the city.

Thursday night General Lawton's division advanced 300 yards to the enemy's great surprise. The dynamite gun in charge of Hallett Alsop Borrowe has been beautifully placed, hidden in a snug pit.

The streams have been bridged over, allowing the transportation of heavy artillery with facility. The roads have been greatly improved.

The general health of the soldiers is good. The armistice is affording a long needed rest for our men and they are now in good shape to resume fighting.

In case hostilities are resumed the plan of assault is for Rear Admiral Sampson to bombard the forts at the mouth of the harbor, driving the men away from the guns and then land a thousand men and occupy the forts, while launches, with grappling irons, go in and countermine the harbor.

The fleet will then enter and bombard the city, supporting the land assault.

General Garcia, the insurgent commander, received orders Thursday not to attack the Spaniards while the negotiations are on foot.

The wrecked Spanish cruisers are still filled with charred bodies and the buzzards are devouring the remains.

The Cubans, by Rear Admiral Sampson's orders, have burred the bodies of over 100 Spaniards which were washed ashore.

Spanish General's Significant Request.

Washington, July 9.—Secretary Alger has received from General Shafter what he regards as the most favorable news yet sent to Washington from Santiago. It was to the effect that at the request of the Spanish general the employes of the English Cable Company had been sent into Santiago to telegraph to the Spanish government in regard to the terms of surrender to the American forces.

The dispatch was as follows:

Hon. R. A. Alger, Secretary of War:

Camp, near Santiago, July 7.

Perfect quiet to-day. At the request of Spanish general, employes of English Cable Company were sent into his line to telegraph his government as to surrendering. Men are in good spirits and are making themselves more secure every hour. Wounds are much less dangerous than similar wounds made with calibre 45. Among the large number wounded there are few amputations. Perhaps ten will cover it. General health of the command is good. One hundred and fifty cases of fever, which runs its course in four or five days, but is not serious. I am feeling much better.

(Signed) SHAFTER,
Major General.

From what is gained from General Shafter's dispatches, the officials here believe that there is a conflict between the civil and military authorities at Santiago.

The former are anxious to surrender, seeing that it is useless to longer keep up the fight. The Spanish officers and the bulk of the soldiers are in favor of continuing the struggle and of holding out against General Shafter to the very last.

The scarcity of food in the city is being felt with terrible effect by the population, most all of whom would be glad to have Santiago turned over to the Americans.

Secretary Alger is in hopes that the civil faction will win the day and that a peaceful surrender will be made.

In regard to the statement that there is to be a combined land and naval attack on Santiago Secretary Alger said that it would be determined by the state of affairs as General Shafter finds them to-day.

The secretary of war intimates that a bombardment of Santiago is a strong possibility should the Spaniards refuse to consider terms of surrender. The department is still continuing its work of sending reinforcements to General Shafter and a report was received from Charleston yesterday stating that General Garretson's brigade had sailed from that port.

To the best belief of the officials here a quiet state of affairs obtains at Santiago. The army is losing nothing by its rest, and according to the general's account is gathering strength. More reinforcements are due to-day and when they arrive it is expected that the assault upon the city will be resumed.

The Relief Off Santiago.

Washington, July 9.—The war department has received information from Playa del Este of the arrival near Santiago yesterday of the hospital ship Relief, which sailed last Saturday from New York. She carried a large corps of surgeons and nurses and an ample supply of medical stores. Mrs. John Addison Porter, wife of the secretary to the president, is one of the nurses on board the Relief. The floating hospital has accommodations for five hundred wounded.

Exchange It!
If you have a Square Piano you almost surely want to get rid of it. You should exchange it for a new Upright. The old-fashioned Square Piano was all right in the old-fashioned home, where a few square yards more or less were not considered in the size of a room, but it is quite out of place in a modern house where every foot of space has a purpose. The present-day architect ignores Square Pianos.
Let us take the old Piano away NOW. Tell us where it can be seen, and we'll tell you what we'll allow for it.

TO DEFEND THE CANARIES.

The Spaniards There Are Expecting a Visit from the Americans.

London, July 9.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes a letter from Las Palmas, capital of the Canary islands, in which the writer says, under date of July 1:

"In view of the prospective visit of the Americans the Spaniards are busy at their defences. At the present moment the means of repelling an attack and preventing a landing are miserably inadequate. They consist of a battery of mixed smooth bore and rifled muzzle loaders on the heights overlooking the harbor, six obsolete field guns north of the mole, a six-gun battery in the artillery barracks, within the town, and a small saluting battery.

"With modern long range guns the Americans could quickly wreck the batteries from outside the zone of the Spanish fire.

"The Spaniards boast of 11,000 infantry here, but it is improbable that they will be able to muster over 5,000. The soldiers are drilling incessantly, and fatigue parties are throwing up earthworks and entrenching the heights in the rear. The troops are armed with the new long range rifle. Several camps are visible from the harbor, but persons not connected with the service are not allowed to approach them.

FOR THE AUXILIARY FLEET.

Several Vessels Being Fitted Out at the Navy Yard.

Brooklyn, July 9.—The converted steam yacht Stranger will sail to-day from the navy yard for Key West, and later will join the fleet off the coast of Cuba. The Stranger's battery has been increased and she now carries one fourteen and two six-pounders forward and two machine guns aft. Several bags of mail matter for the officers and men of the squadron and land forces near Santiago will be sent South by the vessel.

The Siren is also under orders to sail South, and she will probably leave the yard by Sunday.

The yacht Alfrida will take a trip up the Sound to-day to adjust her compasses, and she will probably leave for Key West early next week.

Men are at work night and day on the Delmonico, the refrigerator ship, which, when finished, is to accompany Watson's squadron to Europe.

The steamship Evelyn arrived at the navy yard yesterday, but it is understood that she will not be required by the government and the charter will be cancelled.

Hawaiian Commissioners Appointed

Washington, July 9.—President McKinley yesterday appointed as the five commissioners to study the legislative needs of the Hawaiian islands and report recommendations for legislation, Senator Cullom of Illinois and Senator Morgan of Alabama, members of the Senate committee on foreign relations; Representative Hitt of Illinois, chairman of the House committee on foreign affairs; Sanford B. Dole, the president of Hawaii, and A. F. Judd, the chief justice of Hawaii.

The president offered the first place on the commission to Senator Davis, the chairman of the Senate committee on foreign relations, but he declined it on account of important business engagements and recommended Senator Cullom.

It is expected the commissioners will go to Hawaii on the cruiser Philadelphia, Rear Admiral Miller's flagship.

Survivors of the La Bourgogne.

New York, July 9.—Fully two thousand people, chiefly women and girls, crowded in the Grand Central depot yesterday afternoon to meet the survivors of the ill fated La Bourgogne.

The Shore Line express, with 161 passengers and crew of the ship left Boston at 10.03 o'clock and arrived here at 4.30 p. m.

The assistant purser of La Bourgogne and the three engineers, the only officers of the ship who were saved, were met in Boston by Mr. Freyvoux, one of the clerks in the French steamship line's office in this city, and together they marshalled the second cabin and steerage passengers and the crew into the first three cars of the train.

The crew occupied the first car wholly, but a few were scattered about in the others.

A strong feeling of animosity had been engendered between the sailors and the passengers because of the stories of cruelty and murder told by the latter.

None of the men had saved any baggage. Most of them were in their shirt sleeves and their faces were blistered with the sun and salt water.

Report of the Senate Committee.

Washington, July 9.—The Senate committee on claims has made its report upon the investigation made by the committee into the payment of the claim of the Methodist Book Concern, and the payment to Major L. B. Stahlman of $100,800, as an agent in getting the claim through. The Senate finds that the Senate was deceived by the representations of Mr. Stahlman, and Messrs. Barber and Smith, the book agents, but absolves the Methodist Church South as such from blame in the matter. It is also found that no senator or member of Congress received any money in connection with the claim.

Steel Industry Activity.

Chicago, July 9.—Inquiries for iron and steel have suddenly increased and the Illinois Steel Company yesterday secured orders for 50,000 tons, divided between steel rails, plates, steel bars and other material. The works are filled with orders up to the first of the year and of late have been turning down orders for steel rails and other material where early deliveries are required. Their receipts of iron ore here during the month of June were the largest on record.

Privateer on Pacific Coast.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The navy department has been informed that a Spanish privateer, carrying five guns, is hovering off the coast of British Columbia.

According to last accounts the privateer was between Prince Charlotte Sound and Dixon's entrance.

Prompt instructions have been sent to the military authorities of the northwest coast to prepare for a visitation.

WAR DEMAND FOR HORSES.

The Market Improved Thereby—What Is Wanted in a War-Horse.

Washington, July 9.—It is said that the present war has greatly increased the demand for horses, and that, for the first time since the introduction of the trolley, the market is looking up. Not only did the electric railway take away the occupation of the horse on the street car, but the wide extension of the new system has materially lessened the demand for horses for driving purposes. The bicycle has also had its share in taking business away from horses, and for the last few years a very much smaller number have been raised.

Prices have been so low that farmers have given up raising them until tht present stock in the market should be worked off.

It now happens that the United States government wants 40,000 horses right away, and is willing to pay good prices for them. No white horses will be drafted for service in a war, of the meaning of which the poor animal can know nothing. Only dark colored horses are accepted in the army, dark sorrels, bays, browns, blacks and dark roans, and they should be intelligent and gentle in disposition, from five to eight years of age, and weighing from 1,000 to 1,500 pounds.

A REGIMENT FOR HAWAII.

Cabinet Has Decided to Send a Regiment There.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—As a result of the cabinet meeting yesterday it was decided to dispatch a regiment of troops to Honolulu immediately and the commandant at the Presidio, California, has been communicated with to learn what forces are available.

The Hawaiian commissioners, who are to constitute the government of these islands, will not be appointed until after the adjournment of Congress. The deferment of announcement of choice is due to a pressure of other duties on the president.

As recess appointees they can proceed immediately to the execution of governmental functions, though open to confirmation when Congress reconvenes. The appointments of the members of both the international Canadian commission to settle all disputes between Canada and the United States and the non-partisan industrial commission to investigate the entire subject of immigration labor, manufacture and business, have also been deferred till later and will be made as recess appointments subject likewise to confirmation at the next session. This announcement is authoritative.

MORE ARMY NOMINATIONS.

Hawkins, Lawton, Chaffee and Bates to Be Major Generals

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The president has sent these nominations to the Senate:

Volunteer Army, brigadier generals of volunteers to be major generals: Hamilton S. Hawkins, Henry W. Lawton, Adna R. Chaffee, John C. Bates.

To be brigadier generals: Colonel Leonard Woods, First regiment, United States army, volunter cavalry; Lieutenant Colonel Chambers McKibbin, Twenty-first infantry, First regiment volunteer cavalry.

To be colonel: Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.

To be division surgeon, with rank of major: Nelson R. Beary, assistant surgeon general of New York.

The Senate, in executive session, confirmed all the nominations.

BLANCO STILL FOR WAR.

Deadhead Official Messages to Spain Refused.

Madrid, July 9.—According to a dispatch received from Havana, Captain General Blanco openly urges the continuation of the war.

The refusal of the Cuban cable companies to transmit dispatches franked by the Spanish government, in spite of the conditions of the concessions, occasions the liveliest discontent here.

The Spaniards believe that action is due to the orders of the British government, which, according to the newspapers of Madrid, is raising constant difficulties in the way of Spain and is giving frequent proofs of its partiality for the United States. Spain, it appears, has complained to the cable companies, but without any result.

America Wins Again.

London, July 9.—B. H. Howell, the American oarsman of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, beat H. T. Blackstaffe of the Vesta Rowing Club in the race for the diamond sculls at Henley. Howell won by three and one-half lengths and created a new record for the course, his time being 8 minutes and 29 seconds.

In the race for the diamond sculls last ytar Ten Eyck of Worcester, Mass., won the trophy, beating Blackstaffe, who in a previous heat had covered the course in the record time of 8 minutes, 34 seconds, two seconds faster than any previous race.

Captured Officers Confined at Annapolis

Washington, July 9.—All the Spanish naval officers captured by the American fleet are to be confined within the limits of the Naval Academy grounds at Anapolis. They will be placed in the quarters vacated by the American naval officers who left the academy to go into active service, and will be treated with the greatest consideration, having earned the admiration of the American sailors by their splendid exhibition of courage in the face of almost inevitable death or capture.

Not According to Tradition.

Paris, July 9.—The Temps, referring to the annexation of Hawaii by the United States, says:

"It is impossible to ignore the creation of a daily increasing current in America bearing that country in the direction of a policy of territorial aggrandizement and foreign conquests, which is a departure from all its national traditions."

Camara to Return Home.

Suez, July 9.—The Spanish squadron under Admiral Camara has returned here and is preparing to re-enter the canal on its way back to Spain.

Paris, July 9.—A dispatch received here from Ismailia says:

Admiral Camara's squadron has reentered the Suez canal and is returning to Spain.

EXCELLENT RECORD MADE

A Lively Scene in the House of Representatives, Senator Morgan in Favor of a Recess Until September Only. Senate May Be Called in Extra Session to Ratify Treaty of Peace if War Ends Before Next Regular Session.

Washington, July 9.—The war Congress has closed.

At 2 o'clock yesterday the session closed until the first Monday in December, or until the president calls an extra session. It is probable that there will be an extra session of the Senate called before the time for the meeting in regular session, for when peace is concluded the Senate will have to ratify the treaty. It may be that there will be an extra session of the House, but that is not expected.

In the Senate Mr. Morgan and Mr. Allen protested against adjournment while the war was in progress, but very little sympathy was shown is the Senate generally with the suggestion that Congress should continue to sit during the hot days of summer.

It was felt by most men in Congress that the work of the session had been properly performed.

The Cuban resolutions, the declaration of war measures, and finally the annexation of Hawaii all accomplished in one session, were regarded as completing a record on which the country could look with satisfaction.

Yet in connection with this there has been other work done. The calendars of both houses are unusually clear and comparatively few important measures remain unacted upon.

The last hour of the session in the House was marked by a play of small politics and childishness on the Democratic side under the direction of Mr. Handy of Delaware. A few important matters that it had been designed should be disposed of during this last hour were hung up, while votes and roll calls were taken in an effort to expunge a part of the speech of Mr. Ray on the pension question, to which some of the Democrats objected.

Passionate appeals by Mr. Cannon that the business be permitted to proceed were met with howls of derision, until, in exasperation, he raised his hand as if to strike one member, and was led away by one of his colleagues, while the sergeant-at-arms had to appear with the mace to preserve the peace.

Singing in the House.

A minute after the speaker's gavel fell adjourning the session a most thrilling and impressive scene occurred in the House. The attendance on the floor was very large, and the galleries were crowded to their utmost, chiefly with ladies belonging to the National Educational Association. Some one started to sing "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and everyone joined in the national hymn with profound feeling, and the old Capitol building rang with the patriotic music.

This was just the start. At the conclusion three cheers were given first for the flag, then for the army and navy, then for the united country. Some one called for cheers for the speaker and they were given heartily. Then three cheers were given for General Wheeler.

Flags Produced.

"The Star Spangled Banner" was next sung. Flags were found somewhere, and amidst the wildest enthusiasm, cheering and shouting and singing, the flags were waved and other patriotic songs were sung.

The members of Congress and the people in the galleries went wild with enthusiasm.

Speeches in the Senate.

Washington, July 9.—The Senate, in executive session, confirmed all the nominations sent in by the president yesterday.

The galleries of the Senate presented a brilliant sight at the opening of yesterday's session. They were packed to the doors with National Educational Association visitors, a large majority being women.

Rev. Dr. L. B. Whitman, president of the Columbian University, invoked the divine blessing.

Mr. Allison reported from the committee on appropriations the House resolution providing for final adjournment at 2 o'clock and urged its passage.

Mr. Morgan of Alabama opposed the proposed adjournment maintaining that it would be far more desirable for Congress to take a recess until the first Monday in September. Mr. Morgan said:

"There is absolutely no necessity for an adjournment at this time. It is a hasty, improvident and dangerous step. Thus far the president has not indicated to Congress, so far as I know, that he desires to be rid of us, and until he has manifested such a desire we ought to remain here."

Christian Endeavorers Meet.

Nashville, Tenn., July 9.—Auditorium Endeavor was filled to overflowing by an expectant, joyous, enthusiastic audience and the programme prepared was carried out promptly at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, with President Clark presiding. After devotional exercises, addresses of welcome were delivered by Governor Taylor and others. Secretary John W. Baer then read his annual report and President Clark made his annual address, both of which showed that the order was prosperous and constantly increasing in membership.

Spain Adding to Her Army.

Madrid, July 9.—General Correa, the minister for war, and his secretaries, are working day and night. A second call has been issued for the Canary island reserves and additional forces of home infantry and cavalry are being raised, while the artillery is being augmented by two pieces to each battery.

The peninsula armies will total up 220,000 by July 15.

The railroads are preparing war trains on all lines and carriages are in readiness at all the garrison stations.

The President's Proclamation.

To the People of the United States of America:

At this time, when to the yet fresh remembrance of the unprecedented success which attended the operations of the United States fleet in the bay of Manila, on the 1st day of May last, are added the tidings of the no less glorious achievements of the naval military arms of our betoved country at Santiago de Cuba, it is fitting that we should pause, and, staying the feeling of exultation that too naturally attends great deeds wrought by our countrymen in our country's cause, should reverently bow before the throne of Divine Grace and give devout praise to God, who holdeth the nations in the hollow of his hands and worketh upon them the marvels of His high will, and who has thus far vouchsafed to us the light of His face and led our brave soldiers and seamen to victory.

I, therefore, ask the people of the United States, upon next assembling for divine worship in their respective places of meeting, to offer thanksgiving to Almighty God, who, in His inscrutable ways, now leading our hosts upon the waters to unscathed triumphs now guiding them in a strange land through the dread shadows of death to success, even though at a fearful cost, now bearing them without accident or loss to far distant climes, has watched over our cause and brought nearer to success of the right and the attainment of just and honorable peace.

With the nation's thanks let there be mingled the nation's prayers that our gallant souls may be shielded from harm, alike on the battlefield and in the clash of fleets, and be spared the scourge of suffering and disease while they are striving to uphold their country's honor; and withal let the nation's heart be stirred with holy awe at the thought of the noble men who have perished as heroes die, and be filled with compassionate sympathy for all those who suffer bereavement or endure sickness, wounds and bonds by reason of the awful struggle.

And, above all, let us pray with earnest fervor that He, the Dispenser of all Good, may speedily remove from us the untold afflictions of war and bring to our dear land the blessings of restored peace and to all the domain now ravaged by the cruel strife the priceless boon of security and tranquility.

WILLIAM McKINLEY.

Shyster Lawyers.

Shyster lawyers, who abuse the confidence of clients and appropriate the belongings intrusted to their care, are criminals of the worse sort. When the court disbars them from practice it bring just retribution upon their heads, but a few years spent behind prison bars is what they deserve.

The Court of Errors yesterday disbarred Horatio L. Barton, said to be a prominent Trenton lawyer, who, despite the fact that he was paid a large fee by his client, appropriated $3,250 out of $8,000 put in his hands with which to effect a settlement of litigation.

There is no profession in which the members hold greater confidence to their clients than the legal fraternity. For lawyers to betray their trusts and impose upon clients for their own benefit is dishonest greed of the kind that deserves nothing but the severest condemnation.

The Bounty Money.

A Washington item brings the plain statement that at least $250,000 in bounty money has been won by the officers and men in the United States Navy off Santiago.

In view of the fact that there is a possibility of one of the Spanish warships being raised and added to our navy equipment, which would be acquiring a ship worth three of four million dollars at a slight cost, the bounty money will bring pretty good returns to Uncle Sam.

But even if there is no returns from the bounty money, we wouldn't complain. The boys on the war ships deserve all they will get, and a good deal more besides.

COLONEL LEONARD WOOD.

The Rough Riders are winning fame as fighters. Colonel Leonard Wood, their commander, saw service in the hard Apache campaign. The colonel is also Doctor Wood. He surrendered the station of army surgeon at Washington to enter actively into the war with Spain.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Because a well-known man about town failed to return home Sunday night his family became alarmed, and just before dawn Monday morning they started in with the assistance of several neighbors to hunt him, as it was feared that he had met with foul play. And sure enough he had. In due time they located him at a poker table trying to win a whole pile of chips with a red and black flush. He collapsed when the searching party arrived and suffered himself to be led home. He wont go out after dark for a while now.—Mt. Holly News.

Yesterday a little barefooted boy stopped in front of a place on a certain street in this city and the proprietor asked him how it was he did not go to the picnic.

The boy replied that he couldn't go because he hadn't any shoes to wear. "No shoes to wear, said the man, "that's too bad. Why, your papa works every day; can't he spare enough money to get you a pair of shoes?" The boy said his father couldn't buy him any shoes now because he has to pay so much a week on his bicycle.

"Well, how about your mother's bicycle," asked the man, and the boy replied, "She has to pay a dollar a week on her's, too."—Burlington Enterprise.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Every Plainfielder who returns from college or any place while there is any rowing, immediately bemoans the fact that Plainfield lacks some body of fresh water in which rowing is possible. Of course, there's New Market, but that is not very satisfactory, especially to those who have been used to some lake of large area Then it is unsatisfying to pull about in one of the great flat bottomed boats after being used to a light cedar skiff or canvas canoe.

Two little sparrows, engaged in what seemed to be a deadly struggle, attracted quite a little attention on East Front street yesterday afternoon The little birds evidently began their struggle in the upper air somewhere, and dropped down on the sidewalk in front of Schwed's clothing store to finish it. A third bird, who looked as if he was refereeing the battle, hopped around the two combatants, chirping shrilly, yet not offering to take part in the fight.

Not long ago a Plainfield pastor was making a pastoral visit at one of the families in his church, and while there, according to usual custom, he offered prayer. During the prayer the pastor referred tenderly to a small boy, a member of the family, who was not present. A few hours later the boy returned home, and the fond mother told him that the pastor had prayed for him. The young hopeful thought a few minutes, and then replied: "Mamma, did he pray for you, too?" The mother confessed that he did, and the son seemed to feel somewhat better.

There were many amusing incidents attendant on the celebration of Independence Day. A party of young men armed with revolvers and a brass breech loading field gun gave a morning salute at the home of a well known Plainfielder. They came up with a rush and established themselves close to the house. A volley from the revolvers followed by the rapid firing of the cannon had an unexpected result. Out from an upper winder fluttered a white sheet while the resident peeped over the window sill at the bombardment in progress below. The celebrators saw the "white flag," appreciated its intentions and accepted the unconditional surrender. After a cheer they continued on their way.

It is sometimes remarkable the rapidity with which some people can change their minds. Sometimes the onlookers would hardly give them credit with thinking so fast as their actions indicate. A very amusing incident attendant on this rapid change of mind took place on Front street the other day. Two men were riding their wheels in opposite directions and rapidly approaching each other. Although not experts, they were sufficiently accustomed to the exercise to pass through ordinary experiences unscathed. Now there was another man crossing the street between, apparently deeply meditating. As the wheelmen nearly reached him he glanced up, saw first one and then the other. A bewildering, dreamy expression shone forth on his face and then he came to a full realization of the situation. With a terrific burst of speed he shot forward, suddenly changed his mind and darted back again. The wheelmen began to wobble. The man then rushed about, first one way and then the other. The wheelmen, completely lost in the maze of his movements, gave up all attempt to avoid entanglements and promptly collided. Then the rapid thinker, having avoided this catastrophy by a bound into the air worthy of a gymnast, continued on his way murmuring something about the thoughtless wheelmen. The wheelmen picked themselves up, bruised and cut, and departed to think unutterable things of the rapid thinker.

THE WOMAN'S WORLD

Lemons as a Beautifier.

No woman should be without lemons on her toilet table. They are about as necessary nowadays as soap, so those who believe in them say.

"Lemons!" exclaimed a woman who believes in them religiously. "Why I wouldn't be without lemons a whole day for anything. I once heard of a French woman who was considered the most beautiful woman of her time, and she attributed her good looks to eating eight oranges a day for 365 days in the year. I'd be willing to gamble on it that lemons will do far more toward beautifying a woman than oranges. Lemons beautify, one through and through, outside and in. Nothing in the world bleaches the skin, hands and face like a little diluted lemon juice applied at night, and, strange to say, unlike most bleaches, it softens the complexion. Then the finest of manicure acids is made by dropping a teaspoonful of lemon juice in a cup of tepid water. This removes all stains from nails and skin and loosens the cuticle naturally and much better than any sharp instrument. A dash of lemon juice in plain water is an excellent tooth wash, removing not only tartar but sweetening the breath, and a teaspoonful of the juice in a small cup of black coffee will drive off a billious headache before the sufferer can say caterpillar. Life would be very barren to me without lemons, and so it would to any woman who knows the secret of their efficacy. Best of all, the juice of a lemon taken with a teaspoonful of soda, cooking soda, after each meal, will pull the flesh right off of the most persistently fat woman who ever worried over her weight."—New York Sun.

Prayer by Telephone.

At a small dinner given recently in a Western city the guest of honor was a young married woman who is the proud mother of two handsome boys, both under five years of age. In their education she endeavors to follow a system, after the manner of most young mothers, and is very particular to live up to any rule she has made for them.

During an early course in the dinner, and in the middle of an animated conversation with her host, she suddenly paused with a startled look and cried:

"There, if I did not forget those boys again! Have you a telephone in the house, and may I use it?"

She was taken to the telephone by her host, and the murmur of her voice in earnest conversation floated back to the dining-room. After a short pause she returned.

"I do hope you will pardon me," she said, "but, you see, I always have George and Eddie say their prayers for me before they go to sleep. I forgot it to-night in the hurry of coming away, so I just called up their nurse. She brought them to the 'phone, and they said their prayers over the wire, so my mind is relieved!"—Chicago Evening Post.

Loyalty Between Husband and Wife.

Most family quarrels are frictional disturbances that the oil of affection would smooth out, if we but knew it. And most breaks between married people could be healed by time, if they would but give time a chance. Between a man and woman once bound together by this tie there are memories potent enough to draw them together through gulfs of discord, if they have only been wise enough to be loyal to one another in the respect of silence as to what belongs to themselves. It should be in the marriage service, if it would do any good, this vow of silence about each other's faults. The old formula, "for better, for worse," means nothing to most who repeat it. They mean in their hearts not to put up with worse.

But we have to put up with something wherever we are in the world, and the question is, shall we not do better to stand by our choice in life, like brave soldiers loyal to their colors, and earn the respect of the world, rather than exhibit the miseries our poor judgment has brought upon us, and gain only opprobrium in consequence? For publicity doubles trouble.—Woman's Home Companion.

Worth Remembering.

"I cannot forbear pointing out to you, my dearest child," said a distinguished statesman to his daughter, "the great advantages that will result from a temperate conduct and sweetness of manner to all people, on all occasions. Never forget that you are a woman; all your words and actions should make you gentle. I never heard your mother—your dear, good mother—say a harsh or hasty thing to any person in my life. Endeavor to imitate her. I am quick and hasty in my temper, but, my darling, it is a misfortune which, not having been sufficiently restrained in my youth, has caused me more trouble to subdue this impetuosity than anything I ever undertook."

Wine Jelly.

The recipe for wine jelly is one ounce of gelatine, put in a basin, add ½ pint of cold water, let it stand 3 hours; when quite soaked add a large teaspoonful of citric acid (Nelson's is best) and ½ pound of loaf sugar; pour on to this a pint of boiling water, and stir till the gelatine and sugar are dissolved, then add ½ pint of sherry (rather common sweet sherry is best), leave it to get nearly cold, put it into moulds which have been in cold water.

Big Hole in the Missouri.

With all its other eccentricities, the Missouri River leaks badly; for you know there are leaky rivers as well as leaky boats. The government engineers once measured the flow of the Missouri away up in Montana, and again some hundred miles farther down stream. To their surprise, they found that the Missouri, instead of growing bigger down stream, as every rational river should, was actually 20,000 second-feet smaller at the lower point.

Now, while 20,000 second-feet could be spared from such a tremendous river, that amount of water makes a considerable stream of itself. Many very celebrated rivers never had so much water in their lives. Hence there was great amazement when the discrepancy was discovered. But of late years Dakota farmers away to the south and east of those points in the Missouri, sinking artesian wells, found immense volumes of water where the geologists said there wouldn't be any. So it is believed that the farmers have tapped the water leaking from that big hole in the Missouri River away up in Montana; and from these wells they irrigate large tracts of land, and naturally, they don't want the riverbed mended. Fancy what a blessing it is, when the weather is dry, to have a river boiling out of your well, ready to flow where you want it over the wheat fields! For of all manner of work that a river can be put to, irrigation is, I think, the most useful. But isn't that a queer way for the Missouri to wander about underneath the ground?—St. Nicholas.

Farm Telephones.

Here is an idea for the boys to think of. If it can be made practical, it would be very convenient in a neighborhood where the houses are not near each other, and would bring one of the luxuries of city life to the inmates, says American Farmer.

To make a good and serviceable telephone, good from one farmhouse to another, only requires enough wire and two cigar boxes. First, select your boxes and make a hole about a half an inch in diameter in the center of the bottom of each, and then place one in each of the houses you wish to connect. Then get five pounds of common iron stove-pipe wire; make a loop in one end and put it through the hole in your cigar box and fasten it with a nail; then draw it tight to the other box, supporting it, when necessary, with a stout cord. You can easily run your line into the house by boring a hole through the glass. Support your boxes with slats nailed across the window, and your telephone is complete. The writer has one that is two hundred yards long, and cost forty-five cents that will carry music when the organ is played thirty feet away in another room.

Pug Envious of the Swimming Cat.

There is a certain cat of clerical associations and impeccable social standing who swims like a fish, and, what is more, appears to enjoy it like any duckling. A pug dog in the family seems to think the performance unnatural, and whenever the cat goes down to take his bath the pug follows, showing every sign of jealousy when visitors applaud and express surprise. The other day Master Pug could stand it no longer; he, too, took a plunge, and in a few moments, having reached puss, seized the creature by the throat and held her head under water until life was nearly extinct. Fortunately, some one saw the deed and rushed to the rescue, but even this painful experience has failed to deter the cat from taking her favorite amusement.—Boston Herald.

Emma's Clever Idea.

Emma, a little girl of seven, was left to take care of her younger brother and sister while her mother was absent, and one of her duties was to put them to bed.

Her mother returned, and, on looking after the welfare of the little ones found them in bed with the hot water bag, although it was a hot night in July.

"Why, Emma," she said in surprise "why do you have this hot water bag when it is so warm?"

"Well, mamma," said Emma, "you put hot water in it in the winter to keep us warm, and I have filled it with ice water so that it will keep us cool." — Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune.

About the Eye.

What part of the eye is like a rainbow? The iris. What part is like a schoolboy? The pupil. What part is like the globe? The ball. What part is like the top of a chest? The lid. What part is like a piece of a whip? The lash. What part is like the summit of a hill? The brow.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Danzig. Der Geheime Medizinalrath Dr. Heinrich Abegg feierte dieser Tage sein 50jähriges Doktorjubiläum. Ein geborener Königsberger, wirkt er seit 1853 in Danzig. Hier war er 1857 bis 1866 leitender Arzt des Diakonissenhauses, 1866 wurde er Direktor der Hebammenlehranstalt. Er hat seitdem 1400 Schülerinnen ausgebildet und 100,000 Entbindungen geleitet.

Rheinprovinz.

Elberfeld. In angetrunkenem Zustande besuchte vor einiger Zeit der Schlosser Franz Wittmann von Mettmann die dortige evangelische Kirche und störte dort den Gottesdienst. Er sprach dem Pastor die Predigt grunzend nach, räusperte sich und benahm sich so auffällig, daß die Kirchenbesucher in ihrer Andacht fortgesetzt gestört wurden. Die Strafkammer verurtheilte den Ruhestörer zu sechs Wochen Gefängniß.

Dortmund. Zur Sicherung des Hebewerkes bei Henrichenburg am Dortmund-Ems-Kanal hat das Oberbergamt umfassende Maßregeln angeordnet. So untersagt es unter dem Hebewerk und in dessen Umgebung bis auf 600 Meter Entfernung bergmännische Arbeiten jeder Art, einschließlich der Schürfarbeiten, sofern sie nicht vom Oberbergamt besonders genehmigt sind.

Die Waaren kamen aus der Papierfabrik zu Sundern zur Bahn; 27 große Ballen Seidenpapier sowie der Wagen selbst sind vollständig vernichtet, die Schreibmaschinen dagegen blieben auffallender Weise ganz unbeschädigt. Die Pferde wurden mit Mühe gerettet.

Der frühere Gymnasiast Alwin Johann Eckerdt von hier stahl vor einiger Zeit 700 Mark und flüchtete nach Wien, wo er seinem Großonkel 7000 Gulden entwendete, die er zum Theil in liederlicher Gesellschaft vergraßte. In Folge des stark gewachsenen und noch immer steigenden Schiffsverkehrs ist man augenblicklich damit beschäftigt, auf der Hamburg südwestlich gegenüberliegenden Elbinsel Kuhwärder vier neue Häfen zu bauen, davon drei für Seeschiffe, einen für Flußfahrzeuge. Jeder der neuen Seeschiffhäfen ist an seinem östlichen Ende mit einer gewaltigen Schleuse abgeschlossen, um auch den Verkehr mit der Flußschifffahrt an jener Stelle ermöglichen zu können, im Uebrigen aber werden die neuen Häfen in ihrer ganzen Längenausdehnung mit Kaimauern und Eisenbahngeleisen versehen werden, um ein direktes Ueberladen vom Schiff zur Bahn vornehmen zu können. Die Bauzeit für die neuen Häfen ist auf 4½ bis 5 Jahre bemessen.—Hier starb der Dichter der in den letzten Jahren viel gesungenen Arbeiter-Marseillaise, Jakob Audorf.

TELEGRAPHY WITHOUT NOISE.

A Receiver That Whispers Softly Into the Operator's Ear.

The introduction of typewriter machines in telegraph offices, on which operators take down the messages received, has necessitated increasing the volume of sound emanating from the sounders in order to make their clicks clearly distinguishable above the click of the typewriter machine. The result has been that the noise in telegraph offices has in many cases increased to such an exten as to be a serious menace to the health of the operators.

In order to reduce this noise and make the received message entirely secret a special sounder has been invented. The sounder, which is inclosed in a hard rubber case, is very light, the whole thing, with conducting cord complete, weighing but four ounces. It can be used not only without the slightest inconvenience to the operator, but much to his comfort and advantage, relieving him of all unnecessary nerve and physical strain. It can be attached directly to the main line, where it acts as a combined relay and sounder, giving all the service of both, without any of the disadvantages of a main line sounder.

The mechanism of this little instrument is very simple, consisting of a set of electro-magnets of from 2 to 150 ohms resistance (according to requirements). An ingenious arrangement of the armature and lever brings the former in actual contact with the poles of the magnets in such a manner as to double the working force of the armature. The armature lever is provided with hammers, which in action strike upon a resounding plate; a shifter or switch at the side of the case draws the hammers from the plate and reduces the sound to a minimum.

Owing to the loudness of the sound when the hammers strike upon the resonating plate messages may be received with the sounder placed on the table or desk, and in this way it may also be used for a call, thus combining in one instrument both a loud and secret sounder. Should it be desired to take a secret message the sounder is adjusted from the outside by means of the shifter referred to, which is graded so that the operator may regulate the volume of sound to suit his own ear. This may be from the faintest click to the full volume of the loudest instrument. The instrument is then worn on the head. The case and headband being made of hard rubber insures the operator from shock from abnormal currents passing through the line.—Electrical Engineer.

THE CAT CAME BACK.

Found Her Way from Havana to Boston, Reaching Her Old Home Safely.

Many years ago, while residing at the "North End," Boston, writes a correspondent of Our Dumb Animals, I was the possessor of a cat, which my brother, who was master of a brig bound to Havana, prevailed upon me to give him, and just before sailing pussy was taken on board of the vessel, then lying at one of the wharves not far away.

Several weeks elapsed, when one day that cat appeared on our kitchen window sill, and upon being admitted gave many evidences of joy at being once again at home.

My first thought was that my brother had arrived with his brig, and pussy, recognizing the old landmarks, had found her way back to us, but a diligent search along the wharves failed to discover any signs of the vessel, and it was not till several weeks had passed that I heard of her arrival at Portland, Me.

Upon interviewing my brother in regard to the cat, he informed me that he lost her while in Havana, and was much surprised to learn that she had returned to Boston. But the mystery seemed to be explained by his recollecting that there was a Boston-bound vessel lying near by, in which puss had probably taken passage.

Lost on the Atlantic.

From March, 1840, until March, 1893, 122 transatlantic vessels—steamships plying between Europe and America only—were lost en route, and as a direct result of this 6,369 lives were lost. The estimate of lives lost from various other causes is 600. The number of steamships never heard from after leaving port was seventeen. The number burned was nine, and the number foundered was twelve. The other wrecks were caused by collisions, being washed ashore, collision with icebergs, etc. From March, 1893, to the beginning of the present year the loss of life on the Atlantic has been much less than in former years, though one or two large steamers have had serious mishaps, and one—the Boston—was never heard from.—San Francisco Chronicle.

How His Rank is Determined.

Says the Bluefields, Nicaragua correspondent of the Chicago Record: "From a native I gained the knowledge which taught me how to catch and determine the rank of these Nicaraguan soldiers.

" 'If he wears one shoe he is at least a second lieutenant,' said the man. 'If he has two shoes he is a captain. If the shoes are mates he is a colonel. If they are mates and are laced up and knotted there can be no question as to his rank—brigadier-general, beyond preadventure.'

"I don't believe I saw anything more lofty than a captain."

Man Overboard: "Help! Help!"
Stranger: "Phuy don't yez swim?"
"I don't know how."
"Begorra, ye've got an illigant chance to learn."

ADMIRAL SAMPSON.

SON OF A FARM LABORER—AN INSATIABLE THIRST FOR KNOWLEDGE.

He Owes Much of His Success to His Early Instructors—During the Civil War the Ship He Was Commanding Was Blown Up in Charleston Harbor.

Acting Rear Admiral William T. Sampson owes his position in the navy to his own individual efforts, and not to any influence. He has worked hard for all his honors and well deserves them. He is the son of poor parents, had to divide his time, when a boy, between work and study, and in the face of seemingly insurmountable difficulties he has, by close application to his duties and to study, risen to his present high rank. He was born in Palmyrna, N. Y., February 8, 1840. His father was a farm laborer and could not afford to let his son devote much time to his school books. Young Sampson was not willing to do so, even had his father been disposed to permit him, to spend his time as other boys did. When old enough he went to school, but the conditions were such that he needs must find time, too, to do the chores, cut and pile wood, and do much other hard work known to farmers' boys.

He pluckily kept hard at work with his books, however, and Principal Farmer of the Classical Union School took a great liking to the boy and helped him in his studies. The young man had an insatiable thirst for information, and despite the fact that he had less time to devote to it than many of the other boys in the school, he soon distanced them in the race for knowledge.

WILLIAM T. SAMPSON.

Mr. Farmer enlisted the interest of W. H. Southwick of Palmyrna, and Congressman E. B. Morgan in young Sampson, with the result that Mr. Morgan offered to appoint him to the Naval Academy when there was a vacancy. When the proposition was made Principal Farmer decided to make a special effort to bring the boy through with flying colors, and he offered to give his pupil some special instruction to fit him for the Annapolis examination. The result was that he had the necessary books and worked hard over them. When the examination was held young Sampson's percentage was higher than that of any other applicant for the nomination.

William Sampson entered the Naval Academy in 1857, and was graduated first in his class three years later. His first cruise was made in the frigate Potomac in 1861, and during that year he was promoted master. In 1862 he was commissioned a lieutenant, and was detailed to the practice ship John Adams, on which he remained until the end of 1863, when he went back to the academy. After that he got his first taste of war and distinguished himself highly. He was detailed to the ironclad Patapsco in 1864. The Patapsco was one of the vessels on the South Atlantic blockading squadron. On January 15, 1865, Lieutenant Sampson was executive officer of the Patapsco, and he was ordered by the admiral of the fleet to enter Charleston harbor and remove or destroy all submarine mines and torpedoes with which the city was protected from invasion. This was an exceedingly difficult and dangerous task, as for several days the Confederates had devoted all their time and labor to stocking the water with these explosives in order to repel any advance.

As soon as the ironclad entered the harbor she was met with a rain of bullets from the sharpshooters on the forts. Several of the men on the Patapsco were struck, and Lieutenant Sampson, who was on the bridge, seeing his men falling all around him, ordered them below while he remained a target for the rebel rifles. The men had scarcely obeyed the order when there was a big explosion, and the ironclad was hurled out of the water. She had been blown up by a mine. Then the vessel sank, and several of the crew went down with her. Lieutenant Sampson was blown about 100 feet, but he was rescued with about twenty-five of his men.

After this he was detailed to the Colorado, the flagship of the European station, and while on that vessel he was commissioned a lieutenant commander.

He was attached to the Naval Academy from 1868 to 1871, and was on the Congress in 1872-3. In 1874 he was made commander and his first vessel thereafter was the Alert, which he commanded for two years. Then for two years he was at the Naval Academy, and from 1879 to 1882 he commanded the Swatara on the Asiatic station. The two years following he was stationed at the Naval Observatory, and during that time was a member of the International Prime Meridian and Time Conference. He had charge of the torpedo station in 1885-6, and was a member of the Board on Fortifications and other Defences at the same time.

From 1886 to 1890 he was superintendent of the Naval Academy, and in 1893 he was a delegate from the United States to the International Maritime Conference held at Washington.

He was promoted to the rank of captain in 1889, and the next year he was placed in command of the cruiser San Francisco. In July, 1892, he was inspector of ordnance at the navy yard, Washington, and the next year he was made chief of the bureau of ordnance. He held that position until the Iowa was ready to be commissioned, when he was detailed to that battleship.

When the fleet was sent down to Havana Captain Sampson was placed in command, and raised his flag on the cruiser New Pork. At the outbreak of the war he was made acting rear admiral by President McKinley.

Socially, Admiral Sampson is a great favorite. He is a slightly built man and his shoulders a trifle rounded. His hair and beard are gray, his eyes blue, set deep beneath strongly marked brows. He is affable, but a man of few words. Nothing disturbs the evenness of his temper; he is quick to grasp a situation and resourceful in an emergency.

Admiral Sampson has been married twice. He has four daughters by his first marriage. They are Mrs. Roy C. Smith, wife of Lieutenant Smith of the United States navy; Mrs. Jackson, wife of Ensign R. H. Jackson, United States navy, and Miss Nannie and Miss Olive Sampson. His second wife was Miss Burling of Canandaigua, and there are two sons by this marriage, Ralph, ten years old, and Harold, eight years old. —A. F. Aldridge in New York Times.

ACHIEVEMENT OF A BIG FEAT.

A News Issue Printed on Paper Made from Trees Felled the Same Day.

The Stroudsbury, Pa., Daily Times accomplished a surprising feat a short time ago by getting out an issue printed on paper made that day from two trees chopped down the same morning. This may at first seem an astounding assertion, but the following description from the paper itself will prove that such a thing can be done:

"It was just on the hour of seven o'clock when workmen of the Minsi Pulp and Paper Mills walked to the tree, which stood in all its freshness, a short distance from the works, with sharp axes in their hands.

"Arrived at the spot they soon struck a death blow to the poplar and in a few minutes the tree lay prostrate on the ground. Horses were at hand and they were fastened to the trunk and bore it to the mill. Two trees were necessary to secure the amount of paper for our extra edition.

GEORGE C. HUGHES
Publisher of the Stroudsburg Times.

"Stripped of branches the trees were quickly cut into two-foot lengths and the bark taken off. Then the wood was thrown into the grinder and in a jiffy the huge stones were crushing and mashing it into pulp. In an hour or so the poplars were in shape to be sucked up into the machine for refining and extracting the water.

"This done, it was passed into the 'fourdriner,' and by the hour of nine o'clock the paper you now have in your hand had come from the machinery, clean and ready for use.

"A Times man was at hand with a wagon, and into the vehicle was placed the roll necessary for the edition, and by 10.30 it was in the press room ready to be printed upon.

"The balance of the work necessary to turn out the newspaper is too well known to need description, but suffice it to say that in eight and one-half hours the living poplar trees were cut down, made into paper and ready for delivery."

BRAVE AS THE BURNING DECK BOY.

Young Officer Stops to Light a Pipe at a Critical Moment.

"He's a cool 'un," is the way the soldiers in a certain English regiment describe one of their officers. The circumstances which gave this officer his reputation is related by Rudyard Kipling. He writes:

A very young officer, who had gone almost straight from school to the army, and thence to India, was leading his company through a rocky pass, on returning from a scouting expedition. They were beset by the enemy, who fired at them from behind rocks, and the men were growing very unsteady. Those in the rear began to be impatient, and shouted to the men in front: "Hurry up! What are you waiting for there?"

The young officer answered quite coolly: "Hold on a minute! I'm lighting my pipe!"

And he struck a match and lit it. There was a roar of laughter, and a soldier called out, "Well, since you're so pressin', I think I'll have a pipe myself." And he, too, struck a match and began to smoke. This bit of fun steadied the men, and they came through in good order.—Westminster Magazine.

GENERAL MERRITT.

A FEARLESS FIGHTER AND EXTRAORDINARY MILITARY TACTICIAN.

As a Boy He Had No Aspirations to Follow the Army but Expected to be a Lawyer—Served with Distinction All Through the Civil War.

No American soldier ever won his spurs more bravely than did Wesley Merritt. A fearless fighter, a dashing cavalry leader, an efficient department commander, and a military tactician of extraordinary ability, he has, by virtue of gallant deeds performed, engraved his name on his country's honor roll for all time.

Few military records made during the war of the rebellion show such a rapid succession of promotions for "gallant and meritorious conduct" as does that of General Merritt.

GENERAL WESLEY MERRITT.

Wesley Merritt was born in the city of New York, at 67 North Moore street, on December 1, 1836. His father, John Willis Merritt, was a practicing lawyer at that time, but four years later, finding the law not sufficiently remunerative to supply the increasing needs of a large family, he gave up his practice and bought a farm in Illinois, near a small place called Belleville. Unlike most distinguished soldiers, Wesley Merritt is unable to recall any boyish dreams of a military career. Until he was sixteen years old he had no idea of being a soldier, his train of thought up to that period having been mainly in the direction of the law.

A military career was not to young Merritt's taste, but in compliance with his father's wishes he consented to accept an opportunity to enter West Point.

He was graduated July 1, 1860, and was assigned to the dragoons. After serving for a short period at Fort Crittenden, Utah, he was promoted, on May 13, 1861, to a second lieutenancy, and soon afterwards he became the adjutant general of the federal forces in Utah.

When he was called to duty in the East, at the beginning of the civil war, Lieutenant Merritt was adjutant of the Second Dragoons, under Colonel Philip St. George Cooke, and he remained with that gallant officer for two or three years. When Colonel Cooke was made a brigadier general and placed in command of the cavalry of the army of the Potomac, young Merritt became his aide de camp, and on April 5, 1862, was promoted to be captain. Much of Captain Merritt's work as aide was done in Washington, and his intelligence, quickness and military sagacity made a most favorable impression on the commanding officers with whom he was brought in contact. Persons high in authority recognized in the active young officer the ready qualities of a first class soldier, and just before the battle of Gettysburg he received the appointment of brigadier general of volunteers. On July 1, 1863, he was put in command of the reserve cavalry at Gettysburg and so well did he acquit himself that he was breveted a major in the regular army for "gallant and meritorious services."

It was about this time that the "Boy Brigadier," as Merritt was called by the soldiers, attracted the attention of General Sheridan. The latter was particularly pleased with the young general's dash and nerve, and at the same time impressed with his strategic skill. Merritt had the knack of finding out the enemy's weak points and getting in some effective blows before his proximity was suspected. He fought close to Sheridan at Winchester, and so cleverly did he handle his division that "Little Phil" complimented him warmly at the close of the engagement. A cordial friendship sprang up between the two distinguished cavalrymen, which continued until Sheridan's death.

General Merritt was engaged in several spirited raids under Sheridan, and from August, 1864, to March, 1865, he was in command of a cavalry division in the Shenandoah campaign. During all of that time he was practically "in the saddle" continuously.

After the close of the war General Merritt was specially honored in Washington, being personally commended by General Grant and by Secretary Stanton, and receiving the high military honor of being brevetted a major general in the regular army. In the summer of 1865 he was appointed chief of cavalry of the Military Division of the Southwest, and subsequently chief of cavalry of the Military Division of the Gulf. On September 30, 1865, he was mustered out of the volunteer service and made lieutenant colonel of the Ninth Cavalry. For several years he served at various stations in the West, and greatly enhanced his reputation as a daring and effective fighter by his prowess in dealing with turbulent and warlike Indians. He was actively engaged in the encounter with the Cheyennes, near Indian Creek, and soon afterward General Crook appointed him chief of the cavalry attached to the Big Horn and Yellowstone expeditions. He commanded the Wind River expedition against the Nez Perces in 1877, and in the following year he led the troops dispatched to aid Thornburgh's besieged command at Milk River.

One of General Merritt's most notable exploits was the conducting of a successful cavalry march against the Cheyennes, in which he led seven full cavalry companies in a ride of eighty-five miles in thirty-one hours and completed the march with every man in good condition. "Buffalo Bill" and Captain Charles King, the novelist, were with Merritt on this occasion. So stealthily did the cavalry advance that the Cheyennes were taken by surprise and were so completely panic stricken that they ran in disorder from their camp, leaving Yellow Hand, one of their chiefs, lying dead on the grass. General Merritt was in command of Fort Laramie, Wyoming, in 1880, and again in 1882. In the latter year the authorities at Washington, desiring to obtain the fullest benefits from General Merritt's superior knowledge and skill as a tactician, placed him at the head of the military academy at West Point, where he remained for nearly five years. In 1887 he was promoted to be brigadier general of the United States army, and placed in command of the Department of the Missouri. Subsequently he was made a major general, and assumed command of the Department of the East. His selection by the war department to command the military expedition to the Philippines received the most unreserved popular commendation.

There is on the part of the people of this country an abiding faith in the courage, the sagacity, the judgment and the patriotism of Wesley Merritt.—New York Times.

WILLIAM GILLETTE.

The Author-Actor of One of the Most Popular Plays.

William Gillette is one of the few author-actors who has made a success. His play, "Secret Service," in which he acts the role of the heroic spy, continues in favor in this country, and was the only patriotic American play ever received with approval in London.

WILLIAM GILLETT.

During his last year in the world's metropolis Mr. Gillette was a social lion.

"Secret Service" is a drama full of stirring action, and there is not a dull moment in it from first to last. It is a succession of patriotic incidents which hold one in breathless attention, with comic relief of a sparkling quality. The play is elaborate in scenic effects and romantic situations.

Japanese Love of the Beautiful.

In the principal room of every Japanese house built by rule there is a slightly raised platform sometimes so arranged that it can be entirely enclosed. This dias is the "sacred niche" where Mikado would sit should he ever enter the house. It is still the rule there that the subject must not look down upon the Mikado. In the days, not very long past, when it was unlawful even to look upon his face, he would have sat entirely shut off from view, and his fool would have been served through a side opening so placed as to prevent a sight of his sacred countenance. The royal inclosure is looked upon as an altar. With it the whole house must be in keeping, and it is here that some grouping of flowers or leaves, some beautiful work of art, is always seen. The spot is itself a sample of excellent work, and here the little children learn from infancy to revere and love the beautiful and the good in nature and art.—St. Nicholas.

Too Much Iron.

Doctor—Did you get that mixture of wine and iron that I ordered?

Deacon Waters—Yes; it was first-rate. Never enjoyed a bottle of medicine better in my life. Drank it up without takin' breath. But, doctor, there was too much iron in it.

Doctor—Huh! So I should imagine.

Deacon Waters — Yes, the iron all went to my feet and made 'em so heavy I could hardly walk.—New York Weekly.

A "hedge doctor," a kind of quack in Ireland, was being examined at an inquest on his treatment of a patient who had died. "I gave him ipecacuanha," he said.

"You might just as well have given him the aurora borealis," said the Coroner.

"Indade, yer honor, and that's just what I should have given him next if he hadn't died."—Hospital Gazette.

Alfred Squires, of Clinton avenue, has resigned as pitcher of the Westfield base ball nine.

It is needless to say that there will be no game on the Crescent Oval this afternoon. It was not any bluff when Manager Mumford declared the team disbanded. The players have signed with other clubs, and, as a result, Plainfielders will see no more baseball, out there at any rate, It is to be hoped that now the games have been given up, the cranks will appreciate that they have lost another good thing. The Crescents have gone, and for good, and the cranks will have to console themselves as best they can.

There is some talk among the Clinton Avenue Club of trying to arrange two more games with the Dunellen team and make the series between the two teams one of five games instead of three. The Clinton Avenue boys feel that the Fourth of July game was hardly a fair test of their abilities as they were minus several of their best players and they are anxious to retreve their lost honors. Dunellen, having won the series, is not anxious to risk anything more to satisfy their old rivals.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

There was great regret expressed among the horsemen of the city that Harry Gwynette was unable to enter any of the horses from his stable in the recent races. They will not be in condition, however, for the New Brunswick races, but will go on the circuit later in the season.

Among the trotters and pacers that will follow the circuit through New York State will probably be "Myrtle Twig" and "Highland Boy." Both horses have been doing excellent work on the track this season and will probably make even a better showing later, when they get fully in trim.

The New Brunswick Driving Association has already begun to bill Plainfield for its race meet next Wednesday and Thursday. The New Brunswick Association is making great efforts to have the banner meet of the circuit. The races will be held at the Highland Park track which is easily reached by trolley from New Brunswick.

GOLF.

There will be individual playing on the Park Golf Club links this afternoon. It is expected that an informal opening will take place in two weeks.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Arthur French, of Madison avenue, has a new wheel.

The entries for Harry Lister's race will close Tuesday evening with him. He has received quite a number of entries already.

Piece of Steel in His Eye.

A son of Edward Brokaw, sexton of the Park Avenue Baptist church, met with a very painful accident a few days ago by getting a small piece of steel in his eye. The foreign substance cut the eye considerable and it has caused a fester which threatens serious results. Thus far it has been impossible to get the steel from the eye, but the injured member has to be washed continually every fifteen minutes to prevent a hardening of the muscles. Every effort is being made to save the sight of the eye.

Dined On Church Steps.

John Langdon and Thomas Brandon, two of the city's employes, are accused by Torton Langford, colored, with assaulting him one day this week after he had upbraided them for eating a lunch of eggs, ham and bread on the steps of Bethel chapel, on East Fifth street, and scattered egg shells and crumbs all over the steps. Both men pleaded not guilty this morning in emphatic terms, and their trial was set down for next week.

Broke a Plate Glass Window.

The housekeeper for Charles M. Raybert, the North avenue plumber, slipped in front of the store yesterday and poked her elbow through a large plate glass window.

This is a Good One.

That truth is stranger than fiction is illustrated by the following true story, relates the Lapeer Press. About forty years ago a boy was kicked by a horse. The physician attending the case found his skull was broken and a good share of his brains had leaked out. Thinking to do the best he could and knowing it would not do to leave the place vacant, the doctor took some buckwheat flour, and making a thick batter, trephined the skull and filled the cavity. That boy lived and grew to be a man, weighs 250 pounds, and is as smart as most men. Living not far from Oakwood, he does business in Lapeer quite often and is all right, only once in a while that buckwheat batter will rise and then he is daft for a time.

Only Three Languages in Use.

According to a Russian linguist, English, Russian and Chinese will be the only three languages in use two hundred years from now. During the twentieth and twenty-first centuries the whole of Continental Europe and of Asia, with the exception of China, will have adopted the Russian language. English will be spoken in Great Britain, Australia, Africa and America, and Chinese will be the language of the Celestials and the Oceanic [illegible] There are at present [illegible] languages spoken—89 [illegible] African, 123 Asiatic, [illegible] American, while [illegible] alone sixty dif- [illegible]

ABDUCTED BY AN ORANG-OUTANG

A Young Man Prisoner was Treated with Great Courtesy by His Captor.

Numerous stories have been told of persons being abducted by ourang-outangs, carried to their retreats and treated with the utmost politeness, says the Detroit Free Press. In 1864 a young Bornean was missing, and his friends concluded to ferret the mystery. Well armed, they started to search through the jungles, and on the fifth day discovered on the bank of the Sakarang River the clothes and sword of their friend. Suddenly they heard a voice, and following up the sound, discovered the missing fellow high up in a tree with an ourang-outang by his side. A rifle shot brought the huge animal to the ground, when the happy man descended and told of his strange adventure.

He had been out hunting, and had gone to the river to bathe. Upon returning he was seized by the arms by the animal, and was compelled to follow it. They arrived at the foot of a certain tree, where the youth made a hasty but involuntary ascent to the top, where he found himself a prisoner in a comfortable lodging. Five days he remained, his weird hostess graciously supplying him every day with fruits and vegetables, and bringing water in a cocoanut shell.

Investigation has proved that such facts are indisputable. The conviction is also shared by St. John, the author of a book on Bornean travels.

Weather Signals on Street Cars.

The trolley car has been utilized for all sorts of local announcements, with excellent results, especially in small communities, doing in its way much of the work that the old bell crier was supposed to exist for. On rainy days a village car will often save the school children a useless tramp by carrying a placard with the inscription, "No school to-day," and in some places the local weather bureau now notifies the road of prospective meteorological changes, and the cars, as they go out of the car barn, mount the appropriate signal in the shape of a flag, flying between the trolley pole and the car. People can thus tell at a glance by the passing car whether to carry an umbrella or not, and what sort of an overcoat to wear.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Sticking to Rules.

There is a good old story of a General whose death was announced in a newspaper by mistake, a circumstance which annoyed him very much. He called on the editor and demanded that a contradiction should be inserted in the next issue. "That, General," was the editor's reply, "is quite out of the question. We never apologize and we never withdraw a statement; but I'll tell you what we'll do for you. We'll put you in the 'Births' next week."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Hardship of a Patriot.

"William, you have made us wait supper for you nearly two hours."

"I've been reading the bulletins from Washington."

"And I've had to carry in the coal and kindling wood myself."

"That isn't anything to what I've had to suffer. I've had all my corns crushed, caught a cold and lengthened my neck four inches. We've all got to put up with some inconveniences when the country is in danger, Miranda. I wish you would warm these potatoes over and make some fresh tea. I'm hungry."—Chicago Tribune.

Added Horrors.

"Civilization," said the escaped missionary, "in the hands of the raw, impulsive and untutored savage is not an unmixed boon. I am sure that it did not detract from the horrors of my captivity to hear the natives, as they roasted poor Brother Biddle, chant, 'Oh, I Don't Know; You're Not So Warm!'"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Definition.

Mamma—"Oh, dear! Jimmy, I don't believe you know what it is to be good." Jimmy—"Yes, I do, mamma. It's not doing what you want to do."—Truth.

CURRENT HUMOR.

"How can they say such things about you, Hamlet, dear!" exclaimed the wraith of Ophelia, mournfully. "I'm sure you never killed even a chicken."

"That's so," responded the wrath of Hamlet, dejectedly; "it was my uncle. He——"

Ophelia looked surprised.

"Did murder most fowl, you know."—New York Press.

One day an Irishman was taking a walk in a small town near Glasgow, when he met an old friend. After walking along the road together, Pat's friend said to him:

"Have you heard the latest news?"

Pat—No; what is it?

"There's a penny off the loaf."

Pat—Bedad, and I hope it is off the penny ones.—Tit Bits.

Doctor—I wish you would tell those deaf mutes to stop talking; the noise disturbs me.

Attendant—Why, how can they make a noise when they talk with their fingers?

Doctor—Well, don't actions speak louder than words?—Chicago News.

"I doan see no diffunce 'twix de man 'at wucks an' de man 'at loafers," said Deacon Johnson.

"Dey hain't no diffunce, speshul," replied Deacon Jackson, "'ceptin' dat dey calls de loaferin' feller 'kunnel.'"—Atlanta Journal.

Mother—Harry Tucker is the worst boy in school, Tommy, and I want you to keep as far from him as possible.

Tommy—I do, ma. He stays at the head of our class all the time.—Truth.

BOMBARDMENT TODAY.

Preliminary Artillery Skirmish Took Place Yesterday.

ALGER SAYS NO ASSAULT.

The Fire Will Be Kept Up Continuously on Santiago—Yesterday's Attack Begun at 4:45 o'Clock—American Losses Very Slight—Trouble Between Sampson and Schley.

BOMBARDMENT TODAY.

Yesterday's Firing Was Merely a Preliminary Skirmish—Shafter Cables.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 11th, 11:33 a. m—A cablegram was received at the War Department from General Shafter this morning, stating that the bombardment of Santiago de Cuba would begin today and that yesterday's firing was merely a preliminary artillery skirmish.

Other messages have been received which undoubtedly contain other details of yesterday's skirmish but nothing has yet been given out by the department.

It is reported here on good authority that an American ship was badly damaged during the skirmish by a shell from one of the Spanish batteries.

WAR SHIPS OPEN FIRE.

Sampson's Vessels Threw Shells Into the City of Santiago.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Aquadores, Cuba, July 10, via Playa del Este, July 11, 12:45 p. m—The ships of Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet threw shells into Santiago all the afternoon causing great destruction, it is supposed.

It had been arranged that there should be simultaneous firing by the warships and the land artillery at 4 o'clock, but a heavy storm interfered with the telephone which works between the headquarters of the army and navy.

However, at 4:45 o'clock, the rumble of artillery on the American lines was heard. The opening of the preliminary bombardment was followed by the cruiser Brooklyn opening fire. She was followed by the battleships Texas and Indiana.

The fire lasted for several hours. It is impossible to estimate the damage done as the hills obstruct the view of the Spanish fortifications and city. Shortly after the Brooklyn opened fire a danger flag was displayed above the Morro Castle.

The American loss was very slight. The loss in the Spanish lines is unknown. A general fight is expected tomorrow.

The Norwegian freighter Bratton was captured this morning laden with supplies for Gen. Linardes.

NO ASSAULT.

Sec. Alger Says City Will Be Forced to Surrender by Bombardment.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 11, 1:32 p. m—While nothing definite has been received here regarding today's bombardment of Santiago, the War Department officials believe that a general attack is taking place.

Secretary Alger, of the War Department, announced this morning that it was not the intention of the American forces to make an assault but to bombard the city, trying to force a surrender that way.

The plan is to have continuous firing all day and also to strengthen the American lines so as to prevent an attempt at any sorties by Gen Toral.

Such a course will prevent the large loss of life that would surely follow an assault. Secretary Alger states that he is sure that only the bombardment is taking place today.

WOUNDED IN DANGER.

Hospital Train In Rear End Collision—No One Injured In Wreck.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 11, 12:35 p. m—The hospital train from Tampa to Atlanta, bearing the wounded troops from Santiago, arrived at the Highlands this morning where a rear end collision took place.

Another train ran into the hospital train. No injuries are reported, however. Several cars were derailed and the occupants shaken up.

SPANISH TREASURE.

The Americans Have Found Much Coin in the Spanish Ships.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

With the American fleet off Santiago, July 10, via despatch boat to Kingston, Jamaica, July 11, 2 p. m.—Nothing has been done with the bodies of the Spanish killed in the great naval battle. Some are floating about in the currents and others are beached.

The bodies of the Spanish gunners still lie in the ashes of the wrecks of Spanish warships.

Much coin has been recovered from the wreck of the Spanish cruiser Infanta Maria Teresa. The Spanish flag-ship turned over to Sampson over 30,000 silver pesetas.

LEADERS DISAGREE.

A Report That There Is Great Friction Between Sampson and Schley.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Siboney, July 8, via despatch boat to Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 11, 1:20 p. m—The friction between Rear Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley is becoming more intense daily. It reached a climax on the day of the battle of Santiago.

As soon as the Spanish flagship, Cristobol Colon, had been beached, Schley signalled to the flagship, "I claim the capture."

The same evening, he sent an officer on shore to cable to the home government a report of the capture. Sampson, hearing of this, sent another officer ashore with orders to absolutely prohibit the sending of any message save his own.

Sampson has cabled for wreckers to raise the Colon if possible. It is thought that the Spanish flagship can be saved.

AT LAW OVER 75 CENTS; JURY WILL COST $4.75.

A DISPUTE ABOUT AN OIL STOVE.

One Man Claims That it Was Given to Him and the Other Says it Was Only Lent.

An interesting case and one that will be fought to the finish will take up the time of Justice Mosher and a jury tomorrow afternoon. The case is that of Wm. Banks, a butcher, and Augustus Hoagland, who at one time worked for him.

The suit was brought over an old oil stove, that is probably worth 75 cents. Hoagland claims Banks gave the stove to him, but the other says not, and claims that Hoagland has refused to return it. Hoagland has called a jury, and the venire was is sued this morning. The jury alone will cost $4.25, not taking into consideration the other costs of the suit.

TO REOPEN CAMP VOORHEES.

The Fourth New Jersey Regiment to Begin Mobilizing There Tomorrow.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, N. J., July 11.—Camp Voorhees, at Sea Girt, which was depopulated Friday afternoon, will begin to fill up again tomorrow, when the Fourth Regiment of Volunteers will begin to mobilize. Captains Bailey, Whitehead and Rogers received instructions yesterday to report Tuesday with their men. Surgeon Field has examined and passed over 200 men, of whom about 136 had signed the roll in Bailey's company. The surplus will join Captain Whitehead's company.

There are sixty men at Asbury Park who want to join the same company. Surgeon Field examined them this morning, and this afternoon he will come to Trenton and finish the work here. Surgeons Mecray and Broderick have been busy since Friday examining men at Jersey City, Camden and Woodbury, and the entire regiment will be in camp by the middle of the week

The Governor will appoint a board of officers today to examine the applicants for commissions in the new regiment.

There is a report here that the Third Regiment, now doing guard duty at Pompton Lakes, Sandy Hook and Fort Wadsworth, is to be sent to the front and that the new regiment will be sent to do guard duty at the points named.

Death of Mrs. Hand.

Yesterday morning occurred the death of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hand, of 323 East Front street. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house. Interment will be in the family plot at Scotch Plains. Mrs. Hand made her home with her brother, J. E Flannery. She leaves a son, Edward L. Hand, who keeps a hotel at Scotch Plains. The deceased was born in England, and came to this country 25 years ago. She had been an invalid for some time, and her death was looked for. Her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Flannery, was with her at the end. Mrs. Hand was 50 years old.

Thanked for Flowers

Rev. J. W. Richardson, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, read a letter yesterday morning from Dr. Judson, of the Judson Memorial church, of New York, in which the Doctor thanked the members of the Christian Endeavor Society for the basket of flowers which have been sent to the mission connected with that church during the hot weather, and telling how much the flowers were appreciated by the poor among whom they were distributed.

Again Teaching the Good Word.

The many friends of John Hull, of Grove street, will be pleased to learn that he has again resumed teaching at the First Baptist church Sunday-school. He has taken G. H. Batchelor's class of men. Mr. Batchelor is now acting superintendent and will hold that position until fall when the annual election of the Sunday-school will be held.

A Dangerous Spot.

At the corner of Park place and Grove street there is a dangerous spot where a serious accident will occur some day. The drain pipe that crosses the street at that point projects out of the ground and in case a cyclist should strike the piece of iron at night it would cause severe injury.

The Chief Takes a Fall.

Chief Grant, while riding his wheel along North avenue this morning, collided with one of Smalley Brothers' butcher wagons. The Chief took a tumble, but was none the worse for the fall.

New Choir Member.

George Graves, of Liberty street, was a valuable acquisition to the choir of the First Baptist church, yesterday. He sings bass and assisted materially in the singing.

TESTIMONY EXCITED HIM

"I'LL F X YOU" CRIED ONE WITNESS TO ANOTHER IN COREY CASE.

J. D. Bremmer, of the Borough, Was Unduly Disturbed by What Joseph Gavin Recited in Court of Chancery.

"I'll fix you!" "I'll fix you!" cried the witness for the plaintiff, and, it is alleged, he shook his fist violently under the nose of the defendent's witness. As a result of this unusual little incident that occurred during the noon intermission in the Court of Chancery at Newark Friday, during the hearing in the Corey divorce case, the indignant witness for the plaintiff, J. D. Bremmer, of the borough, nearly landed behind the bars.

Friday was the day set for the continuation of the hearing in the case before Advisory Master Washington B. Williams. In the morning, Joseph Gavin, of Mountain avenue, North Plainfield, appeared as a witness for the defendent, Mrs. Corey. His testimoney was considered of considerable value.

The noon recess was begun and Gavin walked to the back of the court room, where he encountered Bremmer. Now Gavin says, and Bremmer does not deny it, that Bremmer called aloud that he would fix him and that he shook his fist under his nose. Gavin told his attorneys, Codington & Swackhamer, and they immediately spoke to the Advisory Master.

Bremmer was summoned before the Court. He was told that it was the duty of the Court to protect its witnesses, and when he interfered with the Court he rendered himself liable to a visit behind the bars. Bremmer tried to explain that he meant he would "fix" Gavin in only a figurative way by the testimony that he would give later, but the Court was not inclined to see the matter in that light.

After a stern admonition to have nothing to say in the future to any of the other witnesses, the Court finally dismissed Bremmer.

EXTRA SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE WANTED.

GOV. VOORHEES NOT HEARD FROM.

Newark Wants Authority to Raise Money to Help Needy Soldiers' Families.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, July 11.—Major Seymour has received no reply as yet from Governor Voorhees in response to his request that a special session of the Legislature be called for the purpose of authorizing municipalities to raise funds for the proper care of the needy families of soldiers and sailors. The Mayor said he had reason to hope that Governor Voorhees would convene the Legislature, inasmuch as Governor Black has called a special session of the New York Legislature for a similar purpose.

Gov. Voorhees has heretofore expressed himself as averse to calling a special session of the Legislature unless such a course was shown to be an absolute necessity. Recently, when money was needed to pay the volunteers, Gov. Voorhees, rather than convene the Legislature to raise funds, made arrangements to borrow money from Trenton bankers.

His aversion to a special session arises from the fact that the Legislature once convened can remain in session at its pleasure and transact business of all kinds. If, on the other hand, the work of a special session could be restricted to the object for which it was called, the Governor has said he would have less hesitancy in calling the legislators together.

Some of his advisers say that when he would borrow money for the State in anticipation of having it repaid by the next Legislature in regular session, that it is not probable he would consent to call an extra session for the benefit of Newark alone.

It is more probable, they assume, that he would suggest to Mayor Seymour to borrow the money without authority and have the act legalized by the next session of the Legislature.

His Last Sermon Till Fall.

After the sermon by Rev. J. W. Richardson at the Park Avenue Baptist church last night, the choir stood and sang very sweetly the hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." That was Mr. Richardson's last sermon until fall.

Ben. LaVere, the leader of the Queen City Band, says that if the people of Plainfield want open-air concerts in the City Park they must erect a band-stand at that place.

Where Politicians Gather.

The National convention of Republican League Clubs will be held at Omaha this week. A number of Republican delegations from New Jersey are in attendance.

DRIVING ROD BROKE ON ROYAL BLUE LINER.

THE TRAIN WAS RUNNING SLOWLY.

Broken Piece Crashed The Cab, But Unfortunately No Serious Damage Resulted.

The Royal Blue Line express train, which passes through this city at 12:10 noon, was delayed near the Fanwood station today for over an hour by the breaking of a driving rod on the left side of the engine. After considerable work the broken pieces of the rod were taken off and the train proceeded on its way with only one driving rod. Another engine was procured at Dunellen.

The train was running very slowly at the time and the broken ends of the rod did not do any damage except to break through the floor of the cab. Had the train been running at full speed, and the fireman been sitting at his place on the left side of the cab, he would have probably been killed and a terrible accident resulted.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION.

The Young Christians to Meet at Saratoga Springs This Week.

The annual convention of the Epworth League, which is to be held in Saratoga, July 14th to 18th, promises to be one of the most largely attended and productive gatherings ever held for the benefit of young people by the Second General Conference District of the Methodist Episcopal church. In this district, which comprises the New York, New York East, Troy, New Jersey, Newark, Delaware and Wilmington conferences, the League has a constituency of 125,000 members. Every church has a chapter the League and each is entitled to one delegate besides the pastor in the coming convention. An excellent programme has been prepared, with addresses by prominent speakers and also reports and discussions on all phases of League work by popular leaders. To afford leaguers and their friends an opportunity to attend the convention at nominal cost, an excursion will leave foot of Franklin street, New York, Thursday morning, (July 14th,) at 10 a. m. Lunch will be served en route and $10 will cover all expenses from New York for the entire four days.

There will also be side trips to Lake George, Saratoga Lake and other places of interest.

Plainfield leaguers should plan to meet the special train which leaves New York Thursday morning.

Tickets may be had of F. L. Foster, 727 Manhattan avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., or at West Shore R. R. office in New York.

Death of John R. Wyckoff.

The death of John R. Wyckoff, son of the late Peter Wyckoff, of West Fourth street, occurred at Jersey City, last Saturday, after a long illness with asthma. Mr. Wyckoff was formerly a resident of this city, and he has many friends here who will be shocked to learn of his death. He was fifty-three years of age and he leaves a wife. The funeral services will be held from the late residence, 361 Fourth street, Jersey City, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Howard Bennett No. Hurt

The parents of Howard E. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bennett, of the borough, wish to deny the report that has been circulated about their son being shot at Santiago. His regiment, the Ninth, of New York, is still stationed at Chickamauga Park, Ga., and the parents received a letter from that place from their son Saturday. He writes that he is in good health and enjoying camp life.

The Right Sort of Employers.

Friday night was a gala night for the employees of Hahne & Company's palace stores, in Newark, for on that night their employers gave a trolley party to which were invited all clerks. Twenty cars were provided, and the parties rode to Bergen Point were a claim bake was prepared for them. Two bands were with the party, and the cars were gaily decorated with banners and ribbons.

Dislocated His Shoulder Blade.

Last Saturday afternoon while William J. Collins, of Brooklyn, was hurrying up the steps at the North Avenue station, he slipped and fell with the result of dislocating his shoulder blade. He was assisted by friends to the home of Dr. Endicott where the bone was set. Later Mr. Collins was able to return to his home.

An Early Morning Bath.

Alfred B. Marsh, of Plainfield avenue, was treated to an involuntary bath this morning in Green brook. He was paddling his canoe around in the brook when the frail shell upset, and landed him in the water. He was not hurt, but thoroughly wet through.

Justice Mosher, who was taken ill in his office Friday, is able to be out again, although very weak.

A DAY OF THANKSGIVING.

Sentiment of President's Proclamation Echoed in Churches.

IN PRAYER AND PRAISE.

Local Pastors All Unite in Giving Thanks For Successes of Our Victorious Army and Navy—Prayers Were Made for the Restoration of Peace.

A thanksgiving service was held at the First Baptist church yesterday morning and was attended by a large congregation. The musical part of the service consisted of a soprano solo by Miss Harris and a duet by Mrs. Ward and Mr. Taylor, and were in keeping with the spirit of the service. Rev. Dr. Yerkes, pastor, gave an impressive talk on thanksgiving in accordance with President McKinley's proclamation. He praised the President for his expression of Christianity at such a time as this. He recited the many important incidents in connection with the present war and showed plainly how God is leading the American navy and army forward to success. He urged all to be thankful and to praise God for His wonderful goodness. In speaking about the disposition of the Island of Cuba, he said, that the people of that island should not be allowed to control it, as they are wholly unfit to do so. He also spoke of the glorious opportunity that will be opened to the missionaries of the world to do a grand work in the newly acquired lands.

There was a very large attendance at the Trinity church yesterday morning, when a service in harmony with the recent proclamation issued by President McKinley was held. The American flag was draped attractively over the pulpit, and everything about the service was of a praise and thanksgiving nature. The pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., and the congregation read responsively Psalms 116 and 111, and the Scripture lesson as read by Pastor Schenck was Psalms 124, 135 and 145 The hymns sung during the service were all of a thanksgiving order. The pastor's sermon was from Psalms 98 1, and was full of praise for the valiant navy and army of the United States, and of thanksgiving to God for the way he is leading this Nation in the present conflict. He said all should thank God for a Christian President and Christian leaders, both in the army and navy. At the close of the service Rev. Mr. Todd, of Dunellen, offered a fervent prayer.

Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, took President McKinley's proclamation as the subject of his sermon yesterday morning, and preached a discourse in which he held up to the eyes of his congregation that God is with this land in their war with Spain. Mr. Herring first read the entire proclamation, then chose his text from the prophecy of Hosea, 1st chapter, 5th verse.

Mr. Herring said that there were two things in the proclamation that we ought to observe; first, to give thanks for what God has done; second, to pray for restored peace. Mr. Herring spoke of the action of Captain Phillips of the Texas in publicly acknowledging that he believed in God, and said that only because God is with us, are we able to wage war so successfully with the enemy.

A patriotic service was held yesterday morning in the Congregational church. President McKinley's Thanksgiving Proclamation, issued last week, was read by the pastor, Rev. Charles Lyman Goodrich, after which the Long-Meter Doxology and the last verse of America were sung and prayer was offered. The sermon was patriotic in tone, and unusually strong and impressive. After the benediction, the congregation rose, and stood while the organist, Mrs. B. T. Barnes, played "The Star Spangled Banner." An American flag was appropriately draped over the piano.

A large and interesting congregation was present at the Church of the Holy Cross, yesterday morning, in response to the President's proclamation which was read in the church and formed exclusively the basis of a powerfully patriotic and most excellent address from the rector, Rev. T. Logan Murphy. Special prayers and lessons were excellently rendered. All present felt the enthusiasm of patriotism from this most interesting service.

The day of thanksgiving, as appointed by President McKinley in a proclamation issued last week, was observed in the First M. E. church yesterday morning. The President's proclamation was read by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, during the morning service and was followed by an earnest prayer of thanksgiving along the lines suggested by the Chief Executive of the nation.

At the Crescent Avenue church yesterday morning, the pastor, Rev. Dr. D. Richards, read the President's proclamation and preached a special sermon upon the times, using as his subject the hand writing on the wall.

A special prayer was offered in the Park Avenue Baptist church yesterday morning for the success of our army and navy in Cuba.

A WORTHLESS CLEW.

No Trace of George Scherer, Who Mysteriously Disappeared Recently.

About four weeks ago, George Scherer, of Somerset street, left town very unceremoniously. He also left his tailoring business, wife and family. Since that time nothing has been heard of him In the meantime Mrs. Scherer has been endeavoring to learn of her husband's whereabouts, but without success. Saturday she heard that he was locked up in New York. She informed Chief Marshal Wilson, of the borough, and asked him to find out whether the report was true. The officer telephone to New York this morning and was told that no one by that name was in confinement in the city. The search will be continued for the missing husband until he is found.

NEW YORK LAWYER WAS MAD.

He Accused Chief Grant of Not Enforcing the Law in All Cases Alike.

A New York lawyer accused Chief Grant, of the police force, with partiality this morning at the depot, because the chief had not ordered his officers to arrest certain people who, this lawyer said, were continually riding on the sidewalk on Stelle avenue. The lawyer lives on that avenue, and has been warned by the police that if he persists in taking the sidewalk in preference to the road hereafter, he will be ordered to appear before the City Judge. Some high words were flung back and forth, much to the amusement of the commuters.

STRIVING FOR PEACE

Many Foreign Powers Trying to End the Hostilities.

SPAIN MUST ASK TO OBTAIN

Madrid Begins to See That a Continuation of War Means Deeper Disaster. Foreign Governments Are Trying to Induce Spain to Give Up the Hopeless Struggle. It is Unofficialy Announced That Peace Overtures Have Already Been Made.

London, July 11.—Dispatches from every continental capital note that strong, united pressure is being exerted to bring about peace.

Even the Madrid cabinet, it is announced, is beginning to realize that the losses and dangers involved in a continuance of the war will be greater, even if more remote, than if there is an immediate acceptance of the desperate situation.

In diplomatic and ministerial quarters here it is asserted that the German government is the only one whose representations to the Madrid cabinet during the past two days have not been marked by unreserved urgency. This attitude of Germany is ascribed to a fear that the developments in the Philippines would not be sufficiently advanced if peace should be concluded now to afford a pretext for the executing of the designs generally attributed to her in respect to those islands.

The British foreign office fully expects that Spain will ask France to act for her and that the preliminary negotiations for peace will be conducted through Paris. This information is understood to emanate from Sir Edmund Monson, the British ambassador at Paris.

The ministers here do not conceal their desire for peace, but it was averred in the best informed quarters that no definitt proposal has been made yet owing to the vacillation of the Madrid cabinet, and the failure of all efforts to induce the Spanish opposition parties and military leaders to take a patriotic instead of a partisan view of the situation.

Washington, July 11.—The United States ambassadors at both Paris and London have informed the secretary of state that Spain has made overtures for peace. This notice has come unofficially, but is none the less authentic.

Ambassador Porter cabled from Paris that within a week a definite peace proposition would be made.

Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador here, has had several conferences with Secretary Day, and it is confidently asserted that the Spanish government has made a plea of peace through him.

The statement from Madrid that the British ambassador there, Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, had been asked by high Spanish officials to intercede with our government, is fully borne out by events. Sir Henry is known to have sent several lengthy communications to Sir Julian Pauncefote, who is supposed to have conveyed them to the state department.

Sir Julian has assured Secretary Day that the ambassadors of England stand ready to unofficially treat with the two nations in all peace negotiations.

This, however, is not what the administration wants. The only way Spain can obtain peace is to sue for it herself.

The impression prevails in Spain that Santiago can withstand the American attack, and that if it does Spain can obtain very favorable terms in case of surrender.

Spain expects the United States to be very magnanimous when the time for arranging terms of peace arrives, but the openly expressed opinion here is that not an inch of captured territory will ever return to Spanish rule.

Rev. Dr. Rooker, secretary to Mgr. Martinelli, papal delegate to the United States, denies in emphatic terms that the pope has sent any request for peace to the president. The pope desires peace only as any other good man does, says Dr. Rooker, but he has no intention of interfering in the war.

Camara's Return Trip.

Suez, July 10.—The entire Spanish fleet was in the canal before nine o'clock Saturday morning. The San Francisco, the Ignazo Loyola, the Colon and the Isla de Panay entered the canal at 11 o'clock Friday night in the above order, and the remaining ships, with the flagship Pelayo bringing up the rear, entered the canal Saturday morning. All are proceeding toward Port Said, where the first division will, upon its arrival there await the Rapido, the Colon, the Patriota, the Buenos Ayres, the Carlos V and the Pelayo, which are due at Port Said to-day.

Gen. Miles and Troops for Cuba.

Charleston, S. C., July 11.—The transports Yale and Columbia, having on board the commanding general of the army, Nelson A. Miles, and staff and 1,700 men, intended as reinforcements for General Shafter before Santiago, got away at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

General Miles and staff are on the Yale. With him was the Sixth Massachusetts, Colonel Woodward, and a battalion of the Sixth Illinois was on the Columbia.

To Hunt Tigers in India.

London, July 11.—From Paris comes a report that Mme. Sarah Bernhardt has accepted an invitation from the Maharajah of Kapurthala to visit India. Prince Jayatilsing includes a tiger hunt among the fetes which he intends to give to the actress.

Madame's fondness for tigers is well known. She used to keep a young one as a domestic pet.

Telephone Company to Pay the Tax.

Boston, July 11.—The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, at a special meeting held to consider the revenue tax as affecting telephone messages, has voted that, until otherwise ordered by the board, the company will assume and pay the tax upon toll messages and conversation over its lines, to be assessed under the act of Congress.

CERVERA ARRIVES AS A PRISONER

Will Be Treated Courteously in Remembrance of His Kindness to Hobson.

Washington, July 10.—The St. Louis was sighted yesterday of Portsmouth, N. H.

Admiral Cervera, with about 40 of his officers and 800 of his men, are on board. It is understood here that the Spanish officers will be kept in Annapolis and the men at Fort Constitution, on Seavey island, just near there.

Captain Bartlett, chief of the intelligence office, was much gratified that the St. Louis had been sighted so promptly. He said she had never been lost sight of from the time she came within range of our shores.

Every one at the Naval Academy is imbued with the sentiment that the Spanish officers to be sent to Annapolis should be treated not simply as prisoners of war but as guests of the nation, and all the preparations made for their reception are in this spirit.

Captain Philip H. Cooper, superintendent of the Naval Academy, said:

"All that I know about the matter is, I have received an order from Washington to make ready for the reception of eighty Spanish officers captured. While I have received no positive instructions yet from Washington on the subject, the Academy will hereafter be a military prison, and the good people of Annapolis will have to accommodate themselves to it. It would not do to throw the academy open to the public so that these unfortunate officers be made objects of unpleasant scrutiny, for they have suffered enough already."

Captain Cooper stated that 40 officers would arrive on Monday and forty more in a week. As soon as the notice was received by the superintendent that the Spanish officers would be sent here he gave orders to have cadets' lower quarters prepared for their reception.

These buildings are known as Stribbling row, and lie in the southeastern section of the Academy, between the old mess hall and the gymnasium. The row consists of nine buildings, but only Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 7 and 8 will be occupied by the prisoners. Nos. 2, 3 and 4 are two-story buildings, with basements; the others are three stories. Nos. 7 and 8 will be occupied by officers of high rank and the junior officers will have the other buildings. These quarters are used by the cadets and bachelor officers and professors when the Academy is in session.

The prisoners will be under the patrol of a marine guard of forty. For the present their commissary will be Thomas Evans, steward. Paymaster Loomis, who was ordered away this week to Portsmouth as commissary for the prisoners there, is expected to return here and assume the management of the food supply of the Spanish officers.

Among those who recently occupied these quarters are Assistant Naval Constructor Hobson, Lieutenant Blue and Cadets Powell and Hart. Mr. Hobson's apartments adjoin the Spanish quarters, and as head of the department of naval construction he has much valuable naval data there. The head carpenter of the academy will, under orders, securely nail up the apartment.

THE HAWAIIAN COMMISSIONERS

They Will Draw Up Laws for Government of the Island.

Washington, July 11.—The president has selected five commissioners who, under the provisions of the act of Congress, extending American sovereignty over Hawaii, are to visit the Hawaiian islands and draw up for the guidance of Congress a scheme of laws for the government of the latest territorial addition to the Union. The commissioners are as follows:

Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois.

Senator John T. Morgan of Alabama.

Representative Robert R. Hitt of Illinois.

President Sanford B. Dole of Hawaii.

Justice W. F. Frear of Hawaii.

The president had intended to have Senator Davis, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Senate, serve as head of the commission, but other engagements, personal and professional, made it impossible for Mr. Davis to make a trip to Hawaii this summer. Mr. Hitt was also reluctant to accept a place as commissioner, but finally yielded to the president's urgent desire that he should give to the administration the benefit of his experience in drawing up a scheme of government for the annexed islands. It is understood that the three commissioners chosen from Congress will start for Honolulu about the end of the month. Their report will not be submitted to Congress until next December.

PLENTY OF FOOD.

If Rations Have Been Reduced It Is Because of Difficulty in Transportation.

Washington, July 11.—"The story printed this morning to the effect that our troops were limited to half rations may be true," said Commissary General Eagan yesterday, "but General Shafter has four months' supply of provisions on the beach.

"This, however," he continued, "has to be carried fifteen miles to the lines and spread over five miles of soldiers investing the city. This is incident to every investing army," General Eagan added.

"There is plenty of food there for the army and for all the refugees besides. Besides these supplies the Port Victor will leave New York to-morrow with 2,000 tons of stuff for Cuba. This will not be fed to the army, but will be distributed by the general commanding according to the provisions of the act giving relief to the reconcentrados and other suffering cubans.

"The Port Victor will stop on the way to Tampa to take on 200,000 pounds of refrigerated beef, space for which has been reserved. The first cargo of refrigerated beef, 200,000 pounds, leaves Tampa to-day on the Mohawk. This supply is estimated to last the army four or five days and is intended only for the army."

Subscription to New Bonds.

Washington, July 11.—The subscriptions to the new war bonds up to Saturday aggregated $390,035,000. Of this amount $59,035,000 is in sums of $500 or under, and $351,000,000 above that amount. The subscriptions will close next Thursday, July 14, at 3 o'clock.

BOMBARDMENT HAS BEGUN

Sampson and Shafter Turned Their Guns on Santiago Soon After Noon, Sunday.

Washington, July 11.—The bombardment of Santiago by the artillery of General Shafter and the great guns of Sampson's fleet began shortly after noon Sunday.

General Linares, after lengthy communication with Madrid, refused to surrender unconditionally, and, like Cervera, decided to make a desperate, but hopeless, fight before raising the white flag.

He cannot long withstand the terrific double fire.

From the sea the giant guns of the ships are dropping shot and shell over Morro and the hills into the doomed city, while Shafter, reinforced by six batteries of artillery and with seven heavy siege guns impregnably placed, is sweeping the city that lies below him. Shafter has 24,000 men besides the Cuban auxiliaries, numbering about 6,000.

It is expected here that surrender is only a question of a very short time.

The following telegram was received from General Shafter yesterday afternoon:

Playa del Este, July 10.

I have just received a letter from General Toral declining unconditional surrender. Bombardment by army and navy began this afternoon.

Reinforcements Arrive.

Washington, July 11.—The war department has posted these bulletins of dispatches received last evening:

Siboney, Cuba, July 10.

Adjutant General, Washington:

The St. Paul has just arrived with General Henry and his command and quartermaster's stores.

HUMPHRIES.

Siboney, Cuba, July 10.

Adjutant General, Washington:

The Catania has just arrived with the First District of Columbia volunteers.

HUMPHRIES.

General Henry and staff sailed from New York on the St. Paul last week with the Eighth Ohio and General Ames, in all 1,200 men.

The Catania sailed from Tampa on July 2 with the First District of Columbia.

There probably has been landed by this time 3,400 of General Snider's brigade, which sailed from Tampa. The six companies of light artillery were in position at the end of the truce. These reinforcements number 5,800. Gen. Miles, with the Sixth Massachusetts and a battalion of the Sixth Illinois, on the St. Paul and Columbia, are due to land on Tuesday morning, making a total reinforcement of 7,500.

SHIPS MAY BE SAVED.

A Part of the Wrecked Spanish Fleet May Yet Grace Our Navy.

Washington, July 11.—Rear Admiral Sampson has had some of his experts examine the ships of Admiral Cervera's vanquished squadron, as they lie beached, and the report is encouraging to the authorities, who are pleased particularly with the prospects of recovering some of these vessels and adding them to the American navy.

The department had already arranged with the Merritt-Chapman Wrecking Company to undertake the salvage of these ships.

CRUELEST KING OF MODERN TIMES.

He Caused Every White Man Who Entered His City to be Killed.

The most bloodthirsty villian unhung is the king of Benin, in Africa. He used to slaughter his subjects daily, for amusement, but when he massacred a party of unarmed British negotiators, his reign ended.

His palace was partly built of human bones, and surrounded with countless numbers of them. The British sent an expedition to Benim and annexed the country and the palace.

This king has been responsible for more needless bloodshed and sheer cruelty than any other savage living. Benin, his capital city, deserves well the title bestowed on it of "The City of Blood." Happily, this ghoul is no longer at large. He is in the hands of the British officials on the Gold Coast.

The British take a great deal of credit to themselves for putting an end to the brutal reign of the king of Benin. Probably they had more moral justification in this case of an attack on a native state than is usual.

Benin, the city, is an extremely interesting place in a gruesome way. No white man had ever been there and left it alive, before the British expedition went. The king's palace was approached by an avenue of poles, on the top of which were skulls. The doorway was made of human leg bones.

Flies are very numerous in Benin. The king had a rooted aversion to them. Unlike most of his subjects, he wore a garment that covered the whole of his body, except his face and hands. Two slaves were always on guard with fans to keep flies away from his majesty. If a fly succeeded in alighting on an exposed part of his majesty's person, the two slaves were executed on the spot.

FOR PORTO RICO QUICK

Ships Will Reduce Fortifications and Make Way for Troops.

MILES TO BE IN COMMAND

Administration Takes Steps to Land an Expedition Earlier Than at First Planned. Fall of Santiago Will be the Signal for the Troops to Sail. The Regular Troops Will Compose the Invading Force Largely.

Washington, July 11.—It is absolutely certain that, at the present time, the administration is counting upon the almost immediate fall of Santiago, this to be followed at once by the going of General Miles, with the later volunteer troops that have been sent to Santiago, to Porto Rico.

Immediately after the fall of Santiago General Shafter and the greater part of his army that he has had in Cuba will be left in Santiago province, while General Miles, with the recent reinforcements and some of the regulars will go to Porto Rico.

In a quiet way the war department for more than a week has been busy getting together "rush matter" on Porto Rico for the information of the generals and staff officers who know they are soon to go to Porto Rico. Many telegrams have come to the war department in the last few days from them asking for more information as to Porto Rico, and information has been sent to them without delay to Charleston, whence the geater part of the earlier Porto Rican expedition will sail.

These reinforcements will include the Eighth Ohio, which went from New York in the St. Paul, and the other two regiments of Garretson's brigade, the Sixth Illinois and the Sixth Massachusetts. Those that start after the fall of Santiago will probably go directly to Porto Rico. General Miles will go with the others from Santiago.

Admiral Sampson will have in his squadron, besides protected cruisers, the Iowa, Texas, Indiana, Brooklyn and New York. The Massachusetts had been included, but this has been changed. The fleet of Admiral Sampson is expected to blockade the island completely and to make way for landing the army at a point not yet ascertained, probably on the northern side of the island, west of San Juan.

It is thought that the Spanish army in the province of Santiago de Cuba will have become so exhausted by the time of the fall of the city that peace may be maintained by the volunteers.

General Miles will therefore put his main dependence upon United States regulars, to whom, he said, belonged the greater part of the glory achieved by the army before Santiago. General Miles considered the fighting there practically a test of the regular army and did not seem to consider seriously the volunteers in connection with the safe work of regular United States troops.

Before leaving for the front General Miles, speaking of the performance of the regular army before Santiago, remarked

"I was proud of the courage with which they bore the hardships of the heat and rain, and of the unflinching way in which they behaved all along the line.

"There is not a finer body of men either for marksmanship or otherwise, in Germany, France, Russia or England than our little regular army."

After complimenting General Shafter, he counted over on his fingers the names of the brigade commanders and said it was the work of the "army" caused Admiral Cervera to decide to leave the harbor. He used the word "army" all through his conversation in the sense of the United States regulars, but would not be drawn into any sharp invidious comparisons of the regulars with the volunteers before Santiago.

He went further in a warmer strain, saying what concern he felt when they were taken off in transports; what pains he took to make their journey easy and what uneasiness he felt lest a storm might force them below decks. Then it was, he said, he wished to go with them, and asked permission, but was ordered back.

SUFFERING AMONG REFUGEES

Women at El Caney Who Have Plenty of Money Are Found Starving.

Siboney, Cuba, July 9, via Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 10.—The heartrending scenes at El Caney make the army wild at the prolongation of the armistice.

The shooting of spies in our uniform and also of guerillas has had a good effect.

Women are picked up nearly starved who have large sums of money on them. One woman had seven hundred dollars.

Captain McCalla is feeding seven thousand refugees from Guantanamo.

Nicholas Fish has arrived to see if he could take home the body of his son.

The Resolute took off four hundred prisoners from the Harvard and proceeded to Charleston.

Coal is running short in the fleet.

Commodore Schley's report to Admiral Sampson on the destruction of Cervera's fleet says Captain Clark of the Brooklyn and Captain Phillip of the Texas did magnificent work, and the terrible fire from the Texas, Iowa and Oregon wrecked the first ships.

"Of the Brooklyn's splendid work and the crew's gallant conduct I cannot say too much."

The Chinese Rebellion

Canton, July 11.—The rebels have captured Mening and Tienpak and now are surrounding Wu-Chuenh-Sien, in Kwang-Tung. Many of the internal revenue officers have been killed.

The situation at Woo-chow is critical. A great exodus of the wealthy natives is taking place.

Fanny Davenport No Worse.

Duxbury, Mass., July 11.—A telegram from Melbourne Hall states that Mrs. Melbourne McDowell (Fanny Davenport) had passed a quiet day and was resting easily. There are strong hopes entertained for her recovery.

TO TAKE CARE OF CAMARA.

One Change May Be Made Because of Injuries the Iowa Received in Battle.

Washington, July 11.—The navy department has not decided to increase the number of Commodore Watson's ships, as has been reported, as it is felt that the list already announced is ample to take care of Admiral Camara's squadron, now returning hastily to protect the coast of Spain. Camara's only armored ships are the Pelayo, Carlos V, the former of 9,900 and the latter of 9,090 tons. They are outranked in every point by the ships of the American squadron, in armor, armament, speed, sibze and number of guns and general effectiveness.

speed, size and number of guns and a change may have to be made in the Eastern squadron, as the Iowa suffered some hard knocks in the recent naval battle with Cervera's squadron, and it may be necessary to substitute one of the other battleships pending repairs on the Iowa. No decision has been reached thus far, as the department has not received the report showing the exact condition of the ships after the battle.

The interview with Captain Evans of the Iowa leads naval officials to believe that he Iowa will require considerable overhauling before she is ready for a trip across the ocean. According to Captain Evans's story of the battle, the Iowa was struck twice by Spanish shells and one shell exploded while the other is imbedded, unexploded, near the water line of the ship. This last shot may prove troublesome, as an unexploded shell near the water line is not a desirable adjunct to a battleship. From the light manner in which Captain Evans speaks of the damage it is not regarded as serious by the officials here, yet it is probably enough to keep the Iowa from accompanying the Eastern squadron to the coast of Spain. A decision as to whether she will be withdrawn will not be made until the report is received on the condition of the ship.

Either the Massachusetts or the Indiana will be substituted for the Iowa if it be found necessary to make a change. Either of them is as formidable as the Iowa. Their four large guns are of the 13-inch type, while those of the Iowa are 12-inch. In other respects their batteries are similar to the Iowa's. They are commonly regarded as rather better seagoing ships than the Iowa.

Guantanamo Starving.

Port Antonio, July 11. Advices received by Commander McCalla of the Marblehead from the city of Guantanamo show that the deaths from starvation there average fifteen daily.

General Perez, the commander of Guantanamo, has given up hope of succor, and the town could be readily taken were it worth while to risk the lives of the American troops. The entrance from the upper to the lower bay is patrolled nightly by steam launches. The gunboats in the upper bay have not shown themselves for several days.

Post Captain Fernandez of Baracoa, with three officers, was captured by Commander McCalla as they ran into this harbor for news. They did not use the American flag until too late.

Thousands of Cubans, some estimates placing the number at 20,000, are being fed at the camp on the west side of the harbor with supplies furnished by the Red Cross.

The health of the marines at Guantanamo is good, but the same cannot be said of those at Baiquiri, where 40 per cent. of the 100 men stationed there are reported sick, suffering from low fevers.

On July 5 ninety Spaniards appeared on the hills west of Baiquiri and opened fire. The gunboat Manning replied vigorously and her shells soon silenced and drove away the enemy.

Typhoid Cases at Chickamauga

New York, July 11.—Reports to the Red Cross in this city from Chickamauga say that there are many cases of typhoid fever among the men. There are 229 patients in the Second division, Third corps, hospital, and the majority of them are suffering from fever. There are 150 cases in the Leiter hospital and those in charge expect that the number will increase to 300. Elias Charles Smith, the Red Cross agent at that place, has asked for permission to increase the supply of ice and fresh milk. He has also ordered more medical supplies.

Don Cameron Offers an Island.

Washington, July 11.—Former Senator Donald Cameron, who is now in London, has cabled to Secretary Long offering the government the free use for hospital purposes of his magnificent estate on St. Helena island, opposite Port Royal, S. C.

The secretary has acknowledged "your very patriotic offer" and has notified Senator Cameron that the propriety of acceptance has been left to the surgeon general of the navy.

The property is admirably situated and is convenient to the Port Royal naval station.

Official Report of Casualties.

Washington, July 11.—The war department has received this dispatch from General Shafter:

Playa del Este, July 9.
Camp near Santiago, July 8.
Adjutant General, Washington:

Complete report received to-day of loss on July 1 and 2. Killed, 22 officers, 208 enlisted men; wounded, 81 officers, 1,203 enlisted men; missing, 79 enlisted men. The reports giving the names of the killed and wounded are being rapidly prepared and it is hoped to get them off to-morrow.

SHAFTER.

A London Wedding.

London, July 11.—Captain J. S. Ewart of the Cameron Highlanders Saturday afternoon married Miss Moller, a daughter of Christopher Moller of New York. The ceremony took place in St. George's, Hanover square. Mr. Moller gave his daughter away. One of the bridesmaids was the Baroness Adrionne de Gier.

Artillerymen for Shafter.

New York, July 11.—Battery K of the Seventh Artillery, Captain Hamilton, left Willets Point Saturday for Tampa, Fla. They go to reinforce General Shafter, in response to orders from Washington

WITHOUT CONDITIONS

No Other Terms of Surrender Can Be Considered by Shafter.

TROOPS EAGER TO ATTACK

Toral Willing to Surrender but Wants to Keep His Army. This Offer Has Been Rejected, Additional Truce Given to Consider. Shafter Has Been Strengthened by Batteries and Troops.

Washington, July 11.—Unconditional surrender was the president's reply to the Spanish commander's appeals for conditions for the capitulation of Santiago. The ultimatum was sent to General Shafter Saturday afternoon to be delivered at once to the commanding officer of the Spanish forces. Refusal upon his part resulted in General Shafter bombarding the city yesterday afternoon.

The decision sent to General Shafter yesterday was the outcome of numerous communications between him and the president over the wires within the last twelve or fifteen hours. General Shafter reported that the Spaniards had offered to surrender the city if they should be permitted to withdraw with their arms. This he had refused point blank without waiting for instructions from Washington. Then the Spanish commander made another proposition, a modification of the first, but which would authorize the Spanish troops to withdraw to a point in the interior without their arms. This proposal General Shafter transmitted to Washington with the result as above stated.

The military officials here have only a general idea of the plan of campaign which is to be followed if the Americans decide upon bombardment. They assume that Admiral Sampson will begin the attack by an attempt to destroy the fortifications at the mouth of the harbor, and then go in to clear the channel of mines. If he could get his fleet into the harbor he could cut off the escape of the enemy to the southwest.

Nothing Lost by Delay.

It is known that General Shafter has lost nothing by the armistice; his men are rested, the commissary has improved, the roads have been cleared, and his artillery is now almost completely placed in a most effective manner. None of these things existed at the beginning of the armistice. On the other hand the Spanish forces have largely diminished their slender stock of provisions and have steadily lost in confidence.

The war department is advised that Randolph's six batteries of artillery, the District of Columbia regiment, and a regiment of Illinois infantry, which left Tampa several days ago, have reached Santiago.

The department also received information that one 250-ton double deck lighter, one open lighter and a tug had arrived off the southern coast of Cuba for General Shafter's use.

In front of Santiago, Saturday, via Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 11.—General Toral, who commands the garrison in Santiago is rapidly coming to a realization of his desperate position. With compulsory surrender staring him in the face he is sparring to secure the best possible terms.

General Shafter this morning received a letter from Toral virtually proposing the evacuation of Santiago. Of course General Toral attempts to conceal his weakness under a mask of boastful assurance. In his letter he calls attention to the fact that he has been largely reinforced and that the entire garrison is strongly entrenched in a commanding position. He claims he has plenty of ammunition and that the American army cannot take the city by assault except with enormous loss.

He further rubs it in on Shafter by stating that the departure of the refugees has diminished food consumption to such an extent that he can hold out indefinitely.

In view of these conditions General Toral proposes that the Spanish army evacuate Santiago and Santiago de Cuba province unmolested, taking all their cannon, arms, ammunition and standards, and also their sick and wounded. As supporting his claim to be allowed to withdraw, General Toral says the Spanish army is acclimated, while, if compelled to endure the hardships of a prolonged siege, the American troops will certainly suffer from disease.

Toral closes with the statement that he will never surrender the city except on these terms.

After receiving this letter General Shafter was hoisted into a buggy and driven to the front. He sent a reply after consultation with General Wheeler. It is understood that the reply stated bluntly that the only terms were unconditional surrender and that the truce was extended until Monday.

The army will not tolerate a compromise which will allow the Spanish army to escape to swell Blanco's forces at Havana.

Our lines have been extended and the batteries located so that half the entrenchments now occupied by the Spaniards will be untenable ten minutes after we open fire. The army can take Santiago in six hours whenever word is given and the army is anxious to take it. Everybody is fretting under the delay.

Schley and Sampson to Be Promoted.

Washington, July 11.—The president has determined to promote Sampson and Schley, in recognition of their services in the destruction of the Spanish naval fleet in American waters, but is as yet undecided as to the extent of promotion.

Although Sampson ranks Schley in command of the naval forces in Cuban waters, he is subordinate to that officer by two numbers in the naval register. Schley stands No. 8 in the list of commodores and Sampson stands No. 10, having been promoted to the grade of commodore within the last week.

Commodore Watson, also on duty with the fleet at Santiago, is senior to both of the others, standing No. 6 in his grade.

When an official report is received a decision will be reached as to the extent of the promotion made.

A Patriotic Duty.

It is none the less a patriotic duty to care for the needy families left at home by the brave boys at the front than to provide for the armament and support of the soldiers themselves.

There is no doubt but that there are many families throughout the country who have been left in dire straits by reason of the patriotic course of their heads and supporters. By private resources all is being done for these unfortunate families that can be done, but it is not enough

Unfortuuately, however, there is no law at present that permits the use of public money for this purpose, except through the humiliating channel of the town's poormaster. The one who would suggest that dependent families of soldiers should resort to the common pauper's means of getting the necessities of life would be a blot upon our country's reputation for faith and honor in the men who are shedding their life blood to maintain its integrity.

What is needed is a levy upon public funds in a way that will not make the beneficaries feel that they are dependents on charity. The suggesion made by Mayor Seymour, of Newark, for a special session of the Legislature, to be convened for the purpose of empowering municipalities to raise funds for this purpose, was prompted in a spirit viewing such a condition of affairs and striving to relieve them in the best way possible. However, Governor Voorhees' aversion to a special session may prevent taking advantage of this scheme, and communities, in which the stress of soldiers' families is greatest, will have to resort to some other methods to relieve it. Here in Plainfield there are no families, so far as known, who are inconvenienced by the absence of soldiers upon the field of duty, but in towns where companies of National Guards were maintained such cases are frequent.

It is quite within the bounds of proper legislation to provide in some degree for their support when deprived of the earnings that come to them in time of peace.

Yelled Like a Boy.

In the patriotic wind-up of Congress, Representative Fowler, of the Third district, was the enthusiastic member to propose "The Stars and Strips." His cheers were among the loudest and his gestures among the most earnest of hundreds on the floor.

Professor Koch of cholera and tuberculosis fame has just returned from Africa, where he thinks he has made an important discovery about the propagation of malaria. It was suggested by his study of Texas fever in cattle (closely akin to malaria), in which he was led to the proof that the Texas fever was spread through agency of an animal parasite. He found that where there was no malaria there were no mosquitoes, and where the mosquito abounded malaria was always in evidence. This theory, if true, adds a new terror to the pestiferous insect, which flourishes with equal virulence close to the poles and on the equator. But if there is no ground, but mere concidence, the Koch theory can scarcely be accepted. The mosquito breeds in marsh or stagnant pools. Malaria is invariably found under similar conditions, where exhalations steam from damp soil. Similarity of conditions do not necessitate any essential connection between the two. The world will wait for further proofs from the great investigator of germ diseases.

BRIGADIER GENERAL ADNA R. CHAFFEE.

Major General Shafter has some gallant soldiers supporting him as commanders in Cuba. Among them is Brigadier General Adna R. Chaffee, whose brigade is composed of the Ninth Cavalry, companies of the Eighth and Fourth Cavalry and the Seventh, Twelfth and Seventeenth Infantry.

The third Manila expedition carries with it Brigadier General King, better known as Captain Charles King, the novel writer, whose stories of garrison life in the regular army and Indian campaigning had made him the idol of boarding school misses and other fiction devourers. Captain King had thrashed his straw pretty clean. Let us hope General King will fetch back from the Philippines richly laden sheaves of material cut from picturesque oriental fields, out of which his talent will secure a delightful crop.

The advice of Professor Charles Eliot Norton to his Harvard students to leave the fighting to those "ready and eager for the excitement of battle, filled with the old notion that patriotism is best expressed in readiness to fight for our country, be she right or wrong," is the euphemistic way of saying that only "toughs" and "hoodlums" could consistently fight in this war. It is not to be wondered at that Harvard thought it time to put him on the retired list.

Ibsen, the esoteric poet and dramatist of Norway, recently assured a woman's convention in Christiania that the fair sex will find their most splendid field of work in bringing children into the world and training them in the way they should go. He said nothing, though, about Solomon's admonition and the useful slipper. After this Ibsenic encouragement the world will go on in the old fashion with renewed zeal and success.

Women, cats and birds spend most time on their toilets. There is another point of resemblance, too—all three are armed with claws.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

If Mr. Voorhees gets the nomination for Governor he must resign his office as Senator, so as to permit the election of a successor by the voters of Union county. As there is a United States Senatorship at stake, the Republicans cannot afford to take any chances by letting Union county be unrepresented in the joint legislative session. Well, if Mr. Voorhees resigns his Senatorship the office of president of the Senate will go with it, and, according to the Constitution, the Governorship will then fall to Speaker Watkins. In that case, what would happen when the new Legislature organized Jan 11, 1899? Would the Governorship for the ensuing week devolve upon the president of the Senate then elected? If so, New Jersey may enjoy the unprecedented luxury of having during the year ending Jan. 31st, 1899, five Governors—Griggs, Voorhees, Watkins, the president of next year's Senate and the Governor elected in November.—N. Y. Tribune.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

It is not often that Somerville has a chance to crow over Plainfield for leading this city in the line of improvements. There is one little thing that is to be noticed in the Somerset county seat that Plainfield cannot boast of. In front of the principal drug stores there stands a post. On the post is a push button which connects with an electric bell inside. When a customer drives up to the store, it is not necessary for him to leave the carriage or call for a clerk but merely to push the button whereat the clerks do the rest.

Among the improvements to the postal service in Plainfield of late years was the equipment of the letter-carriers with whistles with which they can give notice of their approach. Some of the letter-carriers of this city have become quite expert in their use and are even able to play tunes on their whistles. Letter-carrier Wm. Demarest, who distributes mail through North Plainfield, is accomplished in the art of blowing the whistle. He rides about on his wheel, playing some familiar tune as a notification of his approach. The different notes on the whistle are made by differences in the force with which it is blown.

The war has not only dwarfed the Klondike in a news sense, but has financially handicapped many prospective gold seeking expeditions, the San Francisco papers report. "At least a dozen Klondike ventures are tied up here for want of funds," The Call says, "and the outlook for any of them reaching the gold fields this year is not good. In some of the ventures the promoters had little to lose; in others everything that the gold-hunters possessed in the world is tied up in the scheme." In the latter category is an expedition that was to have sailed May 15th. It is that of a company of thirty-four men of Boston who have a $40,000 outfit on board a schooner, but who are unable to raise the $17,000 needed to satisfy the liens of San Francisco merchants. The father of one of the party was to put $10,000 in the venture, but he is now at the front with an officer's commission, and cares nothing more about the Klondike. Efforts to interest capitalists, either on the Pacific coast or in the east, find little encouragement.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

A Clearance Sale in the Millinery Section.

Today the remaining stock, including the trimmed and untrimmed hats and the flowers will be reduced and that means exactly half. Considering that this stock is entirely new and that the reductions are so important, leaves no doubt of an early disposal, and we might say that those who come first will have the best selection. The sailor hats will also come under the reduction, hence those that have been 75c to $2 25 will be 38c to $1.15, those that have been 50c and 60c will be 25c.

A Clearance Sale of Shirt Waists.

There are 300 or more waists that will take their parting during the week—that is, if price counts. There'll be few left, however, when one knows that the prices will be just half. BOWLING ON THE GREEN.

A Pleasureable Afternoon Sport Enjoyed at Christian Schepflin's House.

Willing to Exchange.

A young matron on North Nevada avenue was putting her 5-year-old son to bed the other night during a terrific wind storm, relates Colorado Springs Facts. When she was about to leave him he objected vociferously against staying alone while the storm raged. "But, dear," said the mother, "you must not mind the storm. Remember, God is here and protects you even while you sleep." This assurance quieted him for awhile, but presently a terrific gust of wind struck the house and made it rock on its foundations. There was a pit-pat on the stairs, and the little fellow appeared at the door, his face white with fear. The mother took him back and again comforted him with the assurance of God's presence, but she had hardly regained the sitting room before the wind struck the house another terrific blow. As it passed on a wee voice came from the head of the stairs: "Mamma, mamma, if you come up here and stay with God I'll come down with papa."

A Herd of Irish Bulls.

Those fond of Irish bulls may find some amusement in the following letter, which was written by an amorous swain, native of the Emerald Isle, to his lady fair:

My Darlin' Peggy—I met you last night and you never came! I'll meet you again to-night whether you come or whether you stop away. If I'm there first, sure I'll write my name on the gate to tell you of it, and if it's you that's first, why rub it out, darlin', and no one will be the wiser. I'll never fail to be at the trystin' place, Peggy, for, faith, I can't keep away from the spot where you are, whether you're there or whether you're not. Your own, PADDY.

When You Write to the Queen.

The paper on which letters to Queen Victoria are written must not be folded. No communication which bears evidence of having been creased will ever fall into Her Majesty's own hands. The proper method is to write on thick, glossy white paper, and to despatch the missive in an envelope which fits it. Any folded communication never reaches the Queen, for the simple reason that she never looks at it. All such letters are opened by the Mistress of the Robes, and as a rule, their contents never get beyond her, or, if the letter is of importance, it is returned to the writer with the directions how to forward it.—New York Herald.

THE WOMAN'S WORLD

A Woman Train Dispatcher.

Miss Edith Jarnagin has been appointed train despatcher of the Chattanooga Southern Railway by General Manager Hoskins. She is 19, and a Georgia girl. She was a master of Morse and drawing a salary as telegrapher at 14. About a year ago she entered the general manager's office of the Chattanooga Southern, and General Manager Hoskins, who is himself an old telegrapher and thorough railroad man, gave her every opportunity to develop the talent which has been recognized by her promotion to chief train despatcher. The office is one of great responsibility and the safety of many lives depends upon the efficiency and faithfulness of the person who holds it. The engineer and conductor can manage their own trains, but the despatcher manages them all. Every railroad has its time schedule, but if there be many trains over the line, perhaps a majority, and sometimes all of them are off the schedule time. Then the despatcher becomes a living schedule. Not a wheel can be turned without his special order. By the reports from the operators along the route he knows the position of every train, the capacity of every engine, and of every man; he knows the accommodation of every siding, the exact topography of the road. The train despatcher must combine knowledge of telegraphy, infallible mathematical gifts, tact, nerve and memory. Every train is sped from starting point to destination by the guidance of that commanding general of railroad traffic. The New Orleans Picayune, from which these facts are obtained, describes Miss Jarnagin as a beautiful and amiable girl, and a social favorite when off duty.

Comfort in Tan shoes.

Tan shoes are just one of the things that makes life worth living when the mercury begins to make passes at the hundred notch in the tube. There are always croakers about everything, and the tan shoe comes in for its share of abuse. The chiropodist is the man who says the meanest things about it and this is odd, for if the tan shoes are injurious to the feet, as he claims, then what is another man's misery is his meat, and it does look as if he ought to know enough to keep quiet on the subject. But he doesn't seem to, and he says that there is something used in preparing leather for tan shoes that hurts tender feet. All the same, tan boots and low shoes are more worn to-day than ever.

The highest priced tan leather shoes are always of a conspicuous color when new. Some women turn away from them for this reason and buy the cheaper shoes of a beautiful dark tan or rich shade of brown. The former grow prettier and prettier with each polishing, while elbow grease combined with shoe dressing soon makes those of cheaper grade a sight to behold.—New York Sun.

More License for Women in France.

Women are slowly obtaining a few rights in France, notes the New York Post. A short time since they were permitted to act as witnesses in a legal sense and to sign wills and other legal documents. They are now to be allowed to take part in the administration of the charities and hospitals in Paris, being made eligible for the higher council of the assistance publique. This concession has been extended to the sex who have contributed most largely to the charitable funds, and have taken part in house-to-house visitations, after a report by Dr. Napias, who eulogized the work of women in connection with the administration of charity in England and the United States. He held up a good model to France. Miss Florence Nightingale, and the governors of the Paris charities considered that France also could produce Florence Nightingales if they gave their women a chance in the work of organization.

During a Thunder Storm.

Thunder and lightning, through natural operations, are a cause of great alarm to many. It is seldom any person is injured who keeps away from considerable metallic substances and avoids immediate contact with the walls of the house. The middle of the room is in general perfectly safe and the lower rooms are safer than the upper. A bed removed at a slight distance from the walls of the room is in perfect security, even if the house were struck. When lead is used on the roofs of buildings particular care should be taken that it communicates with the spouts, and by these means with the ground. To determine the distance of the lightning, count the seconds between the flash and the thunder and reckon less than a quarter of a mile for every second.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Corr ct Form in Walking.

Fashionable folk say that it is bad form now to keep step with a companion with whom one is walking. It may be bad form to keep step, but it is certainly uncomfortable not to do so. The thing to do is to break step and walk with a long, swinging stride. Only persons with good, strong nerves should adopt this fad. Nothing is more irritating to the average man or woman than to walk with one who constantly loses step. It causes a lack of harmony. It makes a man feel like using words he never learned in Sunday school, and as for a woman is sets her nerves on edge, and everybody knows how that affects her.

How the Century Plant Was Named.

About two centuries ago a Russian nobleman travelling in Mexico saw and admired the maguey plant, which is a native of Mexico.

The plant was so much admired by the Russian for its beauty and utility that he was eager to have growing specimens in his own country. So when leaving Mexico he procured some roots to take home to the czar as a present.

On his first visit to court after he reached the capital city, he told of the wonderful plant and asked permission of the czar to present to him the specimens which he had. The czar graciously granted his request and gave the roots to the court gardener, who promised to give the plants his best attention, but unfortunately before he could plant them properly, as he intended, he was taken suddenly ill and died without having accomplished anything.

Another gardener was appointed. In the meantime the roots lay in the sack in which they were first placed. The new gardener not knowing their value threw the sack away, and it lay unheeded in a corner of the garden day after day. Some time afterward his little daughter picked up one of the roots, and, in a playful mood, planted it, but paid it no further attention. The czar had forgotten all about it. In course of time the ruler died and also the second gardener.

The plant in after years put out a few spikes for leaves, but did not thrive in the cold air of Russia. It grew very slowly and its origin was not known to any one except the wife of the former gardener and the child that planted it.

Years passed and still the strange plant, with its thick, long, straight leaves, now nearly six feet tall, did not bloom, but as it grew taller it attracted notice, and the new czar sometimes looked at it and wondered if it would ever bloom.

In time he, too, died, and still the maguey bloomed not.

But just after the coronation of another czar a stalk shot up from the root of the plant and rapidly grew to the height of twenty feet. Soon many clusters of small buds appeared, which slowly unfolded and became white blossoms. The wonderful plant had bloomed at last!

The gardener said it was 100 years old, and had blossomed in honor of the new czar. Word was sent to him and he and his whole court visited and admired the flowers and the plant.

The poor exile from the sunny skies of Mexico has earned its reward and a new name, for ever since that day it has been known as the "century plant."—Godey's Magazine.

Langua e of Flags.

To "strike the flag" is to lower the national colors in token of submission. Flags are used as the symbol of rank and command, the officers using them being called flag officers. Such flags are square, to distinguish them from other banners.

A "flag of truce" is a white flag displayed to an enemy to indicate a desire for a parley or consultation.

The white flag is the sign of peace. After a battle parties from both sides often go out to the field to rescue the wounded or bury the dead, under the protection of a white flag.

The red flag is a sign of defiance, and is often used by revolutionists. In our service it is a mark of danger, and shows a vessel to be receiving or discharging her powder.

The black flag is the sign of piracy. The yellow flags shows a vessel to be at quarantine, and is the sign of contagious diseases. A flag at half-mast means mourning. Fishing and other vessels return with a flag at half-mast to announce the loss or death of some of the men. Dipping a flag is lowering it slightly and then hoisting it again, to salute a vessel or fort.

If the President of the United States goes afloat the American flag is carried in the bows of his barge or hoisted at the main of the vessel on board of which he is.—School Journal

The Lady Poodle.

Probably no dog has ever rendered such signal military service or been so honorably recognized as the celebrated poodle Moustache, who shared the victorious fortunes of the French army through most of the wars of the Consulate and of the French empire. He won special honors at Marengo, and was decorated on the battlefield of Austerlitz by Marshal Lannes as a reward for having rescued his regimental standard from an Austrian soldier when in the act of snatching it from the grasp of the standard bearer as he fell, mortally wounded. The plucky poodle drove off the assailant and then, seizing the tattered colors in his teeth, dragged them triumphantly till he reached his own company.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Speyer. Die Kreisregierung verbot wegen starken Auftretens der Maul- und Klauenseuche die Abhaltung der Viehmärkte und des Viehhandels im Umherziehen bis zum 15. September.

Freinsheim. Bei einem Gewitter tödtete der Blitzstrahl die vom Kirschenbrechen zurückkehrende Krämerswittwe Michel auf dem Heimwege; ihr Tagelöhner kam mit dem Schrecken davon.

Ludwigshafen. In dem Laden der Droguerie Siegel in der Nähe des Bahnhofes ereignete sich eine Gasexplosion, die das Lokal demolirte und die großen Scheiben des Schaufensters bis an das Direktionsgebäude der Pfälzischen Eisenbahn schleuderte. Ein Kommis des Geschäfts, sowie ein Zugführer, der auf der Straße ging, wurden schwer verletzt; ein Lehrling kam mit leichtem Schaden davon.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Das hiesige Export-Musterlager hatte in Folge der ungünstigen Geschäftslage in verschiedenen, für die deutsche Ausfuhr besonders in Betracht kommenden Ländern im letzten Jahre einen Rückgang sowohl in der Zahl der Aufträge, als im Umsatz zu verzeichnen. Besonders fühlbar machte sich der fortwährende Rückgang der brasilianischen Valuta. Das gut entwickelte Geschäft nach Indien wurde durch die Pest sehr beeinträchtigt. Die Zahl der Käufer war 1897 358 gegen 371 und 333 in den beiden Vorjahren; Aufträge wurden ertheilt 2328 (gegen 2433 und 2288).

Cannstatt. Oberst a. D. Alfred v. Lenhardt, früher Platzmajor in Stuttgart, ist hier gestorben. Lenhardt hatte die Feldzüge von 1866 und 1870 bis 1871 mit Auszeichnung mitgemacht und war in den Kämpfen bei Villiers schwer verwundet worden.

Gschwend. Neulich Nachmittags sind hier zwei Kinder, die durch Spielen mit Feuerzeug ein Haus in Brand steckten, in den Flammen umgekommen.

Heilbronn. Wie die „Neckar-Zeitung" meldet, kam aus Ostasien die traurige Nachricht hierher, daß der aus Heilbronn gebürtige Oberbootsmanns-Maat Georg Ehrenfeld, der den nach Kiaotschau entsandten Mannschaften angehörte, in Manila an einem Herzschlag gestorben sei.

Neuffen. Wie im vorigen Sommer so werden auch in diesem Jahre auf Staatskosten auf dem Hohen-Neuffen, der prächtigen auf der Schwäbischen Alb gelegenen Ruine, Ausgrabungen vorgenommen. Nach den bisherigen Ergebnissen gewinnt die schon öfters geäußerte Vermuthung, die Burg sei zur Zeit der Völkerwanderung durch den Ostgothenkönig Theodorich erbaut worden, an Wahrscheinlichkeit.

Ulm. Ein neues, sämmtliche Gerichtsbehörden umfassendes Justizgebäude ist hier vollendet und dem Gebrauch übergeben worden. Dieser Prachtbau, in den Formen der italienischen Renaissance gehalten, ist ein Werk des Oberbaurathes v. Sauter in Stuttgart.

Weingarten. Dieser Tage sind von der Mannschaft des hier stehenden Infanterie-Regiments plötzlich 50 Mann erkrankt. Man vermuthet, daß eine Vergiftung durch Genuß schlechten Bieres oder verdorbener anderer Nahrungsmittel vorliegt.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Der Antrag auf Errichtung eines Mädchengymnasiums wurde mit allen gegen acht Stimmen vom Bürgerausschuß angenommen. Es handelt sich um die Uebernahme des durch den Verein „Frauenbildungsreform" früher gegründeten Mädchengymnasiums in städtische Verwaltung, weil das Institut sonst eingegangen wäre.

Altheim. Hier platzte bei der Einweihung des Kriegerdenkmals ein Böller. Ein 15jähriger Knabe wurde getödtet, einem anderen wurde ein Fuß weggerissen und fünf andere Jungen im Alter von 8 bis 12 Jahren wurden mehr oder minder schwer verletzt.

Heidelberg. Die neuerbaute Sternwarte auf dem Königstuhl wurde in Anwesenheit des Großherzogs feierlich eingeweiht.

Konstanz. Zur Nachtzeit wurden kürzlich in unserem schönen Stadtgarten die Blumen aus den meisten Beeten und Gruppen gerissen, geknickt und zertreten. Vier große Blumenvasen lagen umgeworfen umher. Der materielle Schaden wird auf 2000 Mark geschätzt. Der Stadtrath hat auf Entdeckung der Thäter 200 Mark Belohnung gesetzt.

Mannheim. Der Führer der hiesigen Freisinnigen Partei, Bankier Eduard Wachenheim, ist nach kurzem Krankenlager an einer Blinddarmentzündung im Alter von 43 Jahren gestorben. Der Dahingeschiedene war Mitglied des Stadtrathes.

HAWAII'S QUEER FLAG.

The Design Taken from the American and British Banners.

All histories that are printed of the Hawaiian Republic fail to tell of the interesting story connected with the adoption of the flag of country. The incident bears not a little romance and shows in a way the ingenuity of the natives. The adoption of the emblem dates back about twenty-five years, when the country was still a monarchy and King Kamehameha II was on the throne. The country was continually visited by the warships of the different nations of the world and the ruler of the Hawaiians had a difficult time to keep his little land from being seized by some foreign power.

The story is handed down by posterity. The exact date of the occurrence is not known, though it was in the year 1873. The King of the "key to the Pacific" awoke one morning to find a French warship anchored safely in the harbor of Honolulu. He became alarmed at the prospect of a conquest, and sent at once for his Prime Minister. He was advised by him to run up a flag and show the visitors that the country belonged to someone and was not a "no man's land," to be pillaged at will by the first foreigners who came along. The King, heeding the advice, cast about for a piece of bunting to represent his nation, and fell upon an old British flag. This he had run up to the top of his highest flagpole.

The bunting had hardly had time to unfurl itself to the breeze when one of the chief advisers of the King came running to him and told him that he would have to take that flag down, as the first thing he knew if he did not an English man-of-war that was expected at the island would arrive, and, the commander finding his nation's colors flying over Honolulu, would take possession in the name of the Queen. This frightened Kamehameha, and he started another hunt for a flag. This time the searchers unearthed an American emblem.

Taking the two flags, the ruler had them made into one. The jack in the corner of the English emblem was left, while the stripes of the American flag were added to it. Thus the Hawaiian flag at first had thirteen stripes and a jack the same as the English. The King, when he had disposed of his French visitors, had time to think over the matter. It was decided that it would be better to have only eight stripes, representing the eight islands of the nation. The extra pieces were cut off, leaving the eight stripes, with a white one on top. The jack still carries the St. George's cross, the St. Andrew's cross and the St. Patrick's cross, the same as the English.

Soon after the adoption of this flag the whites, who had begun to settle on the island, came more and more into power each year until, as a result, the monarchy was finally overthrown and the republic placed on a firm basis, with white men at the head of the government. The natives, who are superstitious, believe the change in power from the copper-colored people to the whites is directly due to the fact that the white stripe is directly over the red in the flag. They say that had the red been first the whites would never have gained foothold on the island sufficient to warrant their taking the reins of the government in their hands.

As a result of this superstition the Legislature of Hawaii scarcely ever meets but what some new bill to change the position of the stripes on the flag is brought up. The wisest of the men among the natives are kept constantly at work on the drawing up of such measures, and their members in the congress are every busy trying to put the bills through. The belief is that as soon as the order of the stripes is changed, the red having the preference, the copper-colored natives will again ascend to the power and have full sway in the government.—Chicago Chronicle.

Some Smart Sayings of Mark Twain.

When in doubt tell the truth. Noise proves nothing; often a hen who has merely laid an egg cackles as if she had laid an asteroid. History is better than prophecy; in fact history is prophecy, and history says that, where a weak and ignorant people possess a thing which a strong and enlightened people want, it must be yielded up peaceably. Honesty is the best policy, but sometimes the appearance of it is worth six of it. We can secure other people's approval if we do right and try hard, but our own is worth a hundred of it, and no way has been found out to secure that. Truth is stronger than fiction, but it is because fiction is obliged to stick to possibilities; truth is not. Man is the only animal that blushes—or that needs to. The man with a new idea is a crank until the idea succeeds. Let us be thankful for the fools; but for them the rest of us could not succeed. When people do not respect us we are sharply offended; yet deep down in his private heart no man respects himself. There are several good protections against temptation, but the surest is cowardice. Hunger is the handmaid of genius. Grief can take care of itself, but to get the full value of joy you must have somebody to divide it with.

Youthful Reasoning.

Tommy does a great deal of thinking on his own responsibility, and he broke out the other day with: "Papa, I guess old Father Time's kind of a back number, hain't he?"

"What makes you think so, Tommy?"

MARTIAL LAW FOR KLONDIKE.

England Preparing to Thoroughly Garrison the Northwest.

In no part of the world has the Klondike attracted more attention than in England. The British intellect which is dull and stocky at the best of times, has been stung into a feeling of humiliation at finding that while a Jameson raid into the Transvaal was being organized in London, the keen and irrepressible Yankee was discovering a rich auriferous region either in close proximity to or actually within the Canadian Dominions of the Queen. To have half a dozen statesmen or great dukes defeated, or perilously near to irretrievable disgrace, at the hands of Oom Paul, was simply awful ill luck. But to have John Bull's dear cousin realize all the fruits of discovery in the Northwest was too tantalizing in the extreme. Accordingly Englishmen have wonderfully bestirred themselves within the past six months and having poured capital into various mining properties in British Columbia, under a syndicate which has a royal Duke for its President, they are now engaged in trying to form one huge trust of all the mining claims in the Klondike.

A great scheme of this kind needs something more than money; and therefore besides large subscriptions of capital there has been a quiet enrollment going on in England for what is euphemistically termed "the North West Mounted Police." Instead of being what it pretends to be it is a distinctly military organization. In other words it is a most efficient form of cavalry service under the rather deceptive name of "police." This force already numbers considerably over 1,000 men and is organized under the command of an officer who discharges somewhat analagous powers to those invested in the military wing of the Royal Niger Company of Africa. It is drilled too as a cavalry force, each man carrying a Lee-Metford carbine and in addition to the usual accoutrements, a heavy revolver. It is a belligerent and militant force in the highest sense rather than protective or political.

Formerly the Canadian authorities retained a few scattering officers properly termed a Mounted Police in Manitoba and the Assinaboine regions to prevent smuggling and to do the usual routine duties of an ordinary nature. But the members were very different in physique, equipment and efficiency to those mounted dragoons which the British Government have lately sent into that portion of the North West bordering on the Klondike, and since the rush of Americans there in the summer of 1897. Is the Transvaal failure to be recouped in Alaska? In speaking of these Canadian Mounted Police an English organ of the Army and Navy interests states that "there is hardly a finer force in the world," the meaning of which phrase from such a source is that these mounted dragoons are intended as a fighting rather than as a police force on our Northern boundary. Of this fact there can be no doubt whatever because in a further description we are told that this British regiment is "composed of men nearly all six feet high, who can ride and fight like any of the red skin heroes of Fenimore Cooper's romances." Such is the character given of these men in a standard organ of the British Army. Obviously therefore the word "police" applied to them is either a misnomer or a joke. They would answer excellently in case of a raid. But there is even a more interesting kind of information about this regiment and the work cut out for it, furnished from Canada, where British feeling is more accurately, even if oppressively, interpreted for the benefit of Americans than is always possible in the case of the mother country. An American newspaper was recently so much attracted by this dragoon mobilization on the part of the Canadian Government that it sent interrogatories on the subject amongst others to the editor of the "Mail and Empire" of Toronto. The Canadian Editor replied that these were nearly all the sons of well-to-do Englishmen specially recruited for services in Canada, that they were all splendid marksmen and would not hesitate to shoot if there was any trouble in the Klondike. Until the Army and Navy Journal corroborated in substance this information there was a belief that these border editors were playfully exchanging cartels; and that there was really no significance to be attached to the substitution of these dragoons for the old Manitoba Mounted Police. But the concentration of a force of "heroes" that can "ride and fight"; that would not hesitate to shoot Americans and of whose splendid marksmanship we are assured, may be of interest to those about to settle there. They have apparently come to stay.

Canada appoints her own police like any other self-governing nation, and there is something concealed in respect of this force or something rotten in the state of that country if the British Government deems it necessary to override the local functions of the Government or forces Canada to discriminate against it own citizens in order to pick out "the well-to-do" sons of Englishmen and put them on guard, cap a pie.

THE KEY MONUMENT.

IN HONOR OF THE WRITER OF THE GREAT NATIONAL ANTHEM.

This Poem of Francis Scott Key's Needs No Organization to Push It Along—Its Name and Music Waft the Soul to the Skies.

It was Fletcher of Saltown who said: "Give me the making of a nation's songs and I care not who makes its laws." It is perhaps the irony of fate that this saying was destined to be contradicted in the circumstances of Key's case. Sympathy remained a barren abstraction untranslated into action. For eighty-four years while distant California raised a monument to Francis Scott Key his own Maryland was silent and unready or failed to see the merits and genius of her industrious son. At the entrance of the Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, there has been these many years a splendid monument rising to a height of fifty-one feet to commemorate the services of the author of America's great national lyric. It cost $60,000 and consists of a double arch, under one of which is seated a bronze figure of Key with the manuscript of the "Star Spangled Banner" folded in the hand. However late in the day, therefore, Maryland honors herself and contributes to the gratification of the national feeling, by observing the obvious proprieties in respect of her national songster. Five thousand dollars was recently appropriated by the Maryland legislature, and the balance of the present monument was subscribed by the generous and patriotic hearts that were quickened by the famous song which has now become the national anthem of America. It is usually sung at the close of public meetings and never fails to awaken in audiences that intense thirst for the spirit of freedom which is the country's chief safeguard.

The present monument is to be erected in Mount Olivet Cemetery, Baltimore. It is the design of the famous New York sculptor Alexander Doyle, and it is a design befitting the subject and the solemn environments. It consists of a circular pedestal of granite on a series of unusually wide spreading bases. Its height will be thirteen feet, and at the base fifteen feet. It will be devoid of floral elaborations but will throw into strong relief the figure of Key who is represented on shipboard with that anxious look upon his gathering brow indicated by the first line of his immortal poem—"Oh, say can you see by the dawn's early light!" His attitude is one of exultation and of joy, as with his right arm he proudly points to the flag, manifestly rejoiced to find that it is "still there," and with the other waves aloft the paper on which he is writing the poem that thus records the inspiration of his enraptured discovery.

The chisel of our American Praxiteles has eloquently perpetuated the beautiful and patriotic inspiration which Key's lyric awakens in every American breast. At the base of the pedestal is a bronze group emblematical of patriotism. The figure of Liberty is seated and is in the act of teaching the lesson of patriotism to a youth standing on her left, with the American flag resting on her shoulder, and upon which the youth reverently lays his hand. Liberty's left hand extended, grasps the sword of defence, while her arm embraces the figure of a little child, indicating at once a disposition to protect the weak against the strong and that martial readiness to defend the flag which is ever the duty of a free people. Beneath the group on the face of its base is carried the seal of the State of Maryland, while under the cornice is a cluster of stars. In the rear of the monument and resting on its base, is a tablet bearing the text of Key's poem. Upon the whole therefore the Baltimore memorial is a more realistic work and more symbolic of the circumstances and better calculated to inspire the observer, than the earlier and more expensive monument in the far western city, and which owes its existence to the philanthropist James Lick. Maryland has redeemed herself by this timely and beautiful work and thus does much to crystalize the principle for which the song stands in the living memorials of to-day.

Francis Scott Key was the son of a Revolutionary officer whose father came to this country with the poet Dryden's brother. When the British forces invaded Washington in 1814, Key was taken prisoner on board the frigate "Surprise," from which he witnessed an attack upon Fort McHenry. Owing to the position the flag of Fort McHenry was distinctly seen through the night by the glare of the battle, but before dawn the firing ceased and Key's feelings when he found that the British had not triumphed, and that the Stars and Stripes had not been hauled down, found expression in the "Star Spangled Banner."

There are other great national songs, but the one which seems intended to supercede the Star Spangled Banner is "America" and which being the work of a clergyman, a persistent attempt has been made, particularly at revival meetings, to elevate it into the dignity of a national anthem. But the lines of the latter can never convey the same feeling as Key's burning song which has not a dull or commonplace line throughout, and which breaks like a flashlight upon the mind, holding the attention and the soul enraptured from beginning to end. It is said that no enduring song was ever written that had not a strong personal inspiration as its foundation and that for the production of a striking national song the soul must overflow itself if "it another soul would reach." The circumstances of Key's capture, and the anxiety with which he looked for the Stars and Stripes in the morning when the British guns ceased were surely sufficiently exciting and tragic in the life and history of the writer to establish the truth of this statement. His soul was profoundly moved by the battle of Fort McHenry and had Key himself not told the printer, who first set the song in type, the circumstances under which he composed the "Star Spangled Banner" and had the words been only disentombed after the lapse of ages, the very setting of the lines would have themselves told of an attack on a fort displaying a flag amidst the smoke of a great battle. They would have revealed a captive inquiring at the break of day in tones of intense patriotism and of tremulous emotion whether that flag, which meant for him liberty or death still waved from the battlements of the beleagured fort. It would, even, were we to know no more about its author or its origin, have revealed its inspiration as effectively as do the words of the "Marseillaise" betray the stirring scenes of De Lilles' war song in Paris at the end of the last century.

The "Star Spangled Banner" therefore originates from a noble inspiration. It comes from the American heart and appeals to the American heart. It was written rapidly in obedience to strong feelings and while the author was under martial conditions. There is therefore a glow, a freshness and a sparkling spontaneity about every line and phrase to which not even "My Country 'tis of Thee," while chaste, melodious and tender enough to be a church hymn, can ever hope to compare. One is only half-American; in the other patriotism glows through the lines. One while affecting to laud liberty is redolent of that meek submission which saps liberty; the other breathes a ravishing love of liberty interwoven with the spirit of Mars. The music, too, of the "Star Spangled Banner" set to "Anacreon in Heaven," more powerfully appeals to musical intellects than a poem which seems to have been written to that of "God Save the Queen" and therefore little likely to rank with "Hail Columbia" or "Dixie," or even "Maryland," or "Yankee Doodle," or the "Bonnie Blue Flag," or to inspire the strong national sentiment of the Star Spangled Banner. This poem of Francis Scott Key's needs no organization to push it along. Its name and music waft the soul to the skies. It springs into the minds of age and youth alike upon all occasions, and continues to move as with a divine pathos all loyal American hearts as the immortal and undying chant of American independence and freedom.

There is no other national hymn needed while American States raise memorials to the sublime genius of its author.

French Superstitions.

The French superstitions regarding deaths and funerals are all but numberless. "If you meet a funeral while driving you will have an accident before your drive is over unless you turn back," they say. Many a gambler en route for Monte Carlo will not gamble that day if he meets a funeral; others will bet only at rouge et noir, and persistently on the black. The peasants have at least a hundred superstitions about bees. They believe (and did not Virgil, too, or did he but chronicle it of his contemporaries?) that bees are bred of dead men's bones and flesh. This seems to be one of the oldest of the current French superstitions, for on a very old tomb at Arles (found in the world-famous Alyscamp) is this inscription: "This has become the home of unhallowed bees."

The peasant pharmacopoeia of France is wonderful—most wonderful. Wine is an ingredient of every prescription. In fever cases it is always the predominant one. The French peasant's faith in fermented grape juice is truly beautiful. If his children are stricken with the measles he gives them beakers of wine, well sweetened with honey and highly spiced with pepper. For a severe cold he administers a quart of red wine and a melted tallow candle mixed. For scarlet or brain fever he gives eggs, white wine and soot, well beaten together. Not all their superstitions are curious—some are pathetic. A mother, for instance, often buries her dead child with its favorite toy or her own beautiful hair in the coffin, "that it may not feel quite alone."

A Historical Bell.

Hardly of less historical interest than the famous Liberty Bell of Philadelphia was the old clock bell which announced the hour on July 4, 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was promulgated.

The bell had been used in earlier days to call essemblages of the citizens of the Quaker City, but after the Revolution it was lost.

Recently the Philadelphia Press discovered that the relic had been destroyed. It had been bought for a few hundred dollars by the Roman Catholic Church of St. Augustine for its steeple. The whole clock machinery was bought, but the question is yet unanswered as to whether the dials were sold or not. The church was burned down in 1844.

Several of the firemen collected from the mass of bell metal pieces broken off by the fall of the tower and carried them home as souvenirs. Several of the fire laddies had these molded into buckles of their organization, the Humane Engine Company, and one of the men promises to bequeath to some museum of Revolutionary relics his belt and buckle, so that the country may have another remembrance of the crowning point in our history.

A Clever Ruse.

King Alexander of Servia, when only eighteen years old, summoned his Regents to a dinner-party, rose as if to propose a toast, drew a revolver from his pocket, proclaimed himself of age, and dismissed the Regents, whom he locked up all night in the dining-room, while he went round to assure himself of the fidelity of his guards.

The Fourth Ward Athletic Club disputes the claim of the Clinton Avenue Club to the championship of the city. The Fourth Warders declare that they are willing and anxious to meet their rivals from Clinton avenue and will play for the championship of the city and also for a suitable purse if such is the wish of their opponents. The Fourth Ward Athletic Club has only lost one game this season and they are confident of their ability to signally defeat the Clinton avenue boys. It is to be hoped that a game can be arranged.

Now that the Crescents are out of the field and "Warry" MacLaughlin is out of a position, the Clinton Avenue Club is trying to secure that expert young twirler to pitch for the team for the remainder of the season. Bulmer, the present pitcher for the Clinton avenue nine, is a good man but he has not the experience of Mac and lays no claim to being as good a pitcher as the speedy pitcher who occupied the box so successfully for the Crescents during their short season. It is to be hoped that Mac can be secured, for he is a good man and will strengthen the team materially. He and Ren Townley used to play together frequently and they will make a strong combination that will make things warm for their opponents.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball team did not play Saturday afternoon Next Saturday they will play the Clinton Avenue team or the Central Railroad nine. Only two more games will be played this season.

FINDERNE OVERCOME.

THE CLINTON AVENUE CLUB DEFEATED HER AT BASEBALL.

After the First Inning the Local Nine Had Everything Their Own Way—Finderne Team Went Home Early.

It only took six innings to convince the baseball team of Finderne that the Clinton Avenue Club far outclassed them. Then the Finderne boys wanted to go home. The game was played on the Clinton avenue grounds Saturday afternoon. The victory of the home team was by a score of 32 to 8.

Bulmer was in the box for the Clinton Avenue team, as usual, and Townley caught him. Bulmer had not done any pitching for two weeks so his arm was a trifle stiff when the game opened. The Finderne boys came in with a whoop and a yell and batted out five runs before the local players woke up and put an end to the fun. Two runs were scored for the Clinton Avenue Club in the first inning.

That was all the fun the visitors had. The Clinton Avenue aggregation woke up to the fact that good batting was needed. The visitors had three pitchers with them, and it took them all to hold the Clinton Avenue boys down to 38 runs. Had they not been so well supplied with pitchers, it is doubtful whether the C. A. C. team would have ever stopped.

Bulmer settled down to hard work and the visitors were able to score only three more runs in the next five innings At the close of the sixth inning, the Finderne captain expressed a desire to return from whence he came. He had had enough and was perfectly willing to acknowledge the fact. The game had strung out pretty well and the home team felt that they had had the worth of their money. So the game was declared at an end.

WYOMING'S COBALT BONANZA.

First Important Find of This Valuable Metal Made in America.

"Cobalt is better than gold. A cobalt mine is more desirable than the richest golden bonanza of all the Rocky Mountains." This is the talk one hears at the Miners' National bureau of Denver; this is the talk that is electrifying the Western mining world; for cobalt has been discovered at Grand Encampment, Wyo., and the French mineralogist, Charles Poulot, has added new laurels to his reputation for the discovery.

It is not the first discovery of cobalt in America, but it is probably the most notable. The metal is never found in a pure state, but mixed with nickel copper, or some other element. Cobalt ore is worth $32 a ton for each per cent. that the ore contains, and the French mineralogist has found that Grand Encampment ore to contain 4 per cent. of it. Cobalt is worth $1.60 a pound, and there is one mine in this district where thousands of tons of this ore are already in sight. Cobalt is the active principle that colors blue all porcelain and glass, and from it the world's great churches and cathedrals receive their delicate shading in blue in their arched windows and domes Cobalt is the active principle of blue in oil and water painting. It is one of the rarest minerals. Norway, Sweden and Bohemia have in the past furnished the bulk of the world,s supply.

M. Poulot represents millions of dollars of French capital, and he lays it all at the feet of the Grand Encampment miners for ore containing cobalt The mine in question is a copper mine and in addition to its copper value which is 70 per cent pure, its ore yields $128 to the ton in cobalt. This is only one among hundreds of copper mines at Grand Encampment, and if they all contain cobalt, Wyoming's new mining district within a year may be producing more wealth than any three other mining districts in the world not excepting the Klondike, the Transvaal and Cripple Creek.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Recently Graduated from Ann Arbor She Goes Home to Practice.

Ida Kahn, of China, who recently graduated from Ann Arbor University, came to this country about six years ago to study medicine and now she has returned to her native town, Kin Kiang on the Yangste River.

Her countrymen doubtless consider her a new woman of the most advanced type, and at first she will probably have more time on her hands than patients on her list.

Ida Kahn, M. D., is imbued with the missionary spirit. Converted to Christianity herself, before she left China, she hopes to be the means of converting others.

She was much liked at the Ann Arbor University, where she took the full medical course. She spoke English very well when she came to America and successfully passed the examinations necessary for entrance to the class of medicine and surgery—an examination which required an English essay, correct in spelling, punctuation, capital letters, grammar and paragraphing; mathematics (arithmetic, algebra and geometry); physics, zoology, history and Latin.

The medical course required incessant and hard work. There were recitations and lectures in oesteology, embryology and histology; operative, minor and general surgery, practical pathology, internal medicine and dermatology.

Ida Kahn not only gave her attention to these studies, but also went in for bacteriology, electro-therapeutics and she became initiated in the mysteries of batteries, induction coils, electrodes and other appliances, and made experiments in electro-physics and electro-physiology.

The charming Oriental garb was only worn by the maiden from the Flowery Kingdom upon high days and holidays; upon ordinary occasions she dressed like an American, a style which she liked so well that she intends to introduce some reforms in dress among her countrywomen.—New York World.

A Young Soldier's Grit.

The morning after the battle of York there were many men with limbs so injured as to require amputation. Among them, relates the Detroit Free Press, was a young musician who had received a musket ball in the knee. As was usual in such cases, preparations were being made to lash him to the table. The sufferer sat watching the arrangements, and finally said:

"Now doctor, what would you be at?"

"My lad, I am going to take off your leg, and it is necessary you should be lashed down."

"I'll consent to no such thing. You may pluck the heart from my bosom, but you'll not confine me. Is there a fiddle in camp? If so bring it to me."

A violin was brought to him, and, after tuning it, he said:

"Now, doctor, begin."

And he played until the operation, which took forty minutes, was completed, without missing a note or moving a muscle.

An Iceland Temperance Worker.

Miss Olifia Johannsdottir is President of the W. C. T. U. of Iceland, and Grand Vice Templar of the Independent Order of Good Templars in this country. Miss Johannsdottir is described as one of the most advanced young women of her country, who has more of a voice in affairs of her own government than her American sisters have in theirs. Her ancestors, it is said, left Ireland four centuries ago and settled in Iceland, where they have been prominently identified with the history of the country ever since.

Miss Johannsdottir came to America last summer to become more proficient in English before attending the world's W. C. T. U. Convention. In six weeks she had so mastered the language that she could make a clever speech in English and none were more sought after than she at the gatherings in Toronto and Buffalo.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Something New for Fish Lines.

A curious industry has sprung up in Spain since the decline of silk culture there in the production of what is known as silkworm gut for fishing lines. The grub is fed on mulberry leaves, as usual in silk culture; but before it begins to spin—that is, in May and June—it is killed by immersion in vinegar. The substance which would have formed the cocoon is then drawn out from its body in the form of a thick silken thread, which is treated with chemicals and afterward dried. These threads are made up in bundles of 100, and the Spanish peasants travel with them along the shores of the Mediterranean as far as France. The best quality of thread is round, the flat form being inferior and due to the unhealthiness of the worm. The chief seat of this industry is Murcia.—Scientific American.

A New Year's Dinner for Horses.

The inmates of the Home of Rest for Horses, at Acton, in England, had a gorgeous bill of fare on New Year's Day. It included apples, carrots, bread and sugar, and the old-timers went for the table d'hote like two year-olds. Each horse had ten apples, ten pounds of carrots, and four pounds of bread, while those who had special friends fared even better. The oldest boarder at the Home is Betsy, who confesses to forty-one.

Shafter Has Cut Off Every Avenue of Escape.

SURRENDER NOW CONSIDERED

Shafter Cables to Washington that Santiago is Surrounded and Toral is Considering Surrender—Another Truce in Progress—Trouble with Denmark Over Coal—A Move for Peace on the Part of France—Other News.

SANTIAGO SURROUNDED.

Again the Spanish Are Summoned by Shafter to Surrender.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

At the Front with the American Army, near Santiago, July 11, via Playa del Este, July 12, 11:19 a. m.—The city of Santiago is now completely surrounded by the combined forces of the Americans and Cubans.

The last gap was filled today by the Ohio and Illinois troops, thus shutting off the last avenue of escape for the Spanish. The American line now extends from Ratero on the west to Sardinero on the east.

The bombardment of the city's fortifications was resumed this morning by the American batteries and the ships of the American fleet off Aquadores.

It was continued until afternoon when Gen. Shafter, commanding the American forces, sent a message, under cover of a white flag, into the Spanish lines to the Spanish commander. Stating the fact that Santiago was invested on every side, he made the bare demand for surrender.

The fusillade from the American guns has ceased pending the reply to the American demand which has not yet been received.

AMERICANS ON ALL SIDES.

Shafter Cables That Toral is Considering Capitulation of Spanish Forces.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 12, 12:09 p. m—Gen. Shafter has cabled the War Department another long message relative to the situation at Santiago. It was probably written yesterday. It was as follows:—

"Headquarters of the Fifth Army Corps. It has been very quiet, with little fighting. A flag of truce has been up since 2 o'clock this afternoon, while the Spanish are considering the proposition of surrendsring now that I have the city surrounded on the north.

"The lines were completed by Ludlow at 5 o'clock this afternoon and extended down to the bay. The lines are rather thin, but will be strengthened in the morning by Henry, who has just arrived at headquarters.

"There are only a few casualties. We expect to have two new batteries in position tomorrow.

"There is a great deal of suffering among the people who have gone out of Santiago. I am doing my best to relieve them but am not entirely successful. "Shafter."

SURRENDER AT HAND.

War Department Officials Believe the Siege is Now To be Ended.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 12, 1:15 p. m—Gen. Shafter's message that arrived this morning is taken by the War Department to mean that Gen. Toral is going to surrender under the flag of truce.

The city has been completely invested on all sides. This considered, it means that Toral, seeing that he cannot escape, wants to surrender.

Secretary Alger expects news of the surrender today. He says if the city does not give in today, the grand assault, as arranged, will take place immediately.

DENMARK OBJECTS.

Refuses to Allow America to Use Her Own Coal at St. Thomas.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

St. Thomas, West Indies, July 12, 11:24 a. m—An attempt has been made by the Danish government to prevent the Americans from using the eight thousand tons of coal, the property of the United States, stored there.

Governor Lederman, the Danish ruler of the Islands, notified Consul VanHorne, the American representative at St. Thomas, that the American coal in the harbor was contraband of war, and its use by the Americans was contrary to neutrality laws.

He further stated that any attempt to remove the coal would be prevented, if necessary, by the Danish gunboat now lying in the harbor.

Consul VanHorne replied that he would remove the coal if he had to do so by force of arms. Lederman's reply was that he would call in the helf of the warships of the foreign powers now lying in the harbor.

Tha matter has been referred to the State Department at Washington and Consul VanHorne is awaiting instructions as to his future course in the matter.

It is reported that the Madrid government has consented to allow France to start the movement toward peace.

SPAIN IS WILLING.

Press and Public Agree That Spain Wants Peace—But the Terms?

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Madrid, July 12, 1:23 p. m—The possibility of peace is being widely discussed in political circles and by the press. The latter states that Spain is prepared for peace provided it implies the loss of Cuba only.

Senor Correa says that he will no longer oppose peace negotiations providing the conditions are not too onerous.

PLAINFIELD WATER IS PURE AND HEALTHY

H. P. Reynolds Tells Why There is a Whitish Cast Seen.

MINUTE BUBBLES OF GAS.

THERE IS NO REASON FOR THINKING THE WATER UNHEALTHY.

The Turbidity of the City Water, as Seen in Many Places This Summer, is Due to the Presence of Globules of Gas Which Have Excellent Qualities for Palability to the Physical System

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Comment has been made by consumers of the city water (so called) upon a phenomenon occasionally noted in the water when freshly drawn from a faucet into a glass vessel of such capacity as to allow of full observation. At times a decided milky or whitish cast is seen, as though a little chalk or lime had been mingled with the liquid. The phenomenon occurs mostly (perhaps altogether) in the summer months.

It is seen in comparatively few houses, and the pipe or faucet which at one time yields the milky water, at another yields clear water.

The unnatural appearance of the liquid which has been a synonim of purity has caused uneasiness in the minds of some who have observed it, and, in a few instances, has led to the rejection of the public supply, and to a return to discarded private wells and the use of inferior drinking water.

Were the habit of accurate and patient observation more prevalent, such uneasiness and such consequences would seldom be known. For the unnatural appearance referred to is soon dissipated; the milky hue gradually clears up—beginning at the lower portion of the water; and the liquid resumes a normal condition of limpid clearness. It is once more our familiar Plainfield water—as good as the best, thank Heaven.

The writer has several times asked to account for this phenomenon which is sometimes attributed to "impurities" in the water; or, again, to disturbance of the sources of supply, by heavy rains, etc. His reply has generally been accepted as fully explaining the abnormal appearance; and he now yields to a suggestion that the publication of the explanation in your valuable paper may serve a useful purpose.

First, then, it should be generally known that water has the property of absorbing or dissolving considerable volumes of atmospheric air, of carbonic acid gas, and other gases. It will, for example, dissolve its own bulk of carbonic acid gas without pressure, at ordinary temperatures; and somewhat more than its bulk at low tempertures. Moreover, the gas is truly "dissolved," and not merely mingled with the water; its particles are no longer visible, they have become an integral part of the fluid without affecting its appearance. To the carbonic acid gas, existing in all spring and well waters when first drawn, is due the "sparkling" or "fresh" quality which distinguishes them from rain or distilled water, from sand and river water. Now, when the temperature of a water thus saturated with gas increases, the latter begins to separate and pass away, and water that has actively boiled becomes tasteless, "flat," as everyone knows.

Turning our attention now to a sample of our city water presenting the "milky hue" of which complaint is made, and holding the glass against the light, it will be seen that the turbidity is due to countles minute bubbles or globules of gas (or air) which slowly begin to rise to the surface, leaving a constantly widening stratum of clear water below them, contrasting sharply with the milky stratum above. By degrees the water parts with the un-dissolved portion of gas, the unnatural hue disappears, the whole body of the fluid is normally transparent.

Having in mind the physical property of solution previously named, it should not be difficult to understand why the "city water" is sometimes "milky." Abounding in perfectly dissolved carbonic acid gas as it leaves its source (at a temperature of 55 to 60 degrees all the year 'round), and further impregnated with air by the mechanical process of pumping, etc., it is made to linger in the pipes—large and small—and here and there exposed to a temperature much higher than that at which it entered the system. The dissolved gas then begins to separate from solution and is ready to appear and dissapear into the atmosphere when entirely freed from

MUST RETURN THE WAGON.

Justice Moffett Decides in Favor of the Somerville Man.

According to the decision rendered by Justice Moffett in his court yesterday, Augustus Baldwin, of West Fourth street, will have to return to Elijah Stevens, of Somerville, a rubber-tire road wagon which he purchased from him a year ago, and has since neglected to pay for. Baldwin bought at the same time a set of harness and a lap robe, the whole amounting to $104. Baldwin gave notes to cover this sum, but did not meet them as he agreed.

Stevens brought suit in tort. Pope & Runyon represented the plaintiff, and Councilman Walter L. Hetfield represented the defendant. The case was tried Saturday morning, and yesterday afternoon the Justice handed down his decision. Baldwin must return the wagon and pay $15 for the harness besides the costs of the court.

Baldwin, through his counsel, said that he was willing to return the wagon today, but demanded back the notes, which the plaintiff refused. Upon this Baldwin says he will not leave the wagon. Stevens says he will appeal the case.

Big Flagging Contract Finished.

In addition to this, Kane has been flagging the Plainfield avenue side of the lots located on the corner of Plainfield avenue and West Seventh street and Plainfield avenue and West Eighth street.

Heavy Fan Fell With a Crash.

One of the large electric fans used to cool the atmosphere in Armstrong's pharmacy became loosened Sunday morning and fell with a great crash to the floor several feet below. The weight of the fan and the motor by which it is operated was enough to tear a hole in the floor that indicated that if anyone had been under it when the accident occurred there would have been serious injuries sustained.

A HALF DOLLAR VERDICT

COSTS ARE FOURTEEN TIMES THE AMOUNT OF DAMAGES

Jury in Case of Banks Against Hoagland Give a Verdict for Fifty Cents, But Defendant Must Pay $8 in All.

William T. Banks, of East Second street, and Augustus Hoagland, a neighbor, are at law today over the ownership of a second hand oil stove which both claim as their property. The stove originally brought $10, and now Banks estimates its value at one half that sum. Hoagland, on the other hand, says that it was old and worn when he took it from Banks' barn to his house, and it required three new wicks and other repairing to make it fit for use.

The trouble between these neighbors started sometime ago when Hoagland worked for Banks. Banks is a tallow dealer, and the former traveled around the county for him purchasing fat and hides. One night near Evona Hoagland collided with a trolley car in which the wagon was injured and he was hurt.

The trolley company settled with the injured man, and Hoagland says that Banks told him that when he wanted him to come back to work for him he would let him know.

Some time before this Banks said that he missed an oil stove which had been left in the barn. When he asked Hoagland what had become of it the latter told him that he had taken it. Banks says that he told him to be sure and return it, bnt that he has never done so. Therefore Banks brought suit against him in tort.

Hoagland claims that Banks told him he could have the old stove, and so he took it away.

Banks was represented by Walter L. Hetfield, who asked the jury if any of them had read the article in last night's Press about the coming trial, and the estimate which Hoagland put upon the stove. Mr. Hetfield evidently thought the statement would mislead the jury, but they all said it would not.

Hoagland was represented by Counselor S. S. Swackhamer and the jury were John Ross, Abraham Rockafellow, Leon Spangenberg, Chas. Howard, Chas. Wood and Jas. H. Searing.

The case was given to the jury about noon, and after deliberating for ten minutes they returned with a verdict of 50 cents in favor of the plaintiff. Hoagland demanded the jury, which will cost him $4.25, The costs of the court amount to a little over $3, which, with the 50 cents, will make the neat little sum of $8, which Hoagland will have to pay beside the counsel fees.

The plaintiff was satisfied with the verdict, but Hoagland says that he will appeal the case. He claims that the stove was given to him, and that the suit was brought through malice because he settled with the street railway company without Banks' consent.

Four new members were elected, John Reardon, John McKenna, Patrick Fahey and Albert Traynor. The club now has 131 active members, 10 junior members and 110 associate members, besides a large number of honorary members, many of whom are at the front with the army.

MR. DENNIS' COMPLAINT.

He Says the Police Singled Him Out of a Lot of Other Offenders.

Leonidas Dennis, the New York lawyer, who resides on Stelle avenue, and with whom Chief Grant had some words yesterday over the violation of the law prohibiting bicycles riding on sidewalks, has written a long letter to The Press in a reply to the brief item printed yesterday concerning the matter.

From the gist of the letter it is evident that Mr. Dennis' troubles are due to bad blood between neighbors, but they are not deemed worthy of exploit by The Press.

However, Mr. Dennis claims that the orders given to him by the police to stop riding on the sidewalks were not very consistent in view of the fact that he and his wife counted thirty-six bicyclists who rode on the sidewalk on Stelle avenue last Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, two of whom were councilmen, three officers of the city government, two doctors and a letter-carrier.

PROPOSED COUNTY BOULEVARD VIEWED.

Board of Freeholders Went Over the Route Yesterday.

MR. BERGEN WENT ALONG.

IDEA WAS TO ACQUAINT FREEHOLDERS WITH WHAT HAS TO BE DONE.

Started from Elizabeth in the Morning and Drove to Plainfield, Inspecting the Different Changes That Will be Necessary to Convert the County Road Into a Great Boulevard With the Trolley On.

Five three-seated carriages formed a procession that followed along the line of the proposed trolley from Elizabeth to Plainfield yesterday, examining the different changes that are required to convert the county road into the great boulevard with the trolley road in the centre as proposed some time ago by Frank Bergen of Elizabeth. The occupants of the five vehicles were the members of the Board of Freeholders of Union county and their various officials who will be called upon to vote on the advisability of the boulevard at the next meeting of the board.

It was more of the nature of an educational feature than anything else that the procession of Freeholders and other county officials took the day off to drive from Elizabeth to this city. It was the wish of those interested that every Freeholder should thoroughly understand the situation and the changes to the topography of the country made necessary by the proposed widening of the roadway. So the members of the Board were invited to personally inspect the route and hear an explanation of the changes made right on the ground, so that they could exactly see where they stood and just what inconvenience it would cause.

It was nine o'clock yesterday morning that the Freeholders and others of the party gathered at Keron's livery stable, Elizabeth, where the transportation was awaiting them. The party consisted of Director J. Frank Hubbard, of this city, Freeholders King, Adams, Hulskamper, Miller, Brucklacher, McCandless, Robison, Higgins, Wahl, Tier, Ehrlich, Farrell, Burnett and Scudder. Freeholders Roll and Swain, both members of the county road committee, were absent but they had both been over the road many times and were thoroughly conversant with the situation. The others of the party were Clerk Ryno, of Rahway; Collector Wood, of Elizabeth; County Attorney W. R. Codington, of Plainfield, and County Engineers Frank J. Hubbard, of Plainfield, and Bauer, of Elizabeth. There was also present the real estate committee, whose duty it had been to estimate the cost of the property to be absorbed by the new boulevard, Louis Quien, of Elizabeth; J. D. Runyon, of Plainfield, and J. N. Wilcox, of Westfield.

Frank Bergen was along and did his best to point out the advantages of the scheme with which he was perfectly conversant. The two county engineers, Messrs. Hubbard and Bauer, had their complete sets of maps and estimates with them, and told the Freeholders just how the road was going through, buildings to be moved and cost of the various improvements.

They looked especially at the Cranford river and the bridging of that waterway; also the advisability of going through Cranford and Westfield with the boulevard its full width, 100 feet.

There were frequent halts all along the road and the party often left their carriages to examine the buildings and see just what the engineers had planned to do. The morning was entirely occupied in looking over the road from Elizabeth to Westfield.

The whole party stopped at Grogan's Hotel, Westfield, and partook of a bountiful meal that had been prepared. After an hour and a quarter spent in enjoying the repast and allowing the horses to rest, the procession moved on toward Plainfield.

The trip to Plainfield was a shorter one and the obstacles in the way of the boulevard were not as numerous so it was only three o'clock when the party reached here.

They were driven to Tier's lake house where Freeholder J. H. Tier treated them to his ice cream. For the time being, the officials waived the consideration of the important business of the day and then followed a discussion in which the situation was talked over informally.

While there was no formal vote or expression of opinion of the various members of the Board, most of them

SHELLS FOR SANTIAGO

Land and Sea Attack Began on Sunday Afternoon.

SHAFTER'S BATTLE PLANS

The Engagement Sunday Was Spirited but Brief. The Ships Began Shelling the City at 4.45 P. M. The Range Was 10,000 Yards. A Heavy Storm Prevented the Land Forces from Action and Interfered With the Telephone Lines.

Aguadores, Sunday, via Playa del Este, July 12.—By preconcerted arrangement with the army, the ships of the fleet threw shells into Santiago this afternoon. It had been arranged that there should be a simultaneous firing by the ships and the land artillery, beginning at 4 o'clock, but a heavy rain fell which interfered with the telephone and signal work from the army lines down to the railroad bridge at Aguadores and the wigwag station established on the beach.

At 4.45 p. m. the rumble of artillery on the American lines was heard, and the Brooklyn, lying half a mile east of Aguadores, a minute later opened fire with five-inch shells from her port battery. The Texas, to the westward, assumed position and was followed by the Indiana. The firing was at long intervals and was kept up until the Brooklyn had planted fifteen five-inch shells and the Texas seven twelve-inch and three six-inch shells.

The Indiana sent a number of eight-inch shells over the steep hills and into the enemy's lines. The firing lasted an hour. It was impossible to estimate the results from the sea, as a view could not be had over the first hill. The range was north by west, ten thousand yards.

Less than a minute after the Brooklyn opened fire a danger flag, white above yellow, was raised above Morro Castle.

Reports have been received here that the land artillery shelled the Spanish entrenchments for some time.

Our loss during the bombardment was slight.

The loss of the Spaniards cannot be ascertained.

An earnest fight is expected to begin to-morrow (Monday).

The steamship Bratton, a Norwegian freighter, was chased by the Brooklyn. She had on board a cargo of supplies sent to Santiago on speculation by merchants at Kingston and Port Antonio. She has been tied up until the fleet enters Santiago harbor.

Washington, July 12.—These dispatches from General Shafter have been received at the war department:

Playa del Este, July 11.

Received at 1.30 a. m.: The navy has promised after the bombardment begins to get in close to the harbor with some of the boats of light draught and if the bambardment to-morrow is not quickly conclusive, they will make the attempt. As soon as General Henry's reinforcements arrive we will surround the town, and can knock it to pieces with our light guns.

Captain Goodrich of the St. Louis assisted me very ably in disembarking troops.

Received at 1.53 a. m.: My plans for to-morrow (Monday) are to keep up a bombardment of the trenches and city, and to complete the investment of the northwest by the troops which have just arrived at Siboney, one regiment of which, the First Illinois, has now reached me.

Another dispatch says: "I regret to report that Captain Rowell of the Second infantry was killed late yesterday afternoon."

Sunday's Casualties.

Washington, July 12.—The war department has posted the following dispatch from General Shafter:

Playa del Este, July 11.

Adjutant General, Washington:

Headquarters, Santiago, July 11.

Following report of casualties in the First division yesterday afternoon just received:

Killed, Captain Charles W. Rowell, Second infantry, and Private Peter Nelson, Company A, Second infantry.

Wounded, Lieutenant N. J. Lutz, Second infantry; Private Charles Jenks, Company A, Second infantry; Private Charles Lentki, Company B, Second infantry, and Private Nelson Gilbert, Jr., Twenty-first infantry.

Private Car Demolished but No One Hurt.

Washington, July 12.—Surgeon General Sternberg received a dispatch yesterday from Surgeon Richards stating that the hospital train bearing the wounded to Fort McPherson, near Atlanta, was in a rear end collision six miles south of High Springs, Fla., at 8 o'clock last night.

No one was hurt, the dispatch said, but the private car was demolished. Surgeon Richards expected the train to proceed and reach Fort McPherson at 1 o'clock to-day.

General Sternberg says the demolition of the private car will not seriously interfere with the efficiency of the hospital train.

Government Crop Report.

Washington, July 12.—The government crop report just issued makes the winter wheat condition 8.7 per cent. and the spring wheat condition 95 per cent. The report of June 10 gave winter wheat 0.8 and spring 100.9.

The report on the corresponding day of last year gave the winter wheat condition as 81.2 and spring 91.2.

Named by the President.

Washington, July 12.—The president yesterday made the following appointments:

Richard . Jerdeau to be general inspector of furniture and other furnishings, treasury department.

Frederick R. Spriggs of New York to be agent for the Indians of the Nevada agency in Nevada.

Rear Admiral Ammen Dead.

Washington, July 12.---Rear Admiral Ammen died at the navy hospital here Monday morning aged seventy-eight years. He was a native of Ohio.

TWO SHIPS CAN BE SAVED.

Board of Survey's Report on Examination of Spanish Wrecks.

Playa del Este, July 12.—The board of survey which has examined the wrecked ships of Admiral Cervera's squadron reports that the Maria Teresa and Cristobal Colon may be saved and made serviceable to our navy if prompt action is taken.

The board made a three days' examination of the Spanish ships. The cruisers Vizcaya and Almirante Oquendo and the torpedo boats Pluton and Furor are utter wrecks.

The main batteries of all of the ships can be saved.

The board has made four important recommendations, namely, that no wood should be used in the construction of warships; that no torpedoes should be carried on fighting vessels; that he rapid fire batteries on battleships are of supreme importance and that the fire of the main battery should be below the protective deck.

Sixty-one shell holes were found in the hull of the Almirante Oquendo, twenty-four in the Vizcaya, thirty-three in the Maria Teresa and eight in that of the Cristobal Colon.

The Vizcaya was blown up by her own torpedoes.

Washington, July 12.—The secretary of the navy has received a dispatch from Admiral Sampson in regard to the wrecking operations about to begin to raise two of the Spanish cruisers destroyed off Santiago a week ago. The message was in reply to a telegram sent by the navy department on Saturday, informing Sampson in regard to the size of the wrecking force sent to Santiago, and asking him if he required anything further. Sampson's reply stated that the apparatus and divers sent by the department were sufficient to perform the work required, and that nothing further would be needed to reclaim the wrecked battleships.

GENERAL SHAFTER'S STRENGTH

Estimated That He Now Has 22,850 Fighting Men at His Disposal.

Washington, July 12.—General Shafter's available force to-day, after counting all reinforcements and deducting the dead, sick and wounded, is 22,850 fighting men, according to military estimates.

This is based on an estimate of 16,000 men in General Shafter's original expedition and about 10,000 in various expeditions which have gone since then, making in all 26,000 men. Against this, however, must be deducted the casualties in the fighting thus far, and also the men confined to the hospital by sickness.

The deduction is roughly estimated at 3,000, leaving about 23,000 men available to-day as the fighting force of the American army.

The reinforcements that have gone forward are summed up as follows:

General Duffield's brigade, about 2,500 men; recruits for regular army, 950; First Illinois, 950; First District of Columbia, 850; six light batteries of United States artillery, 700; General Garretson's brigade, Eighth Ohio, 1,300; Sixth Massachusetts and Sixth Illinois, 2,600.

Another force of 2,500 men, comprising General Ernst's brigade, is ready to start, and with this force General Shafter's fighting strength will be swelled to about 25,000 men by the middle of this week.

CAMARA HOMEWARD BOUND.

The Spanish Fleet Leaves Port Said for Spain Direct After Coaling.

Port Said, July 12.—The remainder of Admiral Camara's fleet has sailed for Spain.

The Spanish armored cruiser Carlos V and ten Spanish transports remained outside this port yesterday morning, waiting for Admiral Camara, who, on board the Spanish battleship Pelayo, was expected to leave here in a few hours.

The Spanish admiral was allowed to tranship 600 tons of coal from the San Augustin in the harbor on furnishing a written guarantee that the Pelayo needed it, and that the entire Spanish squadron was returning to Spain direct.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON'S REPORT

Ensign Palmer Takes it to Washington for Examination by Authorities.

Washington, July 12.—Ensign Palmer has arrived in Washington bringing with him a series of reports from Admiral Sampson, including the reports of his subordinate officers describing the engagement resulting in the destruction of Cervera's squadron.

These reports were put under examination and it was stated that such parts of them as were deemed suitable for publication would be given to the press later.

Besides the reports of Admiral Sampson, the commander-in-chief, there are detailed reports from Captain Chadwick of the New York, Captain Phillip of the Texas, Captain Clarke of the Oregon, and Commodore Schley and Captain Cook of the Brooklyn, Lieutenant Sharp of the Vixen, Captain Evans of the Iowa, and Commander Wainwright of the Gloucester.

Cincinnati Ready to Cruise.

Fortress Monroe, July 12.—The cruiser Cincinnati, which for a month past has been undergoing repairs at the Norfolk navy yard, left her berth there at 5 o'clock Sunday evening and dropped down to Hampton Roads. Her officers have not yet been notified as to which squadron they will be assigned. The cruiser has had extensive repairs made to her machinery and hull.

Cotton Crops Report.

Washington, July 12.—The crop report of the department of agriculture, issued yesterday, says:

The cotton returns to the statistician of the department of agriculture made up to July 1, indicate an average condition of 91.2, as compared with 89 on June 1, 1898, with 86 on July 1, 1897, and with 92.5 on July 1, 1896.

Artillery Starts for Santiago.

Washington, July 12.—Batteries G and M of the Seventh artillery, which have been in barracks at Fort Myer, Va., left Washington yesterday en route for Santiago.

Madrid Tells of Peace Offer.

Madrid, July 12.--It is asserted that the United States makes the following demands as conditions of peace:

First, the possession of Cuba and Porto Rico and a port in the Canaries.

Second, an indemnity of 45,000,000 pounds (about $240,000,000).

Third, the retention of the Philippines as a guarantee of the payment of the indemnity.

These terms are regarded as impossible.

London, July 12.--The Berlin correspondent of the Standard says:

"The queen regent is willing to open peace negotiations with the United States without any mediation of the powers, provided the conditions are not too severe. Her maximum concession at present is a declaration of the independence of Cuba."

Washington, July 12.--Reports from Madrid that the United States has proposed terms of peace to Spain are pronounced in official circles to be the rankest nonsense. The United States government is conducting a war with all the vigor possible to compel Spain to sue for peace. So far the war has cost $360,000,000 in appropriations, with more to follow, even should hostilities cease at once.

There will be no peace until Spain asks for it, and Spain does not seem to have much sense in that direction.

Otis Will Sail To-day.

San Francisco, July 12.---Major General Otis has not yet received definite orders regarding the sailing of the next Manila expedition, but the impression prevails in militry circles that the transports Peru and City of Puebla will get away to-day. General Otis expects to sail on one of these steamers or a mail steamer, for he has been ordered to be in Honolulu when the formal annexation of Hawaii takes place.

There have been no new developments as to the transports engaged or the troops to be assigned to the fifth expedition to the Philippines. The gunboat Bennington is at anchor in the bay with steam up. She is ready to depart at a moment's notice. Her destination is not positively known, though she will probably go to Honolulu. The cruiser Philadelphia is rapidly being prepared for sea at the Mare island navy yard.

Work on the animal transport ship Tacoma began yesterday. She will carry 20 horses, besides a large quantity of stores and supplies for Manila. At Honolulu the horses will be landed and given a few days' exercise before proceeding to the Philippines.

Sick and Wounded Northward Bound.

Guantanamo Bay, July 12.---The Olivette is here, ready to sail at any moment for Hampton Roads with five hundred sick and wounded on board, among them being General H. S. Hawkins, Major A. O. Brodie, Major J. M. Bell, Captains Thomas T. Knox, James H. McClintock and Morton J. Henry and Lieutenants M. Nichols, J. R. Young, H. K. Devereaux and W. W. Fiscus.

Big Navy Dry Dock Almost Finished.

Washington, July 11.—Through the ingenuity of engineers at the Brooklyn navy yard the biggest warships of the navy soon will be able to go into dry dock there for repairs. The first of these probably will be the Iowa, which within three weeks can enter the new giant dry dock No. 2 to repair the damages received in the engagement with Admiral Cervera's squadron.

Cotton Mills Started Up.

Fall River, Mass., July 12.---The mills of twelve corporations operating about nine hundred thousand spindles, which have been closed since July 2, were started up again yesterday. The Slade mills continue shut down this week. The conditions of the print cloth market did not warrant running.

She Beats Forgers.

The inventive talent of Miss Jennie Wertheimer, a young lady of Cincinnati, O., has won for her a fortune.

Three years ago she hit upon a scheme for commercial paper which would effectually exclude all possibility of raising amounts on checks, forging names or otherwise tampering with its face value. The principal features of her invention lies in the form and particular make-up of the paper and checks to be used.

From the top of the note to the name of the person in favor of whom the amount is made out, the paper material has the usual thickness. But from that point, or rather just below the name, the paper gradually tapers until it becomes thin and transparent as tissue paper.

Now, if the amount has been raised, if any changes have been made from the original draft, or if any chemicals have been used or in any manner the note has been tampered with this will be shown immediately by holding it up against the light.

Miss Wertheimer placed the matter in the hands of a leading attorney of Cincinnati, and through him received an offer from a New York firm to sell her entire patent to them for $25,000 cash, they also to pay her attorney's fees.—New York World.

"I guess Mrs. Frills doesn't like that new French maid."

"What French maid?"

"I didn't know her name until I met Mrs. Frills yesterday. I said: 'How worried you look!' 'Do I?' said she, 'Well, it's only embong-pong.' And so I suppose that's the maid's name."

"What is?"

"Emma Bongpong." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Mother," said Miss Dolly Newrich, 'can't father afford a seat in the Senate?"

"A seat?" echoed the good lady, scornfully. "My dear, your father is rich enough to have a whole sofa if he desires it!"

BOMBARDMENT TO-DAY

Sunday's Attack Only a Preliminary Skirmish.

LATEST FROM THE FRONT

Numerous Despatches from Gen. Shafter but No Authentic News from the Fight Which is Believed is in Progress. The Ships Will Direct Their Attention to Morro Castle and the Forts. The Infantry Not Engaged.

Washington, July 12.---Although several dispatches were received at the war department from General Shafter up to 1 o'clock Monday, none of them gave a positive announcement that the battle had been resumed, as he intimated it would be in his dispatch received at 2 a. m. yesterday. The officials at the war department believe, however, that the bombardment is on, but they say they have no official confirmation to that eect, nor have they had any dispatches saying that a truce had been declared until 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

The dispatches from General Shafter yesterday were chiefly in regard to the formation of our lines around Santiago and the plan decided upon between the army and navy for the bombardment and attack. General Shafter gives the position of every brigade, regiment and battery. The extreme right of the line rests upon Santiago's water works and the left extends to near the San Juan heights.

If there has been a delay in the bombardment it is chiefly on account of the president's distinct order not to let General Toral and the Spanish army escape from Santiago. It has been evident that the Spanish general wished to get his troops out of the city, and has been asking for delay to further this plan. The president has ordered General Shafter not to allow this, and if the bombardment did not begin at an early hour yesterday morning it was because General Shafter has been placing his army completely around the city so as to prevent any escape.

The plan of battle as arranged is for both the army and navy to participate in the attack. General Shafter is going to use only the artillery and the heavy batteries. He will reserve the infantry fire until after he has silenced the Spanish batteries, and it is necessary to make the assault on the city.

The navy will assist the bombardment by shelling the forts at the entrance of the harbor, so as to make a passage for the war vessels to enter and make a direct attack upon the city. It is not the intention of Admiral Sampson to send in his large vessels, but to make a dash with a couple of his swift and light draft gunboats or smaller cruisers, which can run the mine fields. It is probable that the Vesuvius may be one of these vessels, for she can do great work with her dynamite guns.

The bombardment will be directed chiefly against the Spanish fortifications and guns, so as not to damage the city or set fire to the buildings, for to do so would be to only add to the suffering and distress of the refugees now at Siboney, who, after the fall of the city, will return to their own homes. It is General Shafter's opinion that when the combined forces of the army and navy begin their bombardment in earnest and the Spanish find that all points of escape are closed, they will surrender, and he will not be obliged to risk the lives of his infantry.

There is a good deal of anxiety expressed in official circles over the situation at Santiago, because the dispatches received yesterday morning giving account of the battle shows it to have been more severe and disastrous than at first thought. The fact that two officers were killed shows that it must have been a severe struggle.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—The war department is advised of the arrival off Santiago yesterday of the auxiliary cruiser Yale, with General Miles and his staff and a portion of Garretson's brigade.

General Miles had a conference with Admiral Sampson and later conferred with General Shafter by means of the signal service telephone wires. General Miles approved of the plans of General Shafter for the present operations against Santiago.

News from Madrid.

Madrid, July 12.—The newspapers of this city openly discuss the imminence of the ministerial crisis, owing to the attitude of Senor Gamazo, the minister of public instruction.

The Official Correspondencia confirms the report of the cabinet crisis.

The Imparcial says of Sunday's cabinet meeting:

"We think importance should be attached to the fact that Spain will reap great advantages in negotiating for peace before Santiago and Manila, and perhaps even Porto Rico are captured, as should the Americans occupy these places their terms will naturally be harder."

The Imparcial then adds:

"It is most probable that the government will telegraph Captain General Blanco to this effect urging him to direct the opinion of the army toward this solution. On General Blanco's reply depends whether the government commences negotiations immediately, without waiting the outcome of the situation at Santiago de Cuba."

The Liberal publishes an interview with a minister, who is quoted as saying that a cabinet crisis might occur to-day, to-morrow or next week, but that in any case it will not long be delayed.

The minister is said to have added that the crisis would be the occasion for the whole ministry resigning in a body.

A Frost in July.

Haines Falls, N. Y., July 12.---A heavy frost was visible here Monday morning. The fields and roofs of buildings were completely covered, as though with snow.

The mercury was down to freezing point at four o'clock yesterday morning.

SPANISH LEAVING SANTIAGO.

Many of the Volunteers Fleeing. A Deserter's Report.

At General Shafter's Headquarters, July 10, via Port Antonio, July 12.—Deserters from the Spanish ranks this morning included one of the non-commissioned officers. He said the situation in Santiago was bad, but by no means hopeless from the Spanish point of view. He said the troops had food enough for their present needs, were in good health and would make a good fight when they were called upon.

He said the men were given $4 each on Saturday, and as it was the first money they had received in many months, they were feeling very cheerful. The water supply for the Spanish troops is getting quite bad and the amount of it is somewhat limited, although up to this time there has been no serious distress on this account.

Desertions from the ranks of the Spanish volunteers continue, and it is now said that fully 5,000 men, who have agreed to fight for Spain are out of the city.

A party of 500 cavalry left the city Sunday morning, marching in the direction of Holguin. The Spanish infantry have removed all light articles from the trenches to facilitate the movement in case the abandonment of the city is determined upon.

SPANISH ARMY MUST NOT ESCAPE.

Explicit Instructions on This Point Sent to Shafter.

Washington, July 12.—Notice from General Shafter to the effect that he proposed to renew the assault and bombardment of Santiago yesterday intensified the interest with which news from the front is being awaited at the war department, and there were many inquiris at the office of the adjutant general, for the latest dispatches. To all of these, but one answer was returned. To General Shafter had been given a free hand to deal with the situation, subject to but one condition, namely, that the Spaniards in Santiago must be captured, and he had not informed the war department as to the details of his plans further than was from him Sunday.

The president himself was so much concerned over the possible escape of the Spanish force that he directed the sending of explicit orders to General Shafter to prevent it at all hazards.

NO YELLOW FEVER IN CAMP.

Country Where They Are Stationed Is Not Subject to the Dreaded Scourge.

Washington, July 12.—Surgeon General Walter Wyman of the marine hospital service said yesterday that neither he nor General Sternberg had received any report from their officers indicating that there was any yellow fever among the American troops now in Cuba.

All the wounded and sick soldiers who have been brought to the United States for treatment have been carefully examined for symptoms of yellow fever.

General Wyman said that the only fever among them was malaria. General Wyman said that at this time of year there is always a large number of cases of yellow jack, but he further said that the disease was not prevalent in the country surrounding the camp of the troops on account of the high hills and mountains.

Individuals Get the Bonds.

Washington, July 12.—Subscriptions for the $200,000,000 bond issue, which will close on Thursday of this week, continue to come in rapidly, and the loan will be subscribed several times over.

The intention of Congress to make a popular loan will be carried out, and the present indications are that it will be distributed among at least 200,000 individuals, the average amount of bonds allotted to any one person being $1,000.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Vanderlip stated yesterday afternoon that he individual subscriptions would amount to more than the entire loan, and not a bond would go to any bank, corporation or firm.

Schley Gives Credit to Sampson.

Washington, July 12.—Commodore W. S. Schley has cabled to the navy department expressing regret at the controversy which has arisen regarding the officers who should have the credit for the victory off Santiago de Cuba on July 3.

The credit properly belongs, he says, to the commander-in-chief. He says that Rear Admiral Sampson, in his official reports, will distribute praise to those deserving it.

Rear Admiral Sampson has cabled to the department declaring that there is no friction between himself and Commodore Schley.

All Expected to Live.

Tampa, Fla., July 12.---All of the wounded soldiers left in Tampa by the hospital trains are getting along very nicely and the surgeons in attendance do not anticipate the wounds of any of them will result fatally.

The men were carried to the hospital in the camp on Tampa Heights, and the change from cramped quarters on shipboard was greatly appreciated by all of them. There are not more than a dozen who are unable to walk around a little, and, therefore, the change is certainly for the best.

In Special Session.

Albany, N. Y., July 12.—The state legislature convened last evening at their chambers in the Capitol, pursuant to the call issued by Governor Black. Both houses were called to order at about 8 o'clock, and after organizing an adjournment was taken until 11 o'clock this morning.

Torpedo Boats En Route for Spain

WATSON WILL SAIL

Opposition to the Expedition is Set Aside.

A WAR COUNCIL IS HELD

The Peace-at-Any-Price Party Have Sought to Hinder the Expedition. Their Objection Has Been Overruled and the War Council Decides to Send the Fleet to Spain as Planned. The Original Orders Will Be Executed.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—President McKinley summoned the members of the war board to the White House at noon yesterday.

Those who responded to the call and were present at the ensuing conference were Secretary Long, Commodore Crowninshield, Chief of the bureau of navigation, Captain Mahan and Admiral Sicard.

The subject of discussion at the conference was the sending of Commodore Watson's fleet to menace the coast of Spain. For several days past President McKinley has been told by a number of prominent senators that it would be a mistake for us to send a fleet to Spain. The argument that they have used in opposition to the proposed movement is that it would unnecessarily complicate our relations with foreign governments and would result in little material gain to our arms; that, as it would be impossible for us to occupy Spanish territory, all that we could do would be to bombard a few of the coast cities and destroy some property and lives.

It is significant that the opposition to the sending of a fleet to Spain at this time comes from the members of the old pro-Spanish peace-at-any-price contingent in the Senate.

On the other hand, the secretary of the navy, Commodore Crowninshield and the members of the war board are most emphatic in their opposition to any change in the programme in connection with the dispatch of our fleet to Spain. They urged the president yesterday to let the present orders stand, which require the sailing of the fleet at the earliest possible moment, and they stated to him that this course, in their judgment, is more likely to bring about a speedy settlement than any other that can be adopted.

The secretary as well as the chief of the bureau of navigation think that the effect of the appearance of our warships off the Spanish coast will be to strengthen the peace party there.

At the close of the conference the members of the war board announced that no change had been made in the plans for Watson's fleet and that with the exception of certain details in connection with the make up of the fleet the orders already issued by the secretary in regard to its sailing would be carried out. One member of the board, however, intimated that some opposition to the proposed plans for the fleet had developed at the conference, but that no change has been made in the programme.

Senator Spooner of Wisconsin, who is a warm personal friend of the president, called at the White House yesterday afternoon to bid President McKinley good bye. As he was leaving the White House he said: "There is, in my judgment, only one course to pursue. We should take Santiago just as speedily as possible, leave a strong garrison of negro troops in charge of the place and get the rest of our troops off the island of Cuba and keep them away from Cuba until fall.

"I strongly favor the sending of our fleet to Spain. The conference between the president and the war board must have been an exceedingly interesting one, and there is but little doubt but that there is some difference of opinion between the president and the prominent naval officers composing the board in regard to the time for dispatching our fleet to Spain."

Rear Admiral Erben Relieved.

New York, July 12.---Rear Admiral Erben, who since the outbreak of the war has been in command of the coast defence fleet, with headquarters in the Army building in this city, has been relieved of his command by the secretary of the navy. Admiral Erben spent yesterday morning at headquarters, and left yesterday afternoon. He will be succeeded by Captain John W. Bartlett. In addition to the orders relieving Admiral Erben all the officials in his office have received orders directing them to report in Washington immediately, where the affairs of the coast defence fleet will henceforth be administered under the eye of the navy department.

New Jersey's New Regiment.

Camp Voorhees, Sea Girt, July 12.---The camp has been put in readiness for the reception of the Fourth New Jersey volunteers, who will arrive in camp to-day.

Five of the companies are from Jersey City, three from Trenton and one each from Camden, Woodbury and Stockton. Colonel Robert G. Smith of the Fourth N. J. N. G. regiment will be the commander of the new regiment.

The first battalion will be made up probably of four of the five companies to be supplied from Jersey City, with Henry Lehmann of Hoboken as major.

Against the Carnegie Company.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 12.---Judge Acheson of the United States circuit court has handed down an opinion in the case of the United States Mitis Company against the Carnegie Steel company. The finding is that the defendant company has infringed a process of the plaintiffs for manufacturing castings from wrought iron and steel by adding aluminum. The case is one of the most important in years and involves the manufacture of armor plate.

More Trouble in Corea.

Yokohama, July 12.---Another plot at Seul, the capital of Corea, against the government, has been disclosed, and several prominent officials have been arrested on a charge of complicity. Others, including a former minister of war, have fled.

Asphalt or Vitrified Brick.

Like Plainfield, Passaic is pondering over what is the best permanent pavement and is unable to arrive at a confident conclusion as to whether vitrified brick or asphalt is the most durable. Unquestionably both are clean, smooth and beautiful. But it is wear which determines the actual value, and on this point a good deal of doubt seems to exist.

The Passaic News has made the rather novel suggestion that a test be made by paving one-half of a street with asphalt and the other half with vitrified brick, and after a year's use decide in favor of the method that shows the best results. The Paterson Press decries this suggestion as decidedly impracticable. It seems to us that The Press is about right in its conclusions.

The city of Syracuse has spent large sums of money in the last few years in the improvement of its streets, and the official opinion of Mayor Jacob Amos on this question is not only interesting but of value as showing practical experience:

The asphalt pavement laid in Syracuse since 1889 cost from $2 to $3.90 per square yard. But the $2 pavement was simply a low bid for one company to get a foothold here, and does not represent a fair cost. The $3.90 is a ten year guarantee. The average price for the five year guarantee of asphalt is about $2.50. The brick average for five year guarantee is $2.18. This is all on a concrete foundation of 6 inches. The cement used is Rosendale. I am informed, and it is my belief, that the average life of the asphalt is from seven to eight years. The greatest length of time that the brick pavement has been laid in Syracuse is five seasons. There have been no repairs on the brick pavement up to the present time. An asphalt pavement and a brick pavement that was laid five seasons ago would be a good comparison. The asphalt has been repaired for the last two years, and the brick has not had a dollar's expense and is in good condition. The brick pavement referred to carries the heaviest traffic we have in the city of Syracuse. The asphalt I mentioned is on a resident street. In my opinion, the brick pavement will outlast two asphalts, if you get a good brick that is properly constructed. It is very essential to have a good foundation to any pavement.

Poor Postal Service at the Shore.

For several years past newspaper publishers have come to regard Asbury Park as the champion town of the Eastern States in developing complaints from subscribers who either fail to get their papers at all or else receive them after several days of delay. It is a notorious fact the postal facilities in Asbury Park are totally inadequate to the number of people that have to be served in the summer season, and though countless complaints and appeals have been made to the authorities at Washington in reference to the matter, the aggravating condition of affairs still prevails there.

If Postmaster Bird, of this city, was compelled to shoulder a bag and go forth to distribute mail, what would the people of Plainfield think? Undoubtedly they would think that Uncle Sam was not doing the right thing for Plainfield.

Well, that's just exactly what the postmaster of Asbury Park has to do nowadays. And in the summer months Asbury Park is from ten to thirty thousand greater in population than Plainfield. Asbury Park deserves and should receive better attention from the hands of the postoffice department in Washington.

—T. Callahan, the Richmond street grocer, has had a new telephone put in his store. The number is 652.

LIEUTENANT COMMANDER WAINWRIGHT.

Among those who won special fame in the destruction of Cervera's fleet was Lieutenant Commander Richard Wainwright. His daring work on the Gloucester (formerly J. P. Morgan's yacht Corsair) was something in the line of naval warfare that history rarely equals. Lieutenant Wainwright is a son of Commodore Wainwright.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Revenue Commissioner Scott has decided that express companies and not shippers must place the war stamps on bills of lading and duplicates. This is obviously the intent of the law, not only as regards express companies, but telegraph companies also. The chances are that an appeal to the Commissioner relative to stamps on telegrams would be followed by a decision compelling the placing of them by the companies. Corporations are likely to try to thrust both the cost and the trouble upon their patrons, if possible, relying upon the American disposition to growl, and let it go at that.—Newark News.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The season is now approaching when the victims of hay fever begin their annual period of suffering. There is a general exodus among those who are able to go the mountains and such resorts as claim exemption from the horrors of that dread fever. Now nobody ever dies of hay fever, but only those who have been through its throes can appreciate the full unpleasantness of it. The victim loses all ambition and feels that it makes no difference what happens. Faculties are dulled, the head is stopped up and the poor sufferer sneezes and wheezes without hope of relief until the cold weather comes or the fever goes away of its own accord.

* * * * *

There is one farmer, living on the outskirts of "Greater Plainfield" who has an unfailing argument among the small boys that visit his farm and help themselves to his apples and chestnuts. It comes in the shape of a charge of rock salt from the farmer's trusty old shotgun. On one corner of the farm there is a swimming hole which the small boys of the city and borough find very convenient in these warm days. The aged farmer objects to the visits of the small boys as they often follow their swim with a taste of his fruit, so several years ago he tried the novel method of shooting the trespassers with rock salt. Several times his aim has been true and the small boy has wailed and bemoaned his sad fate. After eating his meals from the mantel piece for a week, the youthful adventurer recovers and tries it again.

* * * *

Three fishermen left Plainfield yesterday. They were Dr. Thiers, Justice Eli Long and Druggist Horsley Barker. They drove to South Amboy. They hired a boat. They bought some bait. They rowed out on to the bosom of the Raritan. They anchored. They baited their hooks. They flung their lines into the water. They waited. The fish were playing the game of "Nibbling Without Getting Caught." All waited patiently. That is part of a fisherman's duty. And thus and more like it was the scene. Suddenly Judge Long brightened up. It was there. For the Judge could feel it. He pulled lightly. The Judge took on a happy smile. He mentally figured out that it must weigh at least five pounds. "Ah, boys, I tell you, there's nothing like luck." It felt like a whopper. It was. The Judge braced himself. His hand moved like lightning to wind up the reel. He was about to land a prize. His face was aglow with wonder. With a final lunge the Judge hauled in. Lo and behold, he had captured a slimy specimen of a boot leg, cast into the sea because of its worthlessness by its one time owner. The Judge was left speechless. That was his luck. A few minutes later Druggist Barker felt a rug on his line. He pulled gently. "A wary one, a gamey one, it is," argued Barker. "Here, quick, Doc, take this reel; you are on to the tricks. I'm not fisherman enough to land him." Doc Thiers took up his post at the end of the rod. He worked like a Trojan to land the monster. The captive was fighting. Fighting like the mischief. But Thiers was landing him slowly. Barker grabbed the net to aid Thiers. With a long sweep he towed the net into the water and up in under where he figured Mr. Fish would be struggling on the hook. The line drew taut. Barker drew up his net. It was heavily laden. It was the boat anchor. Barker and Thiers fell in a faint. The Judge roared and doused water in their faces. They revived. They rowed to shore. They paid their boat hire. They drove home. They tried to keep their fishing expedition a dark secret. But it's out. They'll likely say it's not so. But it's the truth.

A FINE WATER TRIP.

Hudson River and Peoples Line Attractive to Tourists.

There is indescribable splendor in the sunset or sunrise on the Hudson river, and the best opportunity for appreciating the beauties of nature along this majestic stream is a trip taken on one of the boats of the Peoples Line—maintaining the finest river craft in the whole country. The boats leave Albany and New York every evening when there is yet time to see Old Sol go down in all his glory, and while they are still plying towards their destination at the other end of the river he has traveled his course around the globe and appears on the horizon to greet the passengers with his early morning rays.

But the sunset and sunrise are mere incidentals of the trips afforded by the steamers of the Peoples Line. To go the length of the Hudson on either the Adirondack or Dean Richmond is a journey that lingers long in the mind as one of the pleasureable memories of recreation time. The Adirondack and the Dean Richmond are magnificient crafts, fitted throughout in a sumptous manner and officered by crews whose duties seem determined only by the greatest pleasure that can be given the patrons of the line.

Plainfielders who are in doubt as to just where they will spend their vacations cannot do better than to lay out plans so as to take in a trip on the Hudson by one of the Peoples Line boats. They will never regret it.

Boats leave New York and Albany every week-day evening at 8 o'clock. For particulars address M. B. Waters, general passenger agent, Peoples Line Steamers, Albany, N. Y.

—The annual excursion of the First Baptist church and Sunday school to Asbury Park will occur Thursday, July 28th.

—The Red Cross Degree was conferred on four candidates by the members of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., last evening.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

The Reverential Position Mrs. Stow Held Toward Her Famous Work.

Late in life, when Mrs. Stowe was nearing her end, she was accosted one evening while walking in her garden by a retired sea captain. "When I was younger," said he, holding his hat in his hand, "I read 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' The story impressed me, and I am happy to shake hands with you, Mrs. Stowe, who wrote it."

"I did not write it," answered the white-haired old lady, shaking the captain's hand.

"You didn't!" exclaimed the old man. "Why, who did, then?"

"God wrote it," she replied. "I merely wrote as he dictated."

"Amen!" responded the captain, walking reverently away.

This anecdote, quoted in Mrs. Field's "Life and Letters of Mrs. Stowe," illustrates the mental and spiritual position toward her great work which the gifted author always maintained.

Years before she told a friend, while they were disrobing for the night, that she did not write the book.

"What!" exclaimed the amazed friend. "You did not write 'Uncle Tom?'"

"No; I merely put down what I saw," answered Mrs. Stowe.

"But you have never been at the South, have you?" asked the lady.

"No; but it all came before me in visions, one after another, and I put them down in words."

"But," insisted the skeptical friend, "you must have arranged the events."

"No; your daughter reproached me for letting Eva die. Why, I could not help it! I felt as badly as any one could! It was like a death in my own family, and it affected me so deeply that I could not write a word for two weeks after her death."

"And did you know," asked the friend, "that Uncle Tom would die?"

"Oh, yes; I knew he must die from the first, but I did not know how," said Mrs. Stowe. "When I got to that part of the story I saw no more for some time. I was physically exhausted, too. One day, after dinner," she continued, "Mr. Stowe and I went to our room to rest. He threw himself upon the bed. I was to use the lounge. Suddenly there arose before me the death of Uncle Tom, with what led to it. I sat down at the table and wrote nine pages of foolscap paper without pausing.

"Just as I had finished Mr. Stowe awoke. 'Wife,' said he, 'have you not lain down yet?'

"'No,' I answered, 'I have been writing, and I wish you would listen to this and see if it will do.'

"I read it aloud to him, with the tears flowing fast. He wept, too, and before I had finished his sobs shook the bed upon which he was lying. He sprang up, saying: 'Do! I should think it would do!' and, folding the sheets, he directed and sent them to the publisher. I have often thought if anything happened to that package in going it would not have been possible for me to have reproduced it."

Long after this conversation Mrs. Stowe, in a preface to a new edition of "Uncle Tom," said that many years before she thought of writing the book she had written a sketch of the death of an old slave, and read it to her children, who were much affected by it. This, in part, was the original idea of "Uncle Tom."

The next time the friend before mentioned saw Mrs. Stowe she reminded her of the former conversation, and suggested that the two accounts were inconsistent with each other. "No," said Mrs. Stowe, "both are true. I had forgotten that I had written that sketch, and I suppose I unconsciously wove it in with the other."—Youth's Companion.

THE WOMAN'S WORLD

Good Temper for a Beautiful Face.

According to the Pittsburg Dispatch bad temper is beauty's greatest foe. It curdles the blood and brings wrinkles, and a bad complexion is the result. The following advice is given to women who wish to preserve their good looks or to improve their bad ones:

"Take a wholesome delight in physical exercises and outdoor sports. The pale, delicate girl is no longer 'interesting.'

"Have freedom and comfort in dress at all times.

"Decide upon a definite aim in life and choose one that is worthy of an immortal soul.

"Be superior to envy, jealousy and uncharitableness.

"Control your temper for the sake of your good looks, as well as for your health. It is not enough, either, merely to keep from giving anger its outward expression. A smouldering fire is far more dangerous to health than that which comes to the surface and is quickly extinuished. A disposition which continually 'boils' within often finds physical expression in boils and ulcers. Wrath has a natural tendency to curdle the blood, and the continued curdled condition is bound to show itself on the surface sooner or later. It is an old story that anger interferes with the digestion, a fact which is nevertheless frequently disregarded, as more than one irascible dyspeptic can testify.

"Live above worry, care, fear, and all other corroding and inharmonious thought.

"Finally, cultivate a sweetly serene frame of mind under all circumstances. Do not allow yourself to be a creature of moods, in depths of gloom and depression one day and on the heights of hilarity and mirth the next."

On Their Service Very Force.

In preparing for an engagement the first duty of seamanship is to clear the decks for action, and every individual in daily conflict with work and worry may wisely follow the example. A large part of the nervous strain to which the present generation confesses itself subject is probably produced by the constant friction with intrusive bric-a-brac. Fringed and floating draperies beset doors and hallways, glass and pottery crowd tables and shelves, we hardly thread a devious way through our own homesteads amid a multitude of fragile trifles that require a skill rivaling that of the trained egg dancer. At the writing desk the thoughts that should freely flow to the point of the pen are distracted by an observance due to a host of obstacles, styled appointments, which were better described as clutter.

The busy girl who, rising heroically to the occasion, swept her dressing case free of encumbrances and decided to be henceforth plain—clean, burst at one blow the bonds that had shackled her body and mind and shattered her temper.

Our daily lives should be surrounded by grace and beauty, but common sense is needed in the discrimination of what constitutes this desirable loveliness. Harmony of color and of design abide perennially in simplicity, but often escape from that aggregation of trifles which, although petty in themselves, form an assemblage as dreary as the shelf of a museum. The world is crying for rest, and each individual might begin to fight for its attainment in private life by decimating that army of trifles that has been allowed to gather in battle array against our peace.—New Century Journal.

The Two Tone Wax Seal.

The two tone seal in wax on an envelope made to match the two tone monogram on the paper is a mystery to any one not in the secret. For instance, a silver monogram and raised ornamentation on a blue background is easily duplicated in the seal. The background is of wax to match the background of the monogram.

When ready to seal the envelope dip the seal in the oil, and wipe it quite dry, except the engraving, where the oil remains. Then dip the oily seal into the silver powder, and brush across the seal, leaving no silver except in those same indentations of the engraved monogram. Melt the wax and drop it on to the proper place, and seal as usual. The oil will have taken up the silver powder into the monogram, and the warm wax taken it out of the monogram, so that all the raised ornamentation is coated over with the silver powder.—New York Herald.

An Experience Worth Trying.

London women have discovered a very agreeable way of ridding their houses of flies and mosquitoes. They burn sandal wood in the house. This is a oriental idea. In London it is possible to get the wood prepared for this purpose, but here it is not so easy, as American women have not yet taken to the practice. Sandal wood can be bought at almost any Turkish or Japanese importing house. It is prepared for burning by being first cut into small pieces half an inch in thickness and three inches in length. Then it is baked or dried out in a slow oven for twenty-four hours. A piece of the wood is put into a metal urn, lighted and allowed to burn until well aflame, when the flame is extinguished and the red hot ember left to smoulder until the wood is consumed and nothing is left but a heap of fine gray ashes. During the smouldering process the wood sends out a sweet and aromatic smoke.—Philadelphia Ledger.

LINES.

My fairest child, I have no song to give you,
No lark could pipe to skies so dull and gray;
Yet, ere we part, one lesson I can leave you
For every day.

Be good, sweet maid, and let who will be clever
Do noble things, do not dream them, all day long:
And so make life, death and that vast forever
One grand, sweet song.

—Charles Kingsley.

When Its Bedtime at the Zoo.

It was sunset time in summer and the gentle animals of the zoo in one of the great cities of the world were in yards and folds outside the buildings. When the writer reached the enclosure belonging to mother elephant there was a large number of men, women and children standing along the fence. They were very quiet as if they were afraid of disturbing some one. As I stopped by the fence and looked in the yard a small girl touched my skirt, pursed up her mouth and, giving me a solemn look of warning, pointed to the elephants.

Mamma elephant had her trunk around her baby's neck and seemed to be whispering and encouraging him as he rubbed his head against her knee. He stood a moment, then raised his head, flapped his big little ears, gave a flirt of his little cord of a tail, and trotted off by his mother's side to the center of the yard, and there she left him and went to a pile of hay that stood in a corner; this she took up, bunch by bunch, with her trunk, so nicely that she did not drop a wisp of it, and spread it around her child, who had not stirred from the spot where she had left him.

When the hay had been all spread around the baby, the mother stepped into the center and began to tread it down with her feet, the little one following her motions exactly until a perfectly even space had been trodden down; then mamma elephant stepped out again, went to the farther side of the yard and fumbled about the ground with her trunk. As she came back her baby flourished his small trunk and flapped his ears, making at the same time a soft grunting sound, as if he knew what was coming and liked it.

This time mamma stood outside the baby's bed, and, beginning with the back of his ears, blew a cloud of fine dust into the folds of skin behind them; then into those around his legs and under him, till he was thoroughly powdered for the night. This done, she again put her trunk about his body, the little fellow dropped to his knees on his carefully trodden bed, and, after a few soft pats and a few soft grunts from his mother, he lay as a well trained child of the elephant family should.

The mother's work, however, was not yet done; she took up delicately the hay from the edge of the bed, and began tossing it lightly along his sides and up towards his back, till his rides no longer showed.

When all was done the small girl who had warned me not to disturb the proceedings, heaved a great sigh and turning to me, said:

"I would just like to know what they do it for!" So I told her, explaining the habit wild animals have of treading their beds, to make sure there are no snakes in the grass; the necessity of dust powdering the young, whose skin is tender in the folds, and who are troubled by insects; the piling up of dry grass around them to conceal them from the possible hunter.—Northern Christian Advocate.

Youngest of Mail Carriers.

Andalusia, Bucks county, Pa., has a modern boy wonder. His name is Albert Francis Hoffmier King; he is seven years old; a real letter carrier and so fond of work that he declines to eat his breakfast until he has seen his mail safely to the postoffice.

Every morning at 5 o'clock the youngster climbs out of his comfortable bed and trudges down to the postoffice, a little one, not far from his home. The postoffice is called Lower Andalusia, and the mail has to be taken to the larger office at Upper Andalusia. It is quite a tramp—more than a mile—and the route, Uncle Sam has decreed, must be travelled five times every day, beginning with the early morning trip referred to.

It makes no difference whether it is sunshine or storm, the little fellow trudges manfully over his route, as he calls it, on schedule time, and has never during the year he has acted as mail carrier, missed a single mail or in any way caused a single letter to be delayed—something not very many grown up people in the government postal service can truthfully say. Indeed, so notable has this little boy's trustworthiness become that the government officials at Washington have heard of it and think the little carrier at Andalusia is something of a juvenile marvel.

In connection with the boy's work it is worthy of note that his teachers say he stands very high in his studies, that he is if anything brighter and fresher so far as his mentality is concerned than the majority of boys who have no tasks to interfere with their studies, and that he is as well stocked with ambition as most boys who boast of twice his years.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Der Gendarm Neustadt von Brumath passirte neulich mit einem an den Händen gefesselten Gefangenen das Centrum der Stadt. An der Ecke der Schlauchgasse machte der Gefangene einen Fluchtversuch. Am Neukirchplatz wurde er von dem Gendarmen eingeholt und furchtbar mißhandelt. Der Gefangene erhielt tiefe Hiebwunden in die Schädeldecke, im Nacken, im Gesäße, Rücken; an den Beinen wies er gleichfalls schwere Verwundungen auf.

Wien. In der Volkshalle des Wiener Rathhauses beschloß die nächtliche Versammlung der Tramwayleute, der Direktion ihre Verachtung wegen der Entlassung eines Führers auszusprechen, jedoch nicht zu striken, weil die christlich-sozialen wie sozialdemokratischen Führer entschieden abriethen.—In der städtischen Pfandleihanstalt in Rudolphsheim wurden, laut Rechnungsabschluß, im vergangenen Etatsjahre 180,291 Pfänder mit 737,566 Gulden belehnt und 170,147 Pfänder, welche mit 695,069 Gulden belehnt waren, ausgelöst. Der Personenverkehr betrug durchschnittlich 980 Personen täglich.

Brünn. Neulich Abends kam es an mehreren Punkten der Stadt zu Reibereien zwischen deutschen und tschechischen Passanten. Die Polizei schritt wiederholt ein, zerstreute mehrfache Ansammlungen und verhaftete eine Anzahl den arbeitenden Klassen angehöriger Personen, welche alsbald wieder entlassen wurden. Vier Personen wurden leicht verletzt.

Budapest. In verschiedenen Gegenden Ungarns tritt die Pellagra-Krankheit verheerend auf.

Innsbruck. Bei Hall sprang eine unbekannte Frau in den Inn; eine zweite sprang ihr nach, wie man glaubt, um sie zu retten. Beide ertranken.

Koszulce. Während einer Messe in der hiesigen Kirche schlug der Blitz ein. Fünf Personen wurden getödtet, 25 schwer, 100 leicht verletzt. Außer der Kirche brannten mehrere Bauernhäuser ab.

Krakau. Kürzlich unternahm eine Anzahl von Sträflingen des hiesigen Zuchthauses einen gemeinsamen Fluchtversuch. Mehreren zu schweren Kerkerstrafen verurtheilten Häftlingen, darunter auch einem zum Tode verurtheilten Mörder, gelang es, das Gitter eines Fensters auszuheben. Der Versuch wurde noch rechtzeitig entdeckt und vereitelt.

Wolfenbüttel. Kürzlich ist ein gefährlicher Taschendieb, der frühere Hausdiener Springmann, auf dem Transport in die hiesige Strafanstalt, in der er eine dreijährige Zuchthausstrafe verbüßen sollte, entsprungen.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Nach dem Voranschlage der Stadt Darmstadt für das Verwaltungsjahr 1898—99 balanziren für die Stadtkasse Einnahmen und Ausgaben mit 4,547,200 Mark gegen 4,895,093 Mark im Vorjahre.—Hier erschoß ein Bäckergeselle einen bei demselben Meister bediensteten Hausburschen auf dessen Wunsch. Darauf versuchte der Bäckergeselle aus Angst Selbstmord, indem er sich in den Kopf schoß; die Polizei brachte den Verletzten in's Hospital. Der Hausbursche hatte Gelder des Arbeitsgebers unterschlagen und schon vorher Selbstmordgedanken geäußert.

Bingen. Die Stadtverordnetenversammlung hat beschlossen, durch ein Polizeireglement das Spritzen der Weinberge in der Gemarkung Bingen obligatorisch zu machen.

Mainz. Zwischen der Stadt und der Eisenbahn-Direktion wurde ein Abkommen getroffen, wonach die Stadt die elektrische Beleuchtung der gesammten Bahnanlagen, des Verwaltungsgebäudes u. s. w. übernimmt, sobald das Elektrizitätswerk fertig ist. Die in der Stadt angestellte Umfrage wegen Abnahme elektrischer Energie ergab bis jetzt, daß 23,000 Glühlampen, 650 Bogenlampen und 550 Pferdekräfte zum Betrieb für Motoren verlangt werden; man rechnet auf Verdoppelung dieser Zahlen.

Bayern.

München. Hier wurde eine höhere Mädchenschule eröffnet, die unter der Protektion der Prinzessin Ludwig Ferdinand begründet wurde und deren Namen—Maria de la Paz—tragen wird. Die Prinzessin hat mit ihrem Gemahle, der ein überaus eifriger Arzt ist, vor einigen Jahren hier auch ein besonderes Krankenhaus geschaffen.—Wie in Norddeutschland macht man auch in Bayern die Wahrnehmung, daß die Zahl der zündenden Blitzschläge auf dem Lande größer ist als in der Stadt. Bei den vielen Gewittern, über die heuer fast täglich berichtet wird, ist eine größere Anzahl von Gehöften vom Blitze getroffen worden und ganz oder theilweise niedergebrannt.

Die der Gemeinde Burgsinn zugesprochenen Waldungen umfassen circa 2600 Hektar.

Fürth. Bei Stadeln wurde ein Gastwirth, als er die Fahne von seinem Hause herabholen wollte, von einem Blitzstrahl getroffen und getödtet.

Gemünden. Ein Lehrer behandelte in der Geschichtsstunde Napoleon den Ersten und die Begründung des Rheinbundes u. s. w. Als er repetirte und einen Schüler fragte, welchen Bund Napoleon gegründet habe, erhielt er die prompte Antwort: „Den Bauernbund."

Landshut. Hier ist im Alter von 78 Jahren der Besitzer der klerikalen „Landshuter Zeitung" und der Thomann'schen Buchhandlung, Buchdruckerei und lithographischen Anstalt, Kommerzienrath v. Zabuznig gestorben.

Passau. Ein Bäckerlehrling schlenderte mit seiner Butte auf dem Rücken am Donauquai unachtsam dahin und stürzte an einer Zugangsstiege plötzlich in die Fluthen. Der Lootse der kaiserlich königlichen privaten Donau-Dampfschifffahrts-Gesellschaft, Herr Anton Gruber, ein schon bejahrter Mann, der sich zufällig in der Nähe befand, sprang in den Fluß und brachte den Burschen, dessen Butte bereits Wasser geschöpft hatte und ihn in die Tiefe zog, an das Land, nachdem er selbst in Gefahr war und um Hilfe rufen mußte.

Regensburg. Beim Abbruch des Gasthauses „Zur rothen Lilie" fanden Arbeiter eine große Anzahl alter Silbermünzen böhmischen Gepräges und einen in der Form einer Schale geschmolzenen Silberklumpen. Statt von dem Funde, der auf 2000 Mark gewerthet ist, Anzeige zu erstatten, theilten die Arbeiter ihn unter sich, weshalb sie (acht Mann) verhaftet wurden. Zur Kenntniß kam der Fund und dessen Entwendung dadurch, daß gelegentlich einer kürzlich abgehaltenen polizeilichen Razzia einer der betreffenden Arbeiter aufgegriffen und bei ihm eine große Anzahl der alten Münzen vorgefunden wurde.

JEALOUS PET HORSE.

His Feelings Hurt Because His Mistress Fed His Stable Mate.

In a boarding stable in New York there is a horse whose name is Tatters. He is the pet of Mrs. D., who owns and drives him. She always gives him an apple or carrot before starting on a drive, and another on returning, the latter being given after the bridle has been removed; and he has learned to wait patiently for the dainty until that time.

On the same floor of the stable is Mr. B.'s horse, Phil. Mrs. D. used frequently to give an apple to Phil, after giving one to Tatters. The latter would manifest displeasure at this in a mild way, but his demonstrations never went beyond the shaking of his head and laying back of his ears.

But one evening, while Tatters, who had just come in, was waiting for the removal of his bridle, Phil, who was ahead of him, was the recipient of an apple from Mrs. D.'s hand while she stood talking to Mr. B.

A moment later the groom had removed Tatters's bridle and at once his mistress offered him an apple. He turned his head away and refused to touch the fruit. Mrs. D. followed him into his stall and tried to coax him, but he began munching his hay and would not look at her.

Then Mr. B., and after him the groom tried to induce Tatters to take the apple, but to no purpose; he was hurt because his mistress had given an apple to Phil before giving one to him, and he would not forgive the affront.

His owner's feelings were much like those of the horse, and she left the stable with tears in her eyes. Before starting out the next day she had a friend give a carrot instead of an apple to Tatters, in the hope that if he had not forgotten the unintended affront the carrot might break the association with the apple.

He took the carrot eagerly. Then he took one from his mistress's hand, and you may be sure she has never since then given apple or carrot to another horse while Tatters was in sight.—New York Observer.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Cure all kidney ills.

Hundreds of citizens testify to this.

Here is a case in point:

Mrs. B Wortman, living with her daughter, Mrs S. E. Cook, of 204 Somerset street, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results for severe pain across my back and hips, which no doubt was caused by the kidneys being out of order. It was painful for me to stoop or bend forward and I could not sit ten minutes in one position but had to be constantly changing about. It was the same way at night time. I used many different kinds of medicine recommended for kidney troubles but I could not see that any of them benefitted me Doan,s Kidney Pills were procured for me at L. W. Randolph's drug store and it is the only remedy I ever used that gave me any relief. I always keep a supply of them on hand and would not think of being without them I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and advise all who suffer with a lame back to give them a fair trial."

A WHITEHOUSE BLACKLIST.

And Names of Uninvited Guests at a Reception Placed Therein.

The White House has a blacklist. It is an interesting souvenir of this season's receptions. It goes to prove that there are persons who own fine clothes and who are not so thin-skinned as to remain away from places to which they are not invited. The invitations given this year to the White House receptions were prepared with unusual care. Lists of the invited were kept, and cards were issued to individuals by name. The heretofore indefinite and indiscriminate "and ladies" was not employed. That there might be no misunderstandings, the secretary to the President, Mr. Porter, and the man associated with him in the management of details let it be known through the newspapers that steps would be taken to detect any who came without invitations. But the method to be employed was not explained.

The trap was set, and it did its duty. At one reception 213 persons who had not been invited came to the White House and participated. At another affair the number of uninvited present was 150. The manner in which the intruders were detected is interesting. As usual, each guest, on advancing to the entrance of the receiving-room was told by an official to "give your name to the officers, who will present you." The name of each guest was called out twice, first by the officer introducing to the President, and again by the officer who made the presentation to Mrs. McKinley. The announcing was done with distinctness. But this year an attache of the White House stood in a secluded nook and took down every name that was called out. Comparison with the roster of the invited was made subsequently and in this way the names of the uninvited were singled out and the black list was created.

This was not all. Doorkeepers from the Senate and House were present to add their knowledge of faces to that of the White House ushers. Alphabetical lists of the invited were in the possession of the officials. When there was doubt about any one the lists were consulted. Some of the uninvited were asked for their addresses. Subsequently letters were addressed to several of those who had come without invitations asking explanations of the breach. Most of the letters were ignored. Several replied, laying the blame on Congressmen from whom they claimed to have received verbal invitations. Half a dozen Department people were caught, and their cases were referred to superior officials.—Washington Cor. Topeka State Journal.

SURGEONS OF THE ARMY.

The Reason Given Why They Wear Green Sashes.

A great many people do not know why army surgeons wear green sashes. It is not so much an insignia of rank as it is a protection to the wearer. According to the code of war surgeons are never shot or taken prisoner. To deliberately shoot a surgeon while he is wearing a green sash is considered a violation of the code and punishable by death.

Because of this provision surgeons of one army never refuse to look after the wounded of the other army if it is possible for them to do so. During the civil war it was often the case that after a battle the field hospitals would contain almost an equal number of men wearing the blue and gray. The federal army had the best surgeons and the best stores, and a wounded Confederate considered himself in great luck if he was removed to a federal hospital to be cared for by federal surgeons and physicians.

But in the heat of battle a green sash is not much protection and surgeons were often wounded or killed. But this did not keep the surgeons at the rear until the battle was over. They were often found in the thick of the fray, dressing wounds and sending the wounded to the rear. Theirs was a perilous as well as a noble duty, and they performed it well.—Omaha World Herald.

A Convenient Custom.

In Holland bills are often paid through the medium of the post office. It enables a man living, say, in Rotterdam, to get a small bill collected in any provincial town without the often expensive and tedious interference of a banker or agent. For that purpose he hands his bill to the nearest postoffice. It is sent to the place where the money is to be collected. After the collection a draft is forwarded to the payee by the office where he deposited the bill and where he gets his cash and the bill duly receipted on payment of a small commission, which is payable in advance.—London Evening News.

The Jerusalem Proclamation.

The announcement is made that arrangements have been completed for "The Jerusalem Proclamation." On the first Christmas morning of the new century the "Gloria in Excelsis" will be rung on the chimes of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem, and at the same moment bells in the principal churches in all the capitals of Christendom, telegraphically connected, are to peal out the long-cherished proclamation of "Glory to God in the Highest; Peace on Earth; to Men Good Will!"

A True Wild Flower.

It is said that a flower has been found in South America which is visible only when the wind is blowing. The shrub belongs to the cactus family, and is about three feet high, with a crook at the top. When the wind blows a number of beautiful flowers protrude from the little lumps on the stalk.

RAPID FIRING GUNS.

Capable of One Hundred Bull's Eyes in Sixteen Seconds.

Some of the new ordnance of the Navy Department can be adapted to effective use on land as well as on sea. A number of the lighter rifles are provided with carriages for field use in addition to the regulation stationary rest. All are of the latest and most improved makes.

The special distinguishing feature of all Hotchkiss guns is the square breech. The rapid-firing navy guns of the Hotchkiss type to be used by the auxiliary cruisers comprise all calibres, from one pounders to six-inch, or 100-pounders. The six pounders throw projectiles with an initial velocity of 1,870 feet a second, capable of penetrating three-inch steel plates. The effective fighting range of the gun is 4,000 yards.

The colt automatic gun is constructed for the use of any kind of rifle ammunition; is particularly adapted to the needs of army or navy, and can be fitted to the various mounts suitable for the service. The light weight of the gun and its compact size make it especially suitable (when mounted on tripod) for use by cavalry or infantry, where the matter of transportation is always an important factor, especially in rough countries where carrying must be done on pack saddles.

The gun can be fitted to the different kinds of carriages, including those for the service of the cavalry and infantry; also on a parapet mount, for fortification purposes, and on cone, bulwark and landing carriages specially adapted for naval purposes.

This gun weighs about forty pounds, and with its simplicity, compactness and fine adjustment can be easily handled by one man, and every bot used wit accuracy.

In a recent test made to demonstrate the durability of its working parts, rapidity of action and non-liability of fouling, 8,000 rounds were fired, the gun going through this whole test without a hitch or showing any wear or weakness.

At 200 yards for accuracy one hundred consecutive hits were made in sixteen seconds, demonstrating that the gun, besides being durable and of rapid action, is also most accurate.

HELPING ABOUT THE HOUSE.

Here's One Man Who Had About the Right Ideas.

The helpfulness of a good man when it comes to assistance in domestic affairs, is apt to be very much like that of Mr. Barker, whose exploit is narrated below:

His wife had asked him to hang a picture she had purchased for the parlor, and he had said that he would do it "in a jiffy."

"You must get me the cord and a picture hook," he said to his wife, "and tell the servant girl to run down cellar and bring up the stepladder and carry it into the parlor; and where's those two little screw thing-a-ma-jigs that go into the back of the frame at the sides to put the cord through? Look them up for me; and I'll need the gimlet to bore a little hole for the screws. Somebody get the gimlet, or maybe I can drive them in with the hammer. Johnny, you run down cellar and get the hammer.

"I don't know but a chair will be better than a stepladder for me to stand on. Somebody go out into the kitchen and get me a chair. I don't want to stand on one of the parlor chairs.

"Got that cord? Just measure off about the right length and fasten it in those little things at the sides.

"There, now, there's your picture, all hung up in good shape, and no fuss about it. The difference between us men and you women is that when we have anything to do we go go right ahead and do it, and make no talk about it."—Youth's Companion.

Beau Nash the Gentleman.

There was Beau Nash—a much-admired person in his day, when he ruled from his throne in the pump room in Bath. Everything was in keeping. There was a Queen Anne architecture, and Queen Anne furniture, and Queen Anne religion, and the Queen Anne fashion in fine gentlemen. What a curious piece of bric-a-brac this fine gentleman was, to be sure! Art was as self-complacent as if nature had never been invented. He was not fitted for any useful purpose under the mental, and undoubtedly very expensive. What multitudes of the baser sun, but in his place was quite ornasort must be employed in furnishing the fine gentlemen with clothes! All Bath admired the way in which Beau Nash refused to pay for them. Once when a vulgar tradesman insisted on payment, Nash compromised by lending him $20, which he did with the air of a prince. So great was the impression that he made upon his time, that a statue was erected to him, while beneath were placed the busts of two minor contemporaries, Pope and Newton.

—S. M. Crothers, in Atlantic Monthly.

WHAT IT COST TO BE PRESENTED.

A Thousand Dollars if Judiciously Used Will About Cover It.

Every season as many American girls as can afford the distinction indulge in being presented to Queen Victoria, to the great joy of that part of English society which is engaged in providing court costumes.

A court dress, know ye, all ye damsels with slim purses and ambitious longings to press your lips to Queen Victoria's pudgy hands, may not be economically fashioned at home. It is not to be made by day seamstresses and paper patterns. A court dressmaker is required to make the costume and the court dressmaker trust, so to speak, profits by the absence of competition and keeps prices up.

When you are going to be presented to Her Majesty or to the Princess, to whom at the last moment she frequently delegates the tiresome duty of receiving you, you go to live in London long enough to have your gown made, at least. London is a costly town to live in when you are living in preparation for your presentation.

Your gown, with its court train and its regulation decollette bodice—and no age is so advanced as to preclude that low neck—will represent at least $500 of your good American money. You can make it cost a great deal more. But if you are content to go simply, the dressmaker will contrive to pull you through on that.

Being an American you don't know about the ceremonies connected with bowing before the Empress of India. But there are kindly Englishwomen who will teach you all about it—for a consideration. You take two or three lessons in the art of bowing before royalty without falling over your train, of kissing a queen's hand without loudly "smacking" it, of getting out of a queen's presence by backing. Fifty dollars will pay for a lesson, but by the time you are proficient, $150 or $200 will have been expended.

For underwear to wear with the shimmering piece of satin and tulle you will require about a hundred more dollars. That will give you silk stockings, a silk union suit, a pair of specially made satin corsets, a silk underwaist and petticoat. Your court slippers will cost ten.

On the eventful day a court hairdresser will come and pile your locks into an Eiffel tower coiffure. You will pay $15 for that; for getting one's hair dressed for a presentation is not like getting it dressed for a dance at home. Your bouquet will cost $25 more.

But you are not through then. There is your fan—a trifle worth $25—and your gloves, for $5. Your carriage will cost $20 for the day. Your maid, if you don't indulge in that luxury as a matter of ordinary use, wil cost $20 more. Then you will have left of the $1,000 check which you solemnly assured your father would see you through and leave much for charity, a meagre $30 to pay all the small fees to flunkies.

Your carriage will wait hours in line; you will be stared at by the mob; you will shiver for a long time in the palace; you will have a trembling moment of bowing before a fat little old lady; you will have a gown impossible to wear again in that form, and it will cost you $1,000.—New York Journal.

Tommy as a Champion Adviser.

Tommy was all excitement because the visiting lecturer was to take dinner at the house, but had promised to be on his best behavior during the meal. The determination to be polite was so strong upon him that he felt it incumbent to show his good will.

"Where is Mrs. Lecturer?" Tommy asked explosively, in pursuance of his conscientious promptings. This was the most embarrassing question that could have been propounded, for the guest and his wife had separated. He pretended not to hear, while the host kicked Tommy on the shins. He realized that he had blundered, and felt that he must make amends.

"I hope she's not sick," persisted the urchin.

"We did not agree, and we thought it best to live apart," said the visitor, with a view to ending the unpleasantness.

"Didn't agree?" exclaimed Tommy excitedly. "Thunder! Why didn't you fight it out like paw and maw does?"

This opened the way for a hearty laugh, and the atmosphere was cleared.—Detroit Free Press.

Big Payment to Have His Hair Cut.

Probably the sum recently spent by Baron Steengracht, of Holland, to have his hair cut establishes a new record for extravagance. He commonly lives in London and patronizes the barber shop of Truefitt, the Burlington Arcade and No. 13 Old Bond street. A telegram was received by Truefitt a short time ago from the Baron, dated St. Petersburg, saying that he would be in Berlin at a certain hotel on such a date and desired that a man be sent from Truefitt's to cut his hair. The man was sent as desired, and cut the Baron's hair, returning to London the following day. The Baron promptly paid the bill, amounting to £23, or about $150, which covered the expense of the trip, etc., and was perhaps the largest amount ever paid for a single haircut.—New York Tribune.

Bright Excuse.

"Shiftless as ever, Thomas?" said the wealthy uncle. "Still making a failure of life, as you always have done?"

"I don't know that I'm such a terrible failure," sulkily answered the poor relation.

"Why, you have nobody but yourself to support, and you can't make both ends meet."

"Well, the rainbow has only itself to support, and it doesn't make both ends meet, either."—Chicago Tribune.

QUEER JAIL FOR STUFENTS.

College Boys Are Tried by the University and Not the Civil Court.

At the ancient and famous University of Heidelberg a jail is maintained specially for the benefit of the students. For all minor crimes and misdemeanors they are tried and imprisoned, not by the civil authorities, but by the university.

The Heidleberg Carcer, or university prison, has been occupied by the most famous men of Germany. While there they always decorate the walls with their names and in other ways, so that their stay in jail may be permanently remembered.

Every reader of Mark Twain will recall his entertaining description of the place, and how he contrived to visit it, even unwittingly enlisting as his guide a "Herr Professor." His pretext was to see a young friend who had "got" twenty-four hours and had conveniently arranged the day to suit Mark—for the German student convict goes to prison on the first suitable day after conviction and sentence. If Thursday is not convenient he tells the officer sent to haul him to jail that he will come on Friday, or Saturday or Sunday, as the case may be. The officer never doubts his word and it is never broken.

The prison is up three flights of stairs and is approached by a passage as richly decorated with the art works of convicts as the cell itself. That apartment is not roomy, but bigger than an ordinary prison cell. It has an iron-grated window, a small stove, two wooden chairs, two old oak tables and a narrow wooden bedstead. The furniture is profusely ornamented with carving, the work of languishing captives, who have placed on record their names, armorial bearings, their crimes and the dates of their imprisonment, together with quaint warnings and denunciations. Walls and ceilings are covered with portraits and legends executed in colored chalk and in soot, the prison candle forming a handy pencil.

Academic criminal procedure in Heidelberg is curious. If the city police apprehend a student the captive shows his matriculation card. He is then asked for his address and set free, but will hear more of the matter, for the civil authority reports him to the university. In Heidelberg the university court try and pass sentence, the civil power taking no further concern with the offense. The trial is very often conducted in the prisoner's absence, and he may have forgotten all about his little outbreak, until the university constable appears to conduct him to prison.—New York World.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY.

Confederate Officers Who Appreciated the Power of Our War Songs.

Just after the surrender of Lee a number of Union officers were singing glee and college songs in their rooms in Richmond. They very considerately refrained from singing patriotic songs, because the house opposite was occupied by paroled Confederate officers.

Soon the landlady brought in a note from the Confederates, asking permission to come over and hear the singing. Of course it was granted and they were delighted with the songs.

"Excuse me, gentlemen," said the Confederate officer in charge, "but we would like to hear some of your war songs."

The Union officers then gave them with an unction "The Battle Cry of Freedom," the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and on through the list to "The Star Spangled Banner," the Confederates keeping time, as if they had always marched to the music of the Union. When the applause from the gray uniformed veterans had subsided a Confederate major said:

"Gentlemen, if we'd had your songs we'd have whipped you out of your boots. Whe wouldn't march and fight with such songs? We had nothing except an alleged 'Marseillaise,' the 'Bonnie Blue Flag' and 'Dixie,' all jigs and nothing more."

Turning to the Union general, he said: "I shall never forget the first time I heard 'Rally Round the Flag.' It was on a nasty night during the seven days' battle of the Wilderness. I was on picket, when just before taps some fellow on the other side struck up that song; soon others joined in the chorus, till it seemed the whole Yankee army was singing. One of our men sang out: 'Good heavens, what are those fellows made of? Here we've licked them six days running, and on the seventh they are singing 'Rally Round the Flag.' I am not superstitious, but I tell you that song sounded like the knell of doom and my heart went down into my boots."

When the singing was over the Confederate general shook hands with his entertainers and said:

"Well, the time may come when we can all sing 'The Star Spangled Banner' together."

It has come and the blue and the gray can march shoulder to shoulder to the music of that famous song.—Chicago Tribune.

Claude Edwards, who pitched for the Plainfield High School nine last spring, is now spending his summer at Carthage, N. Y., where he is playing on the Carthage team.

Bulmer made quite an impression in the eyes of the Finderne team Saturday, against whom he pitched for the Clinton Avenue Club. His arm was a little off at the start as he had not pitched a game for two weeks, but he quickly got into form and then the Finderne boys were never able to see his twists. Townley caught him in excellent fashion.

Neely Collins, who played left field for the now disbanded Crescents, came here with a great reputation made at the Fordham College team. Collins is now professor of classics at the Sacred Heart Academy at West Chester, N. Y., where he is considered well-fitted to fill the position. He is a well educated young man besides being a fast sprinter and a good baseball player.

Even after the Crescents disbanded Manager Mumford made another effort to schedue the game with the Orange Athletic Club on the latter's grounds. He would have gotten the old team together for the occasion but the manager of the O. A. C. still refused to give him a game and the Crescents are now so widely scattered that it would be next to impossible to get them together for a game.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Mrs. M. F. Elderton, of East Front street, has purchased a bicycle and has learned to ride.

This is the season when many of the L. A. W. memberships expire. A glance at the membership card tells the day when it expires and every wheelman, now a member of that organization, should not fail to keep up his membership.

Bicycle touring is one of the most enjoyable ways of spending a summer vacation. Every body who has tried it will say so. One of the necessities of an enjoyable trip, however, is a good map of the district that will prevent any worry over the right road and will enable the wheelman to plan his way without trouble. The L. A. W. road map of the New Jersey Division contains good maps of all this section and portions of Pennsylvania, New York and Delaware. Then, if touring in other parts, it is easy to get the L. A. W. road maps issued by the other State divisions.

ROD AND GUN.

Eugene O'Reilly, of North avenue, is spending the day at Amboy in an endeavor to secure a mess of fish.

Albert Leader, Dr. Buchanan and David King, of the borough, spent yesterday fishing at Amboy. The doctor was the only lucky one in the party. He captured a two and a half pound weak fish. It is said that great schools of blue fish have driven the weak fish from the Raritan.

E. C. Martin, of Putnam avenue, has purchased a rubber-tire runabout.

pressure by being drawn into an open vessel.

It will now be apparent why the phenomenon occurs only in the summer; why it occurs in one locality and not in another, and why it occurs at one time and not in another.

It will, in fact, occur coincidentally with the exposure of certain pipes to a temperature higher than common, and will be seldom or never observed except in water which has rested in the mains or service pipes for a considerable interval.

Its occurrence is affected by certain conditions other than those here named. But enough has been said to show that the turbity complained of should not be attributed to the presence of impurities or foreign matters of any sort. Per contra, it evidences the presence of substances which contribute to the value of the most esteemed potable waters; which give them the palatability, "snap," "life," so much prized in Appolinaris and other bottled waters, and in the carbonated beverages of the druggist; which, moreover, tend to prevent the deterioration of all water and serve to promote health by a gently stimulating effect upon the organs of digestion.

As the result of a reasonable inspection, then, this scarecrow is found to be an innocent one, almost a friend; and the estimate of the Plainfield water supply, which ranks it among the very best and most wholesome public supplies in America (and in the world), remains unshaken.

W. C. Baker and family, of Stelle avenue, are taking a trip through the west. They are planning to visit the Yellowstone Park and other points of interest.

Among the members of the Primary Union who attended the Summer School at Asbury Park last week, were Miss Beeching, Mrs. Mosher and Mrs. J. A. Powlison.

volunteered the opinion that the proposed boulevard would be a good thing if it was in the bounds of possibility. The possibility of its being built seemed to rest on the cost of the great thoroughfare. If it could be done for a figure which some trolley corporation would be willing to give, then they thought that the boulevard should be made. If, however, the property owners along the line stand out for exorbitant awards for their property, the whole affair may fail through.

After the discussion the party departed, some by train and some by carriage.

CRAFTY LAWYER ROUNDED UP.

Secured $1,800 by False Pretences and Will Go to State Prison.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 12.—J. Dixon Cunningham, formerly a lawyer of New Brunswick, is in the Middlesex county jail awaiting transfer to the State Prison. He was convicted of obtaining $1,800 from Mrs. Mary Burke upon false pretences and sentenced to eighteen months in the State Prison. His counsel A. H. Strong and Howard McSherry, continued the fight. Cunningham was released under bonds pending an appeal. The Supreme Court upheld the verdict and sentence. Then the case went to the Court of Errors and Appeals. Meanwhile Cunningham had gone to Chicago and from there to Ontario. The court of last resort affirmed the finding of the lower courts, and Prosecutor Voorhees informed Cunningham's bondsmen, G. P. Cunningham, his father, and Detective C. A. Oliver, to produce their man. Mr. Oliver went after Cunningham, and returned with him.

Brave Soldier Boys Thanked.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, July 12—By direction of Brigadier-General George L. Gillespie, commanding the Department of the East. Major George Andrews, acting adjutant-general of the department, sent Saturday to Colonel Lee, commanding the Third New Jersey Regiment, a letter conveying the thanks of the department commander for the good work done by members of the regiment in subduing a fire in the powder works at Pompton Lakes on June 21. The works were threatened with destruction, and the lives of hundreds of employes, as well as those of the soldiers, were in danger.

Half a dozen of the volunteers picked up a line of hose, ran it into the granulating room, where the fire was in progress, and played water upon the flames until they were extinguished.

BILL NYE'S FIRST MAKE-UP.

Greeted With Vociferous Applause by the Audience.

James Whitcomb Riley tells a quaint story of his former lecturing partner, Bill Nye:

It was the opening of their joint season; they had both been rusticating during the vacation and were as brown as berries. Nye looked much like an Othello in his sunburnt make-up, and Riley suggested to him the application of some "liquid-white," a cosmetic much affected by the gentler sex of the profession.

Nye sent for the preparation, and never having used anything of the kind before, he filled the palm of his hand with it and carelessly smeared it over his countenance without consulting a mirror.

The "liquid-white" dries out somewhat like whitewash, and when Nye appeared before the audience he was a sight to behold. His head looked like a frosted top-piece on a wedding cake; his face, white as the driven snow, was expressionless and blank. The audience shrieked, and when he came off from his first selection they demanded his reappearance. He obliged them, to howls of laughter; again he made his exit and again was redemanded by the uproarious audience. Believing he had made a hit, he was about returning to the stage, when he was caught by the arm by Mrs. Nye, who cried: "William Edgar Nye, what have you got on your face?"

"Nothing but its usual expression, my dear."

"Expression—fiddlesticks! You're a fright!" cried his wife, leading him to where there was a piece of broken looking glass.

Nye was mortified, and catching sight of Riley just about going on the stage, he would have undoubtedly followed him on and been revenged, but for the intervention of Mrs. Nye. His head was scraped, combed and washed, and his next selection was read without "a hand" from the audience. Moreover, the story is a fact and not a press agent's concoction.—Detroit Free Press.

WEBSTER'S PRESIDENTIAL FEVER.

The Vote for Him in the Party Conventions Was Always Distressingly Small.

Carl Schurz in an article in Harper's Magazine says of Webster that he was not satisfied with the theater of action in which his abilities fitted him for the greatest service and on which he achieved his highest renown. At a comparatively early period of his career he ardently wished to be sent as Minister to England, and he bore a grudge to John Quincy Adams for his failure to gratify that desire. Ever since his "Reply to Hayne" had made his name a household word in the country an ungovernable longing possessed him to be President of the United States. The morbid craving commonly called "the Presidential fever" developed in him, as it became chronic, its most distressing forms, disordering his ambition, unsettling his judgment and warping his statesmanship. His imagination always saw the coveted prize within his grasp, which in reality it never was. He lacked the sort of popularity which, since the Administration of John Quincy Adams, seemed to be required for a Presidential candidacy. He travelled over the land, South and North and East and West, to manufacture it for himself, but in vain. The people looked at him with awe and listened to him with rapture and wonder, but as to the Presidency the fancy and favor of the politicians, as well as of the masses, obstinately ran to other men. So it was again and again. Clay, too, was unfortunate as a Presidential candidate. But he could have at least the nomination of his party so long as there appeared to be any hope for his election. Webster was denied even that. The vote for him in the party conventions was always distressingly small, usually confined to New England or only a part of it. Yet he never ceased to hope against hope, and thus to invite more and more galling disappointments. To Henry Clay he could yield without humiliation, but when he saw his party prefer to himself, not once, but twice and three times, men of only military fame, without any political significance what ever, his mortification was so keen that, in the bitterness of his soul, he twice openly protested against the result. Worse than all this, he had to meet the fate—a fate not uncommon with chronic Presidential candidates—to see the most important and most questionable act of his last years attributed to his inordinate craving for the elusive prize.

The welfare, much less the independence of Hawaii, has never been endangered by the operations of that treaty. On the contrary, Japanese immigration was zealously promoted and encouraged in the islands until political contingencies rendered another policy advisable. Japan did not seek the treaty, but her people have been induced to resort to Hawaii under the guarantees it provides, and certainly no one with any sense of justice can now blame her for endeavoring to conserve their rights.

No Leap Year Till 1904.

The familiar rule that leap year is every calendar year with a number divisible by four will be broken in 1900, which fact need not be regarded as an indication that even then it will be time for a change. This rule of the almanac may account for the proverbial activity of the new woman at the close of every century. Then there is no leap year for eight years. February, 1900, will have but twenty-eight days, the extra day not appearing from 1896 to 1904. Centenary years are not leap years. That year will be broken in the leap year 2000, when the interruption may be regarded as an indication that it is time for a change. Centenary years divisible by four hundred are leap years, consequently there were twenty-nine days in February, 1600, and the same number of days will be given to February, 2000, and again to 2400. The object of this rule is to make the calendar year coincide with the solar year.—Buffalo Commercial.

A Dog that Wouldn't Be Cheated.

A dog which belonged to the Forty-Second Regiment (Black Watch) forms the subject of an amusing anecdote. "Jock" had a favorite trick of begging for a penny, upon receipt of which he would trot off to the canteen and buy a large biscuit. Once the canteen man thought to get the best of him, and only handed him a small broken biscuit in exchange for his penny. Jock made a great fuss, running up and down the canteen howling and barking, until ultimately one of the men gave him another penny. Immediately Jock jumped up to the canteen, showed his coin, and bolted out to the canteen of the next regiment, where his purchase was duly made. From that day he tabooed his own canteen, and whenever he got a penny only put in an appearance there to show his money, and then took his custom elsewhere.

A School for Rat-Catchers.

In Chicago rats are timorous. They know that not only the feline instinct and canine instinct are arrayed against them, but that there is actually a school of training for rat catchers.

The teacher of the school is Topsy, a fox terrier of renown. She has won fame as a practical rat-catcher. Now she merely instructs others in the art. With classes ranging from three or four to a dozen pupils she enters the pit.

The rats which she has already dispatched are left for the new recruits to practice upon. They thus learn fearlessness, and that, it seems, is the chief requisite among rat-catching dogs.

YELLOW FEVER IN OUR CAMP.

WILL NOT GIVE UP.

Toral Definitely Refuses to Surrender and Santiago Will Now Be Assaulted.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Off Juragua, Cuba, July 12, via despatch boat to Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 13, 1:35 p. m—All negotiations for a peaceful surrender of Santiago de Cuba ended in utter failure tonight when Gen. Toral, the Spanish commander, definitely refused to unconditionally surrender the city and his army.

The city must now fall by assault and the army only awaits the word of its general to begin the final struggle. When the attack will be made depends upon the time that ensues before it is possible to get all the batteries to the front, as it is now definitely settled not to begin the attack until all the batteries of heavy artillery are properly placed.

The road beds are in very bad shape, making it next to impossible to move the artillery. It will therefore probably be twenty-four hours before the engagement opens.

The town of Siboney lies in ashes tonight. It was burned by the order of the health authorities of the army for the purpose of ridding the hospital camps of the unhealthful dirty buildings and to drive away the scores of Cuban followers whose presence was a serious inconvenience to the surgeons and threatened to convey disease to the wounded.

Almost every building in the village was fired and the occupants, mostly Cubans, are flying to the caves in the overhanging hills.

YELLOW FEVER IN CAMP.

Reports That the Dread Disease Has Appeared Among Americans at Siboney.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington July 13, 1:45 p. m.—Despatches conveying the information that yellow fever has made its appearance among the troops in the vicinity of Santiago were received at the War Department today.

President McKinley, Secretary Alger, Adjutant-General Corbin and Surgeon-General Sternberg were in conference this morning. Every precaution is being taken to prevent the spread of the disease in the hospital.

A special quarantine camp will be established in the charge of immune doctors and nurses who have already been ordered to Santiago. Stringent measures will be adopted to prevent the refugees from Santiago from coming in contact with the troops.

All information regarding the extent of the fever is refused by the authorities of the War Department. As near as can be learned, however, the disease broke out in the vicinity of Siboney, which was immediately ordered burned by Gen. Miles to prevent further infection.

DEWEY'S DECISIVE ACT.

Investigated German Interference and Captured Spanish Forts at Subig Bay.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Manila, July 8, via Hong Kong, July 13, 11:27 a. m.—The insurgents, July 6th, reported to Rear Admiral Dewey that the German gunboat Irene, which was at anchor in Subig Bay, had refused to permit them to attack the Spanish fortifications on Grande Island.

Dewey promptly despatched the United States cruisers, Raleigh and Concord, to Subig Bay, to investigate the circumstances. On entering the bay, the Raleigh opened fire on the Spanish forts, whereupon the German ship slipped her cable and steamed out by the other channel.

After a feeble response to the American fire, the Spaniards surrendered everything. Five hundred prisoners were taken besides a quantity of arms and ammunition.

The commander of the German warship Irene tried to explain his action in refusing to allow the insurgents to attack the Spanish. He said that he interfered in the cause of humanity. He offered to turn over a number of refugees who had sought safety on his ship but Dewey refused to accept the offer.

FIGHTING AT MANILA.

Insurgent Forces Attack Spanish Lines, Independent of American Assistance.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Manila, July 7, via Hong Kong, July 13, 12:21 p. m.—The insurgent forces made a vigorous attack on the Spanish lines in the vicinity of Manila yesterday with but little results. They shelled the Spanish intrenchments and captured many guns. Over one hundred men were killed on either side.

The Americans and insurgents are acting entirely independent of each other. Both are conducting their own operations, hoping to evolve a satisfactory agreemeent afterwards. Aguinaldo's influence is believed not to be of great extent or duration among the insurgents. After the Spanish are expelled from Manila, it is believed that all would be in a state of chaos unless the Americans assume control of the islands in force.

The Americans are postponing operations against the city until they are fully prepared to meet any contingency. Thirty thousand reinforcements are expected soon which will enable Dewey to effectually control the whole of the Phillippines.

HUSBAND AND WIFE LANGUISH IN JAIL.

The Children Are Now Living at the City's Expense.

HUGHIE O'DONNELL'S STORY

OLD OFFENDER OF THE EXCISE LAWS AND ARRESTED MANY TIMES.

Lived in a Scantily Furnished House on South Second Street—Hughie Defied the Law For a Day—His House Besieged—Finally Captured—Wife Continued Illicit Business at the Same Place.

There are many names, sorrowful to say, that are familiar ones on the police court docket. Some usually land there for one of the minor offences and usually escape with a light sentence after spending a night in the city jail. Of those, however, who come before the City Judge on more serious charges, the O'Donnell family has furnished more than its share of offenders. The charge has always been the same—the violation of the city excise laws. And now both husband and wife are serving terms in the county jail at Elizabeth on that same charge.

The annals of the police court hide many pitiful stories of desperate characters and flagrant violators of the city ordinances. The exploits of Hughie O'Donnell and his wife are, however, not to be equalled. It is the only case on record here where both man and wife have been thrown into jail and the city compelled to look after their children.

Now, Hughie O'Donnell is not such a bad man, taking them as they go. The only trouble is that he considers it perfectly fair to sell liquor without a license on Sunday. And furthermore, he has been carrying out his ideas with a persistency that astonished the local authorities. Six times has he been arrested on the same charge. Hughie, despite his illicit trade, has been by no means wealthy, and has had no money to fight the city in their prosecution. He has had lawyers several times, but is usually content with admitting his guilt or entering a plea of non vult, which in his case is nearly the equivalent.

He lives, or rather did live, in a rambling old structure on South Second street, sadly in need of repair. The furniture of the place was scanty to the greatest degree. Even Hughie admits that he never had more than three chairs there. One bed sufficed for the whole family. A table was a necessary article, however.

The family consisted of a husband and wife and three children. The eldest was a boy of perhaps eighteen years of age. A seemingly quiet lad who showed no inclination to follow in his father's footsteps as a law breaker. He took a position some time ago in the store of a local merchant and has shown himself reliable. His only time at home was at night when he returned to sleep.

The second child, a daughter of sixteen years, was also employed out. She, too, was not at home except at night. The baby was a girl of nine summers who lived at home and played with the children of the neighborhood when her mother would let her leave the house.

During the winter, O'Donnell continued his illegal sale of beer and now and then a little whiskey. His house was crowded on Sundays with his customers who were all sworn not to give the place away. There was a secret watchword that admitted them and only the initiated were permitted to enter the portals of Hughie's establishment. The arrangements there were of the crudest, but beer was to be obtained there on the Sabbath and the customers cared little for the surroundings.

Finally the police laid siege to the place, O'Donnell refusing to answer the repeated knocks when they arrived. The siege lasted a day and then the police gained from the owner of the place entrance to the first story and easily made their way to the second floor which the O'Donnells occupied.

O'Donnell was arrested, brought before the Judge and finally sentenced to five months in jail. The five months expires the last of July. During the spring, Mrs. O'Donnell continued the illicit trade and was promptly arrested. Owing to the fact that the children would be left alone, Judge DeMeza was inclined to look upon her case with considerable leniency. Sentence was delayed for week after week until the police learned that the old customers were once more flocking back to Hughie's Sundays, where his wife looked after their wishes. So it was that last Sat-

ANOTHER DRIVING ROD BREAKS ON THE CENTRAL.

OCCURRED EARLY THIS MORNING.

Train Was Just Pulling Out of Finderne—No One Was Hurt by the Break.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Finderne, July 13—It was 2 o'clock this morning before the passenger train leaving Plainfield at 11:28 for Somerville, left this place. It was about 12 o'clock when the train came into Finderne, and just as the train was leaving the station a driving rod broke on the engine.

There is no telegraph station here and a member of the train crew was obliged to walk to Bound Brook and secure another engine before the train could be taken to its destination. No other damage happened outside of the broken rod.

This was the second accident of its kind on the Central this week.

A FAIRIES' CARNIVAL.

Given By Seven Little Girls for the Benefit of the Red Cross Society.

The Eldorado parlors at 327 West Front street resembled a scene in fairyland last night. Seven little girls, Molly J. Pratzner, Jeanette Kohn, Virginia Devine, Violet Hope, Irene Hope, Sadie Lichtentritt and Rosebud Kohn, gave and entertainment consisting of songs, dialogues, recitations, etc., and called "An evening in Fairyland."

The little girls were dressed in light, airy costumes to resemble fairies, trimmed with flowers, and carrying bright flowers in their hands. The programme presented was a long one, and held the attention of a large audience through the entire evening.

An admission fee of ten cents was charged, which entitled one to a plate of ice cream, and the proceeds were sent to the Red Cross Society.

National G. A. R. Encampment.

The G. A. R. National encampment will be held at Cincinnati next September from the 7th to the 9th of the month. It promises to be fully as well attended as the one held at Buffalo last year. Department Commander W. C. Smith, of North Plainfield, is making arrangements to attend the encampment. The rate will be about $14 for the round trip. Commander Smith will gladly furnish information concerning the trip to anyone who desires to know about it.

Installation at Minerva Temple.

Last evening the officers-elect of Minerva Temple, Rathbone Sisters, were installed by Mrs. Lida E. Palmer, Supreme Deputy for New Jersey, and the work was very satisfactorily performed. The retiring chief officer, Mrs. R. Mattis, was presented with a past-chief jewel by the members of the temple, after which refreshments were served by the members of the good and welfare committee. There was a large attendance of the members and the meeting was one of great interest.

Will Make Fine Streets.

The macadamizing on Madison avenue between Ninth street and Stelle avenue is about completed, and when the two blocks between Fifth and Seventh streets are done there will be a fine road from Front street south to Stelle avenue. Work on Stelle avenue also is being pushed to completion. Yesterday the roller was put to work upon the street, to roll down the crushed stone.

Trinity Excursion Tomorrow.

Tomorrow, weather permitting, the first church excursion of the season will go to Asbury Park. It is that of Trinity Reformed church and Sunday-school. A fine time is promised all who go, and all who intend going should be at the North Avenue station on time. The excursionists will not leave Asbury Park, coming home, until 7 o'clock.

Home Missions.

Last night at a home missionary meeting in the Filmore Baptist church Mrs. P. H. Brown, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, delivered an address on work among the home missionaries. Miss Alice Tate was elected president of the society, and it was decided to take up the 12-cent-a-year system of raising money.

PATRIOTIC TALKERS CALLED ON TO ACT.

Several Local Organizations Invited to Volunteer for the Army.

SOME CALL IT A JOKE.

THEY PASSED RESOLUTIONS IN THE SPRING OFFERING TO VOLUNTEER.

Now Adjutant-General Stryker Has Communicated With the Juniors and Hook and Ladder Company—The Juniors Already Have Five Members in the Ranks—The Catholic Club Ready.

There is, when it comes right down to it, some difference between standing up before a crowd of enthusiastic friends and voting to unanimously offer your services to the State in case of war with Spain, and putting your name down on enlistment papers when there is a very active prospect that you will soon be made a target for Mauser bullets. Some people are just beginning to find that out.

When the agitation over the destruction of the Maine was at its height and before war was declared, there came offers to Adjutant General Stryker, of the New Jersey National Guard, from many organizations offering to volunteer in case of war with Spain. Others came after war was declared.

In Plainfield, four organizations offered their services to the government and passed patriotic resolutions declaring their willingness to volunteer. Now in Plainfield, as in every other place, there did not seem the slightest likelihood of there being any lack of volunteers or that the situation would be such that these offers would ever be accepted. In fact, several of the officers of three of the organizations admit that the resolutions were really nothing more than a little outburst of spread-eagleism and had very little real meaning. For while every good American would be willing to go to war if they were really needed, the very members who voted for these resolutions had no wish to go unless the exigencies of the situation made it their actual duty.

Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., was one of the organizations to pass such a series of resolutions, and now the secretary has received a communication from Adjutant-General Stryker asking for volunteers. Secretary Horace G. Adams has notified the members and, as a result, there is considerable excitement among the members. Of course, they cannot be held by the government for service, but many of the members consider that they are not put in a pleasant light. The resolutions were unanimously adopted at a meeting at which there were twenty present of the enrolled 200 members of the Council.

To a Press reporter this morning one of the principal officers of the council said that the whole affair was a "bluff" and would amount to nothing. The council already has five members at the front and will pay the dues of such others as enlist. He did not consider, however, that the present call would have much effect.

There was a good attendance at a meeting of the Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company when similar resolutions were passed. As one of the prominent members expressed himself to a Press reporter this morning, "They were just fooling." They received a letter from Gen. Stryker last week but have done nothing about it, and this member said that nothing would be done. The resolutions were passed in a spirit of fun and that would end it.

The chiefs and braves of Miantonomo Tribe of Red Men also offered their services. It was known at the time, however, that it was merely a joke, as no one had any idea that they would really be needed. It has been impossible to learn whether they have received any word from the Adjutant-General as yet, but if it does come, the tribe will probably remain in Plainfield as before, for few, if any, of its members are prepared to go to war except in extremities.

The other organization that volunteered was the Plainfield Catholic Club. Their offer was in earnest, however, and they are now just as enthusiastic on the subject as when the resolutions were first passed. Already a number of their members have gone to swell the ranks of the Jersey regiments at the front.

A Press reporter interviewed the president, George J. Tobin, this morning. He said that while the Catholic Club had not received any invitation to volunteer, he was confident that the members would loyally respond to any call. He thought that there were at least a hundred members who were willing to go if needed, of whom 90 per cent. could successfully pass the examination. He declared the members meant just what they said when they offered their services and they were willing to back it up whenever the call came.

NO SPECIAL SESSION, SAYS THE GOVERNOR.

DEFINITELY SETTLED YESTERDAY.

Newark Board of Trade Expects Contributions Will Meet Needs of Soldiers' Families.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 13—Gov. Voorhees authorized the statement yesterday that he has no intention of calling a special session of the Legislature. Referring to the published statement that Mayor Seymour, of Newark, had written him a letter asking for a special session to pass a law authorizing Newark to appropriate money for the families of soldiers who have gone to the war, the Governor said he had received no such letter. The Governor added that he was informed that the Board of Trade of Newark had raised all the money needed.

Nearly $8,000 has been contributed by Newark citizens for the relief of distressed families of soldiers. The relief committee of the Board of Trade, which has this work in charge, decided Monday that a special session of the Legislature is not necessary, and that people, so far as Newark is concerned, will contribute sufficient sums to meet the requirements.

LARRY WALLACE NOT A DESERTER.

At Least Not the Larry Who Resided at Scotch Plains.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Fanwood, N. J., July 13—In reply to a letter sent by Mrs. Julia Wallace to J. O. M. Gilmore, at Fort Hancock, asking if the report was true that her son, Larry Wallace, had deserted from the army, Mrs. Wallace received an answer today from Captain J. R. Wendell, commanding Co. A, Third N. J. Volunteers, in which he says that Larry is still in Co. A, and had not deserted as reported. Larry had been confounded with another man of the same name who deserted from Sea Girt.

The captain says that Larry's record is all right; that he is there in service and in good health. The letter is signed by Corporal Edward L. Tiffany, clerk to the commandant.

Trolley Car in His Way.

Harry Canfield, of Craig place, escaped serious injury last evening while riding his wheel around the corner of Craig place and Somerset street. A trolley car came along going toward the mountains and young Canfield in dodging the car ran into a horse being driven by a farmer. Fortunately the horse was very docile and allowed Canfield plenty of room between his legs. In the collision Canfield's wheel was wrecked, but the rider escaped with a slight cut on the wrist. Neither the horse or Canfield were going very fast, and thus serious damage was averted.

No Word From Mrs. LaCasse Yet.

John Hummel, of Duer street, with whom Mr. and Mrs. A. C. LaCasse stored their household furniture before they sailed for Europe, is expecting to hear from his former neighbors every day. Monday Mrs. Hummel wrote a letter to Mrs. LaCasse, who is still at her sister's house, 173 West Third street, New York, congratulating her upon her escape from death with the sinking of the LaBourgogne, and asking her when she expects to come back to Plainfield. Mrs. Hummel has not yet received an answer.

New Brunswick, July 13—The works of the New Brunswick Tire Company have been shut down indefinitely because of the general dullness of trade, and 250 operatives are thrown out of work. The managers of the plant have no idea when work will be resumed.

HOW THE FOURTH WAS SPENT OFF HAVANA.

New Jersey Naval Reserves Have Joined the Blockade.

THE FIRST TASTE OF WAR.

THEY ARRIVED OFF HAVANA ON THE FOURTH AND CELEBRATED.

The Badger Was Present When the Alphonso XII Was Run Ashore and Burned—Warm Weather During the Day, But Very Pleasant Evenings—The Water Has Dark Brown Taste.

(Special Correspondence to The Daily Press.)

On board the U. S. S. Badger with the blockading fleet off the harbor of Havana, July 8—Well, we have at last reached Cuba, although we have not yet attended any dances in Havana, but we are hoping to be able to in a short time.

We left Key West last Sunday evening, arriving off Havana at sunrise, Monday morning, the Fourth of July. We distributed the mail to the fleet and then took our station on the blockade between Mariel and Havana.

Our first vacation from work came the Fourth. We did nothing all day and in the evening had games and an entertainment.

The fleet here keeps changing all the time, but it consists principally of small gunboats like the Vicksburg, the Castine, the Bancroft and the Montgomery, the converted yachts Mayflower and Hawk, the monitor Amphitrite and the auxiliary cruisers Prairie and Badger.

The first view of actual warfare for us came last Tuesday when the Castine chased a four-masted steamer ashore at the entrance to Mariel, and then set fire to her by shelling her. The Prairie, Hawk and ourselves immediately ran in to assist the Castine if necessary.

The Prairie had the senior officer aboard and they began firing at the steamer and shore batteries, but ordered the rest of us not to fire although we were as close, if not closer, to the Spanish steamer than the Prairie. After firing for half an hour, as there was no response from the shore batteries, we withdrew. It was quite exciting to see the burning ship with the shells dropping around her and the batteries in the background.

Since then we have had nothing much to do except catch sharks, which are in abundance here. We have had some very good views of Morro Castle and vicinity, as we have been within five miles of it and within less than a mile from other parts of the shore. The ammunition of the Spaniards must be very low as they very seldom fire at the boats anymore, although we run within easy range of their guns.

They do not make us do much work down here as the days are fairly hot. The nights, however, are elegant. We have only had one shower of fifteen minutes' duration, although we have seen a number pass over the island every day.

Our worst trouble at present is in getting water. What we have here is too hot to give any satisfaction, for we have no ice. Then the water has a dark brown taste anyhow.

The following is a programme of our Fourth of July celebration:

U. S. S. BADGER,
OFF MORRO CASTLE,
JULY 4TH.

SCHEDULE OF SPORTS ON THE DAY WE CELEBRATE.

First Event—Race over the topmast head against time. Prize, a bottle of beer.
Second Event—Three-legged race, to be run in heats. (100 in the shade.) Prize, a plug of tobacco.
Third Event—Potato race. Prize, a bottle of beer.
Fourth Event—Tug-of-war between eight-men teams from each division. Prize, two cigars to each man on winning team.
Music by the Cat head choir.
Fifth Event—Chicken difficulties. Prize, a bottle of beer.
Sixth Event—Step, jig, buck and wing dancing. Prize, a suit of white.
Concertine solo by Walter Tender McLoughlin.
"Plantation Echoes," by the Galley Nippers.
"Little Egypt" in her famous Cuba Libre dance. (Her first appearance before Havana.)
Instrumental and vocal solos by assorted artists.
National anthem by the ship's company.

In the first event Volney F. Green, of Plainfield, tied for first with three others. In the run-off he was second. He was the only Plainfielder to distinguish himself in the sports of the day.

SHOOTING AT SANTIAGO

Destructive Bombardment of the City by Guns on Land and Sea

SPANIARDS REPLY FEEBLY

Attack on the City Reopened at Daybreak—Randolph's Batteries on Land Began Firing—War Vessels Off Shore Shelled the City With Precision—New York, Indiana and Brooklyn Engaged.

Siboney, July 13.--The investment of Santiago is progressing, and the capture of the city in a short time is inevitable. The American and Cuban lines are now surrounding the entire city making the arrival of Spanish reinforcements impossible.

The idea of carrying the city by assault has been given up, and the plan now is to harrass the Spaniards with a continual fire from the American batteries, carefully aimed, the riflemen at the same time shooting only at such particular marks as may be presented by exposed Spaniards. No general engagement is expected, as an assault upon the enemy's works would be too costly to the lives of our troops.

The Spaniards show a desire to remain in the entrenchments and act upon the defensive only. Our sharpshooters along the trail are gradually picking off the Spanish sharpshooters hidden in trees.

The bombardment on Monday began at 6 o'clock in the morning. General Randolph's field battery, stationed on the ridge surrounding the town to the east, opened the fire. General Randolph's gunners obeyed to the letter General Shafter's orders to fire only at a mark, and the shooting was slow but very effective. The damage to property in the city as the result of the bambardment is enormous.

The loss of life in the town, however, is unknown, but probably few Spanish soldiers were hurt.

The reply of the Spaniards to the fire of the Americans practically amounted to nothing. In the morning four shots were fired by them, but none was effective.

In the meantime the Brooklyn and the New York lay off Aguadores. They were in communication with General Shafter by means of wigwag signals to the signal corps men on shore, and thence by telephone to headquarters.

The New York fired three shots to find the range, waiting after each shot for a report from the shore as to the effect.

At half past nine o'clock the New York got the range and there were wildly enthusiastic cheers on board when the fact was signalled from the shore. The Brooklyn steamed up and began a slow fire. Later the Indiana began firing rapidly, frequently double shots.

All of the ships used eight-inch guns. The range was 8,500 yards. The shots passed over the ridge and their point of striking or the effect of their explosion could not be seen from the sea. The signal corps on the ridge reported that 101 of the 106 shots fired were effective. The last shots struck in the vicinity of the Cathedral, well into the city.

Admiral Sampson was notified at 12.45 o'clock by General Shafter that a flag of truce had been raised, and it was supposed that it had been hoisted by the Spaniards. Commodore Schley left the Brooklyn and went to Siboney. From there he telegraphed to General Shafter and learned that it was Shafter himself who had called the truce, having sent Major Noble of his staff under a flag of truce as the bearer of a sealed note to the Spanish commander demanding surrender.

MANY PRIZ S CAPTURED.

The Wary Reaches Key West in Charge of a Prize Crew.

Key West, Fla., July 13.--The prize Wary, with a cargo of provisions, captured by the St. Louis ten miles off Santa Cruz, has been brought in here by a prize crew, Ensign Albrecht, Midshipman Davy and Sergeant Feeny, from the St. Louis. The sloop Nicholson has been captured by the Hist off Manzanillo. She has not been brought in yet.

The schooner Three Bells and several others have been captured between Manzanillo and Jamaica with supplies for Manzanillo while trying to run the blockade. Most of them fly the English flag. Many Spaniards at Jamaica are buying all kinds of supplies to send to Cuba at risk of a great loss. The prizes are expected to arrive here at any time.

Secretary Alger's Son Commended.

Washington, July 13.—Frederick Alger, son of the secretary of war, and a captain in the adjutant general's department, has been distinguishing himself before Santiago and has earned the warm commendation of his superior officers couched in such terms as to make it apparent that it was not called for by any consideration of his relationship to Secretary Alger. The official reports show that young Alger, in his zeal to get to the front seized a rifle and joined the First infantry in order to get ashore with the first body of troops.

Since that time, attached to General Duffield's brigade, he has rendered most important service.

Defeated Chinese Troops.

Canton, July 13.--The rebels have now captured nine towns and have defeated the imperial troops west of Woo Chow.

Placards have been posted at Woo Chow, declaring war against the officials and warning the inhabitants to depart before the rebels attack the town.

The authorities here have purchased 3,000 rifles and are negotiating for a number of machine guns.

Wounded Men on the Solace.

Washington, D. C., July 13.--Word has been received from the naval hospital ship Solace that she has aboard about forty naval wounded and a number of Spanish wounded. The remaining accommodations will be given to the wounded from the army. It is expected she will arrive in the next few days.

SANTIAGO MUST SOON FALL

The Situation is Reported to Be Very Quiet and With but Little Fighting Going On—Our Lines Have Been Extended Down to the Bay—Two New Batteries Placed in Position

Washington, D. C., July 13.--The following dispatch from General Shafter was received yesterday:

Playa del Este, via Hayti, July 12.
Headquarters Fifth Army Corps.
Adjutant General, Washington:

It has been very quiet; but little fighting. A flag of truce up since two o'clock considering proposition for surrendering, now that I have the town surrounded on the north.

Lines were completed at 5 p. m. by General Ludlow right down to the bay. The line is rather thin, but will have it strengthened in the morning by General Henry, who has just arrived at headquarters.

Only three or four casualties. No one killed so far as I can learn.

Expect to have two new batteries in position to-morrow.

Great deal of suffering among the people who have gone out of Santiago. Am doing my best to relieve it, but not entirely successful.

SHAFTER.

General Shafter's Headquarters, July 11, via Kingston, Jamaica, July 12.--Fighting continued during the day and at this hour, 4 p. m., it is believed that the city of Santiago will be captured by the American forces within the next twenty-four hours.

The Americans have advanced steadfly all day. In several of the Spanish trenches our troops found dummy wooden guns and no Spanish soldiers.

There was a very weak fire from the Spanish troops and the American officers have received further evidence of the great distress prevailing in the city of Santiago.

Washington, D. C., July 13.--The expectation was general yesterday that Santiago would be ours very soon. The main source of apprehension was that the Spaniards may have succeeded to a considerable degree in evacuating the town before the American lines of investment were complete, so that when the American troops entered it would be found a mere empty husk with perhaps nothing more than a desperate rear guard of Spaniards left to protect and conceal the retreat of the main body of the troops.

There were several indications of some such move, which is supposed to have been in progress for the past three or four days.

General Shafter himself reported under date of Sunday that the Spaniards had evacuated in a small town on the west side of the bay, one of the suburbs of Santiago, while the Associated Press dispatches Monday referred to the departure of a body of Spaniards from Santiago toward Holguin.

General Miles has not taken and will not take charge of the operations now being conducted against Santiago. Whatever credit is to be derived from the capture of that town, if it results from the prosecution of the present plan of campaign by General Shafter, will redound to that officer's credit, for General Miles has declared expressly that he does not assume the conduct of these operations. He is there simply in his capacity as commanding general of the army to look over the field and to ascertain whether the operations are going along as they should.

But with his appearance comes very substantial assistance for General Shafter. With him on the Yale were more than 1,000 men and considerable artillery, while the Columbia, which formed part of his expedition, is expected to report there at any moment with the remainder of the troops.

As General Shafter has referred to the thinness of his line it is expected that these reinforcements will be very gratefully received.

DISTRESS IN PORTO RICO

Natives Starving and Anxious to Be Free from Spain's Rule.

Provincetown, Mass., July 13.--Captain McKenna of the British brig Ethel, who arrived here yesterday from Arecibo, Porto Rico, brings a story of great destitution at San Juan and other places and a deep interest among the inhabitants of the island in the progress of the war, which, it is believed, is to free the people from Spanish tyranny.

Captain McKenna stated that he left Arecibo June 21. At that time reports from all parts of Porto Rico indicated a condition among the natives nearly bordering on starvation. At Arecibo flour was selling at nineteen dollars a barrel and salt fish at thirty cents per pound, and other provisions at a price so high that none but the wealthy could get them.

Several American and British newspapers reached Captain McKenna while he lay at Arecibo, and he states that the natives actually fought each other to get possession of them, so eager were they to learn of the progress of the war.

Sagasta's Resignation is Confirmed.

Washington, D. C., July 13.--Confirmation of the fall of the Sagasta ministry has reached Washington.

The advices announce positively that General Campos will be the new prime minister, and in some circles this is regarded as an indication of coming peace. Among state department officials the opinion prevails that the question of continued war depends to a considerable extent upon the result of the operations against Santiago de Cuba. The capture of Linares' army will so influence the new ministry it is thought that peace will be the outcome.

A New Forecaster Now.

New York, July 13.—The resignation of Elias B. Dunn as official forecaster of the New York weather bureau has been accepted and Eben H. Emory, his first assistant has been appointed to succed him.

MADRID SAYS NO SURRENDER

Toral Gets Orders to Fight to the Bitter End. Again Proposal to Yield Is Scorned

Madrid, July 13.--After the cabinet council the ministers asserted that Santiago de Cuba again had refused the American demand for surrender.

Playa del Este, July 13.--Yesterday General Toral sent out a reply to General Shafter's second demand for the unconditional surrender of Santiago, made by letter.

In his reply General Toral referred to his refusal to accede to the American demand on Sunday and again reiterated his determination to resist.

Notwithstanding this, the American batteries did not open fire in the morning and the renewal of the bombardment probably will be postponed until to-day, when it is hoped that all of General Randolph's batteries will be in position.

The siege guns landed will be brought up as soon as possible.

RECRUITS LEAVING CHICKAMAUGA

Rumored That More Troops Will Be Sent to the Front Soon.

Chickamauga, July 13.--At an early hour yesterday several hundred recruits for the First brigade, First division, First corps, which left Camp Thomas for Charleston several days ago, marched to Ringgold, Ga., where they went aboard a special train for Charleston.

These recruits were sent out to join their command by order of General Miles. Before his departure for Santiago General Miles wired General Brooke directing that the soldiers mentioned as well as the wagon trains of the three regiments, be rushed at once to Charleston.

In all about one thousand soldiers were left here by the three regiments, the majority of them, however, belonging to the Sixteenth Pennsylvania.

The First Ohio cavalry did not leave yesterday, but will get out to-day. All final preparations for departure are being made.

At the headquarters of the First corps it is stated that no further orders for the removal of troops have been received. From another source it is learned that the Second brigade, Second division, First corps, under General Hains, is likely to depart any day.

It is thought at the camp that definite orders for the departure of the nine thousand men will be received very soon. It is understood that these troops are to be moved by the returning transports which are now reaching the American coast.

A letter received in camp from United States Senator Fairbanks says the entire Second division of the First corps was to be ordered to Porto Rico. The letter was written to Captain Warren Fairbanks, son of the senator, who is in the commissary department of the division.

Orders have also been issued by General Sanger directing that regimental commanders prepare a list of all sharpshooters in the regiment; also designating the second and third class marksmen. They are to be formed into companies of sharpshooters and will be used in picking the guerillas out of the trees after the command reaches Cuba, if that shall come to pass.

INTERNATIONAL ISOLATION.

The Rule Was Formulated by Washington.

The United States is certainly now entitled to rank among the great Powers of the world. Yet, while its place among the nations is assumed, it purposely takes its stand outside of European family circle to which it belongs, and neither accepts the responsibilities of its place nor secures its advantages. It avowedly restricts its activities to the American continents and intentionally assumes an attitude of absolute aloofness to everything outside those continents. This rule of policy is not infrequently associated with another which is known as the Monroe Doctrine—as if the former grew out of the Monroe Doctrine or were, in a sense, a kind of consideration for that doctrine, or a sort of complement to it. In reality the rule of isolation originated and was applied many years before the Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed. No doubt consistency requires that the conduct toward America which America expects of Europe should be by America observed toward Europe. Nor is there any more doubt that such reciprocal conduct is required of us, not only by consistency but by both principle and expediency. The vital feature of the Monroe Doctrine is that no European Power shall forcibly posses itself of American soil and forcibly control the political fortunes and destinies of its people. Assuredly America can have no difficulty in governing its behavior toward Europe on the same lines.

Tradition and precedent are a potent force in the New World as well as in the Old and dominate the counsels of modern democracies as well as those of ancient monarchies. The rule of international isolation for America was formulated by Washington, was embalmed in the earnest and solemn periods of the Farewell Address, and has come down to suceeding generations with all the immense prestige attaching to the injunctions of the Father of his Country.—Richard Olney in Atlantic Monthly.

A Clearance Sale of Shirt Waists.

There are 300 or more waists that will take their parting during the week—that is, if price counts. There'll be few left, however, when one knows that the prices will be just half. SPAIN'S TERMS OF PEACE.

What She Is Willing to Give Up to Stop the War.

Madrid, July 13.--The possibility of peace with the United States is being widely discussed in the newspapers and by the public. The Conservative papers declare Spain is prepared to accept peace provided it implies only the loss of Cuba. But, they add, Spain would prefer war a l'outrance if the United States claims Porto Rico, the Philippine islands or an immense indemnity which would be impossible for Spain to pay.

The Correspondencia asserts that General Correa, the minister for war, does not disagree with the other cabinet ministers so seriously as generally supposed, and in view of the gravity of the Cuban situation, it is possible he will no longer oppose peace, provided the conditions are not too onerous.

The public connects the recent conference between Duke Almodovar del Rio, the Spanish minister for foreign affairs, and the French ambassador here, M. Patenotre, with the report that the French ambassador at Washington, M. Cambon, has been instructed to ascertain the lightest conditions upon which peace is obtainable.

Other Spanish newspapers continue the violent anti-peace campaign. The Ejercito Espanol, a Service paper, says:

"If we make peace now we deserve to be spat in the face. If Santiago falls there still remain 180,000 Spaniards in Cuba who are determined to defend that territory."

The Correspondencia Militar, another Service paper, declares the government must act in conformity with the wishes of the army in Cuba, which, it adds, desires to continue the war.

TO LEAD MANILA TROOPS.

Gen. Otis and His Staff to Take With Them 1,760 Men.

San Francisco, July 13.--The fourth expedition to the Philippines will number 1,760.

With Major General Otis will sail, on the Peru and City of Puebla, Brigadier General Hughes, chief of staff of the department of the Pacific; Lieutenant Colonel Barry, assistant adjutant general; Major Mallory, inspector general; Captain Charles McClure, judge advocate, and First Lieutenant Sladen, aide.

The remaining members of the staff will go to Manila next week on the City of Rio Janeiro, and join General Otis on that vessel on its arrival at Honolulu. They are Captain H. Betford, assistant adjutant general; C. A. Devol, assistant quartermaster, and Captain C. C. Walcutt, assistant quartermaster.

General Otis expects that the steamers Rio Janeiro, Pennsylvania and St. Paul will be ready to sail with the trops on Friday of next week. He expects not to get any more troops until the return from Manila of the steamships City of Pekin, City of Sydney and Australia, about August 3.

Supplied With Latest Charts.

Washington, July 13.--The naval officers regard their part in the operations at Santiago as at an end practically, and are lookin garound for new worlds to conquer. Their eyes are turned to the East, and they are rushing preparations for the dispatch of Commodore Watson's eastern squadron. This is decidedly a more attractive cruise from a naval point of view than the demonstration proposed against San Juan de Porto Rico, which is understood to be the next number on the programme, but which the naval authorities believe will not amount to much, because of the easy reduction of the defences.

Every ship in Watson's squadron has been supplied with the very latest charts, not only of the coasts of Spain and the Mediterranean, but of track courses that will take them clear to the Philippines. In addition to this the few officers assigned to the vessels of this squadron, but not yet aboard, have received orders from the department to go to their ships at once. Notice of the departure of some of the vessels, therefore, may be looked for at any moment.

PLANS FOR WATSON.

If Santiago Falls He Will Start Tomorrow.

Washington, July 13.--The time for the sailing of the eastern squadron under Commodore Watson depends upon the action at Santiago. Should the city surrender, Commodore Watson will be ready to sail to-day.

The only difficulty, it is said at the navigation bureau, is the orders to the Yosemite. This auxiliary cruiser is off San Juan at present and there is great difficulty in communicating with her.

"We are trying to reach her," said an officer of the navigation bureau, "but have not yet succeeded. The squadron is certainly going to Spain and ought to sail this week. There will be no unnecessary delay."

It is the belief that the Yosemite will join the Watson squadron off San Juan.

Germany and Samoa.

Berlin, July 13.—The Vossische Zeitung, foreseeing that after the annexation of Hawaii it is "possible that the United States may attempt to acquire the Samo—an islands also," says:

"America has practically no rights in Samoa, and Germany's voice must rank before America's in the future fate of the islands. Germany will, therefore, take care that her interests are protected in the final settlement."

No Stamps on Soldiers Letters.

New York, July 13.—About five hundred unstamped letters from soldiers in Cuba were received at the general postoffice yesterday from Portsmouth, N. H., and sent out on the first delivery this morning. The letters have the postmark "Military station No. 1, Cuba, June 29." They were brought with about 20,000 others on the St. Louis.

To Receive the St. Louis

Philadelphia, July 13.—Commandant Casey, of the League island navy yard is preparing to receive the auxiliary cruiser St. Louis, which is now at Portsmouth, N. H. The cruiser is expected to arrive here in a few days. Quite a number of guns are to be put in position on her decks.

DANGER NO LONGER

War Department Orders All Harbor Mines Exploded.

FOREIGN FOE NOT FEARED

The Submarine Mines Placed in Al Harbors at the Beginning of the Wa No Longer Needed—Since the Destruction of the Spanish Fleet No Foreign Invasion Seems Likely.

Washington, D. C., July 13.—The secretary of war has ordered the removal of all the submarine mines which now protect the harbors of the United States against the entry of hostile ships.

This action was decided upon at yesterday's cabinet meeting. For weeks past, in fact almost since the beginning of hostilities, the war department has been deluged with protests from the commercial interests of the country against the continuance of these mines which operated to the detriment of commerce.

In certain cases influences were brought to bear that secured an abatement of the rules, but this only increased the dissatisfaction in localities where they were so rigidly applied.

Practically it has been impossible for shipping to enter or leave any of the harbors of the United States during the last two months between the hours of sunset and sunrise.

To Explode the Mines.

The decision of the cabinet to remove these mines now is one of most signal manifestations of the supreme confidence of the government in the future and of the exemption of the United States ports from attack at the hands of any hostile power. After thoroughly considering the subject it has been decided by the engineers that the safest and quickest means of removing the mines is by exploding them and orders to do this have been prepared for transmission to all of the United States engineer officers in charge of harbor defences throughout the country.

Since the destruction of Admiral Cervera's fleet and the removal from these waters of the last remnant of the Spanish navy the war department has been flooded with requests from all the Atlantic coast cities that the mines and torpedoes in the harbors and rivers be taken out.

Secretary Alger then said that he had discussed with General Wilson, chief of engineers, the advisability of clearing the harbors of these mines and that he would definitely settle the matter.

Next the reported appearance of a Spanish privateer off the Northwest coast afforded an opportunity to the engineer officers to justify themselves for insisting upon the maintenance of the mines, which now guard all navigable harbors.

While it was recalled that these mines were a serious interference with trade and public convenience, it was said to be still absolutely necessary to maintain them until there was no longer the faintest apprehension entertained of complications with European powers that by any possibility might end in hostilities.

INJURIES TO BATTLESHIPS.

Naval Officials Believe Iowa and Indiana Are Not Seriously Damaged.

Washington, D. C., July 13.--The navy department has received no word as to the injuries to the forward turrets of the battleships Iowa and Indiana, as referred to in press dispatches From this fact the officials conclude that the injuries are not at all serious as any material disarrangement of the turrets would be quickly reported.

For some time there has been difficulty in securing an acute elevation of big guns in the turrets of the Iowa. The lack of elevation is of no disadvantage in the general utility of the guns which are fired with little or no elevation.

Aguinaldo on Guard.

Madrid, July 13.--An official dispatch from Iloilo, Philippine islands, says that Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader is "patrolling the coast with a squadron of merchantmen."

The dispatch adds that two bands of insurgents at Cebu have been defeated and that three insurgent leaders have been captured and shot.

In conclusion the official dispatch announces that there is no news from other parts of the island.

Congregationalist Officers.

Portland, Ore., July 13.—The national council of Congregationalists has elected the following officers for the ensuing three years:

Secretary, Rev. Henry A. Helson, Auburndale, Mass.; register, Rev. William H. Moore, Hartford, Conn.; treasurer Samuel B. Forbes, Hartford, Conn. auditor, David N. Camp, New Britain Conn.

Prisoners Furnished Money.

Washington, July 13.—Nearly all the Spanish officers are without money and are also in straits in regard to clothing.

Secretary Long has arranged to allow a certain sum of money to them each day, in accordance with the courteous, but not always observed, custom in the case of prisoners of war.

Death of Omar D. Conger.

Ocean City, Md., July 13.--Ex-Senator Omar D. Conger of Michigan died here yesterday afternoon, at the age of 8 years. His birthplace was Coopers town, N. Y., but moved at the age of six years to Huron county, Ohio, with his father, who was a clergyman.

Hawaiian Board to Sail Soon.

San Francisco, July 13.--Rear Admiral Miller, who will have charge of the annexation ceremonies in Honolulu, will leave here on the cruiser Philadelphia July 20. He will be accompanied by the commissioners appointed to draft a code of laws for the islands.

Falling Bridge Kills Two.

Boston, Mass., July 13.--By the giving way of a number of piles on the new bridge which is being built between the Charles River bridge and the Warren bridge here two men were killed yesterday and several severely injured.

PORTO RICO COMES NEXT.

Believed That the Expedition to That Island Will Leave in Ten Days.

Washington, D. C., July 13.--It is predicted at the war department that the Porto Rican expedition will be off inside of ten days.

Already troops are being gathered on the sea coast preliminary to the dispatch of transports bound for San Juan.

Two light batteries, consisting of Troops C and M of the Seventh United States artillery left Fort Myer Monday night for Tampa under orders to proceed to San Juan with the first transports that leave.

General Ernst's brigade, composed of the Third Illinois, Fourth Pennsylvania and Fourth Ohio, which was originally slated for Santiago, is to go to Porto Rico and as soon as the necessary ships can be provided for these troops and the two batteries of artillery, they will sail for Tampa.

The department intends to withdraw from Santiago after the fall of that city, practically all the white troops now there. The place is to be garrisoned by colored troops and by the regiments of immunes now being recruited in Louisiana and other southern states.

General Wyman of the Marine Hospital service has reported to the war department that the city of Santiago is a perfect hot bed of yellow fever in midsummer and that it will be unsafe for any but immunes to remain in the place.

The department is now arranging to send immune nurses to Santiago to accompany the troops that are to supplant the white soldiers now at that place. Several surgeons have been detailed to go to New Orleans and enlist immune nurses.

LA BOURGOGNE INQUIRY.

Government Investigation at Halifax—Capt. Henderson Testifies.

Halifax, N. S., July 13.--The government inquiry into the cause of the loss of the steamship Bourgogne and the damage to the ship Cromartyshire commenced yesterday. The investigation is likely to be prolonged, as all parties have retained eminent local counsel to represent them. The inquiry is most important, as actions for damages or actions for manslaughter may be founded upon the conclusion reached.

Captain Henderson, master of the Cromartyshire, was first called. As near as he could remember it was five o'clock when, while in the chart room, he heard a steamer's fog whistle. The captain asked the chief officer if he heard it, and he replied "No." In a minute or so it was heard again. All on deck heard the whistle at this time. The direction of the sound of the steamer's whistle could not be located until the last blast just before the collision. The approaching ship's whistle sounded on the port bow. He could do nothing. The steamer struck the instant after he saw her bow. It was just like a flash. Two ships' models were produced, showing the point of contact.

The ship's log, which has already been published, was then read by the court.

The court then adjourned until this morning.

DIVISION OF PRIZE MONEY.

Admiral Sampson Will Get $10,000 for the Destruction of Cervera's Fleet.

Washington, July 13.--On the basis of a calculation made on reports already received as to the work of the various vessels of Sampson's fleet in the capture and destruction of Cervera's ships, it is unofficially estimated that Admiral Sampson will receive $10,000 in prize money, Commodore Schley $4,000 and the captains of the ships engaged in the fight each $2,500.

The amount that will go to the sailors cannot yet be even approximately estimated, but will possibly be as low as $25 to each man. It will probably be necessary for Congress to appropriate the money.

The navy department has already begun the work of making up the estimates of Dewey's prize captures at Manila.

EXPLOSION KILLS FIFTEEN MEN.

Pompton Lake Powder Mill Blown Up With Fearful Results.

Dover, N. J., July 13.--A most disastrous explosion occurred in the Pompton Lake powder mill yesterday. Fifteen men were killed and about a score wounded. Some of the members of the Third New Jersey volunteers, who acted as guard around the works, are among those killed. At least a dozen of the guards are among the wounded.

The identification of the dead has not yet been made. The wounded were removed to the Paterson city hospital on a special train over the Delaware and Lackawanna road.

It was 11 o'clock when the explosion occurred. The frame buildings were shattered by the force and the report was heard for miles.

Epworth League Convention.

Saratoga Springs, July 13.--The seventh annual convention of the Second General Conference district of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church will bring together here on Thursday from fifteen hundred to two thousand delegates. The district embraces New York and portions of New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania. An interesting programme has been arranged for July 14 to 17, inclusive.

Yankee Puts to Sea.

New York, July 13.--The cruiser Yankee, which has been lying off Tompkinsville since last Wednesday, put to sea at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She is manned chiefly by the New York naval reserves and has been assigned to Commodore Watson's squadron.

It is probable that the Yankee will stop at Norfolk, Va., as she has on board several cases of ammunition for the navy yard there.

Mrs. Place at Sing Sing.

Sing, Sing, N. Y., July 13.--Mrs. Martha Place, the Brooklyn murderess, arrived here yesterday and was taken in a cab from the station to the prison. She was placed in the cell occupied by Maria Barbella, who murdered an Italian in New York two years ago.

FOR THE VACATION SEASON.

Subscribers leaving the city for the summer season can have The Daily Press sent to their new address by notifying the buisness office. The address will be changed as often as desired. "Home news" will prove most interesting while you are away.

In the Congressional Field.

Now that Congress has adjourned the New Jersey Representatives have returned to their various homes and are busily engaged in the effort to have their constituents return them to Washington for another term. War, of course, kept them in Washington longer than usual this year, and many of the honorable gentlemen have been resitive under their absence from home, lest some antagonistic forces should be undermining their chance for renomination.

Up to the present the Congressman's duty has been to his country, but now he can be expected to view his obligation from the standpoint of pulling all possible wires in the political machine to have himself honored by the title and emoluments again.

Congressman Fowler, of the Eighth district—in which Plainfield is situated—is confident that he will be renominated. He also feels quite certain of his election over any Democrat that can be nominated. He is at his home in Elizabeth now laying plans to capture all the Congressional delegates in the district. He figures that Plainfield Republicans will grant him strong support.

Congressman Howell, of the Third district, has served two terms in the National Legislature, but he is willing, in fact, anxious, for another term. About the only opposition that has been suggested as liable to develop against him was the candidacy of Senator Charles A. Reed, of the borough, but a long time ago the "Tall Sycamore of Somerset" said that he had no idea of opposing Mr. Howell, and so the field seems clear for Howell in the Republican camp. But he will have a popular candidate against him if former Congressman J. A Geissenhainer should become the Democratic nominee. He is said to be seeking it. A few years ago the Third district, as well as the Eighth, was normally Democratic, but now-a days it cannot be safely ascribed as such.

Little Heard of Lee Now.

War is the greatest thing on earth for making and breaking popular heroes. In the agitation leading up to the present war Consul General Fitzhugh Lee was the most conspicuous figure in the minds of his countrymen, and in a certain sense was looked upon as the Moses of the American forces destined to lead them to victory in the territory then ruled over by the Spaniards.

He was the first of the new Brigadier Generals to be named by the President, and at the moment his name was on the lips of every patriotic citizens. Since his elevation to a military post, however, Lee's name has rapidly fallen into the background of the thrilling events of warfare, and it is only now and then that we hear of him through the routine channel of military orders sent out from Washington.

County Boards of Election.

By commissioning the Republican members of the County Boards of Election throughout the State, yesterday, Governor Voorhees gives an official warning that election time is again rolling around. For Union county John W. Murray, Jr., of Plainfield, was appointed for two years, and Edward C. Woodruff, of Elizabeth, for one year. For Somerset county Charles B. Bateman, of Somerville, was named for two years, and George W. Cooper, of Somerville, for one year.

THE WAR BALLOON AT SANTIAGO.

One of the features of General Shafter's attack upon Santiago was the use of the military balloon. This balloon was sent up about 2,500 feet and floated over the city. The observations made from it were of great value to the attacking army. The balloon was held captive by great wire cables, through which telegraph and telephone messages were transmitted to General Shafter.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

There is great rivalry between Plainfield and Somerville, but as the latter is not a city, while Plainfield is, and has, besides, a Mayor of unusual energy and wide-awakeness, it is not surprising that Plainfield is generally ahead. It seems, however, that Somerville has one notable convenience not possessed by its rival, and it is thus described by a leading newspaper in the less fortunate town: "In front of the principal drug stores there stands a post. On the post is a push-button which connects with an electric bell inside. When a customer drives up to the store it is not necessary for him to leave the carriage or call for a clerk, but merely to push the button, whereat the clerk does the rest."

Apparently everybody who goes driving in Somerville has business at one or more of the drug stores. And yet the people can't be in search of medicines, because Somerset county is a healthy district.—New York Tribune.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

One of the summer attractions in this section of New Jersey is the boat carnival on the Rahway river at Cranford. The affair used to be held on the evening in August when the moon was at full. From all the neighboring towns, even as far away as New Brunswick and Rahway, the people used to flock by train, in carriages and awheel to see the handsome display of boats. Every resident of Cranford decorated his house and lawn with a profuse array of Chinese lanterns until the entire town was converted into a "fairyland."

This year there comes a report from Cranford that the carnival is not to be. For several years the carnival has been conducted in a manner which, to the outsiders, seemed to be a complete success. This year, however, the organizers of the affair complain of a lack of interest on the part of those who have boats to enter in the carnival.

No reason is advanced for the lack of support and the general public is left to draw the only conclusion probable that the people of Cranford have simply grown tired of the exhibition of decorated boats and need a year or two without any to appreciate it. It is to be hoped, however, that the announcement itself will stir the lethargic citizens of Cranford to a full realization of the situation and that the promoters of the affair will receive sufficient promises of entries to cause them to reconsider their determination and hold a carnival as usual.

* * * * *

Among all the characters known in the local police circles there was none who caused more real excitement than "Jack" Benford, the demented son of Maggie Benford, one of the well-known characters of Paradise Alley. "Jack" made a reputation for himself early in life by jumping coal trains. The mere sight of a policeman was a sign for rapid flight with him. Once he jumped from the second story window of his home, carrying sash and all with him, to escape from the clutches of the minions of the law. He became so wild that he was taken to the county jail for sixty days, and while there was examined regarding his sanity. The doctors declared his mind unbalanced, and he was ordered removed to the hospital for the insane at Morris Plains. That happened last summer. It was only a few days ago that Chief Grant was recalling to a few of his friends the circumstances of his last trip with "Jack" when he took him from the county jail at Elizabeth over to Morris Plains.

"Jack" was a morose character, especially in company with an officer. To improve his state of mind, the Chief gave him a box of cigarettes, for "Jack" was always a great lover of them. He took them in silence, and after taking one out to smoke, stowed the rest away.

After a time the Chief remarked: "Give us a cigarette, Jack."

"Hain't got none," growled forth the prisoner.

There was silence for a time, and then Benford turned with a sudden "Gimme a match." The Chief produced the required match, but "Jack" refused to share his cigarettes with his captor.

Later Benford asked, "Where are you taking me, anyhow?"

"Oh, to a nice boarding-house," replied Chief Grant.

After that Benford had nothing more to say and only replied to the officials at the State Hospital in brief and surly tones.

BOTH ARE NOW IN JAIL

urday, as has already been told in The Daily Press, Mrs O'Donnell was summoned before the City Judge and sentenced to jail for a term of sixty days.

With father and mother both in jail, the city was obliged to look after the children. A boarding place was provided for the two elder ones and they continued their careers without change except of boarding place. The small child was placed at another house by the Overseer of the Poor and her board paid from the poor fund of the city. This will continue until Hughie is released.

As far as the children are concerned they are really in better circumstances than before, for their home surroundings were not exactly conducive to comfort nor were they particularly enjoyable.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Westfield, July 13—A couple riding a tandem last night down the hill at Glensiell Park lost control of the wheel and ran into a cow. The young woman was stunned for a few minutes by the fall, and the man received several cuts and bruises. The wheel was a wreck. They declined to give their names, and were taken in a carriage to the Westfield depot.

The indications are that the strong baseball team, which Manager H. H. Downes has succeeded in getting together to play as the Westfield Club team, will be disbanded on account of a lack of funds with which to carry on the support. The manager now has only 78 cents on hand, and it will cost at least $260 to meet the expenses of the games already scheduled to be played between now and Sept. 5th.

TIOFA MINE REDISCOVERED.

A Brooklyn Man Entitled to Half of the Mexican Government's Reward.

J. Newton Fowler, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and a friend recently rediscovered the famous lost gold mine of Tiofa. The discovery was made in a deep narrow canon, through which runs the Rio Chico, a tributary of the Aras River. Mr. Fowler, while chasing a wounded deer, came across a stone wall inclosing an opening. On cutting through the wall an old mining shaft was disclosed. At its mouth were a number of crude, old mining implements. On going down the shaft a few feet some very rich specimens of gold were found.

If this is the old Tiofa mine, as is firmly believed, Mr. Fowler and his associate will receive $15,000 in gold from the Mexican government, this being the standing reward it has offered for the rediscovery of the wine. The records of the mine were in the hands or the priests, who have searched the country for it.

More than one man has lost his life searching for this mine. In 1882 Pitsician, then chief engineer of the Texas and Pacific road, was killed by the Apaches while he was searching for it.

J. Newton Fowler is from Booklyn, N. Y., where his father is a contractor and builder, and Singleton is an old ex-Texas Ranger. The Tiofa mine was fabulously rich in gold, and was walled in when its owners were driven out of the country by the Indians in 1819.—New York Sun.

GREAT NOVELIST'S COLLEGE DAYS.

Charles Reade Not Always a Model for Other Youths.

When Charles Reade was at Oxford he was not always, from a proctor's point of view, a pattern for others to be guided by. One night he and a companion, being without cap and gown, were chased by the "bulldogs." Being fleet of foot they soon reached their respective colleges. His chum was able to square the porter at the Queen's and passed in, but there was no such luck for Reade when he arrived at Magdalen.

Being a young man of resources, he was not to be easily caught, and, looking about him in the moonlight, he espied a ladder. Planting this under his chamber window, he was soon in his own rooms. But the tell-tale ladder remained behind, so he managed to drag it up after him. He always carried a capital sportsman's knife—which would saw as well as cut—and with it he began to convert the ladder into fuel. When his friend from Queen's called in the morning to see how it had fared with Reade, he was told: "I shall be all right directly, old man, for I've been up all night burning the ladder, and I have just put the last bit of the blessed thing on the fire."—Washington Star.

WOMEN'S REALM

WHAT TO WEAR AND HOW TO MAKE IT.

May Manton's Hints Regarding Seasonable Toilettes.

The favorite waist this season shows the guimpe effect and a more graceful or generally becoming style has seldom appealed to the popular taste.

Our illustration represents aluminum gray poplin made over yellow taffeta, the yoke and plastron front that simulate the guimpe, and the sleeves being of finely tucked sheer white organdy. Gray, black and yellow silk embroidered passementerie is used to decorate this handsome gown and the waist is encircled by a French gilt jeweled belt. The body lining, fitted with double darts and other usual seams, closing in centre front, is the foundation over which the round yoke facing in back and plastron front that simulate the guimpe, is applied.

The plastron is sewed to the right front lining and closes at the left shoulder and under the blouse front.

A standing collar of the tucked organdy finishes the neck, closing with front at left shoulder.

Stylishly pointed revers roll softly over from the rounded tops of the blouse fronts and rounded epaulettes stand out over the tops of the two seamed sleeves.

The fitted linings may be omitted from the sleeves if a transparent effect is desired.

The skirt comprising six gores has a narrow front and two gores on each side, the straight back breadth especially adapting it to wash goods and all thin fabrics.

Whether for silk, wool or cotton goods, the simplicity and utility of this style recommends it to home dressmakers, and flat bands, ruchings, applique, embroidery, lace or insertion will form appropriate decoration.

To make this waist for a lady of medium size, 2 yards of material 44 inches wide will be required.

Styles for Nurses.

French nurses are no longer wearing muslin caps with long streamers of wide colored ribbons. That is quite out of date in Paris. A "bonnet" or lace cap lined with pink or blue silk, and without trimmings, has replaced it. A wreath of ribbon without ends is seen on some fine needlework caps, but the ribbons are narrower than those formerly used. Brittany caps are seen in the Bois and parks, and the Bordelaise is met occasionally. It is a silk kerchief carefully twisted over the head. The Florentine headdress always attracts attention, with its fine golden pins run through raven tresses. An Alsatian nurse is recognized by her big bow, and a Spanish nurse by her black lace mantilla.

Wrinkles!

The majority of wrinkles are caused by worry and fretting, but some of them come from laughing. It is just as important to know how to laugh as it is to know when to do it. You must not laugh with the sides of the face or the skin will work loose and wrinkles will form, according to the kind of laugh you have. You must not always wear a smirk or a series of semicircular wrinkles will cover your cheeks. The best way is to look in the glass and laugh and find out which kind of a laugh suits your face best and which produces least wrinkles. Then cultivate that laugh for all it is worth and if it saves you a few wrinkles it will be worth a great deal.

Checked Shirt Waist.

A shirt waist that is absolutely plain is sure to be branded as a left-over from last year. Some of them are even trimmed with flounces, but here they cease to be real shirt waists and become ordinary blouses. Tucks are the favorite trimming and they are put in in every conceivable fashion—straight up and down, horizontally around the body and even diagonally.

Keeping Silver Bright.

One can keep table silver bright by soaking it in strong borax water for several hours occasionally. The water must be at boiling point, and should be poured on the silver. When well soaked a simple rubbing with a chamois leather will suffice to make the silver as bright as new.

HOUSE HOLD TALKS

Chair Covers.

House cleaning cannot stop even to celebrate our victories and the American house-wife goes merrily on with her scrubbing brush and moth balls, just as usual, preparing the household goods to withstand a more insidious danger than Spanish arms. Among the tasks that follow house cleaning none is more necessary than that of providing chintz covers for the chairs. One can buy them made to order, but they are very expensive, and when once one gets the idea the task of making them is very simple. The picture shows the result of a little experiment with one kind of chair. Of course it would be impossible to give a pattern for all, as chairs differ too widely in shape and size. To make the chair cover here shown seven pieces are required, but the two on the inside of the arms are just alike, as are also the two at the sides, of which one is numbered 4. To obtain the pieces, newspapers were pinned to the different parts and then cut out in patterns to fit each. The chintz is cut from the paper patterns and sewed together with the raw edges on the right side. The edges are bound with tape. A sofa may be covered in the same way, with a little care in cutting the pattern.

The Ideal Husband.

The prize of a guineau for the best definition of "An Ideal Husband" was awarded by an English paper for the following:

"One who nobly and unselfishly takes his part in the responsibilities and difficulties of everyday life, and, by reason of his superior strength, added to tenderness, guides and encourages his wife in hers."

"Here are a few of the other "Ideals" sent in:

"One who loves deeply, rebukes justly, rules lightly."

"One who is kind and considerate in little things."

"He who takes the back seat when his wife wants the front one."

"My ideal husband is a man of peace and consummate tact, never omitting to rub his boots on the doormat."

Three or four competitors, instead of giving a definition of their "Ideal Husband," said simply "Mine," a method which saves trouble, but does not convey very much information to the world at large.

Story of Queen Victoria.

Here is a pleasant little fairy tale about Queen Victoria, told by the correspondent of a San Francisco paper. "One evening after a large dinner-party at Windsor, the Queen, with her guests and members of the royal household, was in the drawing-room, when a lamp commenced to smoke. The Queen, who was near by, promptly turned the wick down.

"A lady-in-waiting, ashamed that she should have neglected any opportunity of service, apologizingly asked why the Queen had attended to it herself.

"'Because,' said her Majesty, 'had I said to you the lamp was smoking, you would have told the equerry, who in turn would have told a servant, who would have searched for an especial footman, while all the time the lamp would have continued smoking, so I preferred to turn it down myself."

Fresh Fish From Salt.

For those who desire dainty fare at the smallest possible cost, salt cod may, with but slight extra trouble, be made delicious. Soak a thick piece in cold water over night, wash carefully, scrape away any discoloration, tie in a cloth, boil the same as fresh fish, but be sure to change the water once, and have fresh boiling water at hand to renew. The cod will turn out white and firm, and with a smooth white parsley sauce thrown over can scarcely be told from fresh fish, while the cost is much less.

Fortune in a Kitchen.

A fortune with her frying pan is what Mrs. A. B. Marshall, a handsome young English woman, can boast of having earned. A number of years ago she laid the foundation of her present prosperity by opening a modest but very practical school of cookery. At first there were small classes, and women wishing for regular employment as cooks came to her for training. Now her establishment is one of the most important in London.—New York World.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

A LITTLE BOYS LAMENT.

I'm going back down to grandpa's,
I won't come back no more
To hear the remarks about my feet
A-muddyin' up the floor.
They's too much said about my clothes,
The scoldin's never done—
I'm goin' back down to grandpa's,
Where a boy kin hev some fun.

I dug up haf his garden
A-gittin' worms fer bait;
He said he used to like it
When I laid abed so late;
He said that pie was good fer boys,
An' candy made 'em grow.
Ef I can't go to grandpa's
I'll turn pirate first you know.

He let me take his shotgun,
An' loaded it fer me.
The cats they hid out in the barn,
The hens flew up a tree.
I had a circus in the yard
With twenty other boys—
I'm goin' back to grandpa's
Where they ain't afraid of noise.

He didn't make me comb my hair
But once or twice a week;
He wasn't watchin' out fer words
I didn't orter speak;
He told me stories 'bout the war
And Injuns shot out West.
Oh, I'm goin' down to grandpa's,
Fer he knows wot boys like best.

He even run a race with me,
But had to stop an' cough;
He rode my bicycle and laughed
Bec-us he tumbled off;
He knew the early apple trees
Around within a mile,
Oh, grandpa was a dandy,
An' was "in it" all the while.

I bet you grandpa's lonesome,
I don't care what you say;
I seed him kinder cryin'
When you took me away.
When you talk to me of heaven
Where all the good folks go,
I guess I'll go to grandpa's,
An' we'll have good times, I know.

WIZARD'S CAVERN.

How a Black Bear Was Said to Have Put His Victims Asleep.

Sue and John were visiting their grandfather's last summer. Their home was in the great city of New York. Their father was a rich merchant. Sue was 7 years old and John was 10 years old. One day their father came home and told them that they could go to see their grandfather in the summer. They were wild with excitement and could hardly wait for summer. At last the time came. Their mother had all their clothes and toys packed two or three days before. The next morning they were put on the train with a servant to take care of them. Every time they passed a farm they asked their servant if it was grandpa's place.

At night they took a stage to grandpa's. Both of the children were asleep. As they came near the house, Fido, a large dog, commenced to bark. The door was opened and grandpa came out. He took the two children in his arms and kissed them. Then he carried them in the house and put them in bed.

In the morning Sue woke up John. Just as they were dressed the servant came in and said breakfast was ready. After breakfast was over the children went out to play. They picked flowers till noon. In the afternoon they went to a mountain. They climbed to the top, after resting two or three times. They were going home when they heard something singing. They stopped and listened. It seemed as if came from under their feet. They hurried to the house as quick as they could.

By the time they reached the house it was dark. They told their grandfather about the music they heard. He smiled, and told them that he would tell them a story after supper was over. They all gathered around the fireplace.

"Well, once upon a time," began grandpa, "a young man went hunting upon this mountain, and when he was about half way up the mountain he saw a large black bear running. He shot, but he missed it. So he went after it. After going about 100 yards he came to a small opening, where he saw the bear going into a cave.

"The youth was not going to be fooled that easy after coming so far, so he followed the bear into the cave. When he had gone about fifty steps he came into a large room all lighted up, and off in one corner he saw the same bear he had shot at a while back.

"It was playing on a harpsichord. As soon as he saw the youth he sent a servant to invite him in. The youth started to run out of the cave, but the bear played a tune that drew back the youth. The servant motioned for him to sit down. As soon as he sat on the seat he fell into a deep sleep. And now when people hear the music they say that another person is being put to sleep."

A New Kind of Checkers.

Make pasteboard war ships, to be used instead of the checkers. Play the game the same as you would checkers, and when one boat reaches the other side of the board the owner immediately claims one of his lost vessels, places it on top of his vessel and is then called a flagship.

TITLE BY DIGESTION.

A New Zealand Native Custom In Regard to Land Transfers.

A gentleman born in New Zealand tells some interesting stories about that country and the native customs. The gentleman says that the title to all land is vested in the natives, according to the agreement made with England, and that when land is to be transferred the determination of any question of ownership comes before a court constituted for that purpose. On one occasion when a hearing in a case was in progress, a young native informed the court that his father owned the land, and, in consequence, it now belonged to him. When some of the natives were asked if he spoke the truth, they replied that he did.

At this point an old native, who was sitting in the rear of the court room, arose to his feet, and, throwing aside his mantle stood forth, stark naked, and, coming forward, addressed the court. This mode of dress—or, rather, undress—is by no means uncommon when natives appeared before the land court. He proceeded to tell the court that the young man was mistaken in claiming the ownership of the land. He himself held the title to the property. He said years ago he went to war against the owner of the property in question, and that not only was the proprietor of the land killed, but every member of the family except the young man who had just claimed the land.

"He was then a babe," continued the old man, "and I had seized him by one of his feet and was about to dash his brains out against a rock, when my wife interceded on behalf of the boy, and begged that his life be spared, and that he be given to her."

He went on to say that he granted her request, and gave her the boy, who had ever since lived in his family.

"Now he claims the land," he added, "because his father owned it. But I fought his father and killed him and all the members of his family. What is more, I ate all of his body that was edible, so that all that remained of his father passed in to me."

The old man continued that, under these circumstances, he thought he had proved a good title to the land.

When the natives who had heard this statement were questioned, they said that what the old man had stated was true, and that, according to their customs, the title to the land in question had passed to him. The court so decided, and so concluded, the gentleman, there is in New Zealand, in addition to the other usual forms of getting title to realty, such as for money consideration, for love and affection etc., title by digestion.—Washington Star.

TO TEACH FOOTBALLERS TO TACKLE

A Unique Method Invented by One of Our Big Teams.

Tackling is the most difficult part of football. A low tackle may be dangerous to the tackler, and a tackle too high may enable a man to escape the tackler's grasp. The surest tackle is about the waist.

One of our big football clubs has hit on a new idea. A canvas bag about the size of a man is swung from an upright bar, and midway about the bag is what looks like a life-preserver. The bag is swung, and men are given lessons in tackling it below the "life-preserver." It is said to be an excellent machine to teach men how to tackle.

The method of using the novel contrivance is as follows: The men are lined up about ten yards away from this supposed opponent, and each takes his turn at tackling it. That seems simple enough; but just as the player makes his headlong dive for the figure, one of the attendants, by pulling a rope, jerks the figure to the side. Unless the player is remarkably quick, he is liable to tackle thin air, and in about half a scond after lands on the earth with a thud, while the crowd applaud and laugh. The device is a practical one, however, and the trainers are unanimous in their approval of it.

Little Water Barrels.

Among the many manufactured articles of wood that are exported from this country one that goes practically to South America and South Africa only is a little barrel that is used for carrying water. It is made of oak and in sizes of one, three, and five gallons. These little barrels are finished in accordance with trade demands. For convenience in carrying they are provided with a handle like the handle used nowadays so extensively in carrying bundles, or the folding-down handles of the old-fashioned painted washtubs.—New York Sun.

Cliffs Burnt by the Sea.

Fancy the waves of the sea setting fire to the cliffs they break on! Yet this is what did really happen at Ballybunion, on the western coast of Ireland. These rocks, which the great Atlantic rollers had for centuries been slowly breaking down and piercing with great caverns, contain in their depths masses of iron pyrites and alum. At last the water penetrated to these, and a rapid oxidization took place, which produced a heat fierce enough to set the whole cliff on fire.

For weeks the rocks burnt, a regular volcano, and great clouds of smoke and vapor rose high in the air. When at last the fire died out, great masses of lava and clay burnt to brick were seen in every direction.—Golden Days

"My wife," said the tall man, "is as womanly a woman as you could find, but she can hammer nails like lightning."

"Wonderful!" sang the chorus.

"Lightning," the tall man continued "seldom strikes twice in the same place."—Yonkers Statesman

AIM AND TEMPER EQUALLY BAD.

The Divine Sarah Had a Forceful Way of Expressing Her Anger.

"I notice," said a local theatrical employe, "that Sarah Bernhardt is getting fat. I hope it is sweetening her temper. I remember a little incident that happened at the Lyceum theatre when Sarah played her last engagement here, and I can tell you that it gave me a wholesome respect for the talented lady. In "Cleopatra," in the scene where the queen is reclining on the couch, a footstool should be placed near her feet. Bernhardt was a terrible stickler for all these little stage details, and she never let the curtain go up until she had carefully looked the stage over. Well, on this particular night she took a step or two from the wings and ran her eye over the props. Instantly she noticed that the stool was at the head of the couch instead of at the foot. She carried her own stage manager with her, and, as she raised her head in her usually queenly way, she immediately located him. He was standing at the opposite side, with a sickly smile on his face, rubbing his hands nervously together. Sarah made three tigress strides, and, grasping that stool by a leg, flung it fiercely at the stage manager's head.

"Like the less gifted of her sex, the divine Sarah was a bum thrower. The stool missed the stage manager and one of the hands caught it as it flew to one side. He ran and placed it properly and the play went on."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE ANVIL BIRD.

This Brazilian Singer Can be Heard at a Distance of Three Miles.

At dusk in the wilds of the gloomy Brazilian forest, you will think it strange to hear the clink of a hammer on an anvil. You would imagine that you were approaching some settlement and the picture of the ruddy glow of the forge would come up before your eyes.

But if your guide were a native, he would tell you that the sound was made by a campanero, as they call it, although to foreigners it is known as the anvil bird.

This bird is a little larger than a thrush. The plumage is perfectly white; the eyes are a pale grey color and the naked throat and skin around the eyes are of a fine bright green, while its more northerly relative is orange and black, very much like our oriole.

It is generally in the early part of the day that the campanero sends forth the wonderful note that can be heard at a distance of three miles. Marvelous indeed must be the mechanism of the vocal organs of so small a bird to produce so far reaching a note; but there is no doubt of the fact, for many travelers have heard the strange sound uttered by the bird when perched on the topmost branch of some withered tree. —Our Animal Friends.

Iron Grows Tired.

A constitutionally lazy man is, in ordinary conversation commonly said to have been "born tired." This capacity for becomng fatigued by slight exertion was always supposed to be characteristic of animate bodies; but the scientists, who have been probing with their microscopes, spectroscopes, and other scopes into the molecular constitution o steel and iron, and testing their strength under varying conditions, have discovered that even such inanimate objects grow tired, and positively lose much of ther strength and elasticity by long-continued subjection to quite moderate stress or vibratons.

When allowed to rest for a time these metals recuperate and recover their pristine strength. This statement may seem fanciful, and even absurd, to the general reader, who is not especially well versed in scientific lore; but this observaton has been made so often, and has been so thoroughly proved by repeated laboratory tests, not only on a small scale, conducted with the greatest care and accuracy, but also upon a large scale, with full-sized bridge members and other commercial forces of steel and iron, that it has become generally accepted by engineers as a positive and well-understood law.

Caste in Cuba.

A Spaniard was born in Spain. His son, who was born in Cuba, is not a Spaniard, but a Cuban. If a Cuban should go to Madrid when he is two weeks old, and spend all his life in the palace, he would still be a Cuban and not quite as good as a Spaniard. If a Spaniard should go to Havana when he is two weeks old, and spend all his life in that city or upon a plantation, he would still be a Spaniard and enjoy the distinction and social position which a Cuban can never attain. The sons and daughters of a Spaniard are Cubans if they are born in Cuba; but the sons and grandsons and great-grandsons of a Cuban must always be Cubans, no matter in they were born in Madrid and spend their whole lives in that city. No Cuban can ever become a Spaniard, no matter what happens to him, and from the Spanish point of view he is a degenerate.—Chautauqua.

A Grim Joke.

Hardly anything could bring more forcibly home to the mind the devastation wrought by the Australian bush fires than the grim joke of one burned out and ruined farmer: "If you want roast beef, pork, veal lamb or baked potatoes, you may get any of them at my place. Trere is plenty of it there, and you can help yourselves. In one heap there are fifty head of milking cows, all baked. In another are hundreds of sheep, while the third is composed of many pigs and potatoes."—New York World.

It costs $1,000 every time they fire one of the big naval guns. You could fire Talmage four times for that.

SCIENTIFIC AMPUTATION.

A Patient's Leg Taken off with a Whirling Circular Saw.

At first thought, it doesn't seem like so much of a luxury to have one's leg cut off with a buzz-saw, does it?

Yet science, in the interest of suffering humanity, is adopting the cross-cut or circular saw to the uses of surgery, and so evident are its benefits that the wonder is the innovation was not thought of long ago.

The principle of the saw is much the same as that of the familiar electric excavating tool used by dentist, and the advantages of its use are quite as apparent.

The surgical saw is mounted on a flexible shaft like that of the dentist's machine, but of course more powerful. A handle enables the operator to direct its course, and by the use of an offset it can be made to saw parallel with the shaft. It is noiseless in every part, except when in use.

The method of operation with the power saw will presumably be somewhat as follows: The patient is laid upon the operating table, etherized and covered with a white cloth, except the part to be operated upon. The saw, which has been treated aseptically to avoid the slightest danger of blood poisoning, stands with its electric motor at the foot of the table.

The limb is tightly ligatured, and the saw—zzt!—it is all over.

By the old method a tiny hand-saw was used. Inevitably as it was drawn and pushed back and forth it disturbed the position of the limb operated upon and lacerated the flesh more or less.

The power saw will operate quickly and without disturbing the steady position of the patient. Besides, it is claimed that the heat generated by it will sear the bone tissue and hasten the process of healing by the important first hour of vascular change following the operation by the old method.—New York World.

STRENGTH OF MOHAMMED ALI.

His Handling of Europeans Prove Him to be a Born Leader of Men.

One of the most remarkable traits in the Pasha's character was his mania for foreigners, an eagerness to welcome strangers of ever degree, to listen to them, reward and help them if possible, and above all to persuade them to believe in his schemes of reform. In his opinion, the fellah was a serf, a beast of burden; the Turk a hopeless barbarian, fit only to be his sergeant, or tax collector; but a third element remained, by the cultivation of which he might create an instrument of profit, a bulwark of defense, and even a final refuge from his enemies In no respect did he prove himself more conspicuously to be a born leader of men than in his cousummate handling of Europeans with whom he had to deal.

He was only an ignorant Major of Bashi-Bazouks, knowing little of our civilization, yet by his genius for exploiting the wants and ambitions, the vices and failings of Europeans in general, by making himself indespensable to all of them in turn, he gained their loyalty and enthusiasm just as if he had been one of an old and long-established dynasty of Christian Kings in Alexandria. The fact remains to his credit that, as a whole, the interested European colony of Egypt gloried in the strength of Mohammed Ali, feared him, and lamented his fall at the hands of Palmerston as the ruin of their own fortunes.—D. A. Cameron.

Japanese Lighthouses.

The dangerous rocks and shoals of the Japanese coast render many lighthouses a necessity, and the government is losing no time in erecting them at the points where they are most needed. The system adopted is the feux-eclairs, in which during each revolution three flashes, each lasting one-tenth of a second, are emitted. Petroleum is used for the lamps. The new Formosa lighthouse gives a light equal to 154,000 candles, the flash being visible seventy miles in clear, thirty-two in fair and fourteen in hazy weather. At no distant day electricity will probably supplant petroleum. The lighthouse towers are built of bamboo, which, though fragile in appearance, possesses a strength and elasticity which fit it admirably for the contest with the wildest tempests which rage along the coast.—Philadelphia Record.

Josephine's Piano.

Among the magnificent furniture made for the Empress Josephine was a piano ordered in 1808 by the Emperor Napoleon, and still considered one of the most valuable instruments of the kind in the world. It was stolen during the sacking of the Tuileries and was afterward sold at a public auction and is now in the possession of a London firm. The case is of the finest rosewood, ornamented with ormolu, while the keys are made of mother-of-pearl and tortoise shell. Napoleon's military taste is shown by the fact that one of the five pedals works a drum and triangle attachment.—New York World.

Philopena.

"Is it 'give and take?'" asked Commodore Dewey, as he chewed his half of the twin almond.

"I s'pose so," responded Castillia, half doubtingly.

"Phillippine, my dear," roared the Commodore; "I said it first." And he stowed the group of islands away in his atlas.

It is said that the phonograph is now used in the Spanish telephone service. Messages are spoken into it, and the instrument repeats them to the telephone. They are also received on a phonograph at the distant station.

COREA AND ITS PEOPLE.

They Have Queer Customs and Curious Characteristics.

Corea is a splendid country. The summer in three-fourths of the provinces is bright, bracing and temperate, not unlike that of Nova Scotia. In any case the hot weather and mosquitoes do not last more than a month at the utmost. The winter is clear and very cold, rather like that of New York, or perhaps Quebec. Taken as a whole the land is fertile, and the rice especially "has a bone in it," which turns out tough natives and makes it very highly esteemed even in Japan. Its bean crop also is enormous, and it has a plentiful supply of gold, cattle, tobacco, hemp, paper, leather, vegetables, fish and medicine. The inhabitants are clean made, erect, active walkers, with a physique perhaps not so wiry, but far superior in grace to that of either the Chinese or the Japanese; not so course and uncouth in movement as the German physique; perhaps more like that of the Spaniards in general build than that of any other European nation. Women are kept in seclusion, and one sees none but old hags in the market places. The men are great eaters, indefatigable marchers, ready drinkers when they can get liquor, interminable smokers and very quarrelsome. But they are lazy, except under stimulus; calm and deliberate, except under provocation; obstinate, destitute of moral feeling, full of rational religious emotion, while recognizing no religious sanctions; dirty in person, thievish, cunning, untrustworthy, but affectionate and loyal if kindly treated.

They are without the simpering politeness of the Chinese or the obsequious ceremony of the Japanese. "Good form" is imperturbable placidity, deliberation and taciturnity. Not even a Turk can approach a Corean in perfect calm and restfulness of attitude The traning instinct seems good and will develop, but, of course, lack of experience and organization keeps it backward. The agricultural laborer works well, and would be hard working if the fruits of his labor were secured to him. Party feeling runs wonderfully high among the official classes, who are corrupt almost to a man, cruel and full of fierce personal hatreds; but both civil and military mandarins are often exceedingly refined in manner. I never saw more perfect manners in any country than those of the general at Toral, who entertained me in the most princely fashion. His palace was scrupulously clean, but plainly furnished; his clothes were of the finest possible texture; his hands and nails were clean, his hat and "button" a marvel of "basket work," art and jewel carving; in short, his whole bearing, as well as the wine and sweetmeats he gave me, showed the utmost refinement and good taste.—Fortnightly Review.

A COURAGEOUS WOMEN

The Only One Who Fought on Board a Man-of-War.

There is one instance, and one only, on record since the days of Artemisia, the friend and ally of Alexander, concerning whose naval prowess Herodotus telis such wonderful stories, of a woman who has fought on board a man-of-war. She was the wife of one of the gunners on Admiral Rodney's flagship and plied the trade of a bumboat woman. It was during the war between France and England and their colonies, which in American history is known as the French and Indian war, and Rodney had charge of the fleet in defense of the English channel. During a hot engagement the admiral noticed, to his great astonishment, that a woman was serving one of the guns and doing it well. The fight was too severe to interfere at the moment, so the story goes that in spite of the flagrant breach of discipline the admiral let her alone.

When the enemy had struck his colors he went to the woman and demanded:

"What are you doing here?"

"Fighting the French, your honor. My husband is wounded and down in the cockpit, so I took his place. And why not, your honor? Do you think I'm afraid of the French?

She was reprimanded very gently and sent ashore with 10 guineas as a reward for her bravery.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The Bravest Man.

"I," said the military individual, "was first to mount the earthworks at Gettysburg."

"I," said the veteran fireman, "am he who rescued the nine women from the burning building last week."

"I," said the old coast guardsman, "ran five miles and assisted in saving the crew of the schooner Nancy last December."

"Gentlemen," remarked the unobtrusive, bald-headed little fellow in the corner. "I honor you, but I claim precedence. Last Sunday my 6-months' old twins were baptized at morning service, and I held them."

The three others bowed down and worshiped him.—New York World.

A Novel Bridge.

Cossack regiments are being drilled in crossing rivers on a novel sort of improvised bridge. Seven or eight lances are passed between the handles and tops of a dozen cooking-kettles and are held firmly in place by the handles, besides being tied together with forage ropes. A dozen such bundles fasten together form one section of a raft or floating bridge and are capable of sustaining half a ton of weight. A section can be put together in twenty minutes.—New York Tribune.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Miss Hand, of Elmwood place, has been presented with a new bicycle.

The Bard Cycle Company has been putting out several neat bicycle racks which are an ornament to those stores fortunate enough to secure one.

The Bard Cycle Company evidently do not think that the wheeling season is over by any means. Yesterday they received a shipment of 140 high-grade wheels which they expect to sell right away.

Now that West Front street has been put in good condition, wheelmen find that road a favorite one. The Stelton road to New Brunswick is in pretty good condition and so a pleasant ride is found in that direction.

The trolley to Bound Brook brings with it the promise of a good road to Bound Brook for wheelmen and carriages. The trolley company will be compelled to macadamize the road between the tracks and eighteen inches on either side. This will seemingly bring Bound Brook and Plainfield many miles nearer.

The next run of the Y. M. C. A. wheelmen will occur tomorrow night. According to the schedule, which was arranged at the meeting early in the spring, the destination of the wheelmen is Somerville. But the roads in that vicinity, and especially from this city to Somerville, are in such poor condition that it has been thought advisable not to attempt to go there, but to gather at the association building at 8 o'clock and take a run somewhere, returning about 10 o'clock for a bath in the tank and a little social time. The run will be in charge of Captain Cuming, who will lead the wheelmen in person. The destination of the party will be revealed tomorrow night.

SOMERSET COUNTY FAIR.

Arrangements for the Annual Exhibition Now Being Made.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Somerset county fair, held Tuesday night, Chas. L. Voorhees was elected general superintendent The board has decided to eliminate pacing from class 2, 2:24, purse $250, formerly open to both trotting and pacing.

It was stated at the meeting that poultry fanciers in the State had black-listed the Somerville fair on account of the failure of the old association to pay the premiums. The directors will devise some means to establish confidence among exhibitors in the new association, which is financially able to meet all its obligations.

The speed entries for this season the directors report to be unusually promising, applications for the entry of a large number of noted horses has already been made.

A New Industrial Plant.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 13—Surveyors are at work laying out the ground for the new town of "Palmer," which will be established just outside of the city limits of New Brunswick. It is expected that ground for the main factory building will be broken in less than a week, and the work of erecting the plant will proceed at once. Employment will be given to several hundred operatives when the plant is in full working order.

Elizabeth, July 13.—Supreme Court Justice VanSyckel is expected to visit Elizabeth Friday, to pass sentence of death on Louis Roesel, the murderer of Farmer James C. Pitts, of Summit. Roesel is aware of the fact that the Court of Appeals has decided that he must hang, but be manifests scarcely any concern over the matter.

THE ENDEAVOR SOCIABLE

DESPITE THE RAIN IT WAS LARGELY ATTENDED LAST NIGHT.

Held in Trinity Reformed Church, Which Had Been Decorated for the Occasion—Pleasing Programme Rendered

The first sociable ever given by the Christian Endeavor Local Union took place last night in the Sunday-school room of the Trinity Reformed church. It was somewhat of an experiment in its nature, but judging from the large attendance and the true air of sociability that pervaded the company, it was a success in every sense of the word. Another similar sociable may be expected soon.

The sociable was attended by Endeavorers from all the societies in the city, and from Dunellen, New Market, Washingtonville, Mt. Pleasant and Marconnier, all of which are in the Union.

William O. Chapman, of the First Baptist church society, was master of ceremonies, and succeeded in instituting a spirit of sociability in the company.

Chairman L. H. Biglow, of the welcoming committee, assisted by Horace J. Martin and E. E. Anthony, were at the door and gave each one that entered a hearty welcome.

A half hour was spent in sociability, then a short programme was presented, followed by serving refreshments.

As an opening song all rose and sang the National hymn, "My Country 'Tis of Thee," for which Miss Saidee Mae Howell played. Miss Ella Serrell followed this with a recitation, "The Village Seamstress." Miss Etta Krymer gave a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Mabel Force, and Miss Catherine Dwight told "How Tom Sawyer White-washed the Fence." Miss Dwight received an encore, and responded with a little sketch.

After Miss Saidee Mae Howell had rendered a piano solo, Miss Beulah Van Winkle, a little tot, told about "Brother Will." Little Beulah has appeared before in public, and showed no nervousness or embarrassment when on the stage.

A vocal solo by Miss Lottie Messersmith, to which Miss Mabel Force played the accompaniment, and a humorous sketch by A. A Lake, of Dunellen, entitled the "Irish Schoolmaster," closed the programme.

The room was prettily decorated with flags and green and white bunting, the colors of the local union. L. H. Biglow, Jr., was the chairman of the reception committee and was assisted by the presidents of all the societies. Miss Grace Petrie had charge of the refreshments, and was assisted by young people from the Congregational, First Baptist, First Presbyterian and Park Avenue Baptist societies.

The decorating was done by a committee of which E. E. Anthony was chairman. Miss Robinson, Miss Alice Morgan, Miss Cuming, Mrs. H. J. Martin, Mrs. E. E. Anthony and Frank Clarkson assisted.

Just before leaving Fred H. Andrews spoke a few words about the work done by the Y. M. C. A. and Christian workers among the soldiers in Chickamauga. Mr. Andrews has been there himself and spoke from experience. His words were listened to with great interest.

certainty of the action at Santiago.

It is reported that Gen. Shafter cabled this morning that the bombardment by the ships was ineffectual. It is known that Sec. Alger wired Shafter for immediate details, but no reply was received up to 2 o'clock.

Gen. Miles, in his reports, confines himself strictly to routine matters and makes no reflections on Shafter's mode of operations.

By some it is thought that the general assault took place this morning, but that rumor is discredited by the officials of the War department.

Manila Expects Attack By Americans July 24th, When Transports Arrive.

LIEUT. ELY IS MISSING

HE WAS IN THE GALLANT CHARGE UP SAN JUAN HILL.

His Wife was Miss Brooks, of Rockview Avenue, and at Present She is Stopping With Her Parents There.

Word has been received in this city that among the officers missing after the battle of San Juan Hill, which was fought recently, is Lieut. Frank D. Ely, of the gallant 13th United States Infantry.

Lieutenant Ely is well known in this city, for three years ago he was married to Miss Brooks, the daughter of Thomas B. Brooks, a wealthy New York business man, who resides on Rockview avenue. The wedding took place in the Holy Cross church, and was a brilliant one, being a military wedding.

After her marriage Mrs. Ely went to live in officers' quarters on Governor's Island, where Lieutenant Ely was stationed. The Thirteenth was among the first regiments to be sent to the front, Companies D, B, and F being sent south when hostilities first broke out.

The regiment was not sent to Cuba until the army had nearly all been transported. Mrs. Ely came to live with her parents when the lieutenant went South, and has been in constant communication with him since he left. The last letter she received from him was dated Siboney, June 29, and stated that his regiment was expecting to go to the front at once.

Neither officers or men anticipated any hard fighting, and the Lieutenant expected to be out of Cuba shortly. Day before yesterday Mrs. Ely received a telegram from Washington stating that Lieutenant Ely and a number of men had been sent to Elcaney, east of Santiago to erect some fortifications. This is the last she has heard concerning him.

The Lieutenant was a remarkably tall man, standing six feet three inches, and broad in proportion. He was smooth-faced, and dark complexion.

Since his departure from New York, Lieut. Ely has been promoted from second to first lieutenant, but whether for bravery or in the course of promotion is not known.

Mrs. Ely, when seen by a Press reporter this afternoon, said that she had head nothing from her husband since the letter mentioned above, but that she was expecting to hear from him hourly.

She does not believe that he was killed, but that he may be wounded so that he cannot write.

SPINSTERS IN BERMUDA.

Their Large Number Due to Stringent Property Laws.

Spinsters are said to be more numerous in the Bermuda islands in proportion to the population than in almost any other locality. This spinsterhood is due to the stringent property laws. The semi-tropical climate of the islands and their isolation have made of the inhabitants of English stock a quiet, almost sluggish folk, of a simplicity nearly Arcadian. The women especially, many of whom live very narrow lives, never leaving these islands, are remarkable for their old-fashioned hospitality and a natural ease of manner which seems to arise from an entire faith in those with whom they come in contact.

In Bermuda, as in England, property, especially real estate, remains in the same families for long periods, and some of the descendants of the first settlers still possess lands which never have passed out of their families. No alien can acquire a title to land in Bermuda, either by purchase or inheritance. This is chiefly a precautionary measure against the Portuguese, who flock to the country and go in largely for onion growing. But the law provides that if a woman marries a foreigner she shall not only lose her landed property, but shall also become incapable of inheriting any. This law is naturally not popular with the ladies, who see their brothers mate with Americans and other aliens, and would fain have the same liberty. Occasionally Bermudian girls renounce their birthrights for love's sake, but as a rule the charms of penniless maidens are not sufficient for young men to desire them for wives, and thus many girls are doomed to single blessedness in Bermuda simply by the law of the land.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Harvesting on Ice.

Farmers who live in the vicinity of Muskego Lake, in Southeastern Wisconsin, derive a profitable income from the lake each winter by harvesting hay on the ice. The shallowness of the water in the lake bed causes the grass growing on the bottom to project considerably above the surface, and when the ice forms the hay can be cut with great ease, though it cannot be gotten at the rest of the year, on account of the boggy nature of the lake bottom. —Philadelphia Ledger.

THE MOST CURIOUS OF ORGANS.

Perfect in Tone, but No Ordinary Musician Can Use It.

An organ which the leading organist of New York could not play is now being used by professors of Cornell college. This organ is not, as might be supposed, out of tune. It is because it is in perfect tune that it differs so radically from an ordinary organ. The ordinary organ, such as is used in churches and drawing-rooms, is not in tune, even after the maker has just declared it to be in perfect order.

The Cornell organ was invented by Von Helmholtz, and it contains a purely mathematical scale. It is made for the composition of chords such as are not to be obtained on an ordinary instrument, and is used to study the vibration of notes, and of what tones an organ note is made. Every tone in music is to be found on this organ. For instance, what are known as sharps and flats on a piano are not really sharps and flats. C sharp and D flat are struck on the same black key, but, strictly speaking, that black key is neither; it is a note or tone situated midway between C sharp and D flat. If both of the latter were on the piano, however, the difference between them is so slight that it would confuse the player. So a compromise is made, and the two are blended, or rather, the tone midway between them is used.

But in Cornell the organ contains keys for every note in the scale, no matter how fine the gradation. With it students can see just how a note on the organ is built up. Certain notes on the organ are made up of certain other tones. On the ordinary piano you would not be able to illustrate what these notes are. You would need the true sharps and flats in order to compose the notes. The overtones on the domestic instrument would be quite different. The pure fifth, which can here be accurately denoted, is very much curtailed on the piano. Used in connection with this organ are a complete set of resonators or tuning forks. In order to find out how many resonations are contained in a given tone, it is only necessary to strike that note. Those forks which resound in sympathy with it are sure to be included in the makeup of the note. The silent ones are not included in it.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

THE QUEEN OF SPAIN'S BUSY LIFE.

She Rises Early and Begins Work with Her Secretary at eight O'clock.

Spain is essentially a lazy country. In all ranks the people rise late and turn night into day; but the queen regent—a tall, graceful woman, looking younger than her years—sets them an excellent example. Up at 7, her first care is given to her children, and by 8 o'clock she is already at work with her secretary. It is only after lunch, toward 2 o'clock, that she allows herself an hour of well-earned rest. And some idea of Queen Christina's thoroughness may be gained by the fact that she no longer speaks German—her native tongue—save to those few Teutons who find their way to Madrid.

When she first came a bride from Vienna to Spain she had mastered but imperfectly the language. Now she talks Spanish correctly, and has, alone and unaided, acquired a real knowledge of the splendid literature of her adopted country. When speaking of her son she seldom refers to him as "his majesty" or "the king!" usually it is, "my boy" or "my little one." She makes no outward difference between the three children, but it is easy to see that her heart is specially bound up in Alfonso XIII.—London Figaro.

No Up on Musical Terms.

One of Chicago's bands went to Grand Rapids last year to help keep up the enthusiasm at the mail carrier's convention. The day before the band left for Michigan the regular bass drummer was seized with the fever, and a substitute had to be engaged.

The first evening of the convention the band was playing in the lobby of the Morton House. During one of the pianissimo movements the new man beat a terrific tattoo on his drum. In fact, he was the whole band.

The bandmaster glowered at him all the way through the selection, but the substitute bass drum player was too busy with the notes to be distracted. At the close of the number the director went over to him and said:

"Say, Schmidt, don't you know what 'pp' means?"

"Certainly I do," replied the drummer, as he wiped the perspiration from his forehead. "It means 'pound plenty.'"—Chicago Journal.

The Abbe and His Shorthand.

The Abbe Prieur had invented a kind of shorthand which he thought would be of some use to the ministry. But the ministry would none of it, and the abbe made known his little invention to the King of Prussia, a patron of such profitable things. But one of his letters was opened at the Post Office by the Cabinet Noir, and the next morning M. Abbe Prieur awoke in the dungeon of Vincennes. He inquired the reason, and in the course of months his letter to the King of Prussia was shown to him.

"But I can explain that in a moment" said the abbe. "Look, here is the translation."

The hieroglyphs, in short, were as innocent as a verse of the Psalms, but the Abbe Prieur never quitted his dungeon.—T. Hopkins in "The Dungeons of Paris."

"May I ask which of the city's political factions you belong to?" said the stranger. The boss looked at him sternly and then responded: "What you doubtless mean to ask, sir, is which political faction belongs to me."

TORAL ASKS FOR TERMS.

Wants Commission to Consider Them.

HIS REQUEST REFUSED.

TORAL'S POSITION IS A HOPELESS ONE.

The Truce Expires This Noon and Washington Awaits Toral's Decision—He Must Surrender or Else be Bombarded.

(From the Union Associated Press.)

Washington, July 14, 12:55 p. m—Only two despatches have been received from the front at the War Department since midnight to 11 o'clock this morning. Both referred to details in the shipment of commissary stores for the army at Santiago.

The officials expect to receive word soon whether General Toral has decided to fight or will accept the terms of surrender as offered by the Americans. The general opinions seems to be that he will resolve to fight to the last to save his fighting reputation in Spain.

Our lines have now thoroughly invested Santiago and further resistance on the part of the Spanish forces is hopeless. All are hoping that Toral will realize the situation and give up the hopeless fight.

The officials say that Shafter's forces can take the city in two hours by assault. The warships of Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet can throw over 200 shells into the city in a couple of hours with terrible results.

It is believed here that when Santiago falls, Spain will be compelled to sue for peace. The fall of the city is deemed all that is needed to start the movement that is already gathering much force in Madrid.

Secretary Alger said this morning that he did not expect any news from Santiago until this afternoon when the news will come telling whether Toral surrenders or that the land and and sea forces have promptly begun the assault upon the expiration of the truce at noon.

Washington, July 14, 1:05 p. m.—Shortly after eleven o'clock this morning, Secretary Alger received a cable despatch from Gen. Shafter saying that Gen. Toral, the Spanish commander, asks for the appointment of a commission to consider the terms of surrender.

The despatch indicates that Santiago is on the point of being delivered over to the hands of the Americans.

The despatch was immediately taken to the White House by Adjutant General Corbin who was closeted with the President at once.

It is known positively that the despatch contained information that Santiago is on the point of unconditional surrender.

Washington, July 14, 1:44 p. m—The officials of the administration did not think for a moment that Gen. Toral's request for the appointment of commissioners will be listened to by the generals at the front.

It is evidently only another attempt to delay the proceedings. The President has refused Toral's poposition and has instructed Gen. Miles to tell Toral that unless the surrender is made by noon, the bombardment will commence.
